TRAVELLER DIES IN BROCKVILLE HOTEL FIRE

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Detroit, Aug. 1 (AP)—The body of Harry Lazy, Managing of the Wolverine Sporting Goods Company store, and that of Jack Deacock, who once worked for him were found in the store early today. Both had been shot to death.

Police said Deacock left Levy's employ a year ago after a bitter quarrel and operated a sporting goods store of his own. The first theory of investigators was that the two might have met and fought it out with pistols.

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 1 (CP)—Inspector Homer Gardner of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Ontario Provincial Police was reported enroute here today from London, Ont., in the hope of expediting the return of Richard Hauptmann, self-confessed in the Lobaid kidnapping.

Chief Thomas Martinson of Hammond police said Inspector Gardner was on route in the hope of taking Hauptmann back to Canada today if the prisoner will waive extradition.

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP)—A body, burned beyond recognition, was found in the ruins of Stanley Kyn, of St. Catharines, who was found today in the barge yard at the Imperial Iron Corporation here.

The big organ was emptied of musical fire yesterday afternoon and Dr. Ernest MacMillan left for Toronto shortly afterwards. He was set down at the end of the lady found on the charcoal this morning.

It is not known how the man got in the organ. It is 15 feet from the floor to the top and is closed at the top. When in operation it is filled with compressed air and source than a few feet to the floor.

Smyrna, Turkey, Aug. 1 (CP-Havas)—Ten persons were killed today when a dynamite cartridge exploded in the main. Fifty persons were injured. Among the dead were two employees of the Ottoman Public Debt Administration, a British firm, the office destroyed the building and the other damaged. Many houses overlooking the British Consulate.

WOMAN INJURED IN MOTOR CRASH

Suffers Facial Cuts And Taken To The Hospital

A woman giving her name as Alice Mungo, Deseronto, was rushed to the Belleville General Hospital early today following a motor accident one mile north of Shannonville at 8.00 a.m. The injured woman suffered severe cuts about the facial injuries and bleeding profusely from the nose and mouth. Ambulance and Son's ambulance was dispatched to the scene and rushed the injured woman to hospital where medical attention was rendered. Another woman, who the police say was Georgina Minkler, also of Deseronto, sustained slight ankle injuries at the time, in which they were riding crashed into the rear end of a transport tractor-trailer unit. The matter was investigated by Traffic Officer W. A. Delaney, who reported that Stewart Dewsbury, Marysville garage mechanic, was the driver of the car at the time of the accident. Although no authentic information was given out by police authorities, it is understood that charges would be preferred following the accident. The automobile, which was a borrowed vehicle, was badly damaged during the accident.

2 Children Burned In Farm Residence

Simonton, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP)—Two children, one a boy of three and their parents seriously injured when fire destroyed their farm home about 10 miles north of here on the Stony Plains Road last night. The dead are four-year-old George Adams and his sister Margaret, three.

The parents, Louis Adams and Mrs. Olga Adams, were rushed here to hospital here. Mrs. Adams was burned about the face and hands. The mother was pouring oil into a lamp. It exploded, setting fire to her clothing, She ran outside and her husband extinguished the flames, leaving his wife outside Adams attempted to make his way into the blazing house in search of his son, but was driven back by the heat. The children whose bodies were recovered later by R.C.M.P.

RELIEF "PURGE" NOW UNDERWAY IN PROVINCE

Premier Makes Effective Edict Regarding Relief Rolls

CANVASS FARMERS

Toronto, Windsor And London Most Affected by Order

Toronto, Aug. 1—(CP)—Governmental machinery turned swiftly in Ontario legislative offices today as Premier Hepburn's relief "purge" got under way.

In the face of verbal blasts from Toronto's Mayor, James Simpson, the Premier-Leader effected the cutting from the welfare rolls all able-bodied single unemployed. At the same time Hepburn's new government offices commissioning officials to examine rural resources in rural areas for work to absorb these affected.

Immediate efforts of the Premier's edict were:

1. Relief Outline, organizer of Ontario Workers Federation, rallied Toronto unemployed to demand the Premier "show you jobs" before Premier Hepburn's office.

2. The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in Toronto, geared to care for 1,100 unemployed affected by the "purge" in Toronto area.

3. James Simpson, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation Mayor of Toronto, announced a survey purporting to show there was no employment available in the Province for Toronto's unemployed, who will be cut off from welfare tomorrow.

Believing farm labor was able to absorb the men affected, Premier Hepburn instructed Department of Agriculture inspectors and administrators of the Department of Public Welfare and district officials to "use their machinery to establish contact between able bodied men on relief and farmers, who need harvest help."

13,000 Affected.

Estimates indicated close to 13,000 indigents would be affected. Cities most affected are Toronto with 1,100, Windsor with 500 and London with 300.

Faced with persistent criticism from Toronto's Mayor, Premier Hepburn assumed the role of demagogue rather than co-operating. He is trying to establish a system of repudiating the provincial responsibility for the unemployed, who won't work at the Premier's attitude to the fullest extent, the Premier said.

Mayor Simpson responded by saying the Premier's edict was "one of the cheapest kind of politician, and the cheapest kind of politician."

Meanwhile government employees and officials were co-ordinating the activities of the various government officials in pushing the Premier's edict. Officials of city unemployed. The government further made arrangements to pay transportation expenses of those leaving the city for rural employment.

The Premier has not indicated the number of farm jobs open but Labor Department officials in charge of this canvass revealed less than 100 farm jobs open to the 13,000 idle.

Premier Hepburn considered the Mayors figures were "in error."

Premier Hepburn "Not" Smarting In Verbal Blast

Toronto, August 1.—(CP)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said today he was "not smarting" under the verbal blast of Mayor James Simpson in connection with the relief edict ordering unemployed off relief rolls.

As he read reports the Mayor had termed him a "cheap politician," "Philistine" and "unadulterated four-flusher" as Premier, only observation was, "I hope everybody will remember that Hitler got into power on relief and that's how he got his start."

Mr. Hepburn said he was content to wait and let actual events show whether he or the Mayor is right about the number of available farm jobs. He said he is satisfied there is plenty of farm work for unemployed men to do and he was not convinced of the scarcity of jobs indicated by Mayor Simpson's canvass of urban centres.

"I will make every effort to get jobs for these men," he said. "But we also expect the men to make an effort to get jobs for themselves."

King in Radio Address Opens Election Campaign

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—Following is the text of the address of the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, delivered last night over C.R.C.D. hook-up:

"During the next few weeks you will be hearing a great deal about the political issues of the day. In the press, from the platform, over the radio, you will be told what the different political parties are prepared to do for you and for our country. You will be given many reasons why one party rather than another merits your support. Appeals will be made from every conceivable point of view; some to your intelligence, many to your prejudices or even to your sentiment and feelings.

"There are large and fundamental issues to be discussed, but there is a danger of the issues of the times being lost to sight through much that may be said of what, in the last analysis, rest with the effort, or cost, on your own part, is certain to remedy existing ills; and being about, for all, an immediate condition of prosperity, plenty and peace.

"It is for this reason that I have thought it well, before the voices become too many, the conflict too strenuous, and the confusion too great, to say over the radio to you, my fellow-citizens in all parts of Canada, a few things which I believe it will be in our interests and in the interests of our country, for you to keep constantly in mind, and to let the Premier's not indicated the number of farm jobs open but Labor Department officials in charge of this canvass revealed less than 100 farm jobs open to the 13,000 idle.

Premier Hepburn considered the Mayors figures were "in error."

"You have had one experience of being deceived by promises at a general election. Are you prepared to risk another? You have been now long a period of time to observe what opportunity it affords a Ministry, if the Ministry be so inclined, to circumvent the wishes of the people, your clearly expressed will, and to defeat your purposes. You have reason to know how all-important in the administration of a nation's affairs, are a right judgment and sound policies.

"You have seen how a wrong attitude has made for bitterness of feeling, for unrest and discontent, for disunity, for disappointment and for a divided Canada. You have seen how a right attitude, and a people vas expenditure of public moneys, have served only to increase debt, to lessen to augment employment, and to prolong depression. Are you going to risk more in the way of bitterness, of unrest, of discontent or conflict between Governments? Are you prepared to take chances on policies which, over a period of another five years, will mean bankruptcy for yourself and the country, more in the way of unemployment, and further prolonged depression? These are questions you do well to ask yourselves with respect, not only to a Government which long since has lost the confidence of the electorate in all parts

MAN SUFFOCATED WHEN BROCKVILLE HOTEL GUTTED

Guests Escape in Night Attire But Two Firemen Hurt

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

Grand Central Hotel is Old Established Hostelry

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP) Fire of undetermined origin starting in the basement or in a lower stairway of the Grand Central Hotel here early today swept through three storeys of the brick structure and soon the life of a guest, P. J. Tarpey, (397 Ontremont Ave), Montreal, who had registered two hours previously.

Tarpey a commercial traveller, believed to have been overcome by smoke. All other guests escaped by fire escapes, ladders and sheets. Wilson Warren, fireman, is in hospital with a fractured leg and Daniel Moran, volunteer fireman, was cut about the hands.

Long Established

The Grand Central Hotel was a long established hostelry situated in the heart of the business district.

Tarpey remarked jokingly when registering he had better fill his water pitcher with fire extinguisher. Tarpey was found on the floor of his room.

Other guests, about 30 in number, in addition to the proprietor, D. F. Ross, were Mrs. Ross, son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ross, and three or four employes escaped from the burning building by using escape ladders. Mrs. Ross was found clinging to an electric sign outside the building. Although she was rescued she was badly burned.

Escape by way of the stairs was cut off when fire fell rapidly through the building and the occupants had a difficult time making their way out in their night attire.

Discover Fire Early

Joseph Watson, night caretaker of the building, discovered the fire at 3.10 o'clock Standard Time, when he entered the office and found it ablaze. The police were notified and turned in an alarm. The night watchman, using a second line of hose was subsequently sounded and all available men and apparatus were summoned, five streams of water were playing on the building. In the meantime, Mr. Glen Ness went from door to door throughout the building arousing the guests and directing them to avenues of escape.

Tarpey was directly across a corridor from a man named Edwards, Bank of Montreal, who had registered with him a short time previously. Edwards, on hearing the alarm, fled to the window and escaped. A short time later Fire Chief John Hartley found Tarpey with his head under the washstand fixture with his arms stretched over the bed. He is believed to have succumbed to the fumes, or when awakened by the smoke, which suffocated him.

The body was rushed to St. Vincent De Paul Hospital under the care of Dr. W. J. Gallagher, who died shortly after being admitted.

Extensive Damage

Extensive damage was done to the building owned by the C. S. Covrtit estate. The beverage room suffered the brunt of the ground floor parts of the second and third floors. In addition extensive water damage was done in the tobacco store of Mrs. Bernham, situated in the same building.

Tarpey was 53 years of age and leaves a wife and three children in Montreal. Jack Chadwick, travellers with him, was associated with Chadwick and Company, Montreal. Tarpey was found lying near the window on to an electrical sign projecting from the third storey of the building, by Fire Chief Hartley.

Tarpey evidently succeeded in making his way to the stairway leading from the third storey before collapsing, being able to go no further.

Chadwick made three trips into the burning building in search of his friend and was finally ordered out by Fire Chief Hartley and Lieut. H. Comstock, volunteer fireman.

Dr. J. P. Williams, coroner, has ordered an inquest to be opened here at 2.30 o'clock today.

Fire Chief Hartley enters upon his 19th year as Chief with the first fatality in that period.

WHITTLING AWAY

Defying welfare authorities of Windsor, Ont., Thomas Raycraft, Windsor alderman and avowed Communist, whittles away on a stick at the municipal woodyard and declares" this is all the woodcutting I'm going to do." Raycraft was ordered he will be taken off the welfare rolls unless he takes his turn cutting wood. He says woodcutting is no real job.

IL DUCE REJECTS DRAFT FORMULA IN ETHIOP STRIFE

Compromise Efforts at Once Get Under Way

MODIFICATIONS ASKED

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Geneva, Aug. 1 (CP Cable)—Geneva tonight set running again efforts to avert Italo-Ethiopian mediation deadlock.

After Premier Mussolini had turned down the Anglo-French draft resolution on procedure, the public opinion of the League Council set for five o'clock this afternoon was called off. It may be held tomorrow if an agreement can be obtained on a new draft.

Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France over long-distance telephone from Paris, while Britain, France and Italy are in collaboration with Ethiopia on a permanent settlement. He wanted important modifications.

Efforts at compromise got under way promptly.

Mussolini's objections are said to be chiefly directed against those provisions inserted in the draft at the instance of the British delegation. Those provided especially for mandatory use of the newly created Articles Two and Five of the 1928 arbitration treaty between Italy and Ethiopia.

Article Two, both agree not to take action attacking each other's independence on any pretext while under Article Five the two countries agreed to submit any difference to arbitration without resort to force of arms.

Another point in the draft resolutions which Mussolini objected to was inserted by the British—is that if the suggested arranged tri-power negotiations do not provide a solution, the Council will examine the whole question at its regular meeting in September.

Reports were current in Geneva circles that a new conference may eventually be held at Ventimiglia, Italy.

London, Aug. 1 (AP)—A "terrible situation" in regards peace and disarmament faces the world, George Lansbury, leader of the Labor Opposition, told the House of Commons at the opening of its debate on foreign affairs today.

Lansbury, as the official spokesman for the party, said:

"Today we are witnessing and have witnessed the tearing up of treaties into scraps of paper, by practically all Governments.

"(Arthur) Henderson, (President of the Disarmament Conference) and others have worked unceasingly for disarmament but we are now faced by a terrible situation."

Liberal Leader Deplores Multiplicity of Parties In First Radio Address

Conservative Regimes Featured by Rise Third Parties

ASKS CLEAR MAJORITY

Should be More Thought For Human Relations Speaker Says

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Deploring the multiplicity of parties into which political thought in Canada was now ranged, Liberal Leader W. L. Mackenzie King in a radio broadcast last night blamed departure from the old party ranks on his Conservative opponents. Previous regimes of the Conservative Party had been featured by the rise of "third" groups, he said, and the five-year tenure Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was no exception.

In his half-hour radio speech the Liberal leader went into the history of parliamentary government, the genesis of the present system and the rise during times of social and economic stress of groups, which adhered to none of the old parties. History had proved that when normal times returned such groups invariably returned to the parties to which they had formerly belonged.

Tendencies in old countries, however, had been to move away from parliamentary institutions, Mr. King cited Russia, Germany and Italy. People had there accepted the domination of individuals or minority groups.

Rev. R. Hall Returns After Preaching Month in Winnipeg

Rev. Robert Hall, minister of John Street Church, has returned to the city, after spending a month in Winnipeg, where he was preaching during the month of August in Knox United Church.

"People are hopeful as reports from various parts of the West, are feeling very optimistic over the crop prospects," declared Mr. Hall, "only fear is the extent of the rust," he said. "While we have serious conditions interfers, they believe that the Canadian Wheat Board will handle the situation satisfactorily and with the Arbitration Commission continues.

Mr. Hall apparently objected to sitting with Ethiopia on a basis of equality, stating that the great East African Empire was not a party to the 1906 treaty between Britain, France and Italy, guaranteeing maintenance of the Sovereignty and territorial integrity of Ethiopia.

This treaty was chosen as the basis for negotiations looking for peace between Ethiopia and Italy.

FORMULA FRAMED NOT SATISFACTORY

Italy Objects to Selling With Ethiopia on Equality Basis

(Joseph R. Starkey)
(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press)

Geneva, Aug. 1.— The Italian delegation to the League of Nations Council early today asserted today the formula framed by Anthony Eden of England and Pierre Laval of France to settle the Italo-Ethiopian dispute is "entirely unacceptable."

The atmosphere among Italians is one of distinct pessimism, a spokesman for the delegation told the Associated Press.

The formula was communicated to Premier Mussolini in Italy and it was understood he did not approve of it.

Italy objected particularly to the outstanding provision of the formula, providing virtually for a mixed political conference between Britain, France and Italy, to which Ethiopia while the Arbitration Commission continues.

Italy apparently objected to sitting with Ethiopia on a basis of equality, feeling the point that East African Empire was not a party to the 1906 treaty between Britain, France and Italy, guaranteeing maintenance of the Sovereignty and territorial integrity of Ethiopia.

This treaty was chosen as the basis for negotiations looking for peace between Ethiopia and Italy.

BRIGADE OUT THREE TIMES DURING DAY

Acrid smoke from smouldering fires at the city dump nearby which filtered through the opened windows of the Belleville General Hospital this morning to the annoyance of patients resulted in soon work on the part of local firemen in an attempt to extinguish the fire. Shortly after nine o'clock this morning firemen responded to an alarm at 91 Cedar street, where a short circuit, in the machine resulted in some damage to an automobile. A grass fire on Coleman Flats early last evening also resulted in a report by firemen.

NOVEL METHOD TO TEACH SWIMMING

Fish poles may be used for other purposes besides that of fishing, one local man is demonstrating.

Walking along the bank of the Moira River, early last evening, the local man was observed with a hefty fish pole in his hands. Attached to the pole was a heavy line and canvas belt. Securely strapped in the belt was a tiny beginner of about six years. With much splashing, the youngster was being taught the art of fishing with his father's slow bait.

"Just teaching the young 'un to swim", explained the local man.

SEATS TAKEN TO OTHER PARKS

"Where have all the benches gone from Victoria Park?" queried a local citizen today. "Just a year or so ago there were plenty of them. This year when you go to the park you have to hunt to sit on the grass or stand up."

A survey of the park showed that benches are few and far between. Last year several were dragged from the confines of the bandstand which they had been thrown. Several others have also been taken to the fair grounds, it was stated.

MORTON REUNION

One hundred and fifty relatives gathered at oak Lake yesterday for the Morton Family Picnic, Guests motored from Carleton Place, Ohio, Midland, Toronto, Napanee as well as from other parts represented from this district.

Tables were laid at Rice's pavilion and an appetizing dinner was enjoyed by the visitors, after which Rev. John Morton, BD., the president, called the gathering to order for the brief business session of the afternoon. Mention was made of those members of the family who passed on during the year.

A resolution was passed thanking Mrs. J. E. Brown, Tyendinaga, Secretary-Treasurer, for her untiring service over the past thirteen years. It was decided that the picnic would be held next year at Tweed on the last Wednesday of July.

Officers elected for 1935-36 were: Honorary President, Mr. Mark Morton.

Honorary Vice President, Mrs. Alexander Morton.

Honorary Second Vice President, Mrs. David Elliott.

President, Clarence Elliott.

Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Charles Bingham.

Sports Committee: Chas. Morton, Matthew English, Mrs. Burton Elliott, Mrs. Ernest Ketcheson.

Mr. Mark Morton was the oldest present and little Miss Mary Carol Dunlop, Midland, the youngest.

An afternoon of swimming was enjoyed by the younger crowd while their elders had a delightful visit. After picnic supper, enjoyed at six o'clock, all lingered for some hours, and declared it to be one of the most successful gatherings of the family.

Obituary

MRS. SARAH CARTER

After a brief illness, Mrs. Sarah Carter, wife of Mr. George Carter, passed away on Wednesday, July 31st at the residence of her daughters, Mrs. Albert Scrivens, Belleville, the latter week.

The late Mrs. Carter was in her 88th year and was born in England, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John Pullen. For the past 72 years she had resided in Belleville and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. In religion she was a member of the Brethren Society.

Surviving her are her husband, Mr. George Carter, three daughters, Mrs. Albert Scrivens, Belleville, Mrs. Fred Fudge, Belleville, Mrs. Edward Smith, Carrying Place; two sons, Frank Carter, Chatham, and Burt Carter, Southampton, England.

HENRY E. SAVAGE

Henry Robinson Savage passed away on Wednesday, July 31st, at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. R. MacDougal, 51 Alexander Street. He had been in failing health for some time.

The late Mr. Savage, who was in his 78th year, was born at Amherst Island, Ontario, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. William Savage. For some time he resided in Peterboro and for the past two years he had made his home with his daughter in this city. He was a devout member of St. Michael's Church.

Surviving him are one daughter, Mrs. R. MacDougal, Belleville; five sons, J. A. Savage of Elmira, N.Y.; William M. Savage of Cobourg; L. E. Savage of Brockville; V. Savage of Montreal, and F. J. Savage of Belleville; one sister, Mrs. James Ketcheson, Melville Man., and one brother, L. Savage of Melville, Man.

The body of the late Mr. Savage was conveyed this Thursday to Perth and the funeral will take place on Friday from the residence of Mgr. James Morrison, in that town.

MRS. EMILY M. McNEIL

Mrs. Emily May McNeil, wife of Mr. Arthur McNeil, passed away at the family residence, 15 Powin St., on Wednesday, July 31st. She had been in failing health for some time.

The late Mrs. McNeil who was in her 60th year, was born in Buffalo, N.Y., her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Coggeshall. For some years she resided at Lansdowne, Ontario, and for the past four years she had made her home in Belleville. She was a member of the Tabernacle United Church and was held in high esteem by many friends.

Surviving her are her husband, Mr. Arthur McNeil; five daughters, Mrs. Basil Sawyer, Whitney, Ont.; Miss Ethel at home, Mrs. Eulalie Kelly, Mrs. Victor Halley, Mrs. Harry Mundeville, all of Belleville; one sister, Mrs. Arthur Hathaway, Edgewood, R.I.; one half brother, Mr. Frank Coggeshall, of Chicago.

OSHAWA RALLIES TO TIE KINGSTON

Kingston, Aug. 1.—Taking advantage of some loose baseball in Kingston late in the game, Oshawa on Wednesday night tied up the game in the ninth inning with three runs, and at the end of ten frames the teams were deadlocked, 6-6, when the game was called on account of darkness. The cities of Peterboro at Belleville left the Ponies in sole possession of first place in the Central Ontario League.

Ponies had cracked along with a 4-0 lead when Jamieson's army went bad in the eighth. Two fans in a row singled and he was replaced by Clancy, but three runs were scored before the side was retired. In the ninth the Brevers battled away and aided by two hits and two bad errors, scored three more runs.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS TAKE FARM JOBS

No Sign of Applicants For Helpers Experienced Here

"Can you milk? How much do you expect a month?"

These are the first two questions being asked farm job applicants at the local Dominion Employment Service office at the present time by superintendent James V. Ross.

Although relief officially stopped for able bodied single men in Ontario today, there was no surge of applicants looking for work at the local office and there was no noticeable increase of rural residents seeking men for farm work. Up to noon today four or five farm owners had called the office looking for men, and it was expected, that by this afternoon some four or five placements would be made.

Experienced men are needed mostly, it was explained, and even those, who are willing to work and have had no previous experience on the farm are not finding it difficult to obtain work.

"I placed half a dozen high school boys during the past several days and the farmers were glad to get them. In fact they were such good workers that I have had further requests for more boys of about their age," stated Superintendent Ross.

The youths were hired on the condition that they would work only during the school holiday period, it was stated.

Pay for farm work at the present time ranges from $13 a month and board for younger men to $20 for older and experienced men.

Few requests for farm help have been made at the Central Relief Office this summer, about 18 or 20 altogether, These have been referred to the employment office.

BATEMAN FAMILY HOLDS REUNION

Gathering Held at Canniffon an Enjoyable Affair

Assembling in the tree-shaded picnic grounds of "The Cedars," Canniffon, 280 members and guests visitors throughout a similar area of this section enjoyed a full day's program of sports, ball games and novelty features at the big Bateman family reunion held on Wednesday. The reunion which was the seventh annual one was one of the most successful yet held, it was unanimously reported.

Following a splendid dinner prepared and served by the ladies in attendance at which nearly 250 people sat down to tables to enjoy the remainder of the day was devoted to a varied program of sports which included a baseball game made up of members present. The milk caught fever with a suitable list of prizes for the winning ball team, it is stated. Not until darkness had descended over the picnic grounds did the tired but happy members of the family reunion call it a day.

During the afternoon election of officers was carried out with Mr. Ross Bateman, Belleville, named president and Mr. Lyon Bateman of Springbrook named to the post of secretary-treasurer. The entertainment committee named is composed of James Bateman, Stirling; Ernest John Bateman, Stirling; Ernest Bateman, Tweed; Harold Bateman, Belleville, W. J. Bateman, Harold and Mrs. Newton White, Belleville.

It was decided to hold the next annual picnic and reunion, also at Tweed on the last Wednesday of July 1936.

COLEMAN WARD LIBERALS MEET

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Melchoir Thanked For Use of Lawn

On the spacious lawn of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Melchoir on Victoria Street the Liberals of Coleman Ward assembled last night, there were upwards of five hundred present. The large lawn was seated with tiers of benches for the accommodation—the extra two hundred filled the standing space on the lawn and street. The grounds were suitably decorated with lanterns and flags and beautifully lighted. An orchestra was seated on the front verandah and supplied music throughout the program.

Every comfort was made with loud speaker by Mr. C. Read to broadcast the speech of Hon. Wm. Lyon Mackenzie King. The air condition however, interfered with the broadcast and Mr. King could only be heard at intervals.

C. O. Clapp, chairman of Coleman Ward opened the meeting and welcomed the large number present, and introduced Mr. Wm. Fairbairn, president of the Belleville Liberal Association for South Hastings. Mr. Fairbairn expressed his pleasure at seeing so many of the electors of Coleman Ward present. The speakers of the evening were Mr. Chas. Cameron, Liberal candidate for South Hastings, Mayor Geo. C. Thomas, Mayor Wm. Harvey and P. C. MacLaurin. Every enthusiastic meeting of the meeting and the addresses were received with hearty applause. Mr. Cameron was in splendid speaking form and forcibly explained that we as electors had arrived at a time when we must choose a leading and responsible for Canada for the next five years. He said we are satisfied with a one man autocratic government which had been tried and found wanting, or an untried Meighen, an old style Conservative party, to be promised the impossible, or our good untried leader Hon. Wm. Mackenzie King, whose government had already brought prosperity and good times. Judging from the hearty applause, the election of Coleman Ward went the tried and successful leader of the Liberal party to look after the interests of the Dominion for the next five years. At the conclusion of the addresses, Mr. Harold Barrett de-lighted the large audience with his splendid vocal solos.

Mr. Melchoir thanked the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Melchoir for their splendid co-operation in giving their beautiful home and grounds for the occasion, the orchestra for the music, Mr. Barrett for his splendid solos, Mr. C. D. Clapp and his workers for their assistance, Mr. Harry Moorman lad in singing, the National Anthem and a most successful meeting was brought to a close. Cake and lemonade was served to one and all during the evening.

HIRED MAN HEARS TREKKERS' APPEAL

Interesting Story is Told From Prince Edward County

From Prince Edward County this week comes one of the latest stories of the on-to-Ottawa trekkers and their method of recruiting their ranks by gentle and smooth persuasion.

Emissaries of the main body of the marchers who rested in this city over the week end were sent out through the rural districts last Sunday with the object of soliciting alms and donations of garden produce from farmers of this section. In a number of cases these reported to have called at the farm of Adam Brummell, Massassago. They found only a hired man and to him they voiced their plea for a supply of garden vegetables. Doubtfully at first, the hired man was reported to have supplied with a small quantity of good stuff. As he gathered it up the emissaries explained the aims and intentions of the marchers.

"Why don't you join us?" one of them finally asked. Temptation was strong. Farm politics was beginning to pale. When the truck left, the hired man was one of the passengers. He had joined the marchers.

Arriving back home some time later, Mr. Brummell found the farm deserted. The truck had been scoured and the chores were left undone.

WESTERN TEACHERS PAY CITY VISIT

Motoring in a large specially equipped bus a party of school teachers from Winnipeg who have completed a tour of the western part of Canada, as far as Prince Edward Island, with a few of the northern United States visited in Ontario arrived in Belleville late yesterday afternoon and after a brief stop over during which time they visited the principal sections of the city, continued on their journey to Ottawa. The tour is an annual trip arranged through the efforts of teachers of Winnipeg.

King in Radio Address Opens Election Campaign

Old Parties Live

"Let me explain just how it is that we happen to have the old political parties which tend to perpetuate themselves from year to year, and from generation to generation, and why third parties have sprung into being from time to time, and, as regularly, have disappeared. It will help you, not only to distinguish between the old and the new, but to judge the more accurately as to which of these parties is likely to be in the best position to further your own interests and the interests of the country. Never forget that your interests and those of the country are inseparably bound together.

"Broadly speaking, men and women are likely to be either Conservative or Liberal minded. That is the fundamental reason why, whatever other parties there may be, or may arise, in general elections have, in the main, been fought out between one or two major political parties—the one Conservative, the other Liberal.

"Whether naturally inclined toward Conservative or Liberal views, or, for that matter, generally reactionary or radical in tendency, those who are really sincere believe that their views should be made to prevail have found that their influence is more certain to be of greater if exercised, at times of elections and between elections, within the ranks of either the Conservative or the Liberal Party, rather than if given in support of a third party. They have seen that, in a country the size of Canada, composed as Canada is of men and women of different racial origins, professing different faiths, following different occupations, and with varied economic interests, that no one race or creed or class, or party act can hope to have it all its own way.

"They have seen that it is only by co-operation between men and women of all classes, and in all parts of the country, in the broad general aims and policies which they hold more or less in common, and by the avoidance of sectional and class interests, that national progress can be assured, and national unity maintained. Surely these are the best of reasons why political parties representative, respectively, of Conservative and Liberal opinion, should seek to perpetuate themselves and enjoy a continuous existence.

"Just as the great rivers of our land, as they pursue their onward flow, expand their surfaces and deepen their channels, and thereby become capable of bearing larger burdens, so political party becomes capable of undertaking larger and mightier tasks as, in its forward course, it continues to be fed by new and fresh streams of thought, and influence, and power; and summons in its aid the vision and enthusiasm of youth, and the experience and wisdom which years alone can bring.

"It will be found that, for the most part, third parties owe their origin to one or other of two causes: they are the result of fear or of quarrels. They are the offspring of long continued and widespread depression; or of dissatisfaction, real or feigned, by members of a minority of both parties with its leadership or policies. It is seldom that third parties are not used to further the special interest or ambition of some individual, group, class or class of persons identified with some particular 'ism' or panacea, and with a part rather than with the whole of the country. Their numbers seldom become sufficiently large to give any hope of ultimate triumph at the polls. One of the effects of third parties in general elections invariably is to draw a number of persons from one or other of the major political parties. This number while insufficient to elect its own candidates is frequently just sufficient to permit of the return to parliament, by a minority of votes, of candidates of the political party to which they themselves are most strongly opposed. In this way they help to defeat the very objectives they have in view.

Years of Depression

"I should like to draw your attention to another fact which is not always sufficiently considered in the present time. Third parties, in Canada, have invariably had their rise during years of depression, or, at least, in reactionary policies. Years, moreover, in which discontent has been augmented by the Administration hanging on to office long after it was abundantly apparent that it no longer enjoyed the confidence of the electorate.

"As Conservative Administrations have given place to Liberal Administrations in this country, through the substitution of Liberal for Conservative policies, has been brought out of depression into prosperity. With returning prosperity, discontent has vanished, and the third parties which discontent had helped to bring into being. This was the case after the return of the Liberal Party to power in 1896. It was the case after the return of

RURAL ORGANIZATION

The bulletin of the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities strongly urges the necessity of the keenest interest in rural problems, and especially the problems of education costs and the problem of taxation.

In reference to the meeting of mayors of the cities, the circular bulletin points out that a resolution was passed that in consequence of the increasingly wider social service, in education, old age pensions, mothers' allowances, the large municipality finds itself today required to meet the social and economic conditions of a new age with financial machinery that is stagnant and outworn."

The rural association considers this conclusive argument as far as it goes, noting that "the smaller municipality" should have been included. This 'omission' in the mind of the rural association should bring home the necessity of having an active well-disciplined organization, uniting all municipalities under the County System. Everyone, city dweller as well as rural resident must agree upon this, just as the rural association agrees that it has no quarrel with the new organizations of the towns and cities. In urging the rural municipalities to look after their interests the bulletin asks if it is not expecting too much to ask the cities and towns also to look after the interests of the smaller units of municipal government.

500 townships, 130 incorporated villages and 110 towns, all under the County system, can not have an adequate voice without an organization, it is pointed out.

WOMEN IN THE MACHINE AGE

The latest pamphlet of the Machine Age series issued by the Social Service Council is "Women and the Machine Age" by Mrs. M. M. Kirkwood, assistant professor of English and formerly dean of women in University College.

"The Age" has done something more to women than it has to men—they are facing certain problems in the twentieth century that they have not faced in a general way before, and society is asking certain questions because of them," says the booklet, with the statement that its aim is to find out these questions and to provide the answer to them. Among the facts pointed out are that housewives constitute 57 per cent of the population of all classes—women work all over and that a large number work very hard and that other married women do not work at all but seek distraction in bridge, gossip, dancing and less consideration of, and expenditure upon clothes. Then there are the women in professions and science.

There is unemployment among women as among men, but because female labour is still in general cheaper than male, women have frequently been taken on in the place of men, it is pointed out. While these cases mean men out of work, there is again the story of the young girl who is discharged to make place for a man though the girl may be the mainstay of her parents.

In this age of mental conflict, the authoress says, it is the task of the thoughtful to work out and establish new standards of life and conduct that are demanded by the new conditions. There is a need for a new standard of social responsibility, to bring about a state of economic security for all, in which safe conditions of work, a living wage, and a reasonable working day are the goal. The question of equal pay for equal work is noted and the possibilities of the competitive system she says should be reduced.

Among the new ideals is one of marriage and home life, combining the new liberty with the old seriousness and sanity. "There should be a philosophy of individual responsibility such as to prevent married women from idling their lives away. Concentration on some side of social work, or politics or the arts of the household, or the musical and aesthetic education of the children in the home will help to fill out a life, but amusement as a sole aim in life will satisfy neither man nor woman. There should also be education for social relationships as well as for vocations and for academic ends. It is a step in advance that women now need not look on marriage as the sole means of economic support. It will be a further step when the majority of men and women find congenial mates. "The real question is to gather up all the nimble wit, the practical power, the generosity, the passion, the intensity, the courage, of the Mrs. Moodies, and the Madames Chapdelaine, as well as of the Queen Elizabeths and the Mesdames Curies in the cause of justice and peace and creative happiness."

It is excellent to have a giant's strength; but it is tyrannous to use it like a giant.—Shakespeare.

No story is the same to us after the lapse of time; or rather we who read it are no longer the same interpreters.—George Eliot.

Strength alone—knows conflict; weakness is below even defeat and is born vanquished.—Mad. Swetchine.

MAKING A GARDEN

Man ploughs and plants and digs and weeds,
He works with hoe and spade;
God sends the sun and rain and air,
And thus a garden's made.
He must be proud who tills the soil
And turns the heavy soil;
How wonderful a thing to be
In partnership with God.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER celebrated his ninety-sixth birthday recently, in the bosom of his family, as the saying is. He was entertained by Lucille Fraser, four-year-old daughter of his chauffeur. Reporters and cameramen were barred and a long line of automobiles with newspapermen lingered long at the scene hoping that the order might be rescinded and a story and a picture made possible. But no, the gates were kept closed and the aged millionaire or billionaire, or whatever he is, celebrated the day quietly with relatives.

Confirmation of the comparatively robust health of the oil man was given by Dr. Vanderhoef Disbrow, his personal physician, who declared that his patient had been highly pleased recently with a report on a thorough physical examination in which the doctor "couldn't find a thing wrong." Mr. Rockefeller's ambition to reach the century mark has been frequently expressed in interviews. The ambition will be realized if his present condition is maintained, the elderly physician declared.

Mr. Rockefeller's meals have been so carefully chosen and his routine so rigidly observed for years that his present good health is attributed to this care in physical matters. The clarity of his mind and the interest he has taken over those years in business affairs is demonstrated in the query that friends drove he puts each morning to his secretary: "Any news from the New York office?"

His interest in current happenings in the outside world, from which he is so closely sequestered, and especially in the stock market, where his every move was watched carefully for many years, is apparent in his insistence that the New York newspapers be read to him daily, with particular emphasis on the financial pages.

Mr. Rockefeller's daily golf game, given up as too strenuous three or four years ago, has been replaced by occasional automobile rides. He passes the major part of his time quietly seated on the lawn or in a screened, outdoor living room beneath wide awnings.

IT MAY BE THE HEAT, or it may be the humidity, but certainly it is not a rush of humility to the head which causes the Mayors of Toronto and Hamilton to say nasty things about each other. It all arose from a misunderstanding. The Mayor of Toronto sent a telegram to the Mayor of Hamilton, twenty-five miles away. The Mayor of Hamilton sent a telegram in reply, prepaid it, he says, but Mayor Simpson said it reached him collect, which inspired him to say that the Mayor of Hamilton was a "Toonerville Trolley office boy in a town pump municipality." Mayor Milton, of Hamilton, came back smartly with the wisecrack: "Any man with intelligence would have called the telegraph office to see if the wire was prepaid or not. I think Mayor Simpson should have a trailer built for his car and use it for an office. He's never there. He's known as the Mayor at Large." Honors being even the fight will probably be called a draw.

ARGYLL BAND GIVES CONCERT

Heard to Advantage in Varied Program at Fair Grounds

A band concert vastly appreciated by a large audience of music lovers was presented by the Argyll Light Infantry Band at the Exhibition Park last Sunday, under the direction of Lieut. Ross Hunter and by kind permission of Lieut. Col. Geen.

The Battalion band is composed for the most part of youthful musicians and their efforts were highly praised and favourably commented upon and are to be congratulated for the splendid manner in which they rendered the lengthy programme of selected numbers. The smart scarlet and blue uniforms worn by the musicians gave them a natty and military appearance on which they were congratulated by no less a personage than Sir Garnet Hughes during a recent appearance at Lindsay.

The programme presented Sunday was: Roll Of Canada; (march); Welcome (march); Vienna Forever (overture); Bunker Hill (march); La Cenquantaine; Tuesils Serenade; One Night In June (waltz); Operatic Mingles (medley); Touchdown (march); Prelude; New Dawn (overture); Canadian Patriotic (march); Serenade Schubert; Rays of Gold (overture). God Save the King.

CANNIFTON CIRCUIT HAS S. S. PICNIC

Canniel—The Canniflon Circuit held their annual Sunday School picnic at Oak Lake on Thursday July 5th. A good number was present.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wootten and baby John of Tyrone visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Simmons last week enroute to their cottage at Rainy Lake where they will spend the next five weeks.

Rev. Mr. Walter Merrick and family are starting on their holidays. The latter part of this week. They intend taking a trip around Ottawa.

Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family of the late Wilbert Elliott in the loss of such a loving father and husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. Wootten of Tyrone spent last Tuesday evening at Mr. Walter Listen's.

Mr. Chris. Liberty of Toronto spent the week end at his cousin's Mrs. W. Simmons and also spent the tea hour at Mr. James Brown-son's on Saturday.

Mr. McCausland and daughter of Alberta had dinner at Mr. W. Simmons on Monday.

Miss Iva Tabb of Bowmanville is staying with Mrs. W. Simmons for a while.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was just getting comfortable in his private chair, and ma said, Such a day. It's been the most uninitiating uneventful day I ever remember. I never met with no exorpcion. It's been monotony personified, and the personification of monotony. Really it seems I've been living in the pre-revolting ages. Immediately is the only word to discribe it, so I wont try. The house was like a living morg. Even the telefone didn't ring, not even for the fals relief of a wrong number, and Willyum if you dont suggest something to do this evening, or make some change or other, I shall scream rite in your face, she said.

Why sure, certeny, leave it to me, pop said. Well now let's see, why dont you stretch yourself comfortably on the divan, empty distrikt attorney the cushions, and let your mind relax completely as you think of nothing but the contents of my newspaper? he said. Is that the best relief? Why I'm as relaxed now as a wet cloth on a damp day. The ideer such an ideer! he said.

Well here's another thawt, pop said. Why not distrack your mind with the crossword pussle while I stay discreetly silent? my self I am not to disterb you? he said and ma said, My goodness for land sake Willyum Fells is getting as perrilled, Lovey Darling is at the Narcissist and Immanent Russell is in the New Miracle, so cant you even suggest a movie? she said.

Well I'm more suggestion, I suggest a movie, pop said. Lovey Darling cant be showing somewhere or other or perhaps there's a Ronald Rimmel picture in town, who knows? he said.

Such a man, ma said.

Mention pop, and they went out to a movie, I dont know wich.

Thirteen Year Old Elsie Jackson Brought to Belleville Hospital

CHIEF BAIN IS J. P.

Trenton, August 1 — (Special)—Accidental death was the verdict brought in last night at the inquest held to enquire into the death of Frank Bonello, aged 19 of Ottawa, who was killed last Friday night when he attempted to board a west bound freight. The inquest was held before Coroner Dr. R. Alexander McGrindle with Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan K. C., of Belleville examining the witnesses. Dr. John W. Farley was first called and told of the injuries that the deceased had received to cause his death. He stated that the body had apparently not been moved on his arrival at the scene and that the train was about seventy-five yards to the east. He said it was impossible to ascertain the cause of the accident. Chief William Bain testified that he received a call to the C. P. R. station shortly after 2 p. m. on Friday last. The Crown Attorney asked if he was able to find the cause of the death and the answer was in the affirmative. He then instructed the jury who viewed the remains in McNair and Northey's funeral home. Later the body was taken to Ottawa for interment.

Fred Edwards aged 34 of Ottawa was next called. He had been in custody in the county jail during the inquest.

He stated that he had known the deceased for the past six months and had travelled with him at 210 Slater St. He told of the trip by freight beginning up to the fatal ending at Trenton. He stated that Bonello had missed the first car in his attempt to board the west moving train but that he was successful in his try. Bonello grabbed at the next car as Edwards watched. He said his foot went thru the foot rail as he grabbed and he fell to the ground. He seemed to rise in a semi-conscious condition and disappeared under the wheels. The witness was unable to get off until the train was halted. When asked if the railway was in any way to blame he answered "no" and stated that the C. P. R. constable had run them off the property previously. This concluded the evidence.

Two eye witnesses Anson Belcher and William Crawford, C. P. R. employees, were not called. The jury brought in not responsible by reason although they did write the verdict of accidental death.

The jury were, James B. Craigen, foreman, Thomas Taylor, George Shoniker, Cornad M. Newton, Allen Bailey, Edward Weir, George Cobley and Charles Allen.

William Bain Appointed J. P.

Chief Constable William Bain has been appointed Justice of the Peace for Ontario. He will receive no remuneration and the appointment was made solely to assist Col. A.E. Ryder.

Last evening the new J. P. tried his first case on the request of Magistrate Butler K. C., of Belleville. After the inquest enquiring into the death of Frank Bonello, his conviction Fred Edwards appeared before Chief Bain and pleaded guilty to trespassing on the C. P. R. Mineral given three months suspended sentence.

Girl May Lose Sight of One Eye

An accident occurred this week that may cost Elsie Jackson aged 13, the sight of one eye. She went into the brush to retrive a ball and ran a thorn into the eye ball. She was taken to the Belleville General Hospital where she was attended by Dr. W. J. Johnston.

The unfortunate miss was living with her grandfather, James D. Howes, 100 Dundas St. She is a niece of Chief and Mrs. William Bain.

Rev. T. Porter Bennett Addresses Rotary

Rev. T. Porter Bennett, native of Sterling now Irving at Halton Neb., was the guest speaker at the luncheon of the Rotary held at the Gilbert Hotel. Rev. Bennett has addressed Rotarians in many centers of Europe, Egypt and Palestine. His subject was more like a tour of his many travels. In most of Europe they have no singing at the Rotary meeting with the exception of Scotland where they sing "Auld Lang Syne." At Paris they have a wonderful club, as stated and the meal cost $1.80. Results of the Rotary could still be seen in Vienna. In Venice your Rotary club card will enable the visitor to meet many of the notables of the community. Florence, Naples and Rome clubs were spoken of by Rev. Bennett. He told of the many war memorials that he had seen but he stated the city of Edinburgh in Scotland had the finest. He had seen in his tours of Cairo, Egypt and Jerusalem, Arabs dress and English at the same table. The Rotary certainly shows the slogan of "International" when you have the opportunity to travel and see for yourself. He ended saying that "I do not world is saved from chaos it must be from an international point." President Geo. Shoniker called Rotarian Ken Couch to tender a vote of thanks to the speaker.

Whittall Can Defeat Downs-Coulter

The Whittall Can were extended to the last minute last night when they scored four runs to win 11-7 from the Downs-Coulter. The win places them in second place. Kidd pitched for the winners with Rodger facing them over the Downs-Coulter.

The Canada Bud were scheduled to play in Carrying Place but the latter forfeited the game. The league will finish it's schedule this week. It now looks as if the Canada Bud, Downs-Coulter and Whittall Can will fight it out for the Intercounty honors. The Whittall Can will enter the Junior O. A. S. A. play-downs.

A social hour was spent the ladies serving cake and ice cream.

Mrs. M. Maybee—

Dear Friend—The days are hurrying along and it will soon be that time for you to leave our village. We, your sister members of the Ladies' Aid wish to express our regret at the loss the Aid as well as ourselves will sustain. You have been a great helper and were conscientious watching that no poor work left your hands and not afraid to correct us, always, willing at any time and anywhere. As we look back we see a pleasant friendly spirit among the members but as we look ahead to our loss and prayers we can only say "What can fill her place". As a reminder of those happy days we ask you to accept this gift, which, will alter you from sun and rain and many God Bless You, keep you in health and may you be able to visit us many times more in the midst of the members of the Ladies Aid.

REV MR. MELLOW TAKES SERVICE

Minto—Rev. Mr. Mellow of Gore's Landing had charge of the service here on Sunday and took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. E. Sacks.

HAVE MORE FUN ON MOTOR TRIPS

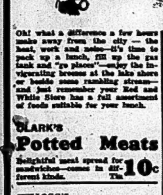
It's pretty hard to beat a sodor trip for sheer fun—if you're wet. But you have to feel good to enjoy play, as well as work.



Keep fit as a fiddle when you travel, whether by train or by motor car. Take along a bottle of Eno's "Fruit Salt." Whenever you get thirsty; or tired, or when you begin to feel the effects of change of cooking and lack of exercise, take a dash of Eno in a glass of water. Eno is the travelers' best friend. It makes a pleasant-tasting, thirst-quenching, refreshing drink.

Eno is alkaline. It neutralizes the acids of other foods . . . gives heartburn a short shrift. Enoclears the intestines of poisonous waste, cools the bloodstream, regularizes the entire inner system. Keep free from constipation and enjoy life, both at home and on the road. Eno does the trick. The action is gentle—natural. Every effect of Eno's "Fruit Salt" is pleasant and beneficial . . . and safe! Handy size 50c, Household size 85c.

Oh! what a difference a few hours make away from the city on the land, work and problems—it time to pack up a lunch, fill up the gas tank and "go places"—enjoy the invigorating breeze at the lake shore or heading some rambling stream—and just remember your Red and White Store has a full assortment of foods suitable for your lunch.

LIBERAL LEADER HEARD BY RADIO

Asks Clear Majority

He feared such a trend in Canada and expressed himself strongly in support of continuing parliamentary government in this country.

He urged the electors of Canada to accord the Liberal party a clear over-all majority in order the country might enjoy governmental stability. At this time it would be greatly to the disadvantage of the country to have the party in office dependent for its administrative life on the support of a third party.

Those who were vocal in support of the fewer groups had said they would be satisfied with holding the balance of power. Mr. King denounced the attitude of mind and deplored any small group of men should enjoy power without responsibility.

"There was nothing sinister or wrong about political parties," he said.

"Even Mr. Woodsworth and Mr. Stevens," the Liberal leader continued, "who sect to create a prejudice in their minds against what they speak of as the two old political parties, have found it necessary in order to further the aims they have in view to organize political parties of their own. Are their aims any the less genuine because they are being championed by a political party? Would these parties be any the less worthy of support if, in addition to their names they had great traditions and had fought from generation for the ends they profess to be seeking to serve?

Human Relationship

"You will do well, especially where there is a tendency to tear up everything by the roots and to get aboard the last carry-all, that comes along to say that the vehicle to which, for the next five years, you intend to trust your individual fortunes and the political and economic life of your country, is made up of something more substantial than the banners pinned to its sides and the volume of sound its musicians are capable of producing."

Under the return of a Liberal administration to office and the adoption of Liberal policies carried out on broad and generous lines and with more concern for human relations than for the methods of big business and of high finance and of high pressure salesmanship, there is no reason why this prosperity; and why the unrest and discontent which have brought these third parties into being and to which they owe their existence, should not also disappear."

Mr. King said members of third parties remained a group or groups "championing definite principles and policies, the situation might not be so difficult for a government to handle.

"They tend, however, to become not so much a group, or even groups of kindred mind and purpose but an aggregation with as many minds and purposes as their are individuals.

Stability Essential

"You cannot reconstruct on quicksand any more than you can lean upon a broken reed. Any uncertainty with respect to the authority and power of the government which is to conduct the affairs of Canada during the next five years will render impossible the fulfillment of the policies necessary to bring Canada out of the depression in which she has labored for so long and will seriously militate against the economic upbuilding of the most necessary reforms.

"I want to say to my fellow-countrymen very earnestly, the issue through which we are passing are of such a nature that no government except it be a government enjoying the most complete confidence of the people of Canada can hope to meet the needs of the present or be equal to the grave situations by which, in a few months or year, Canada may be confronted as a result of conditions at home and abroad. Stability and an unmistakable majority are more essential than ever."

Obituary

HARRY KELSO

Old friends in Belleville will learn with much regret of the death of Harry Kelso which occurred in the hospital at Minden, B.C. on after a very brief illness on Friday, July 26th.

The late Mr. Kelso was born in Belleville, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelso. His boyhood and part of his early manhood years were passed here and he was very popular with many of the younger and older residents of the city. He took an active interest in sports and was a valued and clever football and hockey player. As a young man he entered the service of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in this city and after being stationed in various places in Ontario he was sent to Vancouver, British Columbia.

Eventually he retired from the service of the bank and of late years he has been engaged in operating a fruit farm on his own account at Malagul, B.C. He was unmarried He was a member of the Presbyterian church and during his residence here he attended St. Andrew's Church.

Surviving him are four sisters—Mrs. A. Roberts and Miss M. Kelso George street, Belleville; Mrs. J. A. Laidlaw and Mrs. A. H. Wallbridge, Vancouver, B.C.; one brother, Mr. Thomas Kelso, Beverley Hills, California.

Interment was made at Vancouver, B.C.

LATE MRS. VIOLA STAPLEY

The funeral of Mrs. Viola Stapley, wife of Mr. Floyd B. Stapley, 18 Johnson Street, took place Monday afternoon from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street. Rev. Mr. Wells was in charge of Major Jordan of the Salvation Army, who conducted also the service at the graveside in Belleville cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. F. W. Mason, B. W. Brown, L. Horn, W. McCoy, J. White and Sergt. Major Hart.

LATE THOMAS B. BROCKHURST

Wednesday afternoon the funeral of Thomas Blackmore Brockhurst took place from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, W. Campbell Street, and was attended by many friends The service in the chapel was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Forsythe, of Bethel Hall, Ameliasburg, who officiated also at the graveside in Belleville cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. B. W. Brown, W. H. Wrightmeyer, W. Turner, W. Tucker, R. St. McBride and T. Adams.

FINANCIAL MARKETS
NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

WALL STREET FINANCIAL

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—The stock market today began the new month with its feet on fairly firm ground.

The first hour found blocks of several thousand shares changing hands. The pace slowed later, however, and a number of the recent favorites showed signs of needing a little rest. The list, on the whole, probably were the best.

Dome Mines, nationally amazing shares of Canadian companies, while International Nickel and Canadian Pacific held virtually unchanged. On the curb, Lake Shore and Hiram Walker moved steady. Moderate real funds continued unchanged at 3½ per cent.

Shares up fractions to around a point included Union Pacific, N. Y. Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, Northern Pacific, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, J.I. Chalmers, U.S. Smelting, Deere, Gillette, Timken-Detroit, Western Union, International Telephone and Allied Chemical Telephone.

Peoples Gas was a contrary performer, losing some 2 points. The rest of the utility list moved ahead, along with General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Steel and Bethlehem.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Rails, oils and several specialties attracted buyers in today's stock exchange dealings. Transactions got up to 2,000 shares but the other stocks were about unchanged.

General Motors held around its top for the year while Chrysler easily topped its 1935 points. The late tone was steady. Transfers approximated 1,700,000 shares.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 1 (CP)—The Toronto mining market opened the new month with a moderate decline, carrying along the slow downward drift that prevailed through July. Losses were the weaker group though there were no serious losses anywhere; recessions being limited to about 2c and, in the deeper end the seniors. Silvers were also heavy and the golds held to a steady tone.

Gold and silver shares displayed little weakness today's mining section while base metals were supported by good buying in Falconbridge, which was up 5 points to 150. Falconbridge was holding at 84 this afternoon and Sherritt, Gordon and Bunker Basin was up 5 to 150.

Recessions up to 20 cents were booked in Lake Shore, Hiram Walker, Hollinger and Wright Hargreaves and in the deeper group losses of a few cents were boarded for Sisco, Sylvanite, Reno, Pickle Crow and McWatters, the latter showing at 94.

Bidding touched 1.75 and Bear 86 for minor issues and other silver stocks were quiet.

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 1 (CP)—The Toronto industrial share market centred in the liquors and oils in the opening session of the month with gains up in the former group and minimum losses in the latter. Brewers and Distillers led in action and closed about 10 cents higher at 1.05. Throughout the list gains and losses were about even. Aggregate volume was off somewhat from that of Wednesday.

Following a fairly active morning session with the liquor stocks again leading, trading quietened down in industrial section but prices were inclined to hold.

More than half the share turnover was in Brewers and Distillers with a price gain of 10 cents to 1.05 showing by early afternoon. Distillers Seagrams at 31½ had a gain of ¼ and Walkers common was steady at 28. Ford A, C.P.R. and Brazilian were steady and Nickel off the minimum fraction.

Other groups lagged with the utilities and steels displaying firmness and implement issues slightly heavy.

OLDEST BARONET DIES

London, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Col. Sir Benjamin Parnell Brumbsad, 96, died at his home, Thurley Hall, Lincoln.

Sir Benjamin, one of the oldest Baronets in England, served with British infantry forces in the Afghan, Burmese, Sikhim and Zulu campaigns from 1852 through 1891 and was often wounded and decorated.

Board Room Gossip
As supplied to Bigger and Greenwood by Financial Service

Rene Gold Mines.

Considerable selling in the stock has again resulted in forcing the stock to a new low level for some considerable time at $1.06. The June progress report made public some ten days ago revealed satisfactory ore developments. The consulting secretary of the company has denied that the present low dividend was in danger. On the basis of the dividend rate 2½ cents annually the stock yields nearly 12 per cent.

The company ended its fiscal year on June 30 and the annual report to be made public shortly will reveal. Financial Service has learned that a reliable source, close to 15 cents a share net earnings. Such earnings will be reported after depreciation, depletion and after writing off, also, development expenses and the money recently voted to develop the adjoining Molleriodge-Nuggett properties.

The market yesterday was featured by activity and strength in Canadian Breweries, United Steel and Brewers and Distillers. Rumors that about $1,500,000 for equipment order to be authorized by the government would be announced in the near future attracted the strength in the first two issues. The latter, Brewers and Distillers touched a new high for the year on news that a civil suit pending against two former directors had been settled out of court for $500,000.

COUPLE DROWN IN NORTH LAKE

London, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP)—Mrs. Lorne Macash, son of Edward Macash, Lambton, and his wife, formerly Lillian Archer of Toronto, were drowned in a boating accident on Lake Timagami in the Northern Ontario district of Nipissing.

It is believed Mr. Macash and his wife were travelling over the lake, as part of their duties in connection with the Baptist Mission, and on Bear Lake in the Timagami district. Details are still lacking.

Relatives here do not know whether the bodies have yet been found.

MUNICIPALITIES TO DERIVE REVENUE

Toronto, Aug. 1 (CP)— Ontario municipalities in which beverage rooms are established will receive from the provincial government this fall 20 per cent of the beverage room profits, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said today.

On top of that, the Premier added, they will receive 80 percent of the profits the Board derives from beverage rooms selling in excess of $8,000 worth of beer and wine.

Livestock

Toronto, Aug. 1 (CP)—Customary Thursday slackness found the Toronto livestock market opening up 3-4lb with cattle and lambs slow, and hog and sheep trading substantial. A very few calves were sold in the early morning, bargaining. There was a cattle holdover of 300 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch here:

Cattle, 130; calves, 30; hogs, 40; sheep and lambs, 70.

Trade receipts on most cattle were stockers. One light load of stockers brought $5.25 but otherwise there were no sales made.

The few calves offered sold steady at from $6 to $7 cwt.

There were no hog prices established in the early sales and market officials could not predict late afternoon prices.

Lambs were slow at $8 for good ewes and wethers and at $6 to $7 for other grades. There were no sheep offered.

HOGS

Toronto, Aug. 1 (CP)—The Chatham Board of Trade reports a price drop, featured the price report from five market points today. Brantford and Kitchener prices were down 15 cents each and Hull and Peterborough reported declines of 10 cents.

Brantford, 89.25; Chatham, $8.75; Hull, $8.00; Kitchener, 89.10; Peterborough, $8.00.

FRUIT

Toronto, Aug. 1 (CP)—Wholesale prices on fruit and vegetables as supplied by the Dominion Dept. here today were reported unchanged with the following exceptions:

Raspberries, 44c to 6c; Leamington tomatoes No. 1, 25c to 30c; No. 2, 20c to 22 1-4c.

King in Radio Address

"Traced to its source—the source that is financing the present movement—there is reason to believe, to found that the demand for National Government is a last desperate effort on the part of those identified with buying privileges denied to others, to deal with the railways, the tariffs, and taxation in a manner which will serve to further their own special interests. Under the guise of submerging partisanship and gaining political unity for public service, National Government would seek to do, by a combination of parties, things for which no single party would dare to ask public approval. In plain English, National Government is establishing at this time, would sacrifice democracy to serve the ends of plutocracy.

Fear Is Enemy

"In my next two addresses I shall have more to say of this tendency in the direction of dictatorship, and of the fear which inspires it. Those who dare to differ with their neighbors in opinion; more of monopoly, regimentation and coercion, I shall set out in such detail as my time will permit in the platform of the Liberal Party, and its position with respect to present-day problems. My purpose tonight has been to make it clear that, in the opinion of the Liberal Party, the first step toward permanent recovery or relief from conditions is by the declarative repudiation by the Canadian electorate of tendencies leaning dictatorship manifestaz during the last five years, and an equally declarative reaffirmation of measures, by whatever party they may be advocated, which lead in the direction of Hitlerism, Fascism, or Communism.

"In Canada, we want, and we need, none of these. What we want and need above all else is the sincerely different spirit in all matters of government which has the end which we have been obliged to grow accustomed to, not the spirit of the autocrat, at home and abroad, but the spirit of brotherhood which seeking the solution of our domestic problems, and the spirit of the relations with other nations. We have been living under the reign of fear long enough.

"Instead of blasting our way, which we have been doing for the past five years, let us pursue our way doing unto others as we would that others should do unto us. It is a wholly different method, but it is the only way in which, above both others, will best answer our own and the world's need."

CHEESE MARKETING PLAN

Ingersoll, Aug. 1 (CP)—After holding off about a month, Oxford County cheesemakers have signed 3,000 boxes on the Ingersoll board last night, taking 9% cents. It was the largest offering in years.

The new marketing plans of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association came up for discussion and P. W. Johnston, of the Kraft Phenix Cheese Company, and the key of five cents a hundred on buyers, ordered that the producers' selling basis would mean a bid less by 1-16 cent than the Montreal prices. This came out of the producers.

Reactions of Municipalities To Relief Administration Change

Reactions to Premier Hepburn's announcement turning relief administration back on the municipalities are as follows:—

WOODSTOCK—Mayor James Shipman said Premier Hepburn's "latest action will be astounding to every mayor in Canada, and if acted by the other provinces would cause Dominion-wide panic and financial chaos." He said there were hundreds of municipalities from Halifax to Vancouver and all their obligations would have to be assumed by provincial governments if Premier Hepburn's action became general. The Toronto mayor said he was not faced with a possible increase of $600,000 in relief costs, and that the mayor in connection with the order cutting single men off relief tomorrow said he would telegraph every Provincial Labor Bureau, inquiring about the need for farm labor.

OSHAWA—Oshawa Public Welfare Board will meet in emergency session as soon as the new relief regulations are received officially, Wilfrid Bradshaw, the relief administration show the new regulations will mean an increase of close to $100,000 a year to the city's share of relief costs. Mr. Bradshaw, chairman of the Public Welfare Board, said: "The announcement by Premier Hepburn has created a very serious situation for the taxpayers of Oshawa, a situation which will have to be met at once by the Oshawa Public Welfare Board. It is obvious that under the new arrangement the city cannot continue to grant relief on the scale which is at present in force. . . . This may mean a complete cessation of relief, and a call for re-applications from those seeking to go back on the index. It will also be necessary to make reductions in the per month cost of relief given in Oshawa and this will of course necessitate reductions in the allowances and services relief is possible Premier Hepburn would not have been forced to make this move.

PORT ARTHUR—It was a surprise to me to learn from the Premier himself while I was in Toronto last night that relief costs in Windsor alone last year were one of the municipalities where the cost amounted to 40 per cent of the cost—was in excess of three million dollars. The other words Premier Hepburn considers that it is fair in Windsor cost almost as much as it took to run the entire province of Ontario for 30 days ago. Under such circumstances, moves on the part of the provincial government to relieve Mr. Hepburn's action became general. The Toronto mayor has already been faced with a possible increase of $600,000 in relief costs, and if the mayor in connection with the order cutting single men off relief tomorrow said he would telegraph every Provincial Labor Bureau, inquiring about the need for farm labor.

WINDSOR—Windsor can administer relief locally on a more economical basis than the Ontario government has but the problem is to find the extra money necessary to carry the burden after it is thrown back on the municipalities, according to the general opinion of members of Windsor city council today. Several city officials said that the cost of relief administration in Windsor city council today. Several city officials said that the cost of relief administration in Windsor alone would be under the amount of a man's earning capacity, otherwise relief will be permanent.

WENDSOR—Windsor can administer relief locally on a more economical basis than the Ontario government has but the problem is to find the extra money necessary to carry the burden after it is thrown back on the municipalities, according to the general opinion of members of Windsor city council today. Several city officials said that the cost of relief administration in Windsor alone would be under the amount of a man's earning capacity, otherwise relief will be permanent.

BRANTFORD—Mayor W. S. Blair thought the order would "work out all right" and added: "I don't see why we can't administer relief as well and as much money per capita as we have been getting it. Personally the city would get a much money as it had in the past. Relief inspectors had been a nuisance."

PORT HOPE—Reeve George F. Broadley, acting Mayor, said Port Hope was bankrupt and could not ask taxpayers to pay a "single additional cent." Reeve Broadley said "had its side" to and he would say nothing further until the regulations were received.

KINGSTON—Mayor J. C. Berry-nobbs said he did not see how the municipalities can stand any heavier burden. Municipalities were paying more now than they could afford and it was "mayrish that the government is able to help on municipalities in this respect." Municipalities was "faced to death."

SARNIA—All of Sarnia's 154 single, unemployed men had been placed in the unemployment and Sarnia would not be affected by the order, Alderman Harry Wright, Welfare Chairman said.

ST. CATHARINES—Mayor H. J. Rodman declared "the province can't force the poor at the sacrifice of its children." Municipalities are carrying all they could bear, he declared in investigation and f they are going to cut off all these expectors the thing will run riot."

ST. THOMAS—Coincident with the order cutting off unemployed men St. Thomas council had decided to continue operating the municipal relief camp, although the number although unemployed single men had been reduced from 31. Mayor A. W. Johnson urged concentration camp be established for transients, refusing municipalities.

COMMUNITY HONORS BRIDE AND GROOM

On Tuesday seeing of this week two of Centenary young people will be married, Miss Ruby Day, Philip Ray, were honored with a presentation at the home of Mrs. Ray, Bloomfield. A large number of their friends gathered to congratulate the bride-to-be and spend a very pleasant evening with them.

Hazel Gilchrist, in a few well chosen words, read the address, which was as follows:

Centenary, July 31st., 1935

Dear Philip and Bernice,

"It is with a feeling of the greatest friendship and good will that we are gathered here tonight to show our esteem for you. To you in a tangle manner. You have always been highly esteemed before in your respective neighborhoods. And now you are both starting out on life's journey together. May no one your turn to be less honored than you.

You, Philip, as one of our very own boys, have been born and brought up in us very house where you, your father and grandmother now rude. Our church has been to you from childhood to manhood and sore especially has your work been manifest in the church. You have always been a willing helper i all our undertakings.

"To you Bernice, we extend the hearty hand of friendship. Indeed you are no stranger, having lived in our neighborhood for some time, and while there were a valued member of our sotr and were active in all our church work. Certainly we at most glad to have you with us as one of our own.

"As your lives you travel through may you take comfort and joy in a few well chosen verses of Lillian G. Langley.

LIFE

Life is not cay sunshine and delight,
Nor is it away daytime without night;
But he who set keeps smiling through
Merits our praise in their highest view.

Some days the cheerful sun shines warm an bright,
While we all sale, and tread with footsteps light
On rose-strewn paths which e'er before said,
Beneath the bight blue stretch of heaven.

But blue skyscan not always o'er us stay;
They oft times give their place to skies of grey;
And then it is that we must pray for aid,
From Him on Whom our many sins are laid.

So as we travel on life's path of tears,
Let happy smile fight hard against the tears
For memory is a shadow without sun,
And when a smile we wear, our smile's gone

And now we ask you to accept as a slight token of respect, this cabinet of silver and hope it may ever remind ya of your friends at Centenary.

Signed Helen Hart, Annabel Adams, Wilma Sherrick.

Both Bernice and Philip thanked their friends and invited all to visit them in their home. Lunch was then served after which all left their best wishes with the bride and groom many years of wedded happiness.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

The weakness of the defence lay in this fact, for the Turks were too few to hold both it and the knoll or station, and its crest was exposed to them. Nasir one night occupied the whole top of the hill without alarm, and then cut the line above and below the station. A few minutes later, when it was light enough to see, Nuri Said brought his mountain-gun to the edge of the ridge, and, with a third lucky shot, a direct hit, silenced the Turkish gun beneath his view.

Nasir grew greatly excited: the Beni Sakhr mounted their camels, and swarming over the ridge to forth with. Nuri thought it madness while Turkish machine-guns were still in action from trenches but his words had no effect upon Beni. The respect had no effect upon Beni. The respect-ful Howeitat a battling fire with all he had against the Turkish position, and the Beni Sakhr rode round the foot of the main ridge and up over the knoll in a long line of camel-hords racing at them, the Turks flung away their rifles and fled from the station. Only two Arabs were fatally hurt.

Nuri ran down to the knoll. The Turkish gun was undamaged. He put it round and fired a shrapnel it point blank into the ticket office. The Beni Sakhr mob pulled with joy to see the wood and stones flying, then dismounted and ran in respect-fully, as usual after victory, every one was too loaded and too hot to care for the labour.

Then the weather once more broke. For three successive days came falls of snow. Nazir's force with difficulty regained the tents at Jefer. This plateau about Maan lay between three and four thousand feet above sea level, open to all winds from north and east. They blew from Central Asia and the Caucasus, terribly over the great desert to these hills of Edom, against which their first fury broke. The surplus bitterness lipped the crest and made a wet cold wind, severe of its degree, below, in Judaea and Sinai.

Outside Beersheba and Jerusalem the British found it cold; but the Arabs find there to be warm, Unhappily the British supply staff relaxed too late that we were fighting in a little Alp. They would not give us tents for one-quarter of our troops, nor serge clothing, nor boots, nor blankets enough to issue two to each man of the numerous garrisons. Our soldiers, if they neither deserted nor died, settled in an aching misery which frose the hope out of them.

According to our plan the good news of Jurt was to send the Arabs off Petra, under Sherif Abd al Majid, at once up their hills into the forest towards Shobek. It was an uncanny march in the hot mist, that of these, frozen-footed peasants in their sheepskins, up country two months lays and dangerous hill-sides, out of whose snow-drifts the heavy trunks of junipers grudging it as they jutted like castings in grey iron. The ice and frost broke down the animals, and many of the men; yet these hardy highlanders used to being too cold throughout their winter, persisted in the advance.

The Turks heard of the march as they struggled slowly nearer, and fled from the caves and villages among the trees to the branch railhead, littering the roads of their panic with cast baggage and equipment.

However, the advantages lay with Nazir, who lay-in at the new camp at Jefer, and after a whirlwind night appeared at dawn on the rocky brink of the ravine in which Tafileh hid, and summoned it to surrender on pain of bombardment: an idle threat, for Nuri Said with the guns had gone back to Dhaheriya. There were only one hundred and eighty Turks in the village, but they had reporters in the Arab Bureau, by one of the peasantry; not for love so much as because Tafileh, the vulgar head-man of another faction, had declared for Feisal. So they shot up at Nazir a stream of ill-directed bullets.

The Howeitat spread out along the cliffs to return the peasants' fire. This manner of going displeased Nazir, the old lion, who regarded that a mercenary village folk should dare to resist their secular masters, in the Abu Tayi. So he jerked his halter, cantered his mare down the path, and rode out plain to view before the Howeitat could hustle the village. There he reined in, and shook his head at them, booming in wonderful voice: "Dogs, do you not know Auda?" When they re-plied it was that legend of whom we have their hearts failed them, and an hour later Sherif Nasir in the town-house was sipping tea with his guest the Turkish Governor, trying to sound him for the sudden change of fortune.

The next labour rode in. His Motlags looked blackly at their blood-enemies the Abu Tyi, lolling in the sun-shine. The two Sherifs discussed up the place, to keep their unruly followers apart.

Feisal had delegated command of this push towards the Dead Sea to his half-brother Zeid. It was Zeid's first office in the north, and he was out eager with the luck of Feisal at Petra; but Zeid himself and Jaafar had left Tafileh.

Things were almost at a break. Such a division between the Howeitat galling to the Motalga boys, Motaah and Annad, sons of Abtan, whom Auda's men had killed. They, Shifts, definite, self-conscious figures, began to talk about vengeance, with threatening a hawk. Auda declared he would whip them in the Market-place. Nasir shook his head, still very well, but their followers went to work with the back of food at Petra; but Zeid himself and Jaafar had left Tafileh.

Things were almost at a break. Such a division between the Howeitat galling to the Motalga boys, Motaah and Annad, sons of Abtan, whom Auda's men had killed. They, Shifts, definite, self-conscious figures, began to talk about vengeance, with threatening a hawk. Auda declared he would whip them in the Market-place. Nasir shook his head, still very well, but their followers went to work with the back of food at Petra; but Zeid himself and Jaafar had left Tafileh.

Nothwithstanding, these plans for a general truce before the battle been agreed upon we were astonished by a sudden cry of the Turks to disarm. We had never dreamed of this, for it seemed out of the question that they should hope to keep Tafileh, or want to keep it. Allenby was fish in Jerusalem, and for the Turks the issue of the war might depend on their successful defence of the Jordan against Allenby.

Unless Jericho fell, or until it fell, Tafileh was of no importance, of no interest. Nor did we value it as a possession; our desire was to get the Turks towards the onset, and so critically placed as the Turks to make them fight. Therefore all the receapture appeared the rankest folley.

Ronald Fakhri Pasha, commanding the 4th Division and the Amman garrison, was responsible for the Tafileh battalion was a poor thing) with machine-guns, two mountain-guns howitzers, and twenty-seven machine guns, and sent them by rail and road to Wadi Musa. There he impressed all the local transport, drew a small set of civil officials to his staff his new administration in Tafileh, and marched southward to surprise us.

Surprise us he did. We first heard of him when his cavalry feelers fell on our pickets in Wadi Hesa, the ford into the deep and deep and difficulty which cut off Kerak from Tafileh. Mosh from Edom. By dusk he had driven them back and was upon us.

Jaafar Pasha had sketched a defence position on the south bank of the great ravine of Tafileh; protecting, if the Turks attacked, to give them the village, and defend the ford against the enemy. It, behind. This seemed to me doubly unsound. The slopes were steep and the ford difficult as their attack. They could be turned from the east; and by pushing the village we threw away the local people, whose police and information would be of the occupiers of their houses.

However it was the ruling idea. All Zeid had—and at about midnight he gave the order, and servants and retainers loaded up their stuff. The men-at-arms proceeded to the southern crest, while the baggage train was sent off by the lower road to safety. This more rested panic in the town. The peasants thought we were running away (I think we were) and rushed to save their goods and lives. It was freezing hard and the ground was crusted with mdgy ice. In the blustering dark the confusion and crying through the narrow streets grew terrible.

Dhiab the Sheikh had told us harrowing tales of the disaffection of the townspeople, to increase the splendour of his own loyalty; but my impression was that they were about fellows of great potential use. To prove it I sat out on my roof, on walked in the dark and down the the steep alleys, cloaked against recognition, with pockets full of money, freely about me within call. So we heard what passed. The people were in a very sullen mood, nervous, dangerous, abusing everybody and everything but their own selfish pro-Turkish abroad. They were in favour of the Turks returning, ready-to do all in their physical capacity to support against them a leader with fighting intention. The was satisfactory for it chimed with fighting intention. This was satisfactory, for it chimed with my hankering to stand where we were and fight stiffly.

Finally, I met the young Jazi Sheikhs Motaah and Annad, beautiful in silks and gleaming silver arms, and sent them to find their people, Hamd el Amr. Him I asked to ride away north of the ravine to the Jefer plateau, where the noise were still fighting the Turks, that we were on our way up to help them Hamd, melancholily, rather a gallant cavalier, galloped off at once with twenty of his followers, all that he could gather in the distracted moment.

They began at speed through the streets added the last touch required. It was that tragedy of women. The housewives bundled their goods pell-mell out of doors and windows, shrieking and wailing to be re-ceive them. Children were trampled in the rush, while their mothers were yelling anyhow. The Motalga during their gallop fired shot after shot into the air, to encourage themselves, and as though to answer them, the flashes of the enemy rifles became visible, outlining the northern cliffs in that last black-ness before the dawn. We walked up the opposite heights to consult with them.

WAR - - KIDNAPPING - - POLITICS - - DISASTER - -

BUT.... it's the LITTLE THINGS that count....

New drapes for the guest room, and Junior's first haircut. A new recipe for peach pie and new pans for baking it. A picnic at the beach, and a new hat for the weekly bridge. Every day events? Of course! But they're the things that make life livable! What's a war in Illyria and another Arctic expedition, compared to the thrill of the first glimpse of the family that's moving in next door, and the delivery of a shining new refrigerator? What's a royal wedding, and twelve rooms filled with gifts, when Anne has her fifth birthday tomorrow? They're interesting enough, something to talk about, to wonder at, perhaps, but pretty far away from that most important spot and the people who live there . . . your own home.

That's where your heart is, and that's where the real thrills lie, in the things that concern you and the people who live around you, next door, in the next block, anywhere in town. There's news about them in every issue of the daily Ontario Intelligencer in "inside page" stories—and in every ad too, for the ads in the Ontario Intelligencer are news! There's news about new clothes for the family, and new food for the table, and new furniture for the home. There's news about new entertainment, and new ways to get to it. There's news about something new on every page, from the latest dispatch on the front page to the new shoes for Anne on the last . . . all written to you and for you, put up in a neat package and delivered at your door-step every day.

SPLENDID CROWD AT BAND CONCERT

Miss Dorothy Sager is Soprano Soloist at Opening Program

Tweed, Aug. 1—In spite of the rain which fell intermittently the while, a crowd estimated at close to five hundred people attended the first Sunday evening band concert given, last Sunday at Tweed Memorial Park by Tweed-Sulphide band with bandmaster W. E. Daze conducting. The quality of the music improves with every appearance and the concert met with the hearty approbation of the large crowd. Possibly a little less honking of auto horns by way of applause on Sunday evening would be in order.

The most popular selection of the programme was the favorite hymn "Abide With Me," which was sung by Miss Dorothy Sager A.T.C.M. accompanied by a section of the band. The instruments gave the effect of a church organ and the well-modulated tones allowed the rolling voice to be heard well. By request, Miss Sager appeared again near the end of the program and repeated the number.

The programme was as follows:

1. March—"The Buccaneer"—The Band.
2. Concert Waltz—"Silver Cascade."
3. Soprano Solo — "Abide With Me."
Soloist, Miss Dorothy Sager, A.T.C.M.
4. Hymn—"Come up Sinners Poor and Needy."
5. Overture—"Monogram."
Hymn—"Onward Christian Soldiers."
7. March—"The Envoy."
Intermission.
8. March—"Royal Dragoons."
9. Overture—"Pantheon."
10. Concert Waltz — "Spring Flowers."
11. Selection of Hymn Tunes.
"Lead Kindly Light" (Sandon).
"Alas and did my Saviour Bleed."
"The Church's One Foundation."
"Rock of Ages."
12. March—"Chevalier."
God Save The King.

A meeting was held on Monday evening in the council chambers when an enthusiastic crowd gathered for the purpose of organizing a local Fish and Game Club. Dr. J. T. Bentley was chairman of the meeting and S. B. Curry, secretary.

Mr Joe Shortt, of Belleville, was present to assist in the formation of the association. He spoke at some length referring to what had been done in Belleville, where casting tournaments are held in the winter and with the aid of experts the proper methods for successful casting are learned. Methods of financing were suggested. Mr. Shortt recommended that the local organization affiliate with the Ontario Anglers' Association. He advised educating the youthful fisherman in nature study and in getting back fish which are smaller than the size permitted to be taken and refraining from catching more than the legal number. Much good can be done by educating those who break the law with regard to these matters also in getting them out of season to see that it is in their own interest to observe the law. In this way fish will be protected and there will be less likelihood of the waters being depleted. Applications should be sent in at once for fish for the spring, as any delay will mean disappointment. Mr. A. C. Weir, secretary of the Belleville Fish and Game Club and Mr. Seymark, Inspector for the district also spoke regarding timely suggestions.

The officers were elected.

President: Dr. W. A. Paul.
Vice Pres.—H. W. Crosbie.
Sec. Treasurer—A. Corcoran.
Membership and Membership Committee—Al Davis and W. A. Beatty.
O. B. Hall, Ernest Hall and Dr. Curry proceed at once to carry out the suggestions offered so that in the course of a few years Tweed district will become an angler's paradise when there will be unnecessary to motor to the northern lakes for a day's fishing.

Anglers Urged to Fish for Sport And to Limit Their Catches

Conservation of Fish Resources Sought by Department of Game And Fisheries—Law Observance is Important Factor

(By Department of Game and Fisheries)

Now that the angling season is in full swing, and thousands of enthusiasts are daily combing our lakes and streams for the fighting fish for which our waters are famous, it is perhaps an opportune time to draw the attention of the public to the necessity for a policy of conservation in connection with our game-fish and other natural wild life resources. Such a policy is essential in order that we may continue to enjoy, without undue restrictions, the recreational pleasures of hunting and fishing which mean so much to us personally and materially to the people of the Province.

Conservation, the many other important subjects is widely misunderstood. The commonest form of misunderstanding is the belief that it is something for the Government to worry about, something with which the individual need not greatly concern himself. This is an unfortunate idea, because, no matter what conservational measures the Government may introduce these will prove ineffective without the support of the public.

You probably have not given the subject a great deal of thought so it may last be out of place to remind you that the Game and Fishery Laws are passed for the measures of the greatest importance. Game, for instance, is disappearing the season during which certain fish and game may be not take taken. These are necessary, in order that natural propagation may not be disturbed. There are laws regulating the size limits of fish, and the bag and possession limits of game and fish. The reasons for these are obvious. There are many other laws which demand our attention, but all of them have one purpose in mind, namely the preservation of our natural wild life resources, mammals birds and fish while permitting the greatest amount of liberty to the individual to indulge his hobby or taste, extravagance and illegal practices over a long period of years have reduced the various species in our forest, lake and stream, and only by the strictest observance in every case of conservation, can we hope to restore once more the abundant resources.

The greatest contribution the individual can make to the preservation and restoration of our fish and game resources is a strict obedience of the laws himself, and a deeper sense of his own responsibility to see that others do not break them.

The ethics of sportsmanship are involved in law observance. We quote from an editorial in Rod and Gun, "The angler who is fair and square to the game-fish legislation is a true conservationist. Spawning beds have no terrors for him. He is around. Small trout can take his fly in safety. He does no illegal netting or spearing. By being perfectly content to do what it right he helps to preserve the fish of our lakes and streams. Maintaining our standards, he applies not merely in case of planting waters with the product of our hatcheries, it is insisted on in the minds of true sportsmen that they, and they alone can make or mar the future of fishing."

Fish primarily for recreation, and limit your catches. To feel the rod bending to the strain of a fighting bass, or to hear the reel singing its accompaniment to the fighting effort of a gamey fish are incomparable thrills from a sporting standpoint. Remember however that a fish in the boat is but a prospective meal, while a fish in the water offers unlimited thrills.

May we point out that bag limits are not compulsory. So be aimed at, but are rather a regulatory measure. Conservation-minded men feel it is illegal to go. As a measure of conservation, therefore, do not take more fish than you can use with in the limit set by law. Those you leave behind will be there or will be available for tomorrow's catch, and if not, if tomorrow that we are most concerned. Today there is a sufficiency. Tomorrow's pleasure will depend upon how we use or abuse our privileges of today.

Let your daughter or his own fishing. He'll probably enjoy the sport just as much as you, once he becomes interested, and you will be preserving the supply.

Organized effort along conservational lines is the best method of protecting our valuable wild life resources. If there is a Fish and Game Club in your district, join in your community, and you are not yet a member, do once more the organization at present, plan to form one. Write the Department to assist you to organize if you will write to Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

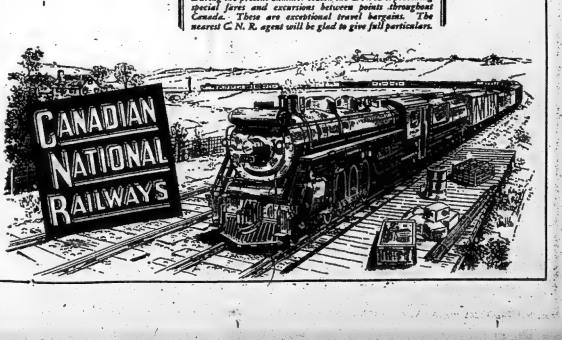
Dependence of Canadian Communities upon the C. N. R.

Even a brief study of the map of Canada will show how widespread is a geographical sense, are the transportation facilities afforded by Canadian National Railways. From the Atlantic coast to the Pacific and North and South from its main lines the C. N. R. serves practically every important section of the Dominion.

Along its 22,000 miles of track in Canada are 4,550 C. N. R. Depots or Stations: Some of the larger centres of population, (from which comes, of course, much of the company's revenues), are not dependent solely on the C. N. R. for their railroad requirements, but over four thousand stations, or approximately ninety per cent of the company's total stations in Canada, are located at points where the only rail transportation service available is that provided by Canadian National Railways.



Almost without exception these stations serve communities, varying in size and wealth, which produce commodities required in other parts of Canada or abroad. In their turn they are purchasers from manufacturers and merchants throughout the Dominion. They are thus highly important in the economic structure of the country, and in providing the means of transportation for passengers and freight Canadian National Railways is performing an essential service : : : one which, indeed, is of tremendous significance in enabling Canada to exist as a complete and united national entity.

As will be readily understood, many of these communities are only in the early stages of their development : : : their growth has in all too many cases been retarded by the economic conditions of the past few years : : : but their potentialities, under happier trade conditions, are beyond computation. Further, the people who live in them and who are building the Canada of the future have claims to railway service as a necessary adjunct to their welfare which must be seriously considered.

This aspect of the services rendered by Canadian National Railways will command the approval of all who have faith in the destiny of Canada. Without adequate patronage however from the public as a whole, the performance of these services becomes a matter of great difficulty, if not impossible.

Canadian National Railways is operated economically. It stands ready to deliver the best service possible in railway facilities : : : transportation, telegraphs, express, hotels : : : and it is on this basis that the C. N. R. solicits your cooperation in the great and nationally important work performed under all conditions and throughout the entire year.

During the present Summer season the C. N. R. is providing special fares and excursions between points throughout Canada. These are exceptional travel bargains. The nearest C. N. R. agent will be glad to give full particulars.

Radios Give Clever Display In Downing Peterboro 5-4 Moving Up in League Race

Williams Allows Five Hits And Team Collect 12 Bingles

GREAT DEFENCE

Weir, Grey and Murphy Provide Fielding Features

In true Merriwell style, the Belleville Stewart-Warners staged a belated and hectic finish to gain sweet revenge over the Peterboro Sam Horses when timely hitting, snippets fielding and the trusty left arm of Jack "Chief" Williams all stirred Saturday into their 5 to 4 ten-inning victory over the pipers on the home ice yesterday before seven hectic filled grandstand. Sensational fielding efforts on the part of both teams stood out as the feature of the game coupled with five hit pitching by Jack Williams, who only four days prior had been shelled from the mound by the same opposing clubs. A stiff wind militated Williams' efforts somewhat, but he kept the five Peterboro hits well scattered and over-shadowed Calladine, his rival pitcher, all the way in the pinches. Both pitchers were afforded super-natural fielding by their teammates,however. The victory hung up by the Radios elevates them to within striking distance of second place in the C.O.B.L. and well on the highway towards an annual play-off berth.

On numerous occasions throughout the extra inning game both clubs rose to dizzy heights to turn in some of the most sparkling fielding efforts seen defensively on the local diamond in many years. But with the base-hits added less than two out the defensive play of the clubs far outshadowed the offensive until the hectic tenth, when with the score all knotted up, Murphy, Kerr bunted safely as did Barclay and both advanced a base when Calladine threw badly to first. Alex Weir was purposely passed to first filling the sacks and on the fourth pitched ball Sonny Green hit sharply to third. Whalley fielded the ball cleanly, but the fleet-footed Kerr was crossing the plate at that time with the "million dollar" run and the old ball game.

Hindered by Wind

Although Williams experienced difficulty, owing to an adverse wind, in getting his curve ball, while his control was uncanny at times. He walked six and hit two Peterboro batters, one he whiffed an even half dozen. The Chief finished strongly in the 8th and 9th as the Radios started to hit with some degree of consistency. Calladine's dinky ball seemed made to order for the Stewart-Warner batters as he threw them one cut down across fifties from his deliveries, while five scattered singles were all that came from the bats of the Leamen. Dexterity Weir and Grey played stellar ball in the outer garden with Grey's two runsaving assists in the second and seventh bringing rounds of applause as they nonchalantly kept the Peters from scoring. On the infield Dean Ford at short handled eight hard chances, being one that did not enter into the scoring, however. Mcllroy played errorless ball on his two chances. Weir's throw-in of Kearns in the eighth approved another life saver, as this play eventually turned darkness into sunshine for the locals. Murphy, Peterboro short stop, was by far the fielding star of the day as he handled eleven chances superbly, two of which came in the ninth before Belleville seemed to have matters well their own way. Murphy also proved himself a needed ball player and the star of the pastime. Kenopka and Mcllroy also played stellar ball in the Peterboro inner works.

"Archie" McIlroy led all hitters of the day when he turned in a perfect batting score, two hits, a double and single out of two official times at bat. McIlroy also assisted the locals with two sacrifice hits. Weir followed in line with a triple and a double in four trips, while Barclay and Ford each rattled the two for two singles each. Sonny Green proved the local money hitter as he batted in four of Belleville's five runs. Weir getting the other. Not a single Peterboro batsman could get over one single from the deliveries of Williams as he pitched five hit ball.

The home town victory elevates the Radios slightly over new being once and one half games behind the fourth place Tigers, who played a six all tie with the Oshawa nine at home last night.

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

"Two at a lick". Of late it has been paramount news to win a single ball game locally, but when the locals step out and hit two games in a single afternoon, well, that's plenty unusual or what's ever you want to call it, but that's exactly what the two B.A.A.A. entries did during the noon lot during a double header yesterday, when the intermediates blanked the Picton squad 3 to 0 and not to be out-done by their lower category brothers, the Stewart-Warners stepped into Kiwanis Lou's Peterboro and pushed them out of the window to the tune of 5-4, with a 3 to 4 home town victory. Now if it did have ten innings to bring home the bacon. Incidentally both games were the best played of the season in their particular category and sent some 700 fans home well satisfied, despite the fact they had to partake of a belated evening meal.

It was like days of old when baseball was delighted in Belleville on Wednesday afternoon. A goodly crowd was there and when the afternoon breezes, that occasionally floated through the stands from the bay, tempered the heat of the day the cool the customers as play raged at Meyers Bridge. Baseball as in the tradition we might say that both games presented the best exhibition of defensive play witnessed in the local park in many a season. Especially during the first game the outfielders brought the fans to their feet with spectacular plays and Little at short, while in the second nit the defensive play was little less than miraculous. Murphy, the Peter' short stop, gave one of the finest exhibitions of how to field, Dean Ford. Sexy Grey and Alex Weir also garnered applause with hair-raising running catches in the local outer garden and while all the time was going on Pitcher Williams was hauling five hit ball for the Senators. Ash and Burton at first with spectacular plays in the Little at short, while in the second nit the defensive play was little less than miraculous. no longer have faith in Jamieson and know that Bud Clancy cannot hurt on Saturday and again on Monday? Tush, tush, me lads.

Although the Peter sheet fielder, Murphy, took the eye of the fans and the star of the day's defensive play, we cannot forget that "Archie" McIlroy came back this yesterday, when he had a perfect day at the bat, Murray cut five safeties for a double and a single in two official trips and coupled with this was a fine marathon to bat, credit, "Sonny" Green at last got a break as he was credited with getting the run out of the fielder five runs on accompaniment in any man's ball game, then, of course, Charmer Cook, of the Belleville Intermediates wens one better, he batted in all of his team's runs, and with a timely single too. The feature of the interlocking B.A.A.A. contests was the art pitching. Apparently Smith is a title too much for the Picton aggregation, as he went and would look nice back at home with the Radios. His first ball was a called strike yesterday, while his curve ball lost the Pictonites in the box score time and widened. 'Tis odd-son, that baseball fans are treated to two such scrumptious games in a single afternoon but then 'tis an ill wind that blows one person some good, and Ernie Smith gives merely the spectators yesterday. But Ernie's wee ren sit in by times, the last in a little over 2 hrs 30 min, and the second in less than two hours, for a double header.

Umpire Woodley of Belleville was pressed into service by Cahava yesterday and officiated in Kingston, Napanee Fair double header.

Following yesterday's intermediate game it was announced by Secretary Gibbard, that Belleville and Picton would play off for the right to continue into the A.B.A.A. "B" playdowns, while Peterboro would participate in the "A" play-downs, either prior or after the provincial playoffs, however, Picton and Belleville will enter into a post-season playoff for the Bay of Quinte trophy or a piece of silver, or sumpin'. At any rate the Gibbards and Picton are bound to battle, and battle they should, since so battle, that situation out, even if they are in different categories in the provincial setting. In the meantime the Gibbards' are playing an exhibition game with the Toronto Copelands on Civic Holiday and on Aug. 14th meet the Syracuse Stars, in another exhibition tilt. Incidentally the Stars are a comical aggregation of colored ballsters, who know their baseball, 'tis rumored.

Down around the water front yesterday and this, Kearns and Foley bet-tween the various punsters in their weekly sailing races. Augmented with a dozen Napanee and Picton's afternoon's competition was enjoyed by the R.M.S.C. sailors. "Duke" Smith's Jeka once again copped the Mercury's presentation cup award, while the Allegro won the snow class. The addition of out-of-town punts threatening rather serious competitive prowess to the weekly sailing races, and the Mercury is considering the attention as the season advances. Rumorers are to the effect, that a dinghy class will soon be added as the pearl racers are thinking too much, expensive for the small purses. And in the dinghy class all craft are called upon to carry the same amount of sail. Some 13 craft is raced King Rogers' starting gun yesterday when a stiff breeze whirled been competition was the order of the day.

Only a comparatively few postponed games remain in the local Senior Softball loop, so says Secretary Harry Jones. These games will be wiped off this week and the league play-offs will commence on Monday next. In the meantime the Mercantile softballers are coming into their own, standings of the eight clubs concerned being eligible for play-off berths. The world race is being staged in both loops, so says all.

BELLEVILLE BOYS WIN BASEBALLS

Winners in the Quaker Puffed Rice and Puffed Wheat Ball Punt contest, up to the week ending June 29th, have been awarded softballs and baseballs in this city and district. The Quaker Oats Company are giving away these games each week no less than 500 softballs and baseballs. All that is required to be eligible for one of these prizes is to write a 35 word letter stating "Why I Prefer Puffed Rice and Quaker Puffed Wheat are the best breakfast cereals on the market," send it along with the two tops from either a Quaker Puffed Rice or a Quaker Puffed Wheat carton, to the Quaker Oats Company at Peterborough. Here are the winners from this district:

Prince Edward: Catherine St., Belleville, Ont; Laura Sine, Belleville, Ont.; Carl Spry, Bonarlaw, Ont.; James Bennett, Campbellford, Ont.; Jack Sills, Halloway, Ont.; Keith Brown, Trenton, Ont.; S. H. Gaspin, 436 Bleecker Ave., Belleville; Miss Dorothy Gibson, 69 Sorrell St., Belleville, Ont; Keith Davidson, 23 Geddes St., Belleville, Ont.; Lorne Vance, 421 Bleecker Ave., Belleville, Ont.

INTERMEDIATES SCORE SHUTOUT OVER PICTON

Ernie Smith Hurls Four Hit Ball to Gain 2-0 Decision

TIMELY HITTING

Local Outfield Plays Smartly to Cut Off Rallies

Behind the four hit pitching of elongated Ernie Smith, the Belleville intermediates assured themselves of a play-off berth in the Bay of Quinte League, when the locals blanked the Picton entry 2 to 0 in Belleville during the first half of a double-header played at the Grounds yesterday. The Prince Edward County town reverse lowers their standing from the top rung in the league to that of second place. Excellent fielding on the part of the local outer gardeners coupled with "Carm" Cook's timely single in the initial frame, that drove in the only two runs to be scored, materially assisted Smith in his stellar pitching effort and the home town victory.

Cook, Morgan and Rigby, the three local outfielders, formed a combination covered acres of ground in the pasture to repeatedly make the fielding calls on brought the fans to their feet in applause. Mel Little, shortstop, ranged afore-stop for the local gains, handle nine chances without a slip, his running mate, Colby Hill in his initial outing being sensational, while Chuck Barnum at the corner sacks also played errorless ball to win. McQuade, Rorke and Bishop led the batting parade with two safeties apiece.

Smith was opposed on the hilltop by Vye Gibson, "Lefty" Bishop, with both lads hooking up in a pretty pitchers battle, that saw Smith emerging the victor. The local moundsman struck out four Picton batters but only allowed one free passage to the initial sack. Bishop, on the other hand whiffed nine Belleville batsmen but walked two, one of which eventually scored. Harry Morgan led the hitters of the day with two singles, as Darrah, Creighney and Cook counted the remaining three Belleville safeties. Rudgins, Rorke, Leavens and Bishop were the only Picton batters to hit safely from the deliveries of Smith.

One Innings' Spurge

All of the scoring occurred in Belleville's initial frame. With one out, Darrah walked, Cook singled, Darrah's one base blow and went to third on Creighney's hard fielded safe sack. Rigby then forced Morgan at the plate and with two out and Darrah the only one to cross the right, that chased Darrah and Creighney across home plate with what proved the winning counters of the pastime. The locals collected three hits during the remainder of the fourth, without results, however. The highlights of the game, insofar as the Belleville defensive efforts were concerned, came in the ninth, as Bishop opened with a single, advanced on Rudgins' one base blow and to third as Smith grinned on Rorke's infield tap, filling the bases. Then Smith and the Belleville infield settled away to halt the visitors abruptly. Leavens forced Bishop as his attempted bunt was retrieved by Scott, local catcher, who stepped on the plate to force Bishop coming in from third. The bases were still well-populated and one hand down, when Frost hit to Creighney, who threw to the plate forcing Rudgins and to climax a hectic innings of Darrah bobbled Greer's liner before he threw the batter out at first to end the most hectic inning of the entire game.

Following the game it was announced that Belleville and Picton would now play off a three game series to determine which club would enter the O.B.A.A. "B" series play-downs, with Picton and Napanee meeting out for league honors later in the season. The game was played in the fast time of one hour, thirty-five minutes.

The lineups: Picton—Rudgins, ss; Rorke, lf; Leavens, 2b; Frost, c; Bishop, p and Frederick. Belleville—Little, ss; Morgan, cf; Darrah, 2b; Creitney, lb; Rigby 3b; Barnum, rf; Cook, lf; Smith, p; Hage, 3b; Smith, p; and Scott, c.

ONCE AGAIN DUNLOP MAKES TIRE HISTORY

Pneumatic Tire Progress is Written in Dunlop Research and Development

Now Comes DUNLOP'S "Latest and Greatest Tire"

Since 1888, when John Boyd Dunlop invented the pneumatic tire, the story of tire development has been the story of further Dunlop research and improvement in tire construction.

Tire mileage has steadily gone up from thousands to tens of thousands; possibilities of tire failures have been enormously decreased; dependability has been raised amazingly; cost per mile has been reduced to a fraction of what it once was—all through the ceaseless searching scientific research carried on in the world-wide, fully equipped laboratories of Dunlop laboratories.

From this unremitting search after better materials, better methods, better appliances and better technique of production generally, comes a new Dunlop tire—every one the latest and greatest, the finest and best ever.

Into Dunlop Cable Cord tires has gone the knowledge gained in the miles without a hint of failure, the grip that never reduces ever an astonishing life. A strength unequalled, and a dependability of the modern car. A strength equal to the highest sustained speeds and most sudden stops.

This Dunlop range of tires, all of them Cable Cord, is headed by the finest value Dunlop ever offered, the new Dunlop Fort—a tire that every Dunlop dealer is equipped to recommend to you for your automobile.

The Dunlop Standard "90" is one of the finest tires for appearance and dependable performance.

Built for those who want the best in tires at a moderate price, the "PACEMAKER" is the finest tire Dunlop ever made.

Added to the high standard of this tire that of the Dunlop name is a guarantee of satisfaction and value unsurpassed in the history of tire building. Dunlop is the only rubber company in the world that has been in business continuously for more than a century. Founded by the inventor of the pneumatic tire.

Record low prices.

DANGER TRAILS— QUICK THINKING! By The Famous Explorer Martin Johnson

SINISTER SHADOW

by JOHN GOODWIN

Brian's eyes were sunk deep in his head and his limbs stiff from three hundred miles of speeding, but his heart burned with an ever-gathering flame of bitterness as he shot up to the locked gates of King's Elm House and tugged at the bell-pull. The lodge-keeper came out and stared at him through the grid with astonishment.

"Mr. Chalmers, sir!" he said blankly. "Why, I thought—"

"Open the gates, damn you!" commanded Brian in a voice like a rasp. "Do your thinking some other time."

The gates clashed behind him as he swung through. Pulling up before the main doors of the house he bribed them and found them latched and fastened.

He was reaching for the bell when he glanced to the left and noticed a dim light in one of the rooms on the south terrace; one of the French windows stood open. Doors should have been no light there: it was his own room, the only place in the house where he had any privacy; he used it as his office, all to the good if he made his entry that way unobserved. He went along the terrace.

As Brian stepped in, the first thing he saw was a number of letters on his desk by the window, and that had arrived since the night before; they were wet with the rain that was beating in, and among them was a telegram.

Letters meant nothing to him at such a time. But the telegram stopped him: it might have some bearing on the affair that brought him back. Tearing it open, he found it was of no importance, and as he slapped it back on the desk the flap of one of the letters, sodden with the rain and sticky with wet gum, slithered open under his fingers and adhered to them. Irritated at the slimey touch of the thing he was about to shake it off when some impulse, he could not have told why, made him pull the letter out and glance at it.

There was nothing more than a single slip of paper, with a few sentences in a scrawled hand. As he read it he was at first inclined to imagine who could have sent him such a message. It did not seem to make sense.

"Do you think you can stall me off?

"I shall be at the siege by the old mine across the railway, ten o'clock. Your last chance. If you're not there I shall spill the beans. You know where I can put you if I opened my mouth. It's open wide.

"Try any funny business and it will be your finish.

"SAM."

He stared at it for a moment, puzzled, and looked at the envelope "Mr. R. Cooke, King's Elm House." The scrawled inscription, smudged by the wet, was so illegible that the servant who had sorted the evening mail could hardly be blamed for assigning it to Brian during the previous night. Sam Barber.

"So that's it!" said Brian slowly. He slipped the note back into the envelope and sealed the flap. "You have been playing a double hand, Bannister. You damned crook! You're welcome to it."

The door was open; he moved through into the hall and tossed the letter on a table. His eyes shone with a hard light, his movements were curiously deliberate. He returned to his room, and fastened the shutters of the window. He heard a step behind him, and turning quickly, found himself facing Sonia Nell.

Sonia stared at him in blank amazement. She had gone very white, then her cheeks slowly flushed pink.

"You!" she said dazedly. "Brian? What on earth . . what brings you here?"

He stepped across and closed the door. His eyes held her, blazing with blue fire. His voice was very quiet.

"I live here—or did. Bannister Cooke's my cousin—and my employer. There's a settlement due between Bannister and me . . about that last war that brings me back."

"Then what—"

"You," he said, "because I love you, Sonia."

There was a tiny catch in her breath. For a moment neither of them spoke.

"Why didn't you tell me, Brian?" she said quietly. "If you had, I wouldn't be here—I—"

"Sonia!"

"You're rather late, Brian, aren't you? Too late."

His face was whiter than hers. He stared at the great stone, blazing on her breast in frozen fires. "The Cooke Diamond! Where did you get it? Bannister gave you it?"

She nodded.

"Yes. Bannister's pledge to me. I keep my word to him; it's all I have to give. He's been perfectly straight with me, and fair, and generous. Brian, you don't want to stay here, do you? You'll go, please go? I was a fool to tell you what I did—but I couldn't help it . . I'm going to marry him."

"Are you?"

He strode right up to her, towering over her. She had never realised till now how big Brian was.

"Do you love him? Did you love him—before you met me?"

She looking at him steadily.

"Is that a fair question? Have you any right to ask it? I was tired of being poor. Hasn't Bannister the right to marry anyone he chooses?"

"Yes! Any woman he can buy. But not you, Sonia."

"Brian, this is useless. And it's cruel to me.

"You've got to listen! He has the right while he plays a square game between man and man. But he hasn't the right to cheat and lie and shuffle. He's declared fifty times that he'd never marry. Much I cared whether he did or not! He knew, last night, that I'd rather you, travelled on the same boat with you; that I loved you. I told him myself, even your name; he had me off my guard, he got it out of me. He had that letter . . yours, of course."

"A letter! Yes—I see," said Sonia. "Well—what then? What did he say?"

"Cleared me out, shot me off, within the hour."

"And you don't think that was natural?"

"Natural! Yet, to Bannister, He'd got me set, and the woman I loved under the bargain. But there was more to it than that. He meant to break me. Bannister doesn't believe in love or woman and can't play straight. Slid me out as smooth as oil, with a sharp word—that he could smash as soon as my back was turned. I laugh at him."

Brian's hand closed on the back of a flimsy chair beside him, as suddenly it smashed under his grip.

"Bannister! He has King's Elm, and the Cooke money. Does he suppose I don't know what it means, or care? It came to me or not? I wanted you—damn the place and the money; he's welcome to them!"

She looked at him quickly.

"What do you mean, Brian—if it came to you? What have you to do with it?"

"That's nothing to you," he said, and turning away.

Sonia placed herself squarely in front of him.

"This won't do! It does matter to me. Brian, you've got to tell me."

She laid her hand on his arm.

"Cards on the table, Brian, please," she said quietly. "I've been straight with you. Tell me."

He gave in.

"You have to know; you'd better get it from me."

In as few words as possible he told her of the Coote will, and the denial of the inheritance on himself. Added to what Sonia knew already, it was easy for her to grasp. She listened till he had finished.

"I see," he said under her breath. "I'm beginning to understand Bannister. But there's something more behind this . . .

"There is," said Brian grimly. "There's something behind Bannister that I haven't quite solved yet, but I'm on my way to it now. I'm the next of kin under the will. There's another point which perhaps I was blind not to see, but maybe I didn't study him quite as closely as I should. While adopting the role of my benefactor, the man hates me like hell."

Sonia was breathing quickly.

"Well, I know what I'm going to do," she said. Her hand moved to the great stone blazing on her breast. But Brian took a step forward, and, snatching it, gave it, sharply, snapping the web of chain round her neck.

"The pledge!" he said, "you've done with that."

She turned upon him, startled.

"Brian! Give me that back!" she exclaimed. "Give it to me."

Brian did not answer. His hands grasping the diamond, hung at his side. He did not look at it, but as his fingers gripped the cut and hard facets of the stone, he stood like a man petrified. The touch of it was a revelation to him.

"Brian!" she cried.

The door opened; Bannister himself came in. He stopped dead, facing Brian . . . His face was flushed, and his eyes black with anger, but his voice was perfectly composed; there was a forced smile on his lips.

"So you've come back, my boy," he said quietly. "Why?"

His turned to Sonia and the blood suddenly drained from his face.

"The diamond!" he demanded harshly. "Where is it? Where is it?"

"Give it me, Brian," said Sonia. He held the thing out to her, on his open palm; his eyes did not leave Coote's face.

Sonia took it from him, and held it out to Coote. He did not stir. She laid the stone on the table. "It's done with that. Take it Bannister, please."

Brian stepped forward, but she held up her hand quickly.

"Stop, Brian! Please, leave this to me. It's my affair, not yours." She turned to Coote.

"Bannister, I'm not here to recriminate, or accuse. I haven't the right. I don't feel my own case is any too good. If you feel aggrieved you can tell me so. I ask you to release me."

"From what?" said Bannister.

"From my word."

"Does that mean you intend to break it?"

"Bannister let me finish! A contract has to be square on all sides, or it's no contract. I was perfectly frank with you. I told you more than any man could require me to tell. You weren't so frank with me. You held back something that's vital to us both; you let me walk into this thing blindfold."

TARZAN THE UNTAMED— (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

Below Roger's plane the dense jungle passed swiftly, giving place to a wide expanse of arid wastelands cleft by deep, narrow gorges . . . The young aviator tried to convince himself that Tarman's charge against Olga was false.

"But what if she were really a Red spy?" he asked himself.

On the one hand he could not surrender the woman he loved to the certain fate that would be meted out to her if she were proved a traitor to the British cause. And it would be equally impossible for him as an English officer to give her aid and protection . . . Now the plane was soaring high over a mountain ridge

Ska, the vulture, winging his homeward way at a high altitude, caught sight of the strange bird of gigantic proportions. Whether with intent to give battle to this poacher on his domain, or impelled by curiosity, Ska rose suddenly upward to meet the stranger. Doubtless he misjudged the speed of the newcomer.

The tip of the propeller blade touched him and simultaneously many things happened. Ska's lifeless body dropped toward the ground; a bit of splintered spruce drove backward, striking the pilot on the forehead; the plane shuddered and trembled, as Lieut. Roger Coeil sank forward in momentarily unconsciousness the ship dived headlong toward the earth.

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE BELLE

"College Scandal"

Comedy, Romance and Gripping Drama Abound in Twin-Bill at Belle.

Several of Hollywood's most appealing and competent younger stars can now be seen on the screen of the Belle Theatre where they are busily engrossed in working out a rollicking story of life on the campus. The picture is Paramount's "College Scandal", which will be presented today and Friday, matinee and evening.

Heading the cast of this farce story is Kent Taylor with Arline Judge, Wendy Barrie, Eddie Nugent, William Bendix and Benny Baker in the supporting cast.

Elliott Nugent directed the picture which features William Frawley, Mary Nash, Broadway star; and William Stack in the supporting roles.

"Age of Indiscretion"

Goldwyn Mayer's amazing play of divorce and its influence on the lives and fates of children of separation is the second superb feature attraction on the same program, with Paul Lukas, Madge Evans, May Robson, Beryl Mercer and little David Jack Holt the centres of action in a gripping piece of dramatic conflict and suspense.

Here is an exciting drama telling the story of a millionaire Mother-in-Law's fight to wrest the custody of a child from his divorcing father.

The story is an original by Leonore Coffee deftly directed by Edward Ludwig.

Battling Mother-In-Law

Miss Robson rises to dramatic heights as the battling mother-in-law, and her address in court to the judge is one of the outstanding dramatic moments in the picture.

Lukas plays the sympathetic role of the father, backed by his faithful secretary, cracked by lovely Madge Evans. Little David Jack Holt is a real discovery among child actors, and in intimate scenes with Lukas and "Flush", the famous screen dog, absolutely wins his audiences.

Helen Vinson, beautiful screen "heavy", plays Eve, the philandering wife, ably abetted by Ralph Forbes as the "other man". Catherine Doucet adds comedy as the flutsery authoress of trashy fiction.

Has Elaborate Settings

A great publishing house, a winter cabin in the high Sierras, night clubs, mansions of the rich, and a huge ice skating rink are among the pretentious settings, climaxed by the sensational trial sequence, in "Zealand, the Hidden Paradise", a delightful travelogue in full beautiful technicolor will be exhibited on the same program.

Sunday 12.45 Show

Henry Fonda, who has the leading role opposite Janet Gaynor in "The Farmer Takes a Wife" to be presented at the Belle next Sunday, August 4th, at 12.05 was recruited from the stage play of the same name to enact the role that won him fame on Broadway.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Night Alarm"

Belleville's "Smoke Eaters" to See Firemen in Film Cheers and Thrills.

The two battalions of the city's fire-fighters will be guests of the Capitol Theatre management today to witness the motion picture "Night Alarm". This stirring story of fire-fighting centres epitomizes the heroism of the men who protect the life and property of the people.

One half of the personnel will visit the Capitol in the afternoon and the other half will attend the evening performance.

"Hold 'Em Yale"

At the Capitol today another collection of mad but merry Damon Runyon characters are coming to the screen in "Hold 'Em Yale", as Runyon's hysterical yarns about the characters of the shady side of Broadway and talk a language of their own.

In dialogue as unique as they are funny, they rush from bad to worse to the intense edification of audiences who don't seem able to get enough of it.

"Hold 'Em Yale" is the story of four tough Broadway mugs who suddenly find themselves host to a flighty young heiress.

You might suspect that the heiress emerges rather the worse for the experience—but the plot, with a typical Runnnyonesque twist, reveals just the opposite. It's the tough guys who suffer at the girl's hands.

In desperation, finally, they try to get rid of her by marrying her off to a Yale football star—and there the story becomes more hilarious than ever.

It's great fun, the whole picture is, and it gives Lew Ayres, who includes Patricia Ellis, Cesar Romero, William Frawley, Larry Crabbe, Warren Hymers and George Stone.

The thrills and melodrama of this bargain double feature program are provided by "Night Alarm", in which Bruce Cabot, as the fire-chasing reporter makes his entrance in the story by falling in love with the millionaire's daughter with whom Cabot is waging a campaign in his paper. Romance flairs up between the daughter and the reporter with the result that Cabot eventually proves himself not only a desirable husband but also a helpful son-in-law. There are some mighty gripping fire scenes in the climax that holds one spellbound.

Besides Bruce Cabot and Judith Allen as the two leads, there is the always capable H. B. Warner, Sam Hardy and the inimitable Purry Knight in the cast.

A Pox Movietone Newsreel showing the latest news events completes the program.

Beginning with next Monday's Civic Holiday program the Capitol management announces that the evening performances will start at 7.00 p.m. instead of 7.30, thus enabling the theatre to give two complete shows each evening.

While the Belleville unit was not represented at the convention, it is expected, that local officers will be appointed on that body. A three man commission will form the nucleus for the national organization, which will have boards in all towns and districts to find work for the returned men.

HARBOR ACTIVITY IS MUCH GREATER

Present Day Scenes Rival Days of Pre-Depression Era

Not since pre-depression days has Belleville harbor enjoyed the popularity and activity noticed this summer. Boats and trim craft ranging from small lake cruisers to three masted auxiliaries from almost every point of the United States along the Great Lakes border have entered the harbor so far this season to tie up at wharves or anchor while their parties visited the city and tackled the fish that are noticeably purchasers in local shops. This week nine varied types of foreign registry were observed moored at one time in the harbor.

POLICE COURT

A number of minor cases were presening in today's police court held before Magistrate E. J. Butler K.C., with B. C. Donnan, K.C., and Crown Attorney, prosecuting.

A charge of the non-payment of wages, laid by a domestic giving his name as Louis Chow, was dismissed when the plaintiff failed to put in an appearance when called. The charge was laid against Hogden Quan, ex-restaurant proprietor in this city. Chow was employed as chef in Quan's restaurant, it was stated by police while it was open.

A local truck operator was assessed the minimum fine after pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving. According to evidence led by H. Delaney, who investigated, the truck in question forced an automobile into the ditch recently. No person was injured, however.

After hearing the case in a theft charge, laid against an elderly Hungerford resident, Magistrate Ponton dismissing the accused. The case was brought by Constable Ward, the man's daughter-in-law having charged the accused with the theft of her furniture. It was later disclosed, that the accused man had purchased the furniture himself in the first instance.

An I.O.A. charge was enlarged for one week at the request of the defendant, when information charging one Walter Wood with perjury was sworn out before His Worship Magistrate Ponton at the conclusion of today's proceedings. The perjury charge arose out of evidence submitted by Ward during a previous court case at which time he is charged with failing to provide for his family. The matter will be presented in Monday's court.

POLICE BLOTTER

Activities in and around local police circles proved rather serene during the past 36 hours, no arrests being necessary, while local streets and adjacent highways were well patrolled by police officials.

William Baker, 7 Harvey Street, complained of the loss of an automobile accessory from his parked car last night. Some sneak thief removed a tire accessory from his motor car, Mr. Baker informed the police.

Sergeant Booth and P. C. Arnold answered a hurried call to the residence of Dr. R. Bird George Street late last night, where a strange man was reported to be loitering around and acting in a suspicious manner. A thorough check-up of the surrounding community failed to disclose the identity of the night prowler, however. Dr. Bird gave the authorities a full description of the stranger, but no person answering that description was observed traversing local streets last night.

In a hectic twenty minute battle with a bat in his home last night, P. C. Taylor eventually caught the animal in his hands and destroyed it.

MIDNIGHT ALARM CALLS DEPT. OUT

Flying sparks from a small refuse fire on the corner of Bridge and Mutra and College Streets shortly after midnight resulted in a response by local firemen. The blaze was extinguished with hand pumps.

Address is Read to Rev. A. L. Geen On Two Memorable Anniversaries

Fifty Years in Orders And Eighty-Sixth Birthday Honored

TRIBUTES MADE

REV. A. L. GEEN

Belleville minister receives tribute from all classes of community.

Complimenting Rev. A. L. Geen who recently observed his eighty-sixth birthday and the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the ministry of the Church of England, a tribute evening was held last night at Christ Church Parish Hall, arranged by the Women's Auxiliary of the Church, representatives of church and community had the opportunity of extending congratulations and felicitations to an ardent church worker and one of the oldest citizens of Belleville.

Decorations of white and gold were artistically carried out in the floral arrangements and table appointments. Seated beside the guest of honor were the members of his family, his daughter, Mrs. A. C. Steele, Toronto, his sons, Mr. R. G. Geen, Oshawa, Mr. F. W. Geen and Lt. Col. E. A. Geen, and his daughters-in-law, Mrs. R. G. Geen and Mrs. E. A. Geen. Rev. C. O. Wright, rector of Christ Church, presided as chairman.

Illuminated Address

A delicious dinner was served by the members of the Evening Branch of Christ church W. A. At its conclusion, the program opened with the singing of the National Anthem and a toast to His Majesty. Mr. G. B. Smith then read the address, an illuminated copy of which will be presented to Mr. Geen.

The address:

"Reverend Albert Loft Geen,—

"We, the members of the Church of England in the City of Belleville and community surrounding, desire to extend to you our most sincere congratulations upon your attainment of the fiftieth anniversary of your entrance into the ministry of our beloved church.

"In all that long period of fifty years the story of your life has been one of devoted service to God and to all in the cause of the Master.

"The fact that you were not regularly attached to the ministry of any individual parish has enabled you to become the servant of all. You have, at great inconvenience to yourself, travelled many thousands of miles to take charge of services in churches throughout the district, thereby rendering invaluable assistance to the Bishop and the various congregations. The Synod of the Diocese of Ontario has given formal recognition to the high esteem in which you are held when the following resolution was recently passed:

"That this Synod of the Diocese of Ontario convey to Rev. A. L. Geen its congratulations on the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination and its good wishes for many years of health and happiness."

"In that kindly expression we most sincerely join and again pay tribute to the outstanding example you have given of devotion and sacrifice and zealous endeavor for the Christian life.

"As you go down the Sunset Way may your last days be your best, supremely happy in the knowledge of duties performed, opportunities realized, of friendships formed, of life abundantly lived, of a faith that has been nobly kept.

"With John Greenleaf Whittier you will be able to look upon the years that have gone as resplendent with honorable service to community, to your Church and to your God:

"If men can say—
'He helped the world upon its way—'
If they can say—if they but can—
'He did his best, he played the man;'

His way was straight, his soul was clean;
His failings not unkind, nor mean;
He lived his fellow men and tried
To help them'—I'll be satisfied."

Earlier Days Recalled

Greatly touched by the sentiments so beautifully expressed Mr. Geen, in reply, spoke tracingly of his appreciation of the kind words, the kindnesses and the attentions showered on him on the occasion of his double anniversary. Referring to presentations and good wishes from the clergy of the diocese and of the laity, he had been of any service to the church of God it was merely a small return for God had given him in strength, physical and mental throughout the years.

Mr. Geen spoke most interestingly of his early days in the ministry, of his ordination by Archbishop Lewis, of his work throughout the district, especially among the residents of the Reserve, and of the happy association with the clergy and laity of the various parishes. All had been exceedingly kind to him and if in the future he should be of any assistance, he would help out with pleasure, he declared.

Expressions of Felicitations

Messages of greeting were read by Mr. O. H. Scott from His Lordship, Bishop Lyon; Rev. P. C. Bennett, Thomastown; Rev. Allan Pepper, Shannonville, Rev. Canon Bevans, Bonarlaw; Rev. Arthur Smith, Trenton, Rural Dean Winter, Rev. Mr. Brownlee, Wellington, Rev. H. Pringle Deseronto and a message of warm tribute from Mrs. W. N. Ponton, K.C.

Representing the municipality, His Worship, Mayor George C. Tice, brought congratulations to Mr. Geen, referring to him as a good friend, a true citizen, above reproach in his walk and one who has done and does it well.

Greetings of Church

Mrs. R. Bird, president of the Women's Guild, expressed the felicitations of that organization and of the evening branch of the W.A. with the hope that Mr. Geen's autumn years would be filled with happiness, health and peace. Dr. N. E. Elwood, representing St. Thomas Church, hoped that all might live for many long years to the friendship all appreciated so much. Rev. L. S. Wight, who has recently returned to reside in the city, and who is secretary-treasurer of the Evening Branch of the United church, was present last evening representing the Belleville Ministerial Association. Mr. Geen, he said was invested in Belleville. He had invested his fine thought and intellect, his devotion, and his personality and the only dividends he sought in return were in the fullness of love he had instilled, hoping that these futures would be marked by fine citizenship, good character and service to the Master.

During the evening vocal solos by J. Harold Thomson, accompanied by Mr. George Maybee, were greatly appreciated and a pleasure to the guests was a piano solo by Mr. R. J. Green, a charming French village dance, flawlessly executed by the musician.

Rev. E. N. Grant of Badcroft, brought greetings from the members of the Church of England in that district where Mr. Geen, while there as rector, served. He did the same high esteem as in Belleville. Mr. Anthony Vandervoort, a close friend of Mr. Geen's, said that in his years of friendship with him he had found Mr. Geen always humourous, good natured and open minded and of sufficient character so to those previously extended to him.

Original Member Present

Mrs. Percy Sargent, introduced Miss Herbert, one of the oldest members of the congregation and the only original living who had been present at the dedication of the original church of Christ Church.

Congratulations from Christ Church officials were extended by Mr. Harold Bateman, rector's warden who referred to the fact that Mr. Geen was the oldest baptized member living in Belleville, and the oldest Sunday School teacher in the district still living. On behalf of the merchant, Mr. C. F. Bishop, people's warden, also extended congratulations. Rev. Mr. Thor-Marshall, warden of St. George's Church, spoke of Mr. Geen's interest in St. George's and also of the fact that he was the oldest living member of the Oddfellows in Ontario, having joined Belleville Lodge No. 81, almost sixty-two years ago. A sincere tribute was paid Mr. Geen as president of the British and Foreign Bible Society in the district office he had held for fourteen years, by Mr. Wm. Moore, secretary-treasurer of the society who spoke of the importance of the work of this organization and of the encouragement Mr. Geen had been to it.

Mr. Geen, he said was a Christian gentleman, and no higher tribute could be paid him than this.

Rev. C. O. Wright spoke of his personal appreciation of Mr. Geen's encouragement to him and hoped that the years ahead of him would be of outstanding happiness, when he would continue to receive by his encouragement those who serve the Master. To Mr. G. B. Smith's vote of thanks to the ladies who had arranged and provided the delightful party, Mrs. Anthony Vandervoort, president of the W.A. replied, in happy vein, also thanking the party committee. Mr. Smith, Mr. Scott and Mr. Sargent for their assistance and the artists who had contributed to the evening.

The thoroughly delightful evening was closed by the singing of the old time Syne after which the many guests had the opportunity of conveying personal congratulations to Mr. Geen.

Lighthouse Slowly Slipping From Rocky Shelf Into Bay

Mariners Have Watched Almost Imperceptible Trend of Years

REPORT IS MADE

Slowly, almost imperceptibly, the old light house, one of the best known landmarks in the district which has sent its warning rays across the bay nightly for more years than the oldest mariner of this district cares to remember is reverting by waterfront men to be slipping from its moorings from its rocky shelf into the bay.

Several years ago, following a heavy flood and break-up of ice in the bay the lighthouse received its initial shift from its solid anchorage. Since then as year succeeded year, wind and waves have assisted further in listing the wooden structure to the south until at the present time it leans at a precarious angle over the water. But, in spite of its list, the lamp is still being tended to guide safe dark shipping into the local port.

Last week following a visit by the government buoy carrier, Greyville, officials of the government made an inspection of the lighthouse and have prepared a report. Whether or not lighthouse will be constructed at this invulnerable point in the bay where rocky ghosts and submerged ledges of stone await to rip the bottom from unheeding craft or whether the old one will be shifted back to its original position and repaired is not known. Waterfront men who have conceived a fondness for the old landmark, however, await the decision of the government with interest.

ATTEND PICNIC AT CRESCENT BEACH

Bri. Sidney, Aug. 3.—There was no service at Allen's Church this day.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hay and family, Miss May Weese, Mr. T. A. Hinchliffe, Miss Frances Hinchliffe, Mrs. K.-E. Hubble and sons attended the North Hastings community picnic at Crescent Beach, Oak Lake on Tuesday of this week.

Trs friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hay met at their home on Tuesday evening to pay tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Hay who were recently married. They were presented with silverware.

The many friends of Mrs. Robt. Hartt will be glad to know she is enjoying her holidays with relatives near Los Angeles, California. Mrs. Hartt accompanied her cousin Miss Nina Meyers and Miss Pearl Meyers on an extended motor trip and they report an excellent trip. They are having very warm weather there at present.

BLAME NEWSMAN FOR BROKEN ARM KIDNAP SUSPECT

McCardell Tussles With Photographer at London

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Expect Magistrate Will Visit Institution to Remand Man

London, Ont., Aug. 3.—(CP)—Michael McCardell, charged with kidnapping and armed robbery in connection with the abduction of John R. Labatt, local brewer, a year ago this month woke up today in Victoria Hospital, his right arm broken.

Brought secretly from Hammond, Ind., where he was arrested on high jacking charges, McCardell's scheduled arrival at London was delayed a few hours before train time.

Last night he was stepped off the train, handcuffed to police, newspaper photographers rushed up to get a picture. The small thin man who was born in Huron county showed he had more fight than fat to defeat the photographers' aim.

A photographer from an out-of-town newspaper is said to have tried to get the hat away. In the struggle McCardell's arm was injured.

"My God, my arm's broken", he cried.

Officers got him to an automobile where he fainted. Dr. G. H. Hogg, Middlesex county jail physician, ordered him to hospital where the arm was set. A jail guard sat beside his bed all night.

Remains in Hospital

Authorities said he would remain in the hospital a few days.

magistrate may visit him in hospital to make a formal remand on charges to which he waived extradition.

After his release from hospital he will be housed in the same cell in York jail in Basil Bannon, Windsor, and Kingdon P. "Picolo Pete" Munro, also charged as members of the gang that kidnapped the wealthy brewer, are held prisoners there.

It was learned trial of the trio might be held at the fall assizes in October. Basil Bannon, C.P. McPhelans who sentenced David Meisner to 18 years for the kidnapping in February is scheduled to preside.

ALBERT WHITE NOW ON PENSION

Served With Grand Trunk And C. N. R. For 46 Years

After completing 46 years of continuous service, the most of which he was employed on the C.N.R. railway passenger train conductor, Albert White of this city, retires from active service and it is to be hoped will enjoy many years of continued health and happiness.

Mr. White commenced his railway life in May 1889 as a section hand at Belleville and two years later was promoted to the position of brakeman on the old Grand Trunk Railway and he held until 1903 when he was classed as a conductor, the post he has capably filled since that time from his retirement Mr. White was employed as conductor on the fast through trains of the C.N.R. running from Toronto to Montreal and return. For many years Mr. White was in charge of the local trains, that ran out of Belleville every morning and his cheery manner of greeting the passengers daily was one of the features of that service.

COLORED PEOPLE CELEBRATE EVENT

97th Anniversary of Emancipation Draws Throngs

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP)—By automobile, bus, train and even horse and buggy colored residents from different parts of Canada and the United States drifted into Windsor today to celebrate the 97th anniversary of Emancipation. Farmers from colored communities in East County took the horse and buggy as their means of transportation.

It has been estimated by officials of the British-American Association of colored brotherhood under which auspices today's celebration is being staged, over 20,000 visitors will take part in the festivities before the day is over.

In addition to being the anniversary of Emancipation today is the Centenary of the opening of the underground railroad into Canada by which slaves escaped from their southern owners.

WORKLESS MUST HELP THEMSELVES

Every Effort Being Made to Find Them Jobs

TORONTO, Aug. 3.—(CP)—Five hundred single unemployed —half of the 1,100 registered yesterday —woke up in strange surroundings today as the Government speeded efforts to find them work.

In Toronto the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation worked to aid the men. Last night they were able to get blankets for only 175 of those who had registered with them. The men had been fed, but supplies would run out today, it was feared.

Premier Hepburn has announced jobs for 800 would be found on the trans-Canada highway in a few days. In all upwards of 1,500 are on their own resources It was thought 500 were out of work in Windsor, London has 475 off the rolls, but Mayor George A. Wenige announced if he could do so he would cut 2,000 of that city's 8,000 off the rolls.

Upwards of 4,000 might be employed eventually on the Northern Highway Work, the Premier said.

A C.C.F. suggestion the other day a permanent camp for the Toronto men might be established in Base York was met by statements from Township officials this would be "dumping" the township had enough of its own unemployed to look after, they said.

Make Effort

Today the C.C.F. will meet with church leaders and C.C.F.ers to see what can be done to care for the unemployed in Toronto. Mayor James Simpson thanked them for their said. He said he had contacted Boards of Trade, Labor Councils and other organizations in fifty towns and cities and learned there no men were neither needed or wanted.

Edward B. Joliffe, head of the C.C.F. group caring for the men declared three-quarters of the men were in no condition to undertake manual labor. Last night they were mostly "in a state bordering on collapse."

Premier Hepburn declared the province was approaching a crisis and "unless the drain on the treasury is checked the province will be insolvent and will be unable to render further financial assistance to the municipalities." He declared relief had been a racket with a "proportion of those on relief."

The Premier was satisfied there was plenty of work for the men. Every effort would be made to get jobs on farms. He also asked them to make an effort to get jobs for themselves."

Use DURHAM CORN STARCH for Economical HOT WEATHER DESSERTS

GENERATION after generation have used Durham Corn Starch for thrifty dishes and desserts. No kitchen is complete without this time-tested corn starch. With summer here, Durham Corn Starch is more valuable than ever as a factor in delicious, quickly prepared summer desserts. Keep a package of Durham Corn Starch always handy. It has literally hundreds of uses in the home—as an economical thickener for egg mixtures—as a clear, delicious thickener in sauces, soups and chilled fruit juices; unequalled, also, for cakes and cake fillings, pies and pie fillings and all kinds of delicious puddings.

Clip out the recipe below. Remember, it is only one instance out of hundreds where Durham Corn Starch can save you money.

How to Make and Serve
CARAMEL PUDDING

¼ cup brown sugar; 1 tablespoon butter; 2 cups milk; 2 tablespoons Durham Corn Starch; 1 egg; 1 teaspoon vanilla. Caramize sugar and butter in a saucepan, taking care not to burn. Have milk scalding in double boiler. Mix Durham Corn Starch with a little cold milk. Add to scalding milk and stir until thickened. Then stir in caramelized mixture. Cook about twenty minutes. Add well beaten egg and cook for a few minutes longer. Remove from fire and add vanilla, and if desired ½ cup chopped walnuts. Set in refrigerator to chill in a large mould or individual sherbet glasses. Serve with plain or whipped cream or, if sherbet glasses are used, serve garnished with stiffly beaten egg whites and topped with a red or green cherry. This recipe will serve six people liberally.

THIS MUST STOP!

In Ontario, during 1934, there were nearly 10,000 automobile accidents.

512 people were killed
8,990 people were injured

. . . a considerable increase over 1933. It must be evident to all thinking people that this must stop.

Hon. T. B. McQUESTEN,
Minister of Highways.

IMAGINE HOW YOU'D FEEL
IF YOU HAD BEEN RESPONSIBLE!

UNNECESSARY, selfish, foolish haste causes nine out of ten automobile accidents. Haste in going around bad curves . . . passing cars on hills . . . ignoring stop streets . . . cutting in . . . snatching seconds at lights . . . driving too fast at night.

Senseless speed is a form of crime. It can lead you nowhere but to cancellation of your driver's license . . . to a cell . . . to bodily injury or death. Make safe driving a habit! They say the "courtesy of the road" is gone. Help bring it back!

WORDS

Such things do happen of a summer's day when everything is curled with the heat; tempers are warped and tongues and words are tinder.

Had the word affair of Mayor Simpson of Toronto and Mayor Hilton of Hamilton been staged at any other season of the pleasure might have been extracted from the episode.

Somehow Mayor Simpson is getting to the stage when he must word-battle with a man a day. First it was the Mayor of Hamilton, all over a mistake in the delivery of a telegram which had been "prepaid" and was wrongly marked "charge". What did Toronto's magistrate do but refer to Hilton as a "Toonerville trolley office-holder in a town pump municipality". Was it to be wondered at that the replying mayor of Hamilton should so far doff his dignity for the moment as to refer to the municipality, which last January elected Simpson mayor, as "tank town", and to his remarks as the product of "a half-balanced mind".

The notable thing is the proof here that these great representatives say the things that the most unlearned might think of. So all are brothers under the skin for all their prominence, even Mayor Simpson and Mayor Hilton. Simpson started it and there the people even of Toronto seem to be willing to let it remain. Ontario's sedate capital city through its mayor challenging the mayor of a smaller town to a word-fight—calling names!

Then Mayor Simpson and the Premier of Ontario have had a 'go' at it. Mr. Hepburn is rather adept in the art of saying cutting and striking things but he yielded before Simpson's attempts at wit. Says Mr. Simpson of Hepburn—"Cheapest kind of politician", "Blatherskite", "unadulterated four-flusher". If he wants to reduce himself to the level of prevaricator he is not fit for the high position he holds.....I know of no politician so vicious or so personal in his attacks .....Some of his broadcasts are not worthy but the effulgence of ignorance.....I seem to have got under his skin to prove him nothing else but a blatherskite.....If Mr. Hepburn wants to be insolent and vicious in his attacks on me, he must expect to get what he is looking for."

Says Mr. Hepburn about Mr. Simpson—"I hope everybody reads about this tirade of personal abuse; to reply would be to go down to his level and that's too low for me."

There it is. Not much wit shown in calling names, is there? And all for the sake of the people. They don't mean it, say some. But is that so? Why not a higher level of wit, then, if it is for the enjoyment of the masses and the tickling of the funnybones of mankind in Ontario?

The great art of satire and repartee has gone as far as public life is concerned. "They say it takes a great public upheaval to stir and sting oratory into action and it might almost be thought these were such times but the convincing power of Demosthenes' eloquence and the satires of Juvenal are shown in the battle of the word-wrestlers of this week.

Why not coax Stephen Leacock into the affair and get something of genuine wholesome wit out of the wordy onslaughts!

DISTORTED SENSE OF HUMOR

A man with a distorted sense of fun was punished the other day in New York for tossing a lighted cigar to an ape. The queer specimen of the genus which the heads of the New York Zoo have determined to stamp out. The man went to the workhouse.

There are some such persons in every walk of life. Fortunately they are so comparatively few that they do not count for much in the scale of things.

But like many a court case the occasional prosecution is necessary to curb the peculiarly funny man.

Everyone knows this class. But they do not all throw lighted cigars to apes. They do more serious things than that and cause often infinite pain and trouble.

RACKET ENTERS DICTIONARY

The future of "racket" as a member in good standing of the English language may soon be assured as a newcomer in the New York Times. The word is the latest—would that one could confidently say the last!—in a dishonorable line. The dictionary makers are indebted to municipal corruption in the United States for one more item. "Half a century ago our wretched city politics brought into being the precious word 'boodle'. It was the time of Jake Sharp and the boodle Aldermen and the corrupt franchises. Toward the end of the Ninetie's boodle as a major factor in city misgovernment was supplanted by vice. The emphasis shifted from the politician who stole franchises to the politician who conducted disorderly houses," the Times comments.

The sublimest thoughts are conceived by the intellect when it is excited by pious emotion.—W. Nevins.

I like the clang of the engine bell,
As it comes to the station stop,
I like the roar of escaping steam,
As it makes the safety "pop";
I like the screech of the air-brakes' shoes,
As they lock the whirling wheels,
For they all spell safety to passengers
When the train in transit reels.

I like the chug of the air pump valves,
As they fill the tanks compressed,
To answer the call from the engine cab,
When the train is brought to rest.
I like to watch the mogula start
With their massive, gentle jerk,
And I like the sound of the pet cock's hiss,
When the cylinders start to work.

I like to see the smoke rings rise,
As they're puffed by the steam exhaust,
And the smoke-deviouls roll o'er the running train,
As out of the stack they're tossed;
I like the rhythmic, rattling taps,
And to others they warn or guide.
I like to watch the receding rails,
As they run from the hindmost car,
And lose themselves with the wired poles
In perspective's distance far.

I like the engineer's goggled face,
As he watches in my behalf,
And I like the smile the trainman wears,
The conductor's cheery laugh;
So let me travel in royal state,
O'er the steel-railed bed, well tied,
Where safety and comfort roll and rein,
For that's where I love to ride.

"THE WHITE MAN'S GRAVE" is located on the West Coast of Africa, where the climate is said to be particularly fatal to white men. Loneliness and gin are said to have as much to do with the death rate as the climate, but be that as it may, one man spent years there and lived to tell the tale. He was the subdean and Canon of St. George's Cathedral, Freetown, and Diocesan Commissioner of Sierra Leone, spending eleven years there. Now he is The Rt. Rev. # REVOLT IN THE DESERT
by T. E. LAWRENCE

Zeid sat gravely on a rock, sweeping the country with field-glasses for the enemy. As crises deepened, Zeid grew detached, nonchalant. I was in a furious rage. The affair should never, by the rules of sane generalship, have ventured back to Tafileh at all. It was simple greed, a dog-in-the-manger attitude unworthy of a serious enemy, just the sort of hopeless thing a Turk would do. How could they expect a proper war when they gave us no chance to honour them? Our arsenals were continually being rushed by plebeian follies, for neither could our men respect their courage, nor our officers respect their brains. Also it was all by chance, and I had been up all night and was Teutonic enough to decide that they should pay for my changed mind and plan.

First I suggested that Abdulla go forward with two Rolshikan guns to test the strength and disposition of the enemy. Then we talked of what next: very usefully, for Zeid was a cool and gallant little fighter, with the temperament of a professional officer. We saw Abdulla climb the other bank. The shooting became intense for a time, and then he was into distance. His coming had stimulated the Motalga gunners and the villagers, who fell on the Turkish cavalry and drove them over a first ridge, across a flat which was a wide, and over a ridge beyond it between the first and the second Hisea depression.

Behind that lay the Turkish camp, body, just getting on the road again after a severe night which had stiffened them in their places. They came properly into action, and Abdulla was checked at once. We heard the distant rolling of machine-gun fire, growing up in huge bursts, laced by a sudden rattle. Then messengers told us what was happening as well as if we were riding at his side. It was excellent. I wanted Zeid to come forward at once on that authority; but his caution stopped in and he insisted that we wait exact word from his advance-guard, Abdulla.

This was not necessary, according to book, but they knew I was a sham soldier, and took licence to ride over my advice when it came peremptorily. However, I held a long watch two of that, and went off myself for the front to prejudge their decision. On the way I met my body-guard, turning over the goods exposed for rummage in the streets, and finding much of interest to themselves. I told them to recover our camels and to bring their Hotchkiss automatic to the north bank of the gorge in a hurry.

The road dipped into a grove of big trees, knots of Turks were bought; bare, as they would be long after the rest of nature was grown green. Thence it turned eastward, to find lengthily in the valley to the crest. I felt it, climbing straight up the cliffs. An advantage of going forward was a new and incredible sureness upon rock when the soles had got hard by painful insidence, or were too chilled to feel jags and scrapes. The new way, while warming me, also shortened my time and precisely, and very soon, at the top, I found a level bit and then a last ridge overlooking the plateau.

This led straight back, with 200 metres of roughness in it, seemed very proper for a reserve of ultimate line of defence for Tafileh. To be sure, we had no reserve as yet—no one had the least notion who or what we would have anywhere—but if we did have anybody, here was their place; and at that precise moment Zeid's personal Agayl became visibly impatient with my delay. To make the move required words of a strength to unravel their plaited hair: but last I had them all sitting along the skyline of Reserve Ridge.

I went about leaving, and from a distance looked beautiful, like "points" of a considerable army. I left them there, and as a decision, with orders to collect there all newcomers, especially my fellows with their guns.

As I walked northward towards the fighting, Abdulla met me on the way to Zeid with news. He had finished his ammunition, lost five men from shell-fire, and had one Sidermatic gun destroyed. Two guns, he reported the Turks had. His idea was to get up Zeid with all his men and fight it out—nothing remained for me to add to his message; and there was no subtlety in leaving alone my happy masters to cross and die in their own right decision.

I spent the leisure in which to study the coming battlefield. The tiny plain was about two miles across, bounded by low grass ridges and roughly triangular, with my re-serve riding at base. Northeast it was the road to Kerak, dipping into the Hesa valley. The Turks were fighting their way up it, and Abdulla's charge had taken the western arm—hand-ridge, which was now our firing-line.

Shells were falling in the plain at first short across it, with harsh stalks of wormwood stabbing into the ground before. The enemy fusing was too long, so that the shells grazed over the ridge and burst away behind. One fell near me, and I lamped its calibre from the bolt cap. As I went they began to shorten range, and by the time I got to the ridge it was being freely controlled with shrapnel. Obviously the Turks had got observation somehow, and looking round I saw them climbing along the eastern side beyond the gap of the Kerak road. They would own outflank us at our end of the western ridge.

The annual regatta of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, the first of the series under the auspices of the Lake Yacht Racing Association, was sailed at Toronto in a very light wind, but for which the regatta would have proved undoubtedly have won. As it was the little cutter Verve outsailed the fleet and won the prize and the big cutter Aileen the second prize. Canadian was third. The time given was as follows: Verve 7.15.05; Aileen 7.40.40; Canadian 7.41.17; Cygnet 7.47.36; Oriole 7.59.] It was fully expected in the harbour that Atalanta would prove an easy winner, but the wind was altogether too light for large boats like the Oriole and Atalanta and much better suited to lighter crafts like the winners. In the second class the Islander of this city got a good start and the way she kept her lead and sailed away from most of the rest of her competitors showed that it was a favorable day for her.

COUPLE SHOWERED WITH MANY GIFTS

On Monday evening July 29, a large number of friends and neighbors gathered at the Orange Hall Springbrook and presented Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie Mason with a miscellaneous shower. The numerous gifts were very useful consisting of chinaware, china, linen, glass, envelopes of money, and silverware which showed the high esteem in which the young couple were held in the community.

About ten o'clock the gathering was called to order by Mr. Stewart Brunson who acted as chairman for the evening. The following address was read by Mrs. Murrey Mason.

Springbrook, Ont., July 29, 1935.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie Mason:

Dear Hazel and Ritchie:

On this happy occasion, we a few of your friends of Springbrook and community have met here tonight to wish you joy and happiness through your wedded life. We are very glad Hazel to welcome you to our community, we feel sure we have gained another bride who will be of assistance to us in our various organizations. We hope that you too will find friendship among us.

Ritchie you are known to us all and we wish to express our best Wishes for your success. You have come to our assistance many times at our entertainments and social affairs which was always appreciated and we join in wishing you health, happiness and prosperity.

We ask you to accept these gifts as a slight token of our esteem and best wishes. May they remind you as you use them of your many friends here.

Signed on behalf of the community; Stewart Brunson, Roy Short, Mia Mumby, Gladys Mason.

The bride and groom responded in a few chosen words thanking all for their gifts and inviting every one to visit them in their new home.

No Law Against 'Shorts' to Get You, Public Morals Law May

Ineffectual Hunt is Made Through City Archives For 'Shorts' Law

SUIT ACCEPTED HERE

Abbreviated shorts. Bather type bathing suit tops to match. Allowing the exposure of a generous portion of sun tanned back. Canvas shoes and briefly rolled short 'socks to match. Once the airy and flimsy skirties of the more modern and daring miss at remote summer resorts and camps, the new trend in dress has reached the city, with devotees of the back-to-nature and more modern dress movement parading the city's streets in the new summer dress by the score.

The fashion was started last year by their sisters from points across the border who were this summer dress while touring, potaii cal local observers. This year the style has been given impetus in the Belleville and other districts by the fact that shorts and bathing suit tops have become noticeably more common among touring visitors. Residents have become used to the novelty of the thing. Department stores are stocking up on matching suits, and even in the ranks of the very young the suit has become accepted without question.

Officially there is no specific law against the wearing of shorts in Belleville. No city by-law has yet been unearthed which forbids any residing to parade in streets in that attire. Only under "By-laws Relating to Public Morals" in the archives at the city hall can reference be found to the manner in which people may dress. Section ruler: "No person shall within the City of Belleville make indecent exposure of his or her person in any street, lane, alley or public place within the said city, and no person or persons shall indecently expose his or her persons while bathing in the river or bay within or adjoining the limits of the said city between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and nine o'clock in the evening." How the law applies outside of the period of restricted time the ancient by-law, passed by city council long before shorts and sun suits were ever thought of, does not mention.

GOOD BREEZE FOR PUNT RACES

No Official Time Kept of The Various Classes

A good breeze prevailed on Wednesday afternoon for the weekly sailing events held on the bay from off Victoria Park. There were many spectators present during the afternoon and they were rewarded by their presence in witnessing good races. Owing to no official time keeper being present it was impossible to secure the actual time the various crafts made over the course. In one event there was some misunderstanding as to whether the punts competing should sail twice or three times over the course hence Mr. W. Rogers, the starter, did not fire the gun at the finish. It was ascertained, that at a recent meeting of the South End Yachting Club twice around the course was decided upon and the starter was not so notified, so he was not at fault.

There were seven events and twenty crafts were entered, but all did not finish in their respective classes. The events were as follows:

A Class—Joks, owned by "Duke" Smith, Anne C, owned by H. Stemark and After You owned by M. J. Callaghan competed. The Joks proved to be an easy winner, crossing the finishing line some minutes ahead of Anne C, her nearest competitor. After You was third.

B Class—Five were entered in this class but only three completed the course. Dorothy, owned by A. Hamblow finished 1st, Leta Ce, owned by R. Kellaway was second and The Scrapper, owned by H. Keller was third. The Daumless owned by D. Locke and the Stranger owned by D. Ellis dropped out.

C Class— Tiola, owned by F. Green was an easy winner over Tex, owned by C. Cook, these being the only entries.

D Class—Four entries were made in this class, namely the Ron Wallace, owned by W. Williamson; Romilde, owned by D. Rowe; Sharpie, owned by Mr. Boyce or Napanee and the Olympic, owned by T. Falconer. They completed the course in the following order.

Scout Class—The Allegro, owned by W. Hinchey was the winner in this class. Tresko, the only other competing craft dropped out before the completion of the course.

Snipe Class—Only two were entered in this class, namely the Eagle, owned by L. Plagler and the Wanda owned by W. Bishop. The Eagle proved to be the winner.

Sixteen Footer—The Spray owned by R. Hay won this event. The other entry was the Scotiela owned by R. Rumlow, which gave up after completing the first round of the course.

FAMILY RE-UNION

Sherlee Park, Oak Lake, was the scene of a pleasant gathering on Thursday, August 1st, when the tenth annual re-union of the Duffin family was held. Over one hundred and fifteen assembled at the noon hour for dinner, others arriving during the afternoon to enjoy the evening meal. Representatives of the clans present from Scotland, Campbellford, Peterboro, Roslin, Castleton, Markdale, Morganston, Bonarlaw, Hotham, as well as from this district.

Gifts to the oldest couple present went to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grow, Campbellford. Mr. Grow, who is eighty-five years of age, received a cane, and Mrs. Grove, 82, was presented with a cane. The youngest among them was Millicent Craighead, two months old August 2nd, and her gift was a blanket. The one coming the longest distance was Clifford Ostrom of Markdale she was presented with an album. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grills, Campbellford with the largest family present, received a box of chocolates.

The business session was presided over by the very capable president, Mr. Charles Ostrom, Belleville. The same committee was re-elected for next year, Mr. Charles Ostrom was re-elected president and Miss Irene Grills, secretary-treasurer. Sympathy was expressed to the bereaved members, there having been two deaths reported during the year.

In the afternoon many acquaintances were renewed. Water sports were enjoyed. A peanut and candy scramble for the tots brought a very pleasant day to a close. All present came to the conclusion that it was the ideal spot for this reunion and decided to hold it on the same date, the first Thursday in August, 1936.

SURPRISE PARTY IS ARRANGED BY BIBLE CLASS

On Wednesday evening, July 24th, the members of the Young Bible Class, Smithfield, motored over to Mountain View as a surprise party to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Redman, who have just recently moved from Smithfield.

All enjoyed visiting with the friends till order was called, Mr. and Mrs. Redman being asked to take seats while the following address was read:

Mr. and Mrs. Redman,

It was with infinite regret that we learned of your departure from our midst, where you have served as loyal christian friends. You have been of inestimable importance in our Adult Bible Class and by the help of your own experience, have lighted us along the Jesus Way.

Mrs. Redman by your leadership as President of our class have contributed much to the advancement of our study of the Scripture which you have searched diligently.

We, the members of the class have come down here this evening to express our appreciation of your noble example and to ask you to accept this little gift to remind you that in Smithfield there are friends who love and remember you and we will always cherish the friendships formed with the Redman family.

We wish you all the best things in life and cherish the hope that some day it may be our good fortune to have you once more in our village.

Mr. Geo. Whaley, teacher
Mrs. Effie Stevenson, secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Redman very fittingly replied. All joined in singing "For they are Jolly Good Fellows".

Lunch was then served after which several favourite hymns were sung ending with "God Be With You Till We Meet Again".

In bidding goodbye we all realized we had lost from our midst some very dear good true friends.

Obituary

PETER W. BOVAY
(Sophiasburg)

Peter William Bovay of the 1st concession of Sophiasburg township, Prince Edward County, died in the Belleville General Hospital on Thursday, Aug. 1st, after an illness of three weeks.

The late Mr. Bovay, who was in his 76th year, was born in Madoc township, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bovay. He was a farmer and for some time resided on Big Island, later moving to Sophiasburg township where he had made his home for 47 years. He was a member of the United Church at Crofton and highly esteemed by his neighbors.

Surviving him are his widow; one daughter, Mrs. Murray Parks of the 5th concession of Hillier; two sons, John A. Bovay of Sophiasburg township; and Arthur Bovay of Sophiasburg township; one sister Mrs. David Durnin of Picton. (Picton papers please copy.)

Los Angeles, Aug. 3 (UP)—Alice Gray, lecturer, believes in the stemless life for firemen.

"Firemen seem to sit all the time and are too fat," she wrote Mayor Frank Shaw, suggesting they clean the streets and parks in otherwise idle hours.

Mayor Shaw sent the letter to the fire commissioner. The commissioner sent it to Chief Ralph Scott. Chief Scott was undecided where to send it.

REPAIRING ROAD TO BEAVER CREEK

Begin Widening and Resurfacing Between Marmora and Shannick

Marmora, Aug. 3—The large rock crusher belonging to the municipality of Marmora and Lake is being moved to Shannick north of Mitts Lake. The road from Marmora to Shannick via Beaver Creek is to be widened in some places and resurfaced with crushed rock. Up until a few years ago this road was used solely for lumbering purposes, but since Beaver Creek is fast becoming a very popular fishing spot for tourists it has been found necessary to build a road in keeping with the traffic.

Mr. Bart O'Connor who has been taking treatments for some time, from Lockwood clinic has had to undergo a rather serious operation on his face and nose. A veteran of the Great War he was wounded in the battle of Vimy Ridge, after which he was confined to the hospital in England.

Operated on recently several pieces of shrapnel were found lodged in his face which necessitated the removal of from the nose and cheek bone.

Monday, August the fifth will be observed as Civic Holiday in Marmora this year. It has been the practice to have the holiday later in the month but this year plans are being made to have the annual celebration and field day together, at a later date.

Much has been said about the bass fishing at Crowe Lake, but who could say more or less than Bill Linn and Glen Chambers two of Marmora's old time lumbermen "Rotten" was the reply when Bill was asked how the fish were. "Thursday, "Yes we got fish" but after packing your lunch for an all day's fishing and you limit the first hour and throw the rest away and then come home and eat your lunch, you can't call that a good day's fishing."

Miss Grace Tait who has been organist in St. Paul's Church for the past year, left yesterday for Kingston where she has accepted a position as organist.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Simmons of Niagara Falls, are visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Ada Doyle, Deloro for a couple of weeks.

Miss Flora Sanderson is spending a two weeks' vacation at Lake Simcoe, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sanderson accompanied her to camp returning on Saturday.

Mrs. Geo. Jennings and sons Richard and Charles of Thunder Bay are visiting the former's brother, Mr. James McFarlane.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reynolds, Grace, Billy and Donald motored to Lake Coonhichimg where Donald will spend a three weeks vacation at the Ontario Athletic Association camp.

Mr. Eric Johnson of the Standard Paving Co. Ltd., Toronto, was a newsd acquaintances in town this week.

On Tuesday evening a shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hamilton was held at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. John Hamilton of North Marmora.

The evening was spent in singing and playing games. A very suitable recitation was given by Mrs. John Parker entitled "Spoon" after which the wedding address was read by the pastor Rev. C. R. Chatson.

Herb and Elsie:

We you friends and relatives have met here tonight to extend to you our best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

To you Herb who have made success and industry your aim and have shown such fortitude and pluck in facing the problems in this period of economic stress.

We are sure you will face the problems of married life with the same spirit of courage fidelity and devotion.

Our hope is that you will remember that every cloud has a silver lining and that you and yours will always turn the clouds about and wear them inside out, to show their lining.

To you Elsie who have been so faithful to loved ones at home, and have won the hearts of your many friends, we sincerely hope you may still find a greater source of joy in using your admirable talents in keeping the home fires burning.

Please accept these gifts as tokens of love from your friends.

Mrs. Chas. Chisholm and Pilot who hails said, "Lo I am with you always," guard, bless and protect you and set ember on the mairs mortal ship.

May you have fair weather and smooth sailing.

The bride and groom then expressed their thanks for the many very useful gifts they had received.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Sanderson and son Bobbie and Mrs. Robert Baxter have returned from a motor trip to Bath, N.Y.

Mr. Dorothy and Garnet Richardson of Warkworth are visiting with their former girl friend Miss Lorena Vansickle who is home on a two weeks' vacation from Kingston General Hospital.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS

by McElheran & Watkin.

Monday evening saw one of the largest crowds of the season out to the good time was enjoyed by all. The winners were Mrs. C. McBride; Mrs. C. Houston; Mrs. Richards; Mrs. A. Walker; Mrs. Cross; Miss Hurley; Joe Black; H. Bryant; R. Holland; W. Post; T. Middleton; T. Morrell; L. Paradell and C. B. McGhire.

In our Wednesday mixed game the following players were scored full: Two games skip, C. Hyde, Mr. Davis (Oshawa) and Ali Symmons skip; 1 game high Mrs. Cross, Mrs. Kirkland, N.B., C. McBride, Mrs. Hyde, skip.

Four rinks went to Stirling to the annual men's rinks: H. Thompson, F. Hooper, Rod Mitchell; C. Bateman, skip; Geo. Watkin; W. Fox Ed Catcher; C. Symons, skip; John Shaw; C. Fisher; D. Pearce, Geo. Woodley, skip; N. Wilbur; A. Wannamaker; H. McElheran; J. Black, skip.

The Sulman rink won their first two games and were beaten the third time, one on a rinks and the other by one shot. That is what one calls real hard luck.

The Black rink after winning from a Kingston rink went down to Wyper of Madoc and Derry of Kingston. Another lost time after a win.

The Woodley rink after winning their first game from Deseronto also went down two in a row by a small margin.

The Symons rink after being nosed out by a small margin in the first two games came back strong to beat Watson of Madoc in the final of the Hard Luck for first money.

Kingston are putting on a mixed rink tournament on Civic Holiday and Monday next. We must be represented there that day if possible.

If anyone would like to go and cannot get a full team, phone your president, he has the names of several who will make the trip.

On Wednesday while in Stirling it was brought to my attention by one of the members of our club that outside clubs are under the impression that the Belleville club this year is a closed corporation and does not want to be bothered going to outside tournaments. This is not correct. The reason that we are finding it hard to get teams to go away is because we are giving our club members lots of games at home and our principal consideration must be given to our own club, particularly when there are many new members. To the outside clubs who send our bowling column and I know that there are many, we have in the club some 70 new members in the past month, over 40 of them being active. This is quite a problem for any club to try and make bowlers of them all and we assure you when this task is complete and we are delighted with results to date, our visits to you will be in greater numbers.

Our Civic Holiday game will commence at 2 o'clock sharp. We want everyone who is home to be on the job because we are going to have a good time. Tea will be served after the second game, as that no one will have to leave the green. Bring your wives, husbands and sweethearts. We want to make this a real success and it is up to you to put it over.

The bantamac at the Ladies' Club on Thursday afternoon were Mrs. Gardener; Mrs. Fisher; Mrs. McElheran, The winning rinks: Mrs. Cross; Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. C. McBride, Mrs. Richards won the fourth prize drawing the lucky number.

The activities next week are Monday, Aug 5th, Tournament, three games; Tuesday, ladies' game; Wednesday, mixed rinks at 7.30 prompt and Friday night 7.30 Men's Jitney.

We had as visitors on Wednesday night the Rev. and Mrs. Kirkland from New Brunswick and Mr. Davies from the Oshawa club.

"Le Roi Le Veult" India Bill Passes

London, Aug. 2 (CP Cable) With the ancient Norman-French phrase, "Le Roi Le Veult," Royal assent was given in the House of Lords today to the monumental government of India bill—the historic measure which grants self-government with safeguards to a host of federated India.

At the same time the House of Commons, as parliament adjourned until October, passed a motion on recommendation of Prime Minister Baldwin, providing if the public interest requires, parliament may be summoned at any time earlier.

FINANCIAL MARKETS
NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 2 (CP) — Prices wilted moderately under a slow demand on the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange today. Liquor shares, the group to give the latest display of bullish tendencies, were soft and losses ranged up to a half point. Brewers and Distillers, active and prominent in the recent rise, held its position at 81. Oils were weak along with other industrial issues, including Ford A, Nickel and C.P.R.

Bullish sentiment waned low in the liquor stocks on the industry's reception despite continuance of heavy buying demand in Brewers and Distillers, and the general tone over the rest of the board was slightly soft.

The list appeared to be waiting for the New York market to make up its mind about prices for the immediate future and volume, aside from a fair turnover in the oils and liquors, was small.

Walkers Common lost 1¼ to 78¼ and Distillers Seagrams and Industrial Alcohol A weakened ½ each. Brewers and Dividend, trading in heavy volume, remained steady at 81. London buyers were reported in the market. Oil shares dropped minor fractions and, prices were off slightly for Ford A, C.P.R. and Nickel.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 1 (CP)—After a slow and moderately soft morning session, the mining division of the Toronto Exchange displayed a better tone in the afternoon, recovering most of the early recessions. Base metal stocks were quiet and steady, alvers irregularly higher on moderate volume and in the golds business was concentrated mainly in the secondary group and in Wright Hargreaves.

Dullness ruled in all departments of the mining section under slowing down of trading and a barely firm price tone. Recession of a few cents appeared in a number of the secondary golds, including Sisco, Sylvanite, Macassa and God's Lake and in the seniors Hollinger recorded drop of 15 cents to 13.85.

Silver issues showed some action in Bear Exploration and Eldorado Bear was strong for a time, touching 70 but failed to hold and Eldorado was 2 cents weaker at 67. Silver Sliplog sold slightly higher. No response was made by the Silverwood Dairies to the stronger London market for copper.

WALL STREET FINANCIAL

New York, Aug. 2.—Utilities and scattered specialties kept bullish spirits alive in the first hour's trading.

A steady price level was maintained by such Canadian favorites as Montreal Internationl Nickel and Canadian Pacific. On the curb, Riyram Walker dipped to 4¾ while Lake Shore was slightly higher. Dominion Bridge was unchanged but inactive. Montreal funds held unchanged at 99¼ cents.

Shares up fractionally to around 2 points included Consolidated Gas, Columbian Union, United Fruit, Preferred, Greyhound Corp., Collins and Aikman, Celanese, Industrial Rayon, Atlantic Refining, Preferred, Continental Steel, American Rolling Mill and Republic Steel Corporation.

Among losers up to around a point were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Radio Corp., General Electric, Westinghouse and Peoples Gas.

NEW YORK CLOSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Prices from the general list, except for utilities and scattered specialties, the stock market felt the pressure of

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Service.

BANKFIELD Gold Mines management has begun to explore for the possible extension of veins in the high grade orebody found on the first level.

Export demand for preferred issues has been noted in recent weeks, with Dominion Tar and Massey-Harris the favorites this group. Both of these stocks enjoy good sponsorship and have given a good account of themselves recently. Though Massey-Harris preferred may not be overlooked by investors on the local curb, the stock always enjoys a fairly active market overthe-counter.

Business of both Cockshutt Plow and Massey-Harris is reported to be the best in years. Massey-Harris has already announced an increase of 72 per cent in sales and Cockshutt is said to have enjoyed a like increase. The western farmer should be in the best position since 1928 with further improvement in the purchasing power of the farmer expected, the outlook for the implement manufacturers is better than it has been for many years.

The belief that easy money is at last beginning to have an effect upon the business situation is becoming much more general, states The Montreal Bank of New York. It is influenced not only by the larger volume of bond issues already sold and in prospect, but by the continued strength of the stock-market, which is an advance in the latter evidently is in part an addustment of the yields on stocks to conform with reductions in bond interest-rates. To that extent it is due to the ease of money.

MADOC GOLD AREA DRAWS ATTENTION

Rich Rock Opens Good Showings—Other Companies Active

Mail and Empire says:—

As a result of the aggressive development campaigns being carried on by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company on the Rich Rock and Cordova properties ad the favorable showings reported by officials of Gilmour Gold and Craig Gold Mines, new interest is developing in the gold mining area of Madoc, north of Belleville. This is one of the older mining areas of the province, but it is only within the past few months that a real test of the various properties has been undertaken. Some work was done on properties in this district as far back as 1911 and previous to 1917 the Cordova Mine produced about 3,000 tons of gold.

While nothing in the way of spectacular gold showings have been reported from the district, officials of several of the companies operating in the gold field state that values ranging from $5 to $16 per ton have been obtained over good widths. Much more work, however, will be necessary to prove ore reserves in the area.

According to official information Consolidated Smelters has completed its diamond drill campaign at the Rich Rock Gold property and is proceeding with aggressive underground development. It is stated that the diamond drilling program proved the large ore body found on the 100 foot level to extend 200 feet with considerable work done on the 100 foot horizon. It is the intention to continue the shaft to 500 feet depth.

MORE BUTTER STORED

The report on storage stocks of butter to Toronto as at Aug. 1, issued by the trade late yesterday, was quite favorable, as compared with the same date a year ago. Butter in cold storage was placed at 80,778 boxes, compared with 111,794 boxes for the same date last year. Montreal reported stocks of 45 specifically 198,000 boxes, compared with 202,000 boxes a year ago. In 1934, 1,934 Winnipeg holdings were 97,500, compared with 73,000.

The net shortage for the three cities for the month of July, therefore was 84,000 boxes, which compared with a net shortage of 20,000 boxes for the first of July of this year. This means that during the month of July there were 10,000 more boxes of butter stored than in the previous period.

Pirates Come to Aid of Giants Knocking Off Cubs 6 - 5 to Put New York Team in Front

Giants Now Hold One Game Lead in The National

TIGERS WIN

Race in American Similar to One Last Year

By OSLO ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It's idle often to call pennant races in successive years so closely resemble each other as the Tiger-Yankee scrap for honors in the American League compares with that battle last year.

Just a year ago Mickey Cochrane's rampaging Tigers had chalked up victory No. 3 on a 4-game winning streak, that left the Yanks far behind and apparently assured them the pennant. Today they were in the same position with their last two victories on the victory column.

On August 2, 1934, both teams had dropped 2 games, the same number of setbacks they have received this season. Tigers, having played more games, however, held a 3½ game lead today compared to only one a year ago.

Tigers Widen Gap

Tigers widened the gap yesterday by burning back the last place St. Louis Browns 6-3 while their rivals were kept idle by the schedule.

Alvin Crowder, veteran right-hander, held the Brownies to four scattered hits and no runs until the ninth, when the Browns got to him and he was nicked for four blows and three runs.

Elon Hogsett was called in from the bull pen to stop the rally. With one out and one on, the Indian hurler retired the first man to face him but walked the next two to load the bases. He then bore down however, and fanned Burns for the third out. Hank Johnny Stevens, Odell Hale contributed a homer and a double, while Lou Gehrig added two more doubles and a single.

Firsies Trim Cubs

Earl Whitehill scored his ninth triumph of the season in the nightcap of Washington Senators to a 9-5 victory over Boston Red Sox after the Firsies had dropped the opener by identical 6-5 count. Buddy Myer's homer and 4 singles were the big factors in the Senator's attack.

Competition in the National League saw Pittsburgh Pirates come to the aid of the faltering New York Giants by trimming the threatening Chicago Cubs, 6-5. The defeat dropped Cubs a full game back of Giants, who were idle. Pirates scored all their runs off Lou Warneke in the second with an attack climaxed by Arky Vaughan's 16th homer with the bases loaded. Before the end, however, Waite Hoyt had to come to the rescue of Bill Swift and squelch a ninth-inning rally, that left the tying run on base.

Umpire Forced Out

Dizzy Dean failed to go the route but he received credit for his 15th victory of the season as Cardinals and Reds battled through a game played with the temperature at 96 degrees with St. Louis winning 7-5. The heat was so intense that Umpire "Cully" Stark was forced to the clubhouse, leaving Stigler and Stewart to finish the game.

In the only other National League contest, Cincinnati Reds and Brooklyn Dodgers battled to a 5-5 tie, stopping out of their batting slump, collected 14 hits off Carl Fischer and Van Mungo. Odell Hale contributed a homer and a double, while Lou Gehrig added two more doubles and a single.

Mercantile Softball

The Simpson entry in the local Mercantile softball league moved into sole possession of first place, when they downed the C.D.S. (Canton's) by the score of 14 to 4, while the London Lunch aggregation took a defeat at the hands of the lowly Loblaws to the tune of 14 to 8 in a thrilling tilt played in the "Mercy" last evening.

The Simpson nine scored eight big runs in the first two frames to assume command of the pastime, which they never relinquished as Drucup hurled fine ball for Simpsons for six innings, being relieved by Bateman, who finished the fray strong. McLean hurled the entire game for the losing C.D.S. nine. The Eaton aggregation collected two runs off the deliveries of both Drucup and Bateman, while McLean was hit hard-by the second and sixth, when the visitors scored ten of their 14 runs. Phillips, Cooper and Clarke were the big hitters for the winning Lloyd-led aggregation.

The line-ups: Simpsons: Howbotham, mon, Bateman, Clarke, White; Phillips; Cooper; Reynolds; Mannings and Cooper. C. D. S.—Canning; Booth; Thompson; McLean; Lee; Green; Jones; Childs; Brown and Langabeer.

YOUNG CANADAS MAKE PLAYOFFS

Defeat St. Pauls A. C. 8-3 With "Bunt" Miller on Mound

With an 8 to 3 victory over the St. Paul's A. C. the Young Canada softball entry in the Senior softball league assured themselves of a playoff berth at Central Park last night. "Bunt" Miller was on the hillfop for the Canadas and pitched consistent ball to win, striking out eight and allowing 7 scattered hits. Singer ascended the mound for the St. Paul's A. C. and with the exception of the first and seventh innings, went well. The Young Canada's scored five runs in the initial frame and three in the seventh to give them their 8 to 3 victory.

Frank Murray's homer and Robinson's three singles accounted for the most of the Canada's runs, while Leichford starred for the winners in the field. Inability to solve the deliveries of Miller cost the St. Paul's the ball game.

Following the game, President Edgecombe announced there would be a league meeting called directly after this evening's Tweed at Eastman Hotel at St. Paul's Park. The meeting is being called in order to determine the status of three players playing in the league, who are alleged to have signed more than one O.S.A. playing certificate.

The line-ups: Young Canada—Palmer, Leichford, F. Murray, Reid, J. Murray, Brown, Alexander, Robinson and Miller. St. Paul's—Park, Whitehead Gaulin, Rigby, Barriage, Genereaux, Pointer, Green and Singer.

Score by innings:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| St. Paul's | 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 1—3 | runs |

SYRACUSE IS ON WINNING SPURT

Only 1 1-2 Games Behind The Leaders, Montreal Royals

(By The Associated Press)

Syracuse Chiefs, who have been rocking along most of the International League season at a .500 clip, are about to convince the skeptics that their first real thrust pennantwards has all the earmarks of a winner.

The Chiefs have taken a decided lead and the result is 14 victories in their last 16 starts. They had collected a streak of nine straight before being stopped by the Buffalo Bisons last Tuesday.

Now apparently the Syracuse entry is off on another spurt. Last night's 11-3 drubbing the Chiefs gave the Rochester Red Wings marked their second in a row over the St. Louis Cardinals' farm hands and placed them only one and one-half games behind the league-leading Montreal Royals who lost ground when the lowly Albany Senators gave them a 8-3 pasting.

The Canadians are encountering plenty of trouble on their swing around the circuit and Syracuse fans believe the Chiefs will have the lead before the Royals go back for their next home stand.

Newark Bears pounded the offerings of Tex Vance for 13 hits and Red Kleinhas was mastering the right he allowed Toronto Leafs and Newark turned back the Canadians by the lopsided count of 11-2.

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

Carl Gruber, Belleville's sole entry in the Canadian Canoe Association's finals at Ottawa tomorrow, has been working out all week long with the Canadiennne Canoe Club entries on their St. Lawrence River course. Gruber qualified for the C.C.C. finals, when he came in the double blade singles at the Northern division meet at Ottawa two weeks ago. Carl is ex-Canadian double blade champion and also British Empire champion single blade champion in 1930. Gruber is still considered one of the best double blade peddlers in the Dominion, and stands a real chance of winning those honors at Ottawa tomorrow. If he is fortunate enough to cop those honors he intends facing the starter's gun in the International canoe classic later in August, where a victory would qualify him to represent Canada in the Olympics in his native Germany. Carl Gruber is also an accomplished swimmer, but looks to his paddling for higher honors. May he enjoy the success he is aspiring to attain tomorrow.

Although there has been nothing authentic handed out by the B. A. B. A., we understand the Stewart-Warners have been approached by the Eaton A.C. David (the basketball ballers) in relationship to playing a night game in Belleville versus the Radios. Naturally, the proceeds are to be given to some charitable purposes as the House of David is a professional club and merely the "drawing card" event for charity work in this community. It seems the House of David Club carry a portable flood light outfit, that could be erected with the Fair Grounds, thereby supplying sufficient light to participate in an exhibitional softball game. Whether the project will ever materialize or not is solemnly in the hands of the O.B.A.A. as the "whiskered goats" are going to be if such a proposition could be arranged for charitable purposes, well the former proved ever to attract a ball game in the Quinte district would be out hand, and only to mention the House of David team in action, but more so to take in a night ball game. The idea sincerely hoped the suggestion lives to see realization.

While all this is going on the C.O.B.L. goes merrily on with the clubs becoming more tangled following every game. Today we find the Ponies a top the heap, one half a game in front of Peterboro, who fortune is one and one-half games afront of the Radios with the Oshawa nine in the cellar position. Over the week end the Radios journey to Oshawa on Saturday, while the Ponies travel to Peterboro and on Monday, the Holiday, the Oshawa nine return to Belleville for a regular scheduled game, thus is to be played as a morning fixture. In regards to the postponed Oshawa at Belleville game, there nothing will being done in the matter as yet due to the fact, that Kingston and Peterboro have two re-play games, while the Brewers have a tie in Kingston. These games will doubtlessly be played off during the season. Incidentally we understand the Ponies' executive was quite anxious, that a winner be declared on Wednesday in Kingston as it will mean the Ponies the neighborhood of $162.00 for the re-play game, and that's dough in any man's loop.

When Murphy and Ford Rule the two opposing pitching staffs of Wednesday's C.O.B.L. game, turned in their accustomed flawless efforts it reminded many of the days of Rey Grimshaw, Annable, Sherry, Blakely and other star short fielders to have starred in the Central League in years past. Incidentally Murphy's handling of seven chances without a bobble, was a treat to watch while he was closely followed by Ford. Then again Gray and Weir played the calibre of baseball, that packs 'em into the baseball park and if the Radios can continue to click up the same brand of offensive and defensive ball shown on Wednesday, they'll be the club to beat for the bunting. Never in the history of the league has the competition been quite as keen as it is this season, and may it continue.

After watching Umpire Pat Courtney in action on Wednesday, the Radios are of the firm belief that Umpire Mahlon Allin is going to be the best arbiter to come out of the Littlest City since the days of the old Ridge "Curley" Lebarr. Incidentally McCarney is one of the best officials in President Swanston's employ and can always be depended upon to turn in a good account of his day's work.

The Belleville Fair Board is one hundred per cent behind days preparing for Belleville's finest fair in history. Incidentally the Belleville Fair is a class "B" exhibition now, one jump behind Ottawa and Toronto, all of which are prowess to their activities. Of course this will mean bigger and better horse races as well as exhibits.

Although no pre-game ballyhoo was offering the Belleville Kiwanis bankers played a free inning. Incompanies versus a picked team of ex-bankers of previous years at the Fair Grounds last eve, with the Kiwanis kids winning 6 to 5. The picked team or all-stars boasted of present-day seniors and intermediates including Manager Ford, Nicky Sero, Mel Little, Sexy Hall and others too numerous to mention. "Lefty" Weeks hurled for the Kiwanis kids, limiting the all-stars to two hits and one run. Johnnie Bawden shared the pitching duties for the Kiwanis and was nicked for a single and one run as opened from his defensive. ...was feature of the game was Art Cole's timely two bagger, right, that Grey merely walked after, but it was a mighty clever at that and gined the extra base by any man's ball game. The Kiwanis kids collected six hits and eight runs from the combined pitching efforts of Les. Langman and Ken Hammett. As well as previous exhibition games, was arranged to whip the Kiwanis kids into some kind of shape for their coming O.B.A.A. play-off. Incidentally a return game with a little more interest injected into the pastime would not come amiss.

When Addison Lloyd's Simpson nine knocked off the C.D.S. (Eatons to you) in Mercantile softball league last night they assumed sole possession of first place owing to the fact the Canadian Kikes took over the pitching duties of the London Lunch nine and lost to the last place Loblaws, but it looks very much as if Simpsons, London Lunch and the local "printers" will surely be in the play-offs when the season ends. Still knocking at the door.

A softball team composed of members of the local Kiwanis Club motored to Mountain View for a friendly game of "mumbball" with the "boys from under the mountain" last eve. The outcome of the pastime proved one thing certain, the country lads could cuff the spheroid just as proficient as they can handle a plough, and simply because they handed the "city slickers" a 14-11 defeat, but the local Kiwanians today claim they were minus the services of their ace hurler, in the initial frame, when the farmers' team piled on three of their 14 runs. Oh well, a good time was had by all, but today we saw a few local business men, who are known to belong to the Kiwanis with limping quietly up the back streets.

by JOHN GOODWIN

"As to my word, it's unbreakable to any one who plays square with me. Forgive me Bannister, but I don't think you have. Nor have you played straight with Brian. Perhaps I'm wrong. All I know is that I've done with it.

"I couldn't say this to you Bannister, for you were fine after all even now I couldn't go back on it—if I thought you cared for the. That you loved me. You don't. I doubt if you know what the word means. And you, me—no. Your reasons are your own affair, they're not going to bind me. And Brian isn't any basis to found a marriage on, Bannister. That's enough said, surely. I ask you for my release, and your consent. Now, please let me go."

"Consent!" the veins swelled in Bannister's forehead. "You think I'll leave you to him yes, there's enough said! That means you have your own way through, and you fining to marry Brian?"

"Brian!" she flushed. "Why he has never even asked me!"

"That won't take him long! Go, then. If you marry him you marry a beggar—a pauper!"

The man's face was a mask of fury.

"I'll deal with Brian! As for you!"—he turned on Sonia—"Go! Get out of my house. You little cheat and liar, you've played your hand and you've lost out! Damn you, do you know what you are—"

He suddenly became vile, his speech a stammer of infamies. In a moment Brian had the door open and Sonia through it. In the hall—

"My car's outside—wait for me," he said, and turned back to face raving man. In a fury that was of a wilder beat than Sonia's he stepped him with two lean hands—

Bannister was a big man, and powerful; dangerous if tackled slowly. The Asath clicked in his head as Brian drove him and flung him into an arm chair with a force that sent it shooting and crashing back against the wall.

"You foul-mouthed brute," cried Brian through his teeth, "One word more out of you and I'll kill you!"

"A thing like you isn't fit to live Only you're not worth" it. Here, take this—!"

He snatched the long envelope from his pocket, ripped it in two halves and flung it at him. "And these!" he seized a pocket of bank-notes at Coote; they fluttered all about the panting Bannister like a shower of autumn leaves.

"And this!" He picked up the diamond from the floor and flung it with all his force at Bannister. "Steal and fake—like your father! I'm done with King's Sim. But by Heaven Bannister, I'm not done with you!"

The door slammed behind Brian and he was gone.

Bannister Coote raised his fist to his brow and sank limply into self together slowly. His chest heaved, his face was white.

The Diamond glittered on the carpet; he reached, for it hastily and thrust it into his pocket; after it the two torn halves of Brian's cable schedule. The profusion of banknotes all around him looked ghastly and ridiculous; witnesses of his humiliation. He stooped and gathered them up.

As he packed them together he noticed that two or three of them were flecked with blood. When Brian flung the Diamond at him he had lifted his left hand to guard his face; the stone inflicted a little cut that he'd rather freely and marked what it touched. Bannister twisted a silk handkerchief round it and quickly pouched the rest of the notes.

Then, staring about him a little dazedly, he mopped his hand with the handkerchief, stopping the trickle of blood, and opened a drawer in the table that was full of odds and ends. From these he selected a packet of court plaster and with the spring scissors of his penknife snipped a long length of the black plaster and fastening it neatly over the cut. It was curious that a man in his frame of mind should stay to attend to anything so fussy and carefully, as was his habit in all things; he didn't even seem to be thinking about it. His hands were perfectly steady, but his breathing was heavy and labored.

He had just finished when Selby came in. He nodded silently to his master, and turned to close the door behind him.

"Rosh gone," he said. "Went away together—in his car."

Bannister looked at him and said nothing.

"And believe me, it's lucky for you, too," said Selby quietly. "You're well out of that. As for him—you can let him all right."

Bannister remained silent.

"And you're out of her," continued Selby. His voice became barely audible and he watched Bannister carefully. "Nasty made a break. After all boss, what's class out here. No good to you."

Bannister heard him, but did not answer. He seemed to be thinking busily.

"This 'class' stuff"! pursued Selby. "I tell you—"

"Shut your mouth," said Bannister quickly, "and get me a drink."

Selby nodding and pressed the bell to a moment or two a tall black and white uniform appeared in the doorway, Deborah, the paternal, stood at the entrance, gulping silently. Selby gave her an order. Bannister, with heavy and wasted tread sank wearily into a chair. The real sample little figure as it disappeared. Selby watched him.

"Queer, isn't it," he said, "that any one should react—to anything—something that's no good to him, when he knows that what he wants is ready to his hand."

He came nearer.

"Thing is over, now—get it straight. Is there anybody that's got a better claim?"

He went out quietly, without another word. Bannister started towards the closed door, then stopped. The real sample little figure as it disappeared. Selby watched him.

"Queer, isn't it," he said, "that any one should react—to anything—something that's no good to him, when he knows that what he wants is ready to his hand."

He came nearer.

"Thing is over, now—get it straight. Is there anybody that's got a better claim?"

He went out quietly, without another word. Bannister started towards the closed door, then stopped. He filled one of the tall crystal beakers and handed it to him.

Bannister drained it, and the blood came back to his cheeks. He looked at the girl, meeting her eyes.

"Take one too, Deb," he said. "You're looking pale."

She laughed, and shook her head. "No oh!" he said, pointing to the tray.

Deborah half filled a beaker with white, well-iced illicit gin, and he handed her his glass.

raised it, and her eyes twinkled at him over the brim. Bannister handed her his glass.

"Fill that again."

He sat down the empty glass and

TARZAN THE UNTAMED— (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

Tarzan of the Apes had watched the plane until it almost disappeared in the western sky. He breathed a sigh of relief as he saw it rise safely with the British flier and the Red spy. For weeks he had felt his hampering responsibility for them. Now they were off his hands.

He turned toward the jungle. At its edge he paused; a great tree loomed directly ahead. As though moved by a sudden, irresistible impulse, he leaped into the branches and swung himself to the topmost limbs. There, a sigh heaved his broad chest.

For in the far eastern horizon, his keen eyes picked up the British plane bearing away from him the last of his race and kind that he expected ever again to see. A few seconds he watched it speeding evenly eastward, when to his horror he saw the speck drive suddenly downward.

The fall seemed interminable to the watcher and he realized how great must have been the plane's altitude before the drop commenced. Just before it disappeared from his view a forward momentum appeared to abate suddenly. But it was still moving rapidly at a sharp angle when it finally disappeared from view.

turning, looked at her. She did not speak; there was the same half veiled gleam in her eyes, and the same quiet little smile on her lips.

"Come here," said Bannister.

He hooking a strong arm around her and held her tight against him mockingly. She yielded, supple as a wand, laughing gently, her head turned back. He looked down into the wicked little olive face and shining eyes. His mouth closed swiftly on hers.

"Like to be boss here?" he said. "Like to keep young Brian out!"

Her mouth while Leth flashed.

"My sort!" said Bannister. His lips sought hers again: she felt his heart pounding.

"You win after all, Deb. Glad, aren't you—ah!"

"You know I am, Bannister," she whispered, and closed her eyes. His arm tightened round her. The door re'ised suddenly.

Selby came in, a letter in his hand; the man's whole expression had changed. His eyes were alive with anxiety, his mouth tight set. glanced at her with a quick jerk of his thumb toward the door; she went out without a word. He handed the letter to Bannister, whose face was black as thunder.

"Get on to that quick! Found it on the hall table. I'll swear it wasn't there when the post came!" Bannister read the letter, tore it open and read the scrawling message. He swore aloud.

"Sam! The old mine-shaft. Ten o'clock!"

He broke off.

"Have you read this, Jim?" Selby nodded.

"It was half open. Thought I'd better."

Bannister thrust it in his pocket. "Damn him, he's got me! I can't let this go by—now!" He glanced at the clock.

"A quarter to ten! I'll have to go."

Selby caught his master by the arm.

"Let me go, boss," he said. "Leave this to me."

There was silence for a moment or two, broken only by a distant mutter of thunder.

"We'll both go," said Coote quietly. "Settle the thing, once and for all. You get ahead, Jim, and wait for me down at the railway crossing."

Bannister went quickly up to his bedroom, hung up his dinner-jacket in a cupboard first emptying its pockets into an old tweed jacket which he slipped on. The letter he locked away in a solid little davenport desk that stood at the back of the room, a wad of banknotes he kept. Then taking a heavy black revolver from a locked drawer, he dropped it butt uppermost into his coat pocket.

"You've come for a settlement, Sam?" he said. "You're going to get it."

He went down silently by the back stairs, and passed, gliding through the stable-yard door into the night.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Sid Hunt was starting to take a week nowheres in particular, and I said, Aw heck gosh shang the heck look whose coming!

Meaning Sid's little brother Bert that's allways getting in my hair generally, does when he sees him coming anywheres in general, or I just pretend not to notice him at all if I want to even not notice him, that's a eny way to treet kids if you want to discourage them.

Which just then Bert cawt up to us, saying, Where you guys going? I'm going too, and Sid said, Mr, it's nice of you to be alons ain't it, Benny?

Do you mean with no little kids trailing after us? I said, Sure, that's my favorite way of being, I said, and Bert said, Hay, where you going, are you deaf?

And it's marvellous to hear the birds singing and just wawk along nice and peaceful like all by ourselfs, ain't us? Sid said, and I said, Sure, it's perfect. This a privact is what I said.

With just then we heard a kind of a intriding sound and we looked at Bert and bare what was he doing but eating candy out of a yellow paper bag looking like chocolate marshmellows, and Sid said, G, here's Bert, how long you been here? I said in a sarp voice. Cood nite look whose here, darn if it aint Bert where you been, Bert? We was just wondering where you was, I said.

I'm all alone and nobody said aint with me and I dont hear a sound and I think I'll turn around and try to find somebody to help me eat this candy, Bert said.

And he turned around and went back with a innocent expression and me and Sid kept on going feeling worse instead of better.

Proving you can't keep a good secret private property.

Ten Year Old Boy Carried by Wind 400 Yards to Death

Cornwall, Ont., Aug. 3 (CP)—Farmers and villagers of Eastern Ontario today were assessing the wreckage left in the wake of a cyclone which cut a swath through this section of the country. One 10-year-old boy, Dalton Palmer, was killed at Newington Village.

The lad, as he sought to escape the destruction in his barn, was lifted 100 feet in the air and hurled to the ground 400 yards away. He lived half an hour after neighbors reached him.

Capricious in its progress the cyclone lifted huge buildings and smashed them to the ground but left the interiors of some untouched. Its path was marked with wrecked barns, uprooted trees and flattened crops.

In Charlottenburg and Cornwall Township scores of farmers were left practically destitute. On the edges of the cyclone their lands were subjected to thrashing winds and hailstorms. Corn and grain nearly ripe for harvest were beaten to the ground. At Toytown, nearly five miles from here, the trees of centuries-old trees surrounding the home of Miss Loney was reduced to a tangled, uprooted mass.

Steel Hydro-Electric towers near Alexandria were wrecked.

FISH DINNER HELD AT FLAKE'S COVE

Afternoon Regatta is Feature of Annual Cherry Valley Event

Picton, Aug. 3—One hundred were served at the second annual fish dinner given by the ladies of Cherry Valley Church at Flake's Cove there Wednesday afternoon. Long tables were laid beneath the trees and the large crowd served in a most efficient manner. A large number also stayed to enjoy the sports.

Due to a strong wind, Regt Lake was too rough for the early afternoon, but beginning at five o'clock the regatta sponsored by the Prince Edward Power Boat Association was held. Bathing proved popular for both young and old.

Much credit is due the Cherry Valley Ladies' Aid for the splendid manner in which the event was staged. Mrs. Manly Flake is the president.

In the race for Sea Pups, Donna Mae's driven by Ruth Woodcock was third in the first heat but won the next two. Arnold Platt took second place with Bessie Mae's pup in the first heat and second in the next two. Merold Bullard's Wimpy was not up to its usual standard and won a second and two thirds.

In the 15 ft class, Keith Gilmore's Arlene was in first place by taking two heats and third in another. Frank Harris drove the Flame to second place, winning one heat and second in two. R. M. Young's Mae West was third.

F. L. Ward won the free-for-all in two heats, second place to Ruff Cooper, third to Frank Harris, fourth to A. M. Young.

Billy Pope, Picton, won the men's open swimming race.

Trophies and prizes were awarded by E. M. Young, Commodore of the Prince Edward Power Boat Association.

The ladies of Cherry Valley realized $300 from the venture.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Night Alarm"

"Red The Fox"

Thrills and Laughter in Double Bill Now at the Capitol

Taking a decided turn of opinion on the merits of the two features that are now being shown at the Capitol it is difficult to determine just which offers the more entertainment.

If you want thrills and melodrama, then of course you will prefer "Night Alarm"—a gripping and tensely dramatic story of the forces of a conflagration and the gallantry and heroism that is displayed by the fire-fighters of the modern city.

In "Night Alarm," Bruce Cabot takes on the role of a reporter to cover all fires, and, in so doing unearths a group of heartless men who practically commit arson in order to retain their grip on the business done by the city. In his relentless war on the unscrupulous men he falls in love with the daughter of the man who is at the head of the arson ring. His ingenuity in bringing about their apprehension is directly responsible for him getting the love and complete vindication for his father-in-law.

H. B. Warner, Judith Allen and Sean Hardy assume the more prominent roles.

For real hearty laughs and gulfaws there's like hilarious comedy from the pen of Damon Runyon, the called "Red The Fox". It contains a cast that are sure-fire fun makers and with Patricia Ellis, a charming and capable young actress assuming the sponsorship of four tough mugs such as Warren Hymer, George Stone, Andy Devine and William Frawly, it is a positive riot. Their inability to cope with the strong-headedness of the young lady leads to many comical situations.

Besides these two carefree, feature there is also the Fox Movietone Newsreel that brings you the latest topical events of the world.

Beginning next Monday the Capital will start their evening performances at 7.00 p.m. instead of the usual 7.30. Two features, "People's Enemy" and "It Happened in New York" are the features.

AT THE BELLE

"Broadway Gondolier"

Dick Powell and Joan Blondell in Novel New Musical Comedy

"Broadway Gondolier", Warner Bros., sensational new musical comedy which reunited the popular stars of "Gold Diggers of 1933", Dick Powell and Joan Blondell, will be shown locally at the Belle Theatre for the first time on tomorrow (Saturday) and Monday, matinee and evening.

The picture heralded as one of the most humorous, as well as romantic productions of the year, is based on a story by Sig Herzig, F. Hartburg and Hans Kraly.

In the all star cast besides Dick Powell and Joan Blondell, are Adolphe Menjou, Louise Fazenda, William Gargan, George Barbier and Grant Mitchell.

The story concerns the romance of a New York taxicab driver, who aspires to be a singer, and the secretary of a broadcasting concern, who falls in love with him and arranges an audition.

A series of mix-ups prevents his appearance, and his teacher, a former singer and impoverished aristocrat, sings for him. But his voice has gone sour and the taxi driver loses out. It is not until he goes to Venice that he makes good, first as a singing gondolier, and later in opera. He returns to New York and success in one of the most unusual climaxes imaginable.

Dick Powell, in the role of the singing gondolier renders songs in the production. Joan Blondell, as the secretary to the radio magnate, has a comedy song in the picture.

Adolphe Menjou has the role of Dick's employer, and the latter said to be the best dressed-man of the movies appears in the most clothes he has ever worn.

Louise Fazenda has a stunning comedy role and Grant Mitchell is the radio manager.

There are many novelty features in the picture. One is a complete broadcasting station in which Powell, Blondell and Menjou sing. The Four Mills Brothers also do their act and Teg Fio Rito and his famous orchestra play.

The Canova Family also appear in the radio station.

The music and lyrics for the six original songs for the picture, were written by Al Dubin and Harr Warren. Dick Powell sings three of the numbers "Outside of You", "Lonely Gondolier" and "A Rose in Her Hair". "The Goo and the Pig and the Duck", a diddle comedy number with facial sound effects sung by Joan Blondell and Dick Powell.

Sam Coslow sings the theme song of "Pagliacci" and Cheree Hour". "You Can Be Kissed" is an orchestra number, sung by the "Three Debutantes" with Muzzy Marcellino. Cecil's in Town" and "Sweet and Lucy Brown" are arranged for the Mills Bros. Latest news of the World and Teg Fio Rito and his famous orchestra play.

Policies Stated in 1933 Still Liberal Platform Says Mr. King Over Air

Fourteen Planks Laid Down For Guidance if Elected

NO PROMISES

Lower Tariffs, Wider Markets, Balanced Budget, Chief Aim

OTTAWA, Aug. 3.—(CP)— The policy of the Liberal Party was put before the Canadian people of Canada today in the form of a 14-point platform set out by Liberal Leader Mackenzie King in his nation-wide broadcast speech last night. It consisted in declarations of principle rather than promises of results and was the policy propounded in the House of Commons by Mr. King in 1933.

Lower tariffs, wider markets, strict adherence to principles of responsible government, distribution of wealth with greater regard for needs and social justice, freedom of speech and assembly, a balanced budget, maintenance of the integrity of the Canadian National Railways, a National Central Bank and democratization of industry were among the chief headings.

No armful of promises would be offered by the Liberal party to the voters, said Mr. King. They were tired of promises and only wanted to know, where parties stood on the great problems of the day. Voters should judge the promises of the coming election in the light of the failure of Prime Minister Bennett to fulfill his promises of 1930, said the Liberal leader.

Power Alone Not Enough

The lesson of the past five years, said Mr. King, was that power alone would not enable one man to fulfill extravagant promises. Mr. Bennett had had ample power and better the House of Commons nor the Senate had ever turned down one of his proposed measures. His failure was due, to faulty policies and no government on earth could have carried out his promises.

The Liberal policy was not the idea of one man, said Mr. King. It represented the consensus of the Liberal party and of the organizations in all parts of Canada. It was founded in effort because it had a great party and public opinion behind it. It was unlike Mr. Bennett's new deal which was launched without consultation with the party, a party, members of parliament or even members of the cabinet.

The Reconstruction Party policy was a one-man creation, declared Mr. King. Hoo, H. H. Stevens had refused to form part with it and announced his policy after spending a few days with advisers during which time a supposed political platform he could find.

Assist Primary Industry

The Liberal party stood for the assistance of primary industry and lowering costs of production and marketing, declared Mr. King. It was not opposed to reasonable state regulation in the marketing of agricultural products, as was proven in the Marketing Act to remove its objectionable features, such as the arbitrary powers to restrict trade and production placed in the hands of the Marketing Board.

Since the Liberal policy had been propounded in 1933 it had been endorsed by nine constituencies which had elected Liberal candidates in federal by-elections. It had been endorsed by Liberal victories in eight provincial general elections in which federal issues had been the chief question, Mr. King said. It was the minimum of unified effort in which the party was pledged and he saw no reason why individuals with advanced party members might assure the people the support proposed as their wisdom was approved by the the party as a whole.

Liberals United

The Liberal Party, said Mr. King, was a party with a policy, endorsed by all its members and constituting a sound basis for the reconstruction of the national life of our country. It was the only party, rejoicing that, in the face of the most severe and prolonged economic depression the world has known, Canadian Liberalism stands today on the threshold of its greatest opportunity.

Pledging his party restore the supremacy of parliament and responsible government, Mr. King said a Liberal administration would abolish legislation giving the government power to make regulations by order in council for peace, order and good government.

Under the guise of emergency measures the Bennett government had carried out a deliberate policy directed at accustoming the public mind to the framework of the Fascist state," Canadians had had enough of one-man government.

In his next radio talk, Monday night, Mr. King said, he would deal in greater detail with "Canada's most important national problem," unemployment.

No Dictators Wanted

The Liberal Party's platform was issued Aug. 16, 1933, two and a half years ago. Mr. King emphasized it was not all-conclusive but "viewed broadly" was the policy he thinks that the policies set forth constitute a sound basis for the reconstruction of the national life of our Dominion today.

Stalin, Mussolini and Hitler were dictators "but do we want that?" asked Mr. King. "I think not and I will it succeed in this country? Never! Neither in Italy, in Germany, in Russia, it has all been brought about by the destruction of liberty but at the price of political freedom. It means," said Mr. King, "the end of parliament and responsible government, of government by Parliament and of government by the people."

The Liberal Party is opposed to State socialism as a fundamental measure of State control in the marketing of natural products, declared Mr. King. It is opposed to the Marketing Act as providing wrong lines for the Governor-in-Council, apart from Parliament altogether, power to restrict imports and exports and to local grogue, not representative of the legislative body, power apart from the supervisal of parliament, to make biding regulations and to create fines and penalties."

WEATHER

Toronto, Aug. 3 (CP)—Showers have occurred in many parts of the Western Provinces and in the Lakes and River District, also Southwestern Ontario and locally in the Maritime Provinces. Comparatively fair weather prevails over the Dominion.

Northern Ontario: Partly cloudy with showery or a little higher temperature.

Lake Superior: Moderate winds; mostly cloudy with some showers, chiefly in west portion.

Ottawa and Rainy River: Unsettled with occasional showers.

Manitoba: Partly cloudy with showers in some districts; not much change in temperature.

Saskatchewan and Alberta: Partly cloudy with scattered showers; stationary or a little higher temperature.

14 Planks In Platform

The 14 points of the Federal Liberal platform, enunciated by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King last night, are:—

1. A representative national commission to administer unemployment relief and provide work and a national system of unemployment insurance;

2. Reciprocal trade agreements with other countries, removal of extravagant increases in tariff, abolition of all unwarranted extra imposts on imports such as exchange and dumping duties and a substantial British preference,

3. Promotion of internal trade by a national price control and agreements in restraint of trade;

4. Development of primary industries by reducing costs of production and obtaining wider markets;

5. Rational control of credit through a national central bank;

6. Protection of investors by an investment control board;

7. Maintenance of the Canadian National Railways as a publicly-owned and publicly-controlled service;

8. Democratization of industry through granting workers and consumers a larger share in control;

9. Restoration of responsible government by doing away with "blanket closure legislation";

10. Free speech, free association and repeal of Section 98 of the Criminal Code;

11. Old-age pensions;

12. A balanced budget through reduction of unnecessary expenditure, reducing interest rates, reducing taxes and increasing revenue by encouraging trade;

13. Peace and good will in international relations;

14. A more equitable distribution of wealth with greater regard for human needs, for social justice and the promotion of the common good.

Believed 'Hexed' Admits Shooting To End Witchcraft

Cleveland, Aug. 3.—(AP)— For Samuel and Matilda Waldman years of worry over an obsession they were being "hexed" by Mrs. Isadore Cooper were at end today. Mrs. Cooper with two bullet wounds in her body was dead. The Waldmans' were in jail.

Police, holding the 46-year-old Mrs. Waldman on a charge of murder, said she admitted she fired the shots to end the spell of witchcraft, which she and her husband believed Mrs. Cooper held over them.

Waldman was held for examination of his mentality. He was in the office of Police Prosecutor William Schneider at the time of the slaying yesterday, protesting to the prosecutor and Cooper, that Cooper's wife was practicing "black Magic and Black Magic" against him and his wife.

Waldman told the official "at night balls of flaming fire would come rolling into our house, strike us on the legs and roll up our chests and heads." He exhibited scars which he said were caused by the "balls of fire".

Mrs. Cooper 50, was shot while at work in the family grocery store. Yesterday held Mrs. Waldman until detectives arrived.

Tells of Slaying

"At two p.m. I lay down on the bed and some power told me I was in great danger so I got my husband's gun and went to the Cooper store," Mrs. Waldman said.

"I'm Waldman's wife," I told Mrs. Cooper.

"Oh, yes, you're the wife of the fellow who thinks I've put the witch on him," said Mrs. Waldman said Mrs. Cooper replied.

Mrs. Waldman said she then fired as Mrs. Cooper came toward her.

"I feel better now," Police Sergeant Stephen Tosser said Mrs. Waldman added at the end of her story. "I'm unburdened."

Tosser said Mrs. Waldman earlier had attempted unsuccessfully to get Mrs. Cooper to sign a note "releasing" the Waldmans from witchcraft.

ACROSS-THE-POLE FLIGHT STARTED BY SOVIET FLIERS

Reach Pole in 30 Hours From Take-off Base at Moscow

6,250-MILE JOURNEY

Part of Flight Will Be Across Miles of Ice Wastes

(Copyright 1935 by the Asso. Press)

Moscow, Aug. 3 — The Soviet trans-polar plane, carrying three daring airmen on a non-stop flight across the roof of the world toward San Francisco, headed out across the Barents Sea at 2.25 p.m.

Roaring over open water on their daring across-the-pole to America route, the Soviet Arctic fliers reported at 12:06 p.m., Moscow time (6.04 a.m. E.S.T.) they had started their trip over the landlocked White Sea.

At the rate Pilot Sigmund Levanefsky and his two companions had flown since leaving Shodinkfsky military airport, 620 a.m. (Moscow Time) they were expected to reach the Barents Sea ahead of the previous calculation of four p.m.

The red-winged monoplane bound from here to San Francisco via northwestern Canada made the difficult take-off this morning at day-light.

The craft—piloted by Sigmund Levanefsky, Great War veteran, accompanied by George Philipovich Baldzhef and Victor Lyuchonkin—has kept in constant touch with Moscow.

Drizzling rain splashed down on the concrete runway of the army air field near the village of Shodkovo, 35 miles southeast of here at 6.03 a.m. (12.03 a.m. E.S.T.) today as the heavily-laden craft thundered down the runway and roared off into the clouds on its projected 6,250 mile journey.

The flight will take the Soviet airmen across approximately 1,800 miles of ice wastes into which so many Soviet aerial explorers, including Roald Amundsen and the balloonists Nikolayev and Usyskin, have disappeared never to return alive.

To succeed they will also have to conquer 1,000 miles of sea and ice before striking a huge expanse of barren territory in Canada's Northwest Territories.

Lieutenant Levanefsky planned to fly low to the Barents Sea, ascend gradually to perhaps 8,500 feet and sweep low over the North Pole if the absence of clouds permits. The fliers expect to spend two hours on the top to 30 hours.

Flying conditions were reported good along the route.

Leningrad, Aug. 3—Reporting words cheered the throng: "A good take-off with an 11-ton machine (11 tons loaded) constitutes at least 50 per cent. success," the pilot said.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 3.—(CP)— The man wasn't so much to look at and police said he was "very drunk" when he brought in the police station.

The man's dog was shaggy and bob tailed but he followed the man to jail and into a cell. Yesterday he followed the man into court and then to the police patrol wagon for a trip to the county jail and a two-day sentence.

British Charged With Backing Down; Ethiopia Claims It is Dupe of Nations

London, Aug. 3 (CP Havas)—Reports received today from Addis Ababa indicated Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia would confer soon in France to consider possibilities of a peaceful settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

The Emperor awaits only the advancement of such a proposal, it was added, but he such suggestion has been received from Geneva otherwise Ethiopia would have taken the initiative.

Britain, France, Italy Agree Neutral to Join Arbitration Parleys

Broad Political Settlement at Early Date Forecast

3-POINT AGREEMENT

Italian Press Very Bitter at Action of Great Britain

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY

Addis Ababa, Aug. 3 (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie announced this afternoon, "I have instructed my delegation to Geneva to accept the League plan which is designed to settle the quarrel with Italy.

Geneva, Aug. 3 (AP)—Italy's dispute with Ethiopia was headed for arbitration again today with all signs indicating the controversy would be in the lap of the League of Nations Council a month from now.

The agreement by the powers does not touch the merits of the dispute itself, it must be emphasized. It merely deals with procedure for diplomatic negotiations before the thick issue is placed squarely up to the League.

With adoption of a three-point agreement by France, Italy and Great Britain calling for resumption of arbitration proceedings, Anthony Eden, Britain's Minister for League of Nations affairs, explained the dispute will be up for review by the League Council next month.

"We insisted upon, and achieved, the understanding," Eden said in discussing the agreement, "that whatever happens the League Council will meet again Sept. 4 to examine the entire Italo-Ethiopian conflict."

If the controversy is settled beforehand under the plan of arbitration laid down by the three powers last night that will be "well and good," Eden said, but whatever the impending parley succeeds or collapses, the League Council will consider the situation when it meets, he shall be done.

The three points agreed upon by the powers are:

1. Resumption of arbitration by setting in action peace machinery of the Italo-Ethiopian friendship treaty of 1928, a Dutch, neutral member will be added to the conciliation commission.

2. Britain, France and Italy will confer soon in France to consider possibilities of a peaceful settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

3. The League of Nations Council will consider the entire subject Sept. 4.

Stand of Ethiopia.

A public session of the council will open in Geneva tonight, delayed to permit the Ethiopian delegation time to transmit the text of Premier Mussolini's address to Addis Ababa and receive Emperor Haile Selassie's reply.

Premier Mussolini although willing to accept the Sept. 4 discussion of the situation considers the satisfaction of the usual clash nevertheless strove to avoid a break for the League's survey of the conflict as a whole. In this he failed.

Italian Press Bitter

Rome, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Italian press renewed its bitter attack on Britain today declaring that Anthony Eden's proposals for the Anglo-Franco-Italian conferences to consider the

SEEK HIS SLAYER

DR. WALTER J. BAUER.

Police hunted a man tentatively identified as Manville Zenka after Dr. Walter J. Bauer, 45, Cleveland osteopath, died in Chicago from the effects of a mutilation operation conducted at the point of a gun near Chicago. One police theory was that the slayer was a jealous rival. Dr. Bauer had been married only a few weeks ago to a Miss Louise Schaefer, whom he met at Kirksville, Mo., where he had been teaching.

broad aspects of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo Romano, condemned Sir Samuel Hoare in an editorial. Commenting on Sir Samuel's remark to the British House of Commons the Italo-Ethiopian trouble provided the world with a grave crisis the paper said, "this course is against logic and justice."

"After Hoare's discourse," said Il Messaggero, "Italy will pursue its course without frustration, appealing again to justice in its civilizing mission of the race."

Meanwhile military circles discussed with exhilaration reports fitty of Italy's most modern bombing planes may take off for East Africa in September. Such a flight, aside from involving twice as many planes as were in General Italo Balbo's squadron to North America, would mean an airline distance of 1,200 miles, outdistancing the longest hop of the Balbo expedition.

TO TOUR MARITIMES

Toronto, Aug. 3—(CP)— Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction Party leader, will tour four of the Maritime Provinces almost immediately after returning from his western trip, it was announced here, today by Warren C. Cook, the party's national chairman. No date has yet been set for Mr. Stevens' arrival, but he plans to starting his eastern speaking campaign.

City and District News

NUMBER PLACED IN THIS DISTRICT

When the mail doesn't come in the job the job must come to the man, believes Superintendent James H. Rose of the local Dominion Bureau of Statistics office. Today the total representative of labor was engaged in making a census of farmers on their local farms inquiring regarding the prospects of placing men, who have already registered at the local office on farms.

During the past week a considerable number of men have been placed positions by the office. Seven were placed on Friday alone, it was stated by Mr. Rose.

NO OFFERINGS OF SEASON'S GRAIN

Although early threshing, the earliest in years, is being carried on in the immediate district, so far no offerings of this season's grain have been made. It was reported today by local grain and feed dealers. It is expected that newly-threshed barley this year will sell readily at an average price of 40 cents per bushel. Swift growth this year, which has resulted in heavier yields, may result in slightly lower grade grain, pointed out one spokesman.

BASS COME IN FROM DEEP WATER

Bass are coming in from deeper water with the advent of cooler weather and are biting readily in the Bay of Quinte at almost anytime, it was offered it was reported today by Guide Jos. Gower. Almost any angler is catching his limit of six without difficulty, it was added.

OFFICE HOURS ON CIVIC HOLIDAY

Monday being "Civic Holiday" the following hours will be observed at the Post Office. The public lobby will be open from 8.30 a.m. to 5.00 p.m. and the General Delivery, Registration and Postage Stamp wickets from 8.30 a.m. to 10.00 a.m. The Money Order and Savings Bank wickets will remain open from 8.00 a.m. to 12.30 p.m. There will be a normal delivery by letter carriers, while morning and evening collection of mail will be made. All mail posted at the office up to 12 o'clock noon will be dispatched the same day.

Young People To Visit Former Pastor

Fifty members of the Y.P.S. of Zion's United Church, Kingston, will visit with Rev. S. J. and Mrs. Wight at their home 186 William street in this city on Monday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Wight is a former pastor of the church. The afternoon will be spent in games with a picnic lunch to end the affair. The Junior Delivery Softball team will play the C.D.S. in the evening.

SCAFFOLDING NEAR COMPLETION AT HALL

Wooden scaffolding towering up the height of the city hall building proved an attraction for outside visitors today who clustered on the street below to watch the work being carried on. By noon today the heavy timbers reached almost as far as the clock face. With the completion of the scaffolding next week, the final work on the lighting and reconstruction of the outside building and tower will commence.

LUMBER INDUSTRY IS MUCH BETTER

Back from a business trip to Toronto this week ex-Steve W. Ellsworth, M.P., Grey, Ont., one of the best-known lumber operators in the northern district reports business better in the lumber industry over that of one year ago. A survey of conditions reveals an improvement in all lines, particularly in pulp wood which is reported in fairly heavy demand.

COE HILL VISITED BY WIND STORM

Coe Hill and district residents this week are taking stock this week of ruined gardens and grain fields mowed and cut in many sections as if with a giant scythe following a disastrous hail and wind storm which swept that vicinity on Saturday afternoon. The hail, which was accompanied by flashing lightning and rumbling peals of thunder was one of the largest yet seen by older residents of that district. Twisting in cyclonic fury, the wind storm followed a well defined narrow course, leveling crops in the fields as it swept along to the east.

NEW HYDRANTS ARE INSTALLED

Extension of hydrant service in the city was completed this week with the installation of four new hydrants, bringing the total up to seventy-seven. One has been placed on the old Canning Factory, one on William Street near the bowling green, a third at the end of Bleecker Ave. and a fourth near the corner of West Motra and Sidney Streets.

MANY TOURISTS AT EAGLE LAKE

With tourists from Toronto, Belleville, Hamilton and other sections of Ontario and Que., Eagle Lake is already registered there taking up every available bit of accommodation in the vicinity of Coe Hill been as the surround by tourists and fishermen. The present season, report regular campers there. Prize catches of lunge, bass and other fish are being caught daily, it was stated. Preparations are being made for a field Cross field day which is to be held there in August.

EXPECT PUMPER IN TWO WEEKS

It is believed by members of the local fire department that the new recently purchased fire pumper now being assembled at the factory in Woodstock will not be delivered in the city for about two weeks yet. The machine when it arrives is expected to be quartered in No. 1 Firehall.

FIREMEN HOLD ANNUAL TAG DAY

Firemen, assisted by willing little helpers were posted in the downtown section of the city today collecting donations on their annual tag day. Donations which were reported to be coming in fair will be used by member of the department for their Christmas Fund. Yearly at Christmas time scores of baskets are distributed through the donation of baskets and needed foodstuffs to needy city homes.

RESURFACE ROAD NEAR SHANICK

Marmora, Madoc Lake municipal rock crusher was moved this week to Shanick where a section of road leads to the lake is being dealt with and rock. The township will be assisted in the work through a grant which has been given by the Department of Northern Development.

TRENTON MESSAGE FOUND IN TORONTO

Martin Donaldson, Trenton, was not shipwrecked, but he sent a message to an unknown address in a bottle anyhow, and thus proved that currents in the Bay of Quinte and Lake Ontario swirl from east to west, contrary to general belief.

Last April 5, Donaldson inserted a message written on the letter-head of a Trenton store in which he works, asking the finder to please reply. He sealed the note in a bottle and tossed the container in the Trent River. The week he received an answer by letter from William Morrison, Toronto, who picked the bottle up on the lake front near that city.

PERCY HANNA OF BEWDLEY, DROWNS

Friends of Mrs. Jack Orrill formerly of this city, will regret to learn of the death by drowning of her brother, Percy Hanna of Bewdley, on Monday evening. Mr. Hanna was drowned off Pine-Oak Point in Rice Lake when he dived from his motorboat with others of a party of eight on a visit from Bewdley. The body was recovered on Thursday morning after a lengthy search.

RAPIDS QUEEN CALLS AT LOCAL DOCK

With a full complement of passengers enjoying the weeks' cruise through the Thousand Islands, the large passenger boat, Rapids Queen arrived in port for a brief stop over late yesterday afternoon. The boat continued on its way west to Toronto after leaving the government dock. An attempt to make a schedule of regular calls for passengers at Belleville during the remainder of the season is being made.

FIRE CHIEF LYNCH RETURNS TO DUTY

Following a two weeks' vacation during which time he visited many sections of the eastern part of the Province and the United States, Fire Chief Wm. Lynch returned to the city and his duties today. The motor trip which was unmarred by any accident, enabled the genial local chief to contact many fire department heads at border points in the United States and Ontario.

CITY CLERK STAFF BACK IN OFFICE

Business at the old stand had a literal meaning today at the city hall. Following thorough remodelling operations that week in the office of the city clerk which has given the department a brand new appearance, the city clerk and staff have once their temporary quarters and have again taken up their routine in the newly decorated office.

FIVE FEET WATER COVERS RAILWAYS

STREUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad reported today flood waters four to five feet deep covered its tracks in several places near here following a rainstorm of cloudburst proportions.

The Police Department said the high waters came from overflowing creeks and rivers. Many homes in west carried away by the flood in some of the low-lying sections.

Heavy thunderstorms hit many other parts of the State during the night and at Cleveland an unidentified fisherman drowned when his boat capsized on Lake Erie.

$1,000 Monthly Expenses to Maintain Dafoe Hospital

Quints Have $45,000 Cash, Bonds and Contracts For $50,000

By A. K. FULFORD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Callandar, Ont., Aug. 3.—(CP)—Through their kindly physician Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the Dionne quintuplets today gave a message to the world. They said:

"Thanks for all your help, and we want you to know we are now self-supporting. We say this because so many persons and organizations helped us, when we were not able to take care of ourselves. Now we are making enough money to meet our needs and allow us to save some. We thought you would like to know."

After relaying that from his beloved wards, Dr. Dafoe sat back in his rocker chair on his front lawn and elaborated on the "quints" statement.

The girl babies of Olivs and Elzire Dionne, Pa. are not nearly so wealthy as many persons believe. They have $45,000 in bonds and cash, and contracts now in force probably will bring them another $60,000.

Their fortune has been estimated as $200,000, but if they have it the babies are holding out on the public eye. In their 5 years of life the youngsters have spent a lot of their own money. How much, the doctor declined to say.

Red Cross Helped

The Canadian Red Cross paid for the nurses for a year and, with the Canadian government, helped out in various ways. In the past four months the babies have paid all their own expenses—and expenses of quintuplets are large.

No figures were ever been given out, but salaries of the doctor and nurses probably total $600 a month. Other salaries, for an orderly two maids and two guards, take perhaps $200 more. That total of $700 does not include upkeep of the hospital, which must be large as all the staff but the doctor have their meals there. Everything from the bed and drink is of the best and their food bill reaches a tidy sum.

In addition there are many extras which all go to make $1,000 a conservative estimate of the babies' monthly expenditure.

One of their chief assets to their income, valued at $200,000, is the Dafoe hospital that was opened a year ago was worth $6,000 but it did not cost Yvonne, Annette, Emilie, Cecile and Marie that because some of the materials were contributed. Since it was built a new and a summer nursery have been added, making it a 15-room building with three baths.

Isolation Ward Added.

A new wing in the rear houses the guards, and the other wing, at the front of the main building, is an isolation ward of two rooms and a bath. If one of the "quints" shows so much as a sniffle she will be rushed immediately from her sisters to a private ward in this wing. Dr. Dafoe believes this essential to prevent spread of infection among the youngsters.

The summer nursery is an addition to the front of the building and opens off the old nursery. There is a wide door between the new and old nurseries permitting wheeling the babies' beds into the cooler room on warm nights. All additions to the hospital have been designed to conform to the original log cabin style and they are not noticeable as additions.

The babies' $45,000 in bonds and cash has come from endorsations of various products they use—milk, tomato juice and the like—and motion pictures and newspaper photograph contracts.

The quintuplets probably will have much greater fortune eventually, for interest in them has never lagged and as long as their public is faithful contracts will bring in money.

JOHN HART

Madoc (Special)—On Thursday after a lingering illness of some months, Mr. John Hart, an old respected resident, passed away at the home of his son, Mr. Jack Hart. The late Mr. Hart was eighty-two years of age and has spent many years in Madoc village, at one time operating a pump factory along with his brother, Mr. Charles Hart. His wife predeceased him a number of years ago. In religion he was an Anglican and in politics a staunch Conservative, being the issuer of „Hunting and Fishing Licenses for this district up till last year. The funeral of the late Mr. Hart will be held on Saturday afternoon. Interment at Lakeview cemetery.

POLICE BLOTTER

Who steals my purse steals trash—but, he who steals gasoline from a widow—well, such a person has undoubtedly sunk to the lowest depths.

The day's meanest thief was discovered north of Belleville yesterday, when a motorist drove into a Rezin gasoline station and requesting the woman operator, a widow, to "fill her up", also the motorist ordered oil and other accessories and upon receiving careful attention from the kindly woman attendant, suddenly started his car and drove off in a cloud of dust, leaving the unfortunate woman holding the bill known here.

The Provincial Police were notified and immediately set out in pursuit, but unfortunately the thieving motorist had gained sufficient time to make a successful get away. To make matters worse the kind hearted woman attendant failed to get the licence plate number of the automobile, although she has a vivid description of the driver for the authorities.

No arrests were necessary in Belleville during the past week-end, Magistrate R. J. Butler, K. C. presiding at Kingston and Napanee today. Four lonely transients occupied the cell block at the police station last night.

Nelson Paquette, Wallbridge Dies After Arriving at Hospital

Nelson Paquette, Wallbridge, who sustained a punctured lung and fractured ribs and internal injuries in the Craig Bay Mine near Madoc on Friday morning, succumbed to those injuries shortly before midnight on Saturday evening. Dr. S. G. Wallbridge, Coroner for this district investigated and conferred with B. C. Donnan, K.C., Crown Attorney, respecting an inquest. After decision was made to hold an enquiry, a Coroner's jury was empanelled at Madoc under Dr. S. Sagleson, Coroner for that district, today and after preliminary evidence was given the hearing was adjourned until August 8th.

The deceased had been employed at the mine for some time and was considered a capable man about his duties in some way slipped and fell down the 50-foot shaft. Carried to the surface, he was given first aid and rushed to Belleville General Hospital, where he was attended by Dr. G. H. Stobbs, but was unable to rally from his injuries. The late Mr. Paquette leaves a wife and family at Wallbridge. The body was released for burial today and taken to Madoc for interment.

King Announces Platform In Second Radio Address

Ottawa, Aug. 3—Herewith is given, on the text of the second radio address by the Hon. Mr. King, who is to handle King, Leader of the Liberal party in the forthcoming elections.

"The Liberal Party does not stand before the electorate in this campaign with an armful of promises, nor upon a platform of assurances, constructed expressly for the purpose of a campaign election. It believes the public is heartily sick of that kind of thing. What the people want to know is where a party stands with reference to the all-important problems of the day, what its policies are, what the principles are which underlie these policies, and what grounds there are for believing that, if returned to power, a party will be able to carry out its policies.

"I should like, with respect to the Liberal Party, to deal with the last of these points first; namely, the reasons why the Liberal Party believes that, if returned to power, it will be able to give effect to its several policies. Some of these are four different parties, each appealing for the right to govern, stakes its important that, before entering upon the campaign, each one should be fully satisfied that the one of your choice is not only willing but is in a position to carry out what it professes to do.

Bennett's Failure Obvious

"The mere assumption of office by a political party is no guarantee that its policies will be put into effect. That has been unmistakably demonstrated during the past five years. Mr. Bennett made promises galore, and was more than emphatic about every one of them. He would end unemployment. He would abolish doles. He would that his way through the valley of the world. Has he accomplished any one of these things? No one, I am certainly cannot argue that he has not had sufficient majority behind him in the Commons, and has had a majority in the Senate which has standing by. His failure, then, is obviously due to the fact that his policies were at fault, and not the government. He could have carried out the promises he made.

"Given power, absolute power, on the part of a political leader is no guarantee that he will do what he will do will be carried out. Even the absence of opposition to widely heralded measures of policy is not a guarantee that, as introduced, or when carried, they will be of any account. Mr. Bennett's so-called 'New Deal' has made all this abundantly clear. Governments may have promises, professions, and platforms in a measure but no political leader can to give effect to important measures and policies. The party, as a whole, must be strongly behind him to back them. Policies and measures must have been hammered into being as the result of much in the way of consideration and conference. They must be settled to the country as a whole. They must from time to time, have been the subject of deliberation, through organizations representative of classes and creeds in all parts of the country, and of its representatives in Parliament; and they must have public opinion behind them.

Dictated to Own Party

"Until Mr. Bennett, without prior consultation with members of the Conservative Party, took it into his own hands to say what the party would do, it was not known that he, as he did so largely in the general election of 1930, and more completely, in his radio broadcasts in January last, no political leader in Canada had ever had the least thought of doing a thing of the kind. Sir John A. Macdonald never did it. Sir Wilfrid Laurier never did it. It has never been done in Great Britain. Or the Continent of Europe it is done, it is true; by Mussolini, in Italy; by Hitler, in Germany; by Stalin, in Russia. The leader in those countries has become everything; everybody else is of little or no account. He must be featured to the exclusion of every one else; political propaganda must give favorable significance to him in every instance; no opinion contrary to his is to be tolerated.

"But do we want that sort of thing in Canada? And will it succeed in that country? Never forget that, in Italy, in Germany, in Russia, it has all been brought about in the name of social freedom, by means the end of self-government, of democratic government, of government by parliament, of government even by a cabinet, I think that perhaps, in Canada, we already have had enough of one-man government.

How Liberals Frame Policies

"As the leader of the Liberal Party, it has not been necessary for me to frame the party's policies. That work has been done by the party itself. Nor have I thought it necessary or proper to draft a supplementary manifesto especially suited to the campaign, and thrust it upon the rank and file of the party, much a course reversed what, until recently, in Canada has been the natural order of things, whereby the party, in association with its leader, and not the leader on his own, determines the policies. In this respect the position of the Liberal Party differs materially from that of the Conservative party under Mr. Bennett, and of the Reconstruction Party under Mr. Stevens. It is in no sense secret that the so-called program of social reform announced by Mr. Bennett in his radio broadcasts at the beginning of the year, and since distributed, as a whole, in printed form, was not the work of representatives of the party assembled in convention, or of a national federation, nor the work of the representatives of the Conservative Party in Parliament, or even of Mr. Bennett's colleagues in the Cabinet, but that it was formulated by Mr. Bennett, himself, with the assistance of one or two intimate associates; neither of them members of the Cabinet, or of Parliament. More than that, it is a fact that, until heard over the radio or read by them in the press, members of Mr. Bennett's own Cabinet, and all of his following in the House of Commons, had little or no knowledge either of his intention to announce such a program or of the nature of its contents. Under conditions of this kind, the will of the Leader so-called, has the consequence, at the risk of dismemberment of the party, of irreparable cleavage in its ranks at the moment of a general election, all and sundry were obliged to fall in line, and to make the best of policies with which many of them had no sympathy whatever, and which none of them had been consulted.

Terms Defined Own Program

"It is any wonder that, when it came to the enactment of the measures that were forecast with such great flourish of trumpets, there was no opportunity of party discussion in the House of Commons? In none of them was at once question, nor in the majority of them was the position done but by members of the Government itself? Is it any wonder that inquiries addressed to Government measures which passed the House of Commons were answered by The Government's own following in the Senate, with no one more active in the eliminating process than Mr. Meighen, the leader of the Senate himself a member of the Government and a former Minister of the Conservative Party? Is it any wonder that the program, as a whole, has not brought out an immediate solution of the pressing problem of unemployment, was, from the beginning and has since been shown to be, a make-believe policy?

Stevens Venture Ludicrous

"And what of Mr. Stevens and his Reconstruction Party? Was there not something ludicrously serious about the announcement, made in a Sunday not four weeks ago, that Mr. Stevens had decided to form a party, that the public would be invited later on to add the name of the party would be, and, still later, what its policies would be? Usually it is the party which chooses the Leader and determines its policies, not the Leader who creates both the party and the policies. For days the country was in a state of suspense as Mr. Stevens, with pencil and pad in hand, was busy going through all the political programs and platforms he could collect, and piecing them together with as many converts from the report of the Royal Commission on Mission and as many platitudes of his own as could be found, in a document that would not be too long for publication. Then, and only then, too, we are told, is being given very careful consideration, by what such name is then that it will carry, in Canada receives a copy, he is going to be any better off.

Liberal Party's Position

"As I speak to you over the radio, I have before me a statement of the Liberal Party's position on these immediate problems. This statement was issued by the National Liberal Federation of Canada two and a half years ago. It sets forth the principles of the Liberal Party as it was authorized to present them by the House of Commons, by every Liberal member in the House, and, indeed, by the unanimous approval, by party caucus of the Liberal members of both Houses of Parliament. I made it clear, when presenting the statement to Parliament, that it was not the policy of the party to be all-inclusive: that there were other matters than those referred to, as for example the party's attitude toward war relations, toward the press and the blind; matters pertaining to health and housing; and also matters where all of which would have to be mentioned if every important question was to be taken into account. I added that, on most of the subjects not referred to in the statement, the party's position did already exist, either as the time of the general elections of 1930, or since, by speeches in Parliament, Although, I am glad to say, I have been overwhelming acceptance at the hands of the Canadian electorate. Since the Ottawa Conference in the summer of 1932 there have been two by-elections in Canada, in all of these the Liberal policies, embodied in this statement, have been fully discussed in relationship to the policies of other parties. How overwhelmingly the electorate has supported our principles and policies, in preference to those either of the Government or of the C.C.F., is apparent from the victories won by Liberal candidates. Out of the ten by-elections distributed over all parts of Canada, nine have been won by the Liberal Party. In particular, the manner in which a Government candidate was declared elected, he was returned, in a three-cornered contest, by a minority vote.

Overwhelming Two Defeat

"In addition to the Federal by-elections, the country has witnessed the overwhelming defeat of every Provincial Conservative Government in Canada, and, thus far, the return to power of Liberal administrations in eight Provinces out of the nine. In all the Provincial elections Mr. Bennett's Government and its policies were more discussed than anything else. So devastating has been the results of the Liberal victories, and proportionately large majorities, that, notwithstanding seven additional vacancies occurred in the House of Commons in the past year the Government by one device or another, succeeded in preventing further contests. For the same reason, I am not able to bring on a general election.

"I shall now read the statement of the policies of the Liberal Party of Canada, as made in the form I have mentioned, and as since published and widely distributed by the National Liberal Federation. It is as follows:

Unemployment of First Concern

"The Liberal Party believes unemployment is Canada's most urgent national problem. It would deal with the present emergency condition through a representative national commission, which would co-operate with the Provincial and municipalities in the administration of unemployment relief and in an endeavor to provide work for the unemployed.

"As a permanent measures the Liberal Party is pledged to introduce policies which will tend to create employment by revising industry tariff, and by the establishment of national system of unemployment insurance.

"For I will recall that it was February 1933, in which the proposed establishment of a national system of unemployment insurance was set forth in the statement from which I am quoting, that the policy itself had been advocated by the Hon. Mr. Rogers in the House of Commons.

Liberalism or External Trade

"The Liberal Party believes that trade is the basis of industrial and commercial development, and that Canada needs increase.

"It will promote trade by with all nations and negotiate trade agreements with any countries willing to deal with Canada on a reciprocal basis.

"It will abolish the extravagant increases in the tariff made by the present Administration, which have had the effect of increasing trade, exploiting consumers and robbing railways of business.

"It will abolish all unwarranted extra taxes on imports, such as the arbitrary and discriminating taxes imposed by the present Administration.

"It will end the making and altering of tariffs by Governmental decree.

"It will substitute stability for uncertainty in the administration of customs laws.

"It will continue the Liberal policy of British preference by a percentage reduction of the existing rates, rather than by a percentage increase against foreign countries in existing tariffs.

"It will grant to British imports a real preference.

"I cannot stress too strongly the importance to the Liberal Party of matches to getting rid of prohibitory tariffs and of removing those which have been strangling Canada's trade. It believes that upon the development and extension of this domestic and foreign trade depends the solution of the greater part of the problems of unemployment, railways, debt and budgets, and the establishment of substantial measures of social reform.

Liberalism or Internal Trade

"The Liberal Party will seek to end artificial price control agreements in restraint of trade, which hinder industrial progress and hampers trade internally. The internal trade of a country should become honeycombed and enmashed by secret understandings and agreements.

"This policy, you will observe, was aimed at the very worst of the bad practices in merchandising and industry which, during the years that later, were publicly disclosed before the Price Spreads and Mass Buying Committee of the House of Commons and the Price Spreads Commission.

Development of Primary Industries

"The Liberal Party, by its policies, will continue to further the development of agriculture, mining, lumbering and fisheries by effecting reductions in the excessive freight rates of Canada's basic products, and by establishing wider markets therefor, by encouraging export trade, and by State assistance in the marketing of natural products.

"This statement should serve effectively to dispel any doubt we persist in saying that, because of its objections to certain economic features of the Marketing Act, the Liberal Party is opposed to State assistance and a wider measure of State control in the marketing of natural products. What the Liberal Party objects to in the Marketing Act are the provisions which give to the Governor-in-Council, apart from Parliament altogether, power to regulate, control and exports, and to local groups not representative of the legislative bodies power, apart from the approval of Parliament in any marketing regulations and to create fines and penalties. As was pointed out in Parliament, Mr. Bennett has, under the provisions of the Marketing Act, taken the conduct of foreign trade away from the control of Parliament and into his own hands. There is objection as well to other arbitrary and bureaucratic powers which the act confers, and to provisions which, under a system of licensing and limiting production, practically chooses wholly at the mercy of those in authority. The party also believes that the compulsory features of the act, as it stands, are calculated to be apt to create opposition in manufacturing, as well as in other branches of industry, and that in this and in other ways the interests of consumers will be seriously prejudiced.

"In a word, the Liberal Party's attitude toward the Marketing Act is similar to that taken toward the Wheat Agreements, namely, that the act in certain of its features is a step in the right direction, but that it is to serve the public interest and welfare, under the guise of assisting agriculture, be made to further the ends of dictatorship, its provisions require very considerable amendment for further consideration, should the Liberal Administration be returned to power.

Control of Credit

"The Liberal Party believes that credit is a public matter, not, of interest to bankers only, but of direct concern to the average citizen. It believes in the immediate establishment of a properly constituted National Central Bank, to perform the functions of rediscount, and the control of currency issue, considered in terms of public need. A central bank is necessary to determine the supply of currency in relation to the domestic, social and industrial requirements of the people; and also to deal with problems arising from international commerce and exchange.

"As a national central bank has been established in Great Britain and Government, since the statement of the Liberal Party was issued, it is not necessary to say here that the Liberal Party is pledged to introduce a bill for the purpose. It is far from being the institution contemplated by the Liberal Party. The Bank of Canada is not a central bank, as one of our leading economists have said, in the true sense. It is a private corporation, with power to control the volume of the country's currency. It is not a bank, to be in Parliament, in protesting against the surrender to the Executive Government of the duty to control the currency, declaring it is democracy is idle and futile." To remove the Bank of Canada from politics has been lost will continue to be a first objective of Liberal effort.

Control of Commodities

"The Liberal Party believes the financial mismanagement of industry is largely responsible for many conditions adverse to the most efficient exploitation of the public through the creation of fictitious and worthless securities; it believes that a Federal Board of Trade should be established, with supervision of issues of securities by companies incorporated under Federal charters.

Safeguarding of National Railways

"The Liberal Party stands for the maintenance and the safeguarding of the Canadian National Railways as a publicly owned and publicly controlled service.

"This statement of policy will, I am sure, be found to be satisfactory to Liberal members of the House of Commons, to Liberal Senators, to citizens of the railways of Canada unconnected with politics, to the electorate of their countenancing, either at the present time or in the next session of Parliament, the introduction of any national government railway policy, such as that of the Conservatives.

Democratization of Industry

"The Liberal Party believes that industrial reconstruction is the problem of the day. It pins its faith in industrial relations as opportunity offers, to give to workers and employees a voice in the government of industry.

Restoration of Responsible Government

"The Liberal Party believes that the present crisis has been made an excuse for the usurpation of the rights of Parliament and the assumption of autocratic powers by the Executive. Liberalism stands, as always, for the principle of a free Parliament, and for the supremacy of Parliament. To this end it would repeal the legislation enacted by the present Administration, which deprives Parliament of its control over expenditure and taxation and invests the Executive with unwarranted arbitrary powers, as for example:

"1. Legislation permitting the Executive to enact measures by Order-in-Council for peace, order and good government, and

"2. Legislation providing the expenditure of large sums by cheque for expenditure of any kind.

"What the Government alleged to be emergency measures to aid in the relief of the unemployed, have turned out to be a method of deliberate policy directed toward socialism. The party stands for the true work of the Fascist State. We cannot too soon once more subject such methods to the control and the light of Parliament. If we are longer to have responsible government in Canada.

Reassertion of Personal Liberty

"The Liberal party believes that, under the excuse of the present crisis, the rights of the individual have been violated. Liberalism stands, as always, for the British principle of habeas corpus and free association, and to this end will repeal Section 98 of the Criminal Code, and end the present practice of arbitrary deportations.

"The Liberal Party will give no quarter to communism in Canada. Those who advocate the overthrow by force, of our existing institutions, and of our system of government should be so regarded. This is no reason, however, why every avenue of redress should not be open to those who have legitimate grievances to bring forward, and autocratic methods are no substitute for British justice.

Electoral Reform

"The Liberal Party stands for electoral reform. It will effect a true Parliamentary representation of the people, and will support such legislation as may help to reduce the cost of election campaigns.

A Balanced Budget

"The Liberal Party believes the time of government in Canada, by a carefully inquiry into Federal, Provincial and Municipal costs.

"The public record of Liberal Administrations in the reduction of expenditures, taxation, debt and interest, and in the establishment of into surpluses, is the best guarantee that Liberal Governments, if given their opportunity, will be able again to achieve these results.

"This statement concludes with the two following all-important declarations of principle:

International Relations

"The Liberal Party will seek to further, wherever possible, those courses in international relations which will promote friendly relations with among nations, and promote the principle of collective security. It will seek to further the work of the League of Nations.

More Equitable Distribution of Wealth

"The Liberal Party recognizes that the problem of distribution is fundamental, and believes that of production, and believes that the former is more important than property. It will devote itself to finding ways and means of securing a more equitable distribution of wealth, with increasing regard to human needs, by the development of social justice, and to the promotion of the common good.

"Such, then, is Monday evening of next week, which will be the last of the series I propose to speak more particularly with Canada's most urgent national problems, namely, unemployment, and the methods which, if returned to power, the Liberal Party will adopt to effect its solution.

"Tonight I propose to be unreserved once and for all, the unwarranted and unworthy charge, so frequently made by political opponents, that the Liberal party has no policy, and the still more ridiculous allegation that there is no difference between the policies of the two great political parties. There is none so blind as those who will not see, and the eyes of many of the politically blind will open wide when the present campaign is at an end and life results at the polls are known."

THE FAMOUS BLACK DIAMOND

PLOW POINTS

We specialize in Plow Points for every make of plow. Through more than fifty years of experimenting we have developed a secret process that makes our plow points as tough and hard that they wear like steel. They do about three times the ploughing of the common cast iron plow points and will not break like the latter. No blacksmith is near. Therefore, a great deal cheaper; actually less than half the price seeing, by actual test, they wear over and over frequently three or any other point. With us the making of Plow Points is the one specialty. We put our best brain and thought experience into it. More hardware dealers are handling our points each year. They are a standard, quick seller. Don't accept cheap imitations.

PRESENCE OF MIND

No better proof of the blessing of ability to swim and no finer endorsation of the learn-to-swim campaign being carried on by the Y.M.C.A. and by the athletic authorities of Ontario under the endorsation of the Ontario Government need be sought than the rescue on Friday afternoon of four-year-old Mildred Taylor, who as a baby might, walked down to the water on the bay shore, waded in and would have been drowned but for the presence of mind of three boys, Jack Dell, 11, Frank Boyle, 10, and Joseph Adams, 10, who, seeing the girl's plight, effected her rescue.

Had these boys been unable to swim there is only one result which could have followed, the loss of a precious little life. But, able to swim, the boys prevented a tragedy and saved to her family the tender child.

Joseph Adams and Jack Dell must be complimented on the common sense they used in going to and effecting the rescue. They used common sense of which many adults might be proud. Their companion, Frank Boyle, is likewise to be complimented on his part in the rescue in consenting to stay with the boat and bring it ashore.

CLASS 'B' FAIR

Belleville Fair this year enters its first exhibition as a Class B. institution. The results are expected to show them in greatly increased attendance and in quality and total exhibits.

Very heavy work on this year's exhibition has been put into operation and will be put through during the remaining few weeks before the annual show.

It is the duty of all Belleville district residents to keep in mind this district fair so that they may help in its efforts towards the development of this portion of the province agriculturally and in other ways.

WHEN THE JOB GETS THE MAN

Hamilton Spectator does not believe with Charles F. Kettering that the right kind of man to be is the man whom the job gets and holds so fast that no matter wherever he goes the job is there with him. The Spectator thinks Mr. Kettering is referring to a super-robot type of man. However, here is what Mr. Kettering, a noted motor research director, says:

"I often tell my people that I don't want any fellow who has a job working for me; what I want is a fellow whom a job has. I want the job to get the fellow and not the fellow to get the job. And I want that job to get hold of this young man so hard that no matter where he is the job has got him for keeps. I want that job to have him in its clutches when he goes to bed at night, and in the morning I want that same job to be sitting on the foot of his bed telling him to get up and go to work. And when a job gets a fellow that way he'll amount to something."

No one likes to meet the man who is forever talking shop and his wares. This type of man is often the butt of the comedian's laughter and the irritation of his audience. The Spectator thinks is this—that the job should not dominate the man. There are indeed times when a man should forget his job and give it and his mind a rest. It will be better for him and better for the job.

"Fancy taking the job with you to the movies, exclaims. Is that any way to revive your flagging energies? Yet there are people who do it, though not so many now perhaps as there were in the driving days of 1929. A man who does not wish to become stale should have more than one interest. The job should not possess him to the exclusion of all else. When a man forgets his work for a time he goes back to his labours with new vigour. When it is always with him, he wears himself out. If he is talkative he is to his family and all his acquaintances, a bore; he is always conversing on shop. If he is reserved, he may be regarded as a grouch. Burning the candle fiercely, his life is a short and miserable one, and he passes in his prime, an omen to all who would practise Mr. Kettering's narrow philosophy."

But is there not a sense wherein both views may merge and indicate success in life? that man should be filled with zeal for his vocation and that he should have that relaxation which better fits him for his post must be admitted.

Mr. Kettering is not referring merely to the "job" as a place of working to kill time, waiting for the clock to strike or the whistle to blow. He doubtless wants a man to be putting his best into his calling, the office a man fills being so glorified in the man's soul and mind that the man is greater for it. Kettering, of course, means that man must be so organized that his best is served by his work and that his work is a dominating passion. And that little bit of relief and relaxation but throws into higher light the glory of the task. There are some jobs in which men allow themselves to become slaves, but Mr Kettering cannot have meant that type of work.

When a man is down in the world, an ounce of help is better than a pound of preaching.—Bulwer.

SIDELIGHTS
THE HOME FORUM

The events of the day, here, there and everywhere, views and opinions as revealed by the home forum, are reviewed in these sidelights by Charles Hanson Towne and Guy.—Reported by The Lamplighter.

Charles Hanson Towne

conducts a daily literary column for the New York American, and contributes verse to many magazines. He is the author of some twenty published volumes, including poetry, a novel or two, song cycles, and essays. He has also edited The Designer, Smart Set, and McClure's. He was born in Louisville, Kentucky, but now makes his home in New York City—which makes understandable this poem,

Return

Green hills I neglected for the granite hills of the city,
I am coming back to you, hills of peace and pity.
I am coming back, after the fever and panic of men,
I am returning again.

Why did I leave you? Why did I sternly banish
Your songs from my heart? Why did I let you vanish,
Like ghosts of my youth? O hills, O house in the glen,
Be kind to me again.

For the mountains men build in the town have deceived me:
Their agate and iron and stone, they have grieved me.
Be patient with me, green hills, far, far from the clamor of men—
I am returning again.

GANNET OR IBIS OR?

"BELLE, EDITOR SAYS it's an Ibis, Trenton Editor says it's a Gannet. So, dogannet, what Ibisit anyhow? If we could catch the strange bird by putting salt on its tail—we would—if we could get close enough to the tail." So says the editor of the Deseronto Post.

x x

"IF THE STRANGE WHITE WATER-FOWL, seen behind Forester's Island, Deseronto, has long legs it is a white Ibis, if it has short legs it is a Gannet. Who can we get to go over to Deseronto to measure the legs of this strange visitor and settle the argument. Not having seen this bird we are as much in the dark as anybody and as such may be a poor guesser." Thus qualifies Editor Harry Moore of the Trenton Courier-Advocate, who introduced the Gannet into the conversation.

x x

The only Gannets we know are a species of newspaper birds who own a string of papers which stretch from New Haven, Connecticut to Chicago, but which have not invaded Canada in a business way as yet, although the senior Gannet spends considerable time on the Bay of Quinte each year in his beautiful yacht, and is a frequent visitor at the Bay of Quinte Country Club. He has long legs but his beak is not prominent, and he is no wader, hence the Rochester Gannet can be counted out.

x x

Now, while there may not be suchamuch of a news value to this Ibis-Gannet argument as there is to the Dionne Quints, the weather is just too sultry for serious thought—and may, indeed, develop something worth while.

x x

This is the time of year when the human family develops the gypsy wanderlust and many strange sights meet the eye—human and otherwise. Curiosities in dress are the more noticeable, although the humans appear in all sizes from the dwarf to the giant in both sexes. There are bound to be curosities in feathered and furred life. Readers of this column on vacation are requested to keep their eyes and ears open for strange sights and sounds and tell the Sidelight Family all about it when you get to it, now or later.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

A Dutchman had a clerk who struck him for a rise of wages. Said the Duchman, "Hans, I dinks I buys you pretty dear already!"

"Oh, well," said the clerk, "of course I get a good salary, but you know I do everything and run everything and understand everything; in fact, you couldn't get along without me."

"Hans," said the Dutchman, "vat I do if you die?"

"Oh, well, of course, if I died you would have to get along without me."

The Dutchman smoked in silence a while; then, "Vell, Hans, I dinks we gonsider you daid."

x x x

Mistress: "I've asked Mr. and Mrs. Smith to dinner at seven, Mary; but I think we'll give them a quarter of an hour's grace."

Mary: "Well, ma'am, I'm religious myself, but I think that's rather overdoin' it!"

x x

"How can you stand these small apartments?"

"Oh, everything is in proportion. We even use condensed milk."

REVOLT IN THE DESERT
by T. E. LAWRENCE

"Ha," proved to be about sixty men cluttered behind the ridge in two bunches, one near the southern one by the top. The lower was made up of peasants, on foot, blown, miserable, and yet the only warm things I had seen that day. They said their ammunition was finished, and said it was all over. I assured them it was just beginning and pointed to my populous reserve ridge, saying that all arms were there in support. I told them to hurry back, refill their belts and hold on to it for good. Meanwhile I would cover their retreat by sticking here for the few minutes yet possible.

They ran off, cheered, and I walked about among the upper group greeting how one should not quit firing from one position till ready to fire from the next. In command was young Mikail, who stripped to his skimp riding-drawers for hard work, with his black servant-boy, his face stained and haggard. He was beating his hands together and crying hoarsely with baffled vexation, for he had meant to do so well in this, his first fight for us.

My presence at the last moment, when the Turks were already through, was bitter; and he got angrier when I said that I only wanted to study the landscape. He thought it flapping, and screamed something about a Christian going into battle unarmed. I retorted with a gulp from Clauswerks, about a year-guard effecting his person more by being than by doing; but he was past laughter, and perhaps with justice, for the little flimsy bank behind which we sheltered was pierced with fire. So, to prevent knowing we were there, had turned the machine-gun against us. It was four feet high and fifty feet long, of bare filthy ribs, at which the bullets slapped deafeningly; while the air above so hummed or whistled with ricochets and shrapnel that it felt like death to look over. Nobody we met had come so near and as I had no horse I went off first with Metaah's promise that he would wait where he was, if he dared for another ten minutes.

The man warned me, I counted my paces, to help in ranging the Turks when they outed us; since there was only that one position for them, and it was poorly protected against the south. In losing this Metaka ridge we would probably win the battle. The horsemen held on for almost their ten minutes, and then galloped off without hurt. Metaah lent me his stirrup to hurry me over the enemy when Nasim was at grips.

As we waited, a reinforcement was announced of one hundred men from Abu Ella. They had fallen out with Zeid over war-wages the day previous, but had gradually decided to sink old scores in the crisis. Their arrival convinced us to abandon Marshal Foch and to attack from, at any rate, three sides at once. So we sent the Alma men, with three automatic guns, to outflank the Turks' or western wing. Then we opened against the Turks from our central position, and bothered their exposed lines with rifle and machine-fire.

The enemy felt the day no longer favourable. It was passing, and sunset often gave victory to defenders yet in place. Old General Hamid Fakhri collected his Staff and headquarters, and told each man to take a rifle. "I have been forty years a soldier, but never saw rebels fight like these. Enter the ranks". . . but he was too late. Nasim pushed forward an attack at his five automatic guns, each with its two-man crew. They went in rapidly, unseen till they were in position, and crumpled the Turkish left.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 3rd., 1915

Mr. Thomas Corbett of Calgary, an old Belleville boy who is home on a visit, rescued from drowning at the Consumers' Home yesterday afternoon just east of the new government wharf. He had became entangled with weeds and was unable to get free. Cyril Corbett heard his cries for help and went to his assistance and landed him safely on the shore. This is by no means the first instance that "Tom" has been known to many friends, has rescued persons from drowning. He is recognized as a "water dog" and is ever ready when emergency arises to go to their aid.

The greatest picnic in the history of the Bellefville Club at Whitbjay was held recently. It was a regular old fashioned picnic of basket picnic the like of which brought back memories of Massassaga Park, Twelve Mile Creek Point, Glen Island, etc. Energetic work on the part of committee headed by Bert Wallace and assisted by Dan Shidder, Percy Connor, Walter Dobbs, Jr. Coulson and others was responsible for the enjoyment of everyone who was present from Belleville.

Mr. Maurice Lynch of Chicago is home on a visit to his sisters, Mr. Thos. Lynch is expected home from Chicago shortly.

30 Years Ago

AUGUST 3rd., 1905.

Mr. Bert Lake and family of Minneapolis left last night for home after spending two weeks in the city and country with friends and relatives. The old boy was more enthusiastic about his former home than the joys of reunion than Mr. Lake and his sons that his visits to the old home town in future will be more frequent.

Mrs. G. B. Armstrong returned to Peterboro yesterday. She was accompanied by her sister-in-law Misses Richards, Charles street.

Mrs. John Cronkite and Miss Oscar of Chicago are visiting relatives in the city.

Miss Evaseline Foley, who has been home on a visit, returned to New York yesterday.

A punt belonging to Mr. W. R. Wallace has been missing with permission from its moorings near the roadway leading to the bay bridge.

Mr. R. A. Bull of the Bank of Montreal is away on vacation.

40 Years Ago

AUGUST 3rd., 1895.

Some prowler entered the residence of Mr. C. W. Smith on Pine street last night and took a pair of trousers out of the refrigerator. Nothing else is missing.

Messrs. C. H. Lyons, Lewis Walbridge, William Campbell and George Campbell sailed from Deseronto this morning in the yacht Iolanthe in '57 minutes, which is good. The wind was exceedingly strong; a regular gale, but they handled their craft with much skill and coolness.

Mr. Willis McKay, formerly of the Intelligencer office, now on the reportorial staff of the Montreal Star, is spending two weeks' vacation in the city.

The Rev. J. L. George left at noon today for Kingston. He was given a send off by a large number of friends at the depot.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bull of Hamilton, returned home today after visiting relatives here. Mr. Bull is an old Belleville boy.

Grand Archbishop of this city, being within the age limit and having served with the highest marks at the entrance examinations in accordance with the regulations, has been awarded the Governor General's medal. Ted Rakins was the first pupil to win the medal. Both boys were pupils of Mr. Hamilton. Last year was the first time the medal was awarded.

50 Years Ago

AUGUST 3rd., 1885.

The work of constructing the Belleville & Northern is progressing as rapidly as such tedious undertakings can. There is still much more to be done before it is completed.

The head of the drive of 75,000 logs was at the railway bridge this morning.

Private Lewis Wallbridge, who left for the Canadian Mounted Rifle Battalion, has arrived home. He passed a few weeks with friends in Huntingdon.

All the members of the baseball team are expected to attend the club practice on the hospital lot this regularly next week as the playing nine are to be selected at the end of the week. The first game will be with the Cobourg team. The supply of new bats has arrived from Toronto.

Working Atop New R.C.M.P. Building in Capitol

Among federal government work projects now under way to the extent of $3,000,000 is included a new headquarters building for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Ottawa. It will contain living quarters for unmarried officers and non-coms of the force. Here are some of the workers far out on a derrick mast-end atop the R.O.M.P. building helping in the work.

CYCLONIC STORM DEMOLISHES BUILDINGS AROUND TORONTO

Roofs were swept from houses, rifle ball-storm preceded the twister which swept a path almost two miles wide through the area. It was reported as the worst storm in the district for years. ABOVE is shown buildings demolished and telephone and trolley wires torn down when a storm of cyclonic proportions struck the north-eastern tip of Toronto and the village of Scarboro. A ter- (left) the remains of a garage, torn from its foundation which may be seen swept bare, and wrecked by the wind. Right, the roof of the house was lifted and tossed into the yard where the storm is plied. In fore part of the apple tree sway as the wreckage descended.

MANY FAMILY GATHERINGS HELD AT OAK LAKE

Interesting Programs Arranged For Visitors

Sitting, Aug. 3—Midway between Sundays of the summer months comes an extra day of rest for many of the busy rural folks of this district. Wednesday is a day set aside by most of the large families of the Sitting district for their annual reunion and picnic and many of them choose Oak Lake for the setting for these much looked for occasions. On Wednesday of this week no less than three of these celebrations took place at Oak Lake and a fourth one took place at Carnahan.

At Crescent Beach, Oak Lake, the annual Sine reunion and picnic took place with about 200 present. The long tables were set along the water front and promptly at 12.30 the gathering sat down to a sumptuous dinner. President G. M. Sine of Shirley was in charge of the activities in the first part of the program and directly after the dinner the business portion of the meeting was called to order in a very efficient manner and the following officers were elected for 1936. President, Mr. W. J. Sine, Perry of Napanee. President, Mr. C. M. Sine, Shirley. Vice President, Maude Sine, Belleville. Treasurer, Clifford Sine, Belleville. Secretary, Sec., Mosley Sine, Frankford. Recording Secretary, W. Reynolds, Carnahan. Auditors, Orland Sine. A most enjoyable one spent in various kinds of sports including swimming, races, horseshoe pitching contests, etc. A feature of outstanding interest was a running race in which two very active women of the family, Mrs. Freeman Sine and Mrs. Mary Sine, Shirley, took part, Mrs. Freeman Sine and Mrs. Mary Sine, Shirley, proved to be run several times to determine the winner.

Among those present from a distance for this unique event were: Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sine, Shirley; Mrs. Sydney S. Nicols, Brockport, N.Y.; Harold Sine and family of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Ford of Indian Road, Toronto.

Medical Fiends

On the north side of Oak Lake beneath the shade of the large trees of the grove the McGee family reunion and picnic was held, with about 150 present, this being the third annual gathering of its kind, those present being descendants of Archie McGee. Dinner was served at 1 p.m. and Thos. Mahoney Sr., was in charge of the early part of the program. After doing full justice to the meal he gave an interesting address on the subject of those who bore the name of McGee in the early days. Rev. J. A. Hofford also expressed his delight at being present on the first time at a gathering such as this, and for his part in the proceeding the invitation. In closing his remarks he presented a few of those who had gone on. At this time all bowed in silent prayer during the reading of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

The prize for the oldest lady present was awarded by Doris Rodgers to Mrs. Archie McGee, and the oldest gentleman, Mr. Archie McGee, by Mrs. Ted Dafoe. The family represented from the greatest distance was that of Mrs. Raymond Conley from Detroit, Mich. The largest family present was the family of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McGee, the youngest baby present was Miss Joan Kenny daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Kenny, Buffalo, N.Y. Short and appropriate speeches were also given by F. R. Gay and James Montgomery and then followed the election of officers: President, Geo. McGee, 1st Vice President, Thos. Montgomery, 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Ridgeway Reid, Secretary Miss Gena Spry, Treasurer Mrs. Wm. Montgomery, committee, Mrs. Lewis Rodgers, Mrs. R. W. Ward, Mrs. J. Hay and Geo. Ward, Martin, Mrs. Andy McInroy, Sports Committee, Percy McGee, Harold McGee, Cameron Montgomery, Thos. Ward, Earl Fox, Don McGee and Thos. Ward.

Prize list for the racing events,

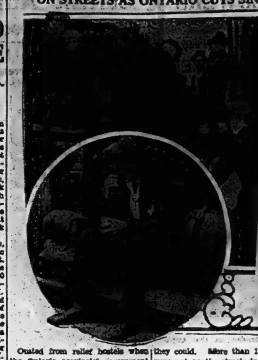
Miss Joan Kenny, Montgomery, Ray Conley, Grant Montgomery.

Boys 5 to 7—Frank Rodgers, J. Conley, Earl Dafoe.

Girls' 8 to 12—Jean Dafoe, Helen Pitcher, Dorothy Montgomery.

Young Men's race: Aubrey Rodgers, Don Rodgers, Lloyd Conley.

Young Ladies race: Helen McGee, Doreen Pollock, Ruth McGee.



Shoe kidding race: Mrs. Thomas Spry, Mrs. Duncan Montgomery, Mrs. Irene Shunt, believed drowned in Lake Ontario Wednesday, when the boat in which she was riding with Robert Wright, Belleville, left the airport here today to circle the Canadian National Exhibition.

Grappling operations have proven futile thus far and the Hamilton Aero Club today offered the services of one of their planes.

USE PLANE IN SEARCH

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 2.—(CP)—Joining in the search for the body of Irene Shunt, believed drowned in Lake Ontario Wednesday, when the boat in which she was riding left the airport here today to circle the Canadian National Exhibition, Grappling operations have proven futile thus far and the Hamilton Aero Club today offered the services of one of their planes.

ON STREETS AS ONTARIO CUTS SINGLE MEN FROM RELIEF

Ousted from relief hostels when the Ontario provincial government announced that they must go to all able-bodied single men, struck from relief rolls, Ontario unemployed were left to fend for themselves and seek jobs where they could. More than 1,000 men were put on the streets in Toronto by this decree. They left the city hostels and welfare havens carrying their few possessions with them. Here, circled, are the men and a distributed sandwiches and coffee. Top left the single jobless men piling into a G.O.T. truck headed for emergency shelters. Lower, one of the men devours a sandwich while his companions wait.

At the right another man starts out "on the hike" with his belongings bundled under his arm.

MANY FAMILY GAT. 3

Bellrock, age 86 years, Mr. Arthur Brown, Scrafton, New ontario, journeyed with his grandson, Spencer present. The youngest in attendance was 2 weeks old Joyce Eileen Crandell, the youngest family Mrs. Gunning of Tweed.

Highway Building Equipment is Moved

All the machinery for the paving of the Frankford highway arrived here tonight in the Sitting station and the last few days have been spent in unloading and moving it to the scene of the paving. The equipment includes steam roller, tractors and a steam shovel for pulling.

Public School Principal Resigns

Mr. L. S. Snowden who for more than four years has found it necessary to fill his position as principal of the Sitting public school. During his stay in Sitting, Mr. Snowden has made many friends. The very effective way in which he performed his duties made popular both with the students and the parents.

His resignation was received and accepted by the local school board at a meeting held on Monday evening. Notice was also received from Miss Jean McCubbin of her resignation from duties as teacher of the primary room. Miss McCubbin's medical advice that is would be necessary for her to take another year's rest. The resignation was duly accepted and after careful consideration Miss Pearrick of St. Thomas holder of 1st class permanent certificate and specialist Kindergarten Primary Certificate with two years experience was engaged to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss McCubbin.

Applications for the position of principal will be received and considered by the teachers committee.

Belleville and Napanee and Belleville accompanied by Jackie Gaswell who are camping at Oak Lake with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gaswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Denyes and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jeffrey.

Mrs. Ernest Harrison has been very poorly lately.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McCreary motored to Campbellford on Sunday to Mr. E. Tummon M.P., who underwent an operation in the Campbellford last Saturday evening.

The funeral of the late Wilbert Elliott was held on Monday and on Tuesday afternoon, The floral tributes were very beautiful, also testifying in mute testimony of every one's love for him.

Dear Myrtle:—

On learning of your approaching marriage in the near future, the Women's Institute feel we cannot let this occasion pass without some small token of remembrance. Myrtle, you will be greatly missed at our meetings as you have been a very active girl all the time. But we are very glad to learn that you are making a home and home quite close to your old one, and we hope you will still attend our meetings as often as possible. On behalf of the W. I. we ask you to accept this small gift, and may you long be spared to use it in the usual. We wish you a long, happy and successful wedded life.

Signed on behalf of the Institute,—

Hilts Fields, Nora Bleecker.

Later Marjorie Bleecker then read an address from the Sidney Baptist Young People's Union and Myrtle received a handsome walnut end-table from this organization.

Holloway, Ontario,
July 26, 1935.

Dear Myrtle—

We, the members of the B.Y. P.U. are taking this opportunity to thank you for all your help and kindness as a member. We certainly are going to miss you as you go to your new home, but we hope you and Clayton will not forget us and will come and join us as often as possible. We feel we cannot let you go without expressing our thanks in a more tangible way and we ask you to accept this gift. We hope it will always remind you of the service and happy associates of days gone by.

Signed on behalf of the B. Y. P. U.

Both Myrtle and Clayton replied to their good wishes and beautiful gifts, promising to join in their activities as much as possible still, and inviting every one to come to see them in their new home. Several of the people present testified as to the affection and esteem in which both the bride and groom-to-be are held in the community, and all joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows."

A bountiful lunch was then served by the young women of the neighborhood.

PLAINFIELD NEWS OF PAST WEEK

Leila—The deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Wilbert Elliott and family in the death of her loving husband and father and little daughter and sister.

Mrs. James Parks spent last week with his cousins Drury and Carse Denyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Denyes and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jeffrey.

PRESENTATION

On Friday evening, July 26, about 75 friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Reid of Holloway to spend their season and best wishes to their only daughter Myrtle on the eve of her marriage to Mr. Clayton Reid of Madoc Junction. After a social hour had been enjoyed together Mr. B. Bleecker called the meeting to order and requested Myrtel and Clayton to take chairs in the centre of the room.

The following short programme was given:

Duet—Cecil Mr. Harold Fitzen and Mr. Don Bleecker; Vocal solo—Miss Doris Carter; Piano duet—Mrs. Benson Mills and Miss Allen Mills; Reading—Miss Dorothy Reid; Vocal duet—Miss Beaula Bleecker and Miss Alelia Horton; Piano duet—Mrs. Benson Mills; Vocal selection and solo—Mr. Charlie Bleecker accompanied by Mrs. Armstrong.

Miss Beaula Bleecker then read the following address and Myrtle, who to-be was presented with a beautiful set of dishes, a silver flower vase, a pyrex and silver pie plate and a vase pitcher from the community.

Holloway, Ontario,
July 26, 1935.

Dear Myrtle and Clayton.—

We, a few of your neighbors and friends, having learned of your approaching marriage have gathered here to night to express our sincere appreciation of the help you have always given, and to wish you all that happiness in your married life together.

Myrtle, you have rendered splendid service in connection with both United and Baptist Churches and your departure will be missed and felt by all of us. We know, however, that you will find many friends and we give of your services willingly and will make many new friends.

Clayton, we also congratulate you on your choice of a life partner. Myrtle is a girl of sterling worth and we feel sure you will find all happiness and prosperity and we trust that these may be experienced by both of you during your wedded life.

We ask you to accept these gifts as a token of our esteem and best wishes and may they help to remind you, as you make new friendships, that you still have friends remaining behind on behalf of the community.

Signed,

Vera Rose, Aleita Horton, Marjorie Beacon, Luella Wannamaker, Mrs. Ernest Harrison.

Mrs. Reid read the address and Myrtle was presented with a lovely bouquet of flowers from the members of the Chatterton Women's Institute.

Holloway, Ontario,
July 26, 1935.

Dear Myrtle:—

On learning of your approaching marriage in the near future, the Women's Institute feel we cannot let this occasion pass without some small token of remembrance. Myrtle, you will be greatly missed at our meetings as you have been a very active girl all the time. But we are very glad to learn that you are making a home and home quite close to your old one, and we hope you will still attend our meetings as often as possible. On behalf of the W. I. we ask you to accept this small gift, and may you long be spared to use it in the usual. We wish you a long, happy and successful wedded life.

Signed on behalf of the Institute,—

Hilts Fields, Nora Bleecker.

Later Marjorie Bleecker then read an address from the Sidney Baptist Young People's Union and Myrtle received a handsome walnut end-table from this organization.

Holloway, Ontario,
July 26, 1935.

Dear Myrtle—

We, the members of the B.Y. P.U. are taking this opportunity to thank you for all your help and kindness as a member. We certainly are going to miss you as you go to your new home, but we hope you and Clayton will not forget us and will come and join us as often as possible. We feel we cannot let you go without expressing our thanks in a more tangible way and we ask you to accept this gift. We hope it will always remind you of the service and happy associates of days gone by.

Signed on behalf of the Sidney B. Y. P. U.

Both Myrtle and Clayton replied to their good wishes and beautiful gifts, promising to join in their activities as much as possible still, and inviting every one to come to see them in their new home. Several of the people present testified as to the affection and esteem in which both the bride and groom-to-be are held in the community, and all joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows."

A bountiful lunch was then served by the young women of the neighborhood.

BAILEY FAMILY HOLDS RE-UNION

Memories of Early Days in Marmora Recalled by Family History

Marmora—About forty-one members of one of Marmora's oldest families gathered together Thursday afternoon for their eighth annual reunion. Owing to a bereavement in the family the event was smaller than other years, but the same happy expression was on every person's face present.

In outlining the family history many memories of Marmora in bygone days were recalled by older members present. The old time mills, the mill dam and different industries, are now only barren ground or ruins.

The first member of the family in this district was James Bailey from County Armagh, Ireland, who settled on what is now the Dekoro road. His later moved to Deloro where his wife and largest grandchild passed away. He then took up residence with his son Samuel and continued to live in the same district.

At the first reunion held in 1927, with one hundred and fifty members present Ex Warden George Bailey officiated as chairman, Mrs. Wm. Pack was elected President and Mrs. Bailey, Secretary, since then twenty-nine births, twenty-eight marriages and fifteen deaths have been reported to the secretary. The oldest member present was Mrs. Sarah Bailey, aged 94, and the youngest, Keith Clancy, aged 3 1-2 months, both of Marmora. The largest family present was that of Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey, Deloro.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey and family, Harold; Mrs. Richard Bailey, Harold; Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Clancy and family, Marmora; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Wilton; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bailey and family, Deloro; Mr. and Mrs. Cormier; Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Bailey and family, John Deacon; Mrs. James Gordanier; Miss Nellie Phillips; Mrs. T. J. Moffatt, Mrs. Wm. Pack.

At the conclusion of the gathering the following officers for the ensuing mysterious source was read.

We all know a family named Bailey, Whose members we meet almost daily,

Kind, good stock: In trouser or frock

Travel life's pathway so gaily.

Mr. Arthur Rosamond and son Arthur, Jr., Messrs. William Brown, Ernest Brown and Mrs. Brown, all of Toronto, are spending a week at the home of Mrs. Rosamond's brother, Jas. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gray, Deloro, are occupying Mr. Hartley's cottage at Crowe Lake.

Mrs. Jas. Williams of Peterboro is stopping at the Tipperary Hotel, Crowe Lake, while Mr. Williams is delivering Mr. T. E. Pritchard who is on his holidays.

Mrs. Wesley Lambert returned to her cottage Wednesday from Belleville where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O'Keefe, formerly of Deloro, are residing in Oshawa where they renewed acquaintances in town Wednesday.

Mr. Fred Rooster, left Thursday for business trip to Smooth Rock Falls and Timmins.

Mr. M. Harking and William Young, Toronto, are guests at the Tipperary Hotel, Crowe Lake.

Obituary

LATE MARK TUCKER

Mark Tucker passed away Tuesday, July 30th., at his residence, Trent Road, Belleville. He had been failing in health for some time.

A short service was held at his home, conducted by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Newcombe, Dundas Street United Church, assisted by Rev. Mr. White and Rev. Mr. Knox, an old friend, who spoke very highly of the late Christian character of the deceased. Before leaving the house a favorite hymn was sung as requested by him, "Lord, I am Coming Home," whose last request was fulfilled in Bethel Church where an impressive service was conducted by the pastor, it being filled with sorrowing neighbors and friends as a long and last tribute to a kind and loving friend. The remains were then laid to rest in Belleville cemetery.

The pall bearers were old friends, W. Drury, J. Green, J. Scott, A. Martin, J. Farrell, J. Warren.

The beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

He leaves to mourn the loss of a devoted husband, his widow who prior to her marriage was Amelia Leal, and a son-in-law, Roy Mitchell, Toronto.

Floral tributes to the late Mark Tucker were:

Pillow from wife.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

TORONTO STOCKS—Close

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Prices held up on Toronto industrial share market today in about the slowest trading of the week.

Wide exception of Brewers and Distillers which held steady at $1. the distillery stock sold higher. Walker's common and Distillers-Seagrams added about a half point each.

Aside from recessions of ¼ each for International Nickel and Mond and McColl common, the oils were unchanged. International Nickel at 27⅜ and Brazilian and O.P.R. higher by about ¼ each. Ford A. sold down a minor fraction.

Consolidated Bakeries, Fanny Farmer, Canada Packers and National Grocers held to the up side. Banks were slow and firm, utilities steady to strong.

Consolidated Smelters registered a fractional gain.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, Aug. 3.—A brisk rally in the utilities to new highs for the year was the outstanding feature the stock market back to its advancing trend.

Scattered profit taking dried up swiftly following a steady opening and higher prices ruled throughout the remainder of the proceedings. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 650,000 shares.

TORONTO MINES—Close

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Buying power was at low ebb in the mining section of Toronto Exchange today's short session and aggregate turnover was small.

God's Lake backed up to 1.50 and later recovered to around 1.55 for a net loss of 3 cents. Reno was strong all day on a couple of cents and the others were off 2 to 4 cents each. Pickle Crow advanced about 3 cents. Hollinger was fairly steady.

Base Metals Corporation dropped a couple of cents, Sherritt lost 4 cents. Consolidated Smelters was the active issue of the silvers and it held a gain of a couple of cents at 2 while Mining Corporation and Castle were steady.

New Gold Vault Is Money Fortress

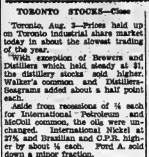
(Copyright 1935, by the Associated Press)

Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The United States Treasury's massive new gold vault at Fort Knox, Ky., is going to be the last word in monetary fortresses.

The vault will be suspended in the middle of a modern building with walls, roofs and floors two feet thick. It will be surrounded by a moat filled with granite.



The concrete itself, into which the Government expects to store much of the gold now housed in the Philadelphia mint, will be 40 by 64 feet.

Treasury officials say it confirms and the like, would be big enough to store $17,000,000,000 in gold—more than the world's present monetary supply.

CANADA COMPANY TO OFFER LAND

The Canada Company an old land and colonization organization well known when Ontario was Upper Canada, and since, is offering a number of its lots in the Counties of Perth, Huron and Hastings for cash sale at bargain prices, offers to be by private tender. With improved agricultural conditions and the return of better times, this is an opportunity for you, if any of the lands are in your locality. The Commissioners of the Company tenders will be filed to furnish information or reply to any enquiries they may receive.

Wanted by Board of Education, sealed tenders for approximately 800 tons ¼" Nova Scotia Black Coal. Weathered coal only to be furnished. Analysis to be furnished with tender. Tender on both rail and boat delivery. Lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Tenders received till August Fifteenth, 1935 by J. B. Pinder, Secretary-Treasurer. 43 7.

PRINCE KERIM FOUND SHOT DEAD

Grandson of Abdul Hamid is Believed a Suicide

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—A man believed by authorities to be Prince Abdul Kerim, grandson of Sultan Abdul Hamid, monarch of the old Ottoman Empire, was found shot to death early today, apparently a suicide, in a Broadway hotel.

The body was found on bed, legs crossed.

T. F. Yore, hotel manager, found the body after a hotel guest reported hearing a pistol shot.

A passport in the room bore the inscription "Pal Le Prince, Istanbul, Turkey." On it was a photograph of Kerim in full court regalia. A number of business cards found in the clothing bore the name "A Kerim, Prince, I. M. P. Ottomane."

The Almanach De Gotha lists Abul Kerim as the grandson of Sultan Abdul Hamid Khan II who ruled over the Turkish Empire from 1876 to 1909.

Abdul Kerim, in 1920, married a commoner. The marriage, however, was soon annulled.

Kerim had only 75 cents in his clothing, but carried a large sum of expensive tailoring.

RUSSIA READY

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Moscow, Monday, reports Russia as a precautionary measure is transporting 160,000 troops to China and Irkutsk in Siberia, ready to advance at a moment's notice on Mongolia.

This is the latest development in the tense situation in Mongolia where the Far Eastern where Manchukuo's demands to outer Mongolia following frontier incidents have been causing alarm in Russia.

CHICAGO CUBS IN BAD SLUMP ON THE ROAD

Lose Last Three Games to Pirates And Reds

GIANTS ADVANCE

Yankees Defeat Senators to Pull up on Idle Tigers

By ANDY CLARKE
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Chicago Cubs are wishing they could play all their games in their own ball yard. Not that Charlie Grimm and his boys suffer from nostalgia or can't do without home cooking. It just so happens they lose a flock of ball games when they are on the road. They have been tripped up in their last three encounters, twice by Pittsburgh Pirates and once by Cincinnati Reds.

Cubs suffered the ignominy of being while-washed by Reds yesterday. Orne schott stood them on their heads and they went down on the short end, 10 to 0 score. It was the first time they had been blanked since May 5.

Schott, a rookie, allowed but four hits and only one Cub, Galan, had any intimacy with third base. Bill Lee was on the mound for the Chicago boys and he gave up four runs before being relieved by Tom Casey, who allowed the bases to be tenanted fully twice in the eighth innings as four more tallies went up on the board.

Giants Add To Lead

Giants strengthened their position at the peak of the League with a 4-1 win over the hapless Braves in the opener of a four-game series. Clydel Castleman and Allyn Stout combined to pitch five-hit ball, the former being credited with the 10th victory of the season before absorbing with a knee arm in the sixth. Mel Ott led the Giant offensive with a homer and a double and boosted his total of runs driven in to 81 for the season. Joe Moore banged one for the circuit also.

Brooklyn Dodgers scored four runs in the first innings without hitting a ball out of the infield to defeat Phillies 6-3 in the opening game of their series. Ralph Boyle got the only hit of that frame, an infield single. Tacky Walker and John Passmiot, on the mound for Phillies, contributed two passes. Dolph Camilli conveniently made three errors and Dodgers completed the debacle by working a double steal.

In the American League Yankees fell on three Washington pitchers for 13 hits to win 9-4 and gain half a game on the leading Detroit Tigers. Tigers now lead by three games with White Sox two games behind Yankees. Johnny Broaca went the route for New York to chalk up his ninth win of the season.

St. Louis Browns defeated Chicago White Sox 10-8. Sam West's home run by Pepper on base provided the winning margin in the eighth.

BIRDS HAVE NEW LEASE ON LIFE

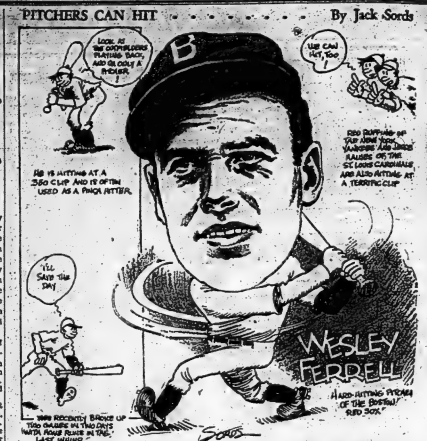
Hard Hitting Outfield Intact Again And Going Places

Perhaps better days are ahead for Baltimore Orioles in the International League. Their renowned outfield combination of Woody Abernathy, Vince Barton and the belting George "Pooch" Puccinelli is in action together again and the boys believe they are going places.

Return of Barton to the lineup after a week's lay off because of a shoulder injury and the renewed batting proclivities of the "Pooch" have given the Birds a new lease on life.

Barton, who returned to the lineup Thursday night and clouted out four hits, a homer, double and a single in four trips to the plate, continued his batting splurge yesterday against Buffalo Bisons with three hits in four trips to the plate. Fifth place Orioles won 5-4 and pared within one-half game of the third place Buffalo Bisons and fourth place Toronto Maple Leafs who are separated by one percentage point.

It was Puccinelli and Eddie Mayo who really took care of Bisons, however. The belting outfielder scored a third inning homer in the seventh. Sweeney on base in the first inning while Mayo started a triple and his first homer of the season in driving in the run of the game. Orde Postel Selbert hit a homer for Bisons in the eighth inning.



Rochester overwhelmed Syracuse Chiefs last night 15-3, riding home on a deluge of seven Syracuse errors.

Newark Bears put on a three run rally in the seventh inning to defeat Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 in the first game of what was scheduled to be a doubleheader. The second game was rained out in the first inning.

Montreal Royals defeated Albany 8-4 to make it two out of three against that lowly club and increased their league lead to 2½ games.

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

The fate of the Oshawa "Brewers" is practically lies in the result of the two O.B.L. games to be played over the week-end. This crucial series, between the Brewers and the Radios, opens in Oshawa today with the return game being played at the Pal-Grounds on Monday morning. As the clubs go into battle this afternoon the Radios enjoy a full game and one half advantage over the Brewers, if the Radios split the twin bill, well they'll still be that far ahead of the Oshawa nine, but if the Radios win two, well it's curtains for the Legg-led crew, while if the Brewers happen to take the Stewart-Warner twice in succession, the Motor City crew will only be one-half a game in front of the Radios. Counting today's tussle the Oshawa nine has six more games while the locals have five and after this afternoon the Brewers only have one more home stand, while Belleville has two home games with Oshawa, one with Kingston and a trip to Perryboro. On paper the Radios have a slight edge over the Oshawa nine in the matter of unplayed games, but these two games over the week-end will have a decided bearing on the ultimate standing, with Monday's game here being the most important game from a local angle, yet played in Belleville. A bumper crowd will doubtlessly turn out for the second meeting breaks and enjoy a battle royal.

Mickey Cochrane, catching-manager of the Detroit Tigers, underwent a minor operation in Detroit Thursday night. The removal of a cyst over the eye was the "trivial" operation, stated his physician, Dr. E. L. Whitney.

Flatly refusing to allow the Stewart-Warners pernhsion to play a charity night ball game (under floodlight) versus the famed Hesse of David be-whiskered ballsters, the O.B.A.A. turned thumbs down on the proposition when Promoter Charlie Meagher presented the proposition to Secretary Bill Snyder at Hamilton last night. The year club can get permission to play such a game against the Hesse of David from the A.A.U. of C. well, we'll only be too glad to give our permission to play," said Secretary Snyder, "but please. The Radios at once turned to Secretary Newt Thompson of the C.O.B.L. and the matter is now in the hands of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada for their consideration. Mr. J. Baird, travelling business manager for the House of David team was in town on Thursday night and remained until yesterday. After looking over the local park he remarked: "You have a much better setting for a night game than they have in Kingston, and our portable equipment is equal to any minor league lighting plant on the continent. We generate our own power and use six giant portable standards with self food lights, and the last that place," explained Mr. Baird when we asked him if there would be any glaring rays cast. Regardless as to whether the amateur ruling's great the Radios permission to play or not, it is expected that a night game, under floodlights, will be played in Belleville about August 13th or 15th. If the Radios cannot play against the bewhiskered genie, then Mr. Baird intimated he would bring to Belleville a strong colored team from Syracuse, N.Y. So it looks as if Belleville baseball fans may get a peak at their first night ball game right in their own back yard.

When the 1934 Crystalaz juniors failed to take a fall out of the current season Riverside kids the 1935 B.A.B.A. juniors stepped to the fore and they want a crack at Coach Meagher's kids. Incidentally when the management goes to the trouble to arrange these exhibition games for the juniors, more interest should be taken in the game and less clowning. Doubtlessly the Riverside kids will accommodate the ex-B.A.B.A. veterans next week.

Elwood Hughes, general manager of the O.N.E. announced today he was seriously considering promoting a three mile scrolling race at the Tuxedo Fair this year at which time Bobby Pearce, world's professional sculling champion, would attempt to set a new record for that distance. The present three mile record is still held by Jake Gaudaur of Orilla, time 19 minutes and nine seconds. The record has stood since 1893. Bill Miller will be Pearce's opponent if the race materializes.

For those interested in rugby football the Intergrovincial Union re-sumed its 1928 nine-game schedule yesterday and for those interested the following schedule should be clipped and saved for future reference. The 1935 schedule reads as: Sept. 21—Hamilton at Argos, Montreal at Ottawa; Sept. 28—Ottawa at Hamilton, Argos at Montreal; Oct. 5—Montreal at Hamilton; Argos at Ottawa; Oct. 12—Hamilton at Argos, Ottawa at Montreal; Oct. 19—Ottawa at Hamilton, Argos at Montreal; Oct. 26—Hamilton at Ottawa, Montreal at Argos; Nov. 2—Argos at Hamilton, Montreal at Ottawa; Nov. 9—Hamilton at Montreal, Ottawa at Argos; Nov. 16—Montreal at Hamilton, Ottawa at Argos.

Last night's 1 to 0 victory of the local Asjmaas over the Gordon Steel squad of Tweed at Central Park not only assured the local nine of first place in the league, but it was the first game to be played this season in the senior softball loop. The game developed into as pretty a pitchers' battle as could be wished for with "Carm" Cook's homer eventually deciding the issue after Johnnie Bawden and Bill Gowsell, the opposing moundsmen, battled at nearly even terms all eve. Bawden struck out 11 to Gowsell's 6, but Bawden was aided for seven safeties while Gowsell limited the hearties to three safeties. Bawden failed to walk a single batter and hurled marvellous ball in the pinches. Both barlers were given miraculous support, with the game of softball loop schedule pretty well shaped up the clubs are already waiting for the playoffs to commence. Cook's homer was awarded their game versus Sedgerville last evening as the Prince Edward County club defaulted the game.

There seems to be some little difference of opinion in relationship to certain players in the senior softball loop, allegedly signing more than one association certificate. The point was brought up by the new Tweed place Alemites in regards to player Coughlin of Redmerston, who the "lubricants" claim is ineligible due to his having supposed to have signed two playing certificates. After viewing the matter well last evening President Edgecombe and Secretary Rollins announced that Alemites would have to produce the O.A.B.A. certificate that Coughlin is alleged to have signed while playing for Corning Place, prior to his signing with Redmerville, before the protest would be considered. At this present moment arrangements for the league play-offs have been completed with the second and third clubs, St. Faith and Young Canadas meeting in the first play-down game at Central Park on Tuesday eve. In the meantime if the Alemites can establish Coughlin's case, well, they naturally come into the picture, making something of a three cornered tilt for second and third place, but, in the meantime the Asjmaas are perched safely on the top rung of the ladder nonchalantly thumbing on.

SMART GAME AT CENTRAL PARK

Gordon Steel of Tweed Shutout by Asjmaas 1 to 0

Carman Cook's circuit blow in the eventh frams broke up the most beautiful pitchers' battle seen this season in the local Senior softball league last evening when the local Asjmaas clothed first place in the loop with a 1 to 0 victory over the Gordon Steel of Tweed at Central Park. As the pastime progressed it developed into a torrid hurlers' battle between Johnnie Bawden, hurling for the victorious Asjmaas, and Bill Gowsell on the hilltop for the Tweed aggregation. Taxing after taxing the pitchers continued to hold sway and hold complete command of the situation, both hurlers bearing down well in the pinches. The victory assures the Bowler-led Asjmaas of first place in the league standing.

Although the victors out-hit the homesters seven to three, Cook's mighty clout to deep centre field in the seventh proved the only hit of the contest. Bawden struck out eleven Tweed batters during the nine innings, while Gowsell wiffed six and walked one, as Bawden failed to issue a single pass. Cook's homer was the only extra base-hit of the evening. The Asjmaas Weyrod, exceptionally well behind the plants of Gowsell as they only collected three safeties and only had three men left on base, while the visitors had six stranded on the reservers. The game by far surpassed any game yet played in the league this season, Bawden gone he bright to halt the Tweed squad in the seventh as he struck out two with the tying run perched on third. While Ethier's catch of Orr's line drive and his throw to double Sinclair off first in the eighth also materially assisted the Asjmaas in victory. Fast, snappy fielding assisted the pitchers in their hurling duel. Cook, Kiser and Grey were the local batsmen to hit safely, while Meraw and McCutcheon led the hitters of the day with two singles each. Luffman hurled the ninth inning for the Gordon Steel.

The line-ups—Asjmaas—St. Dennis, lb; Tuttle, cf; Steele, ss; Ethier (c); Kiser, rf; Henn, 2b; Clarke, lf; Grey, c, and Bawden p. Tweed—Orr, ac; Sinclair, 3b; Cook, c; Gowsell and Luffman, p; McCutcheon, lf; Quinn, lb; Drummond, cf; Rollins and Prevost, 2b; Sinclair, rf.

LONDON LUNCH TEAM ON TOP

Coming from behind the London Lunch sked out a 10 to 9 victory over the Canadian Legion in the senior six softball loop last night to take sole possession of first place in their league. It was a game built from of the now second placed Simpsons aggregation, as Whitey Skipper found charges were stepping into the league leadership. Whitey Skipper hurled his third successful consecutive game in two nights and advanced into fourth position with a 15 to 8 victory over the C.D.S. (Tatoma) squad.

Despite the fact the Recreations remained in early initial frame lead of three runs, the London Lunch "comeback" blazed six runs in a belated rally to eke out a victory and first league leadership. Tommy Hughes hurled consistant ball for the victors, to win, while H. Bakyn clouted the ball for three safe connections, but was not afforded quite the impetus the winning hurler received. A four run rally by the London Lunch aggregation gave them a slight advantage, but it was not to stay as to subsequent innings. Smart defensive work by the Recreations in the ninth inning staved off certain defeat as the Recreations applied pressure.

A third softball game was played in the Ontario-Intelligencer nine belted the Collegiate squad to a 15 to 8 victory. The local "printers" were leading the parade until the final inning, when the Collegiate team ad a belated rally and knotted the score.

The line-ups of the feature game of the league were:

London Lunch—Hikes; Hughes; Cole; Semark; Cromlish; McCreary, Hile—Crenshaw; Gray; Gay.

Recreations—Robinson; Hurley; R. Morgan; Pointer; Mansfield; Bakyn; Hughes; H. Morgan and Balyz.

Score by innings:

Recreations ..... 300 013 003— 9
London Lunch ..... 000 000 106—10

Five pitchers in all were used by both clubs, when the Loblaws elevated third baseman Sandy Berezay to position to fourth place with their 15 to 8 victory over the C.D.S. (Tatoma) nine. The Loblaws scored nine big runs in the third to assume an advantage they never relinquished.

Hughes and Niles were the battery for the winners while Brown, McLean and Thompson shared the C. D. S. mound duties.

The line-ups:

Loblaws—Barrage, McDonald; White; Niles; Baker; Fisher; Deval; Thompson; Golden; Collins and Gerry.

C. D. S.—Canning; Booth; Mc-Gee; Jones; Langabeer; Brown.

Score by innings:

Loblaws ..... 019 000 401—15
C. D. S. ..... 001 403 300—14

CHAPTER TEN

The car streaked through the gates of King's Elm House as the sleepy lodge-keeper opened them, and swung left down the hill. Brian slipped his free arm firmly round Sonia's shoulders, and felt her trembling . . .

"All over," he said. "Don't worry, Sonia. You've left that behind you, and I'm in charge."

"Stop on it!" she said. "Take me away — anywhere away from that house, and I'll be back against his arm. "Brian . . . I'm a bit tired—do we have to go far?"

For a moment he did not answer.

"Why should we? Do you mind a village inn? Not distance—decent quarters. . . . Good folks—friends of mine."

"Don't mind anything — with you."

"You darling" said Brian under his breath. His heart was singing. The happiness he had scarcely hoped for—that he had seen slipping swiftly out of his reach. It stifled the hatred he had received and blackened his mind. But he had not done with that. It was giving place to a cool, inexorable determination.

Steering with one hand, he shot down the hill at short mile and through the straight street of King's Elm, where he turned into the yard of the village inn, The King O' Bells and ran in one of the garages, as the sun.

He helped Sonia out of the car and took her to the back door of the inn. They were met by the stout little landlord, George Stubbings. He stared at Brian and the girl with some surprise.

"Why—Mr. Chalgrove!"

"Evening, George," said Brian. "Shutters not up yet, eh? Get busy. This lady, Miss Hall, wants to stay here the night. Got a room?"

"Certainly, Mr. Chalmers, This way in." He led them both through into the front parlor. He set a chair for Sonia, with a respectful, admiring glance at her. Brian beckoned him out into the passage.

"Listen, you're a sound, discreet little chap, who doesn't talk about his customers—"

"You trust me, sir," said Stubbings, and, looking at Brian with shrewd eyes, lowered his voice. "Mike says I'm to put you up at the Squire's when you're down, but how long you'd like it. Fact is, none of us can stand Mr. Coote... But you was sayin'—"

"Your best room. Have a fire lit in it at once. Get all that luggage out of the car—here and mine. And George, send in some hot coffee and food—anything that's ready. I've got to drive to London tonight."

"Tonight, sir!"

"That's what I said. Tomorrow I'll be staying here myself. Meanwhile you'll look after Miss Hall."

"My daughter will, sir. The missus is out of action—she always goes down an' sits in the best-cellar when there's bombs about. O.K., sir—I'll see to it."

He bustled off, and Brian returned to Sonia. She had recovered herself, but she was looking white and shaken.

"Brian," she said, "what happened—when I left you?"

"To Bannister? I pretty nearly shook the brains out of his head. A pity I didn't make a job of it. It's time something happened to him. Why, Sonia—what's the matter?"

"It's rather awful, Brian—all of it."

"What do you mean?"

She looked at him, then turned her head away and stared into the fire.

"I'm thankful to be out of it. I've said things to you—to his face, in case, you know. There's something to be said for Bannister. I can't feel that I treated him well."

"Put that out of your head—keep it out. There's no room in your pretty head for anything to be done. The man's not only a beast; he's a crook."

"Crook?"

"I've plenty of counts against Bannister, these two days," said Brian grimly. "He's going to answer for them now."

"Because he has the place—the money—and you have nothing," she said anxiously. "You gave him back the Diamond—"

"Gave it to him! I'll say I did. A mistake, maybe. I'm thinking it's the master key to this job. But I'm right to give you the Coote Diamond—that's the point."

"He didn't give it to me, I was to be the guardian. I'm not sure—"

"Guardian? Good Lord," Sonia, do you know what the value of that stone is that you gave you?"

"How should I know?"

"Well, I know, and I'll tell you. Ten pounds! The thing's a fraud, a fake. Clever fake, mind you, expert couldn't tell 'em apart by the eye. But nobody ever has had the diamonds when I get my hands on them. That French pal's—"

Sonia sat up, and flushed.

"You see, don't you? The Coote Diamond's worth 10,000 pounds! Where is it? Shot out to the States and sold—or maybe sliced up in Amsterdam. There isn't a doubt! What Bannister's doing is stripping the Coote Trust. Skinning it bare. It wouldn't be difficult, for Bannister. Fancying the key in his pocket, so he can get away with it if he wants to. Leaving nothing but the husk."

Sonia was on her feet in a moment.

"He's no right to do that!"

"Right! The man's a rubber! The Diamond—that's only a start, slow. There's plenty more he could get his hooks on, if I know Bannister."

"What can you do?"

"Get to London—put it before the Trustees. They must be asleep, unless they're sitting in on this skin-game with Bannister. . . But I can hardly believe that. I'm in a hefty at law, and I've the right to call for an investigation. I must be there by morning. There's one job that has to be done first, though."

"Sonia, two days ago I didn't care a hoot about the Coote fortune; certainly I never thought of exploiting it, or watching Coote. But now it's the only thing in sight. After the way Bannister's put it over on you and me I'll take the roof off King's Elm House before I'll let him get away with such crookery at short as this. . . When any man challenges me, I'm a fighter. . . ."

"I'd give up nothing I'd a right to. But, Brian—you surely needn't leave me now?"

"I'll be on the road in half an hour. Morning's got to find me at the Trustee's office, slamming it in; I'd be a fool to let Bannister get ahead of me. But don't you worry—I'll be back here tomorrow night. I'll ring you all sweet as a nut—you'll see how. If you want me, I'll be at Deane's Hotel, Charing Cross—phone Temple 260."

He scribbled it on an envelope and gave it to her. "Sonia, you'll wait for me—won't you?"

She caught his hands.

"You're going to tell me again—what you told me in that house. You meant it, didn't you—for all time?"

"Now?" she said under her breath.

"Now!" said Brian. He caught her to him, kissed her passionately, felt her heart racing. "Darling—you darling!"

She turned her face up to his, her arms clung round him.

"For all time! I don't care what happens, while I'm with you. I wish you hadn't to go! Take me with you!"

"Three hundred miles in an open car, and you dead from almost! I'll take better care of you than that, Red-wit—I'm not going yet!"

The window, unnoticed, was on the open street. He stepped across to draw the blind. . . He stopped dead, and drew back a little; she saw his face change and his jaw harden.

"What is it, Brian?" she said, moving to his side. She was just too late to see the dark face under the sou'wester that went quickly by the window. But there was no mistaking the back of that hearty figure in the oilskin coat, that trudged past and vanished into the gloom.

Brian pulled the blind down.

"Nothing!" What on you mean, nothing! I saw that man from the car not two hours ago on my way to Bannister's. He heard who you was saying on you—and on me—all the way across."

Brian nodded.

"That's the fellow. Queer, isn't it? Sticks like glue. Seems sober tonight. He was half drunk when I ran into him in the village last night."

"You did?"

"I'm thinking it's a pity I didn't clan the car right over him; he's the sort that wouldn't be any loss. But a touch of that's his line—he struck me as being a bit on the heavy side, and rather talkative for a blackmailer; but I suppose he's been celebrating his discharge from the Army. Yes, that's the father all right. Still here."

Sonia looked at him, her face rather white.

"Why? Is he after me?"

"Of course not. He's after Bannister. Though he seems to have an interest in you, too. Now, there's only one thing could bring a thug like that all the way from London to King's Elm. Money. Bannister's the only man here that's got any. To get money out of Bannister is a pretty tough proposition, and this fellow's the sort that goes out of getting it, must have a very strong hold over him. I suppose he needn't ask me how—that he's fired a deal with Bannister tonight, my belief is that Bannister will keep it. If he doesn't, I will I'm going to be there—I've got to know what his business is with Bannister before we go any further. I'll still learn it, too. The Coote property is going to be worth a packet after the mullers. You don't have to worry about that."

He laid his hands on Sonia's shoulders.

"Keep dealing with this. I'll see no harm comes to you; I'm going to have right on to you. Don't be scared are you, dear?"

"Not now," she answer, the landlords daughter knocked at the door and opened it; a brisk, good-looking girl with a pleasant face, cast a glance of curiosity at Sonia, smiled at Brian, who was evidently popular at the King O' Bells, and announced that the coffee was ready.

"Good girl, Mary," said Brian, "let's get to it." He led Sonia into the back parlor, a cozy little room with a bright fire and a table spread that gave upon the garage yard. The table was laden with plates of fresh cut sandwiches and a supper York ham. He poured out a cup of hot black coffee and handed it to Sonia.

"Drink that. The stuff to give the troops! Not that you look as if you needed it. I go, I'll bring my self a cup and attached the sandwiches. Bannister's entertained me a lot of them in a napkin and thrusting them into his pocket. "I've a big job in front of me."

"How to finish with Barber. He's after Bannister, because Bannister's the man with the money. He watched me, of course he knew me for Bannister's kinsman; knew what my position is. Any you—no doubt because he saw I was interested in you; I suppose he couldn't help seeing that. He knew nothing more than my name.

"Couldn't he! I'm not so sure what he knows. You remember he was seen coming out of my cabin while I was on the boz-deck—"

"Of course. I took him for a sneak-thief prospecting for valuables and caught him on the hop. His talk that he went there to stop the port-light. I let him. I'm sure you said you didn't miss anything, Brian—did you?"

BIZZNESS AND FINANCIAL

Sid Hunt's big brother Fred, who is not working again at present, was going to put a add in the paper last week saying, Situations Wanted — Young man would like position in travelling companion to rich man desiring intelligent conversation and lending disposition, coy Sid's father wouldn't give him the money to have it put in.

This he did, but not without considerable damage to the place and a severe shaking up for himself and his passenger. Though fortunately neither of them was seriously injured, their condition seemed a hopeless one. Roger doubted if he could repair his plane and continue his journey east, and he knew that to remain over the desert on foot, facing thirst and hunger.

After the plane came to its disastrous stop, the young aviator turned quickly to see that the effect of the accident had been on the girl. He found her pale, but smiling, and for several seconds the two stood looking at each other in silence. "This is the end!" the girl asked. The Englishman shook his head.

Only for an instant was Lieutenant Roger Cecil made unconscious from the mid-air accident after the flying splinter struck him. But that instant almost proved fatal to the plane, himself and Olga, the spy. When he awoke to a realization of their peril it was also to discover that his motor had stalled.

The plane had attained frightful momentum in falling. The ground seemed too close for him to flatten out in time to make a safe landing. Directly beneath them was a narrow gorge whose bottom looked fairly level and sand covered. In the brief instant he had to make a decision, it seemed safest to attempt a landing in this gorge.

After the plane came to its disastrous stop, the young aviator turned quickly to see that the effect of the accident had been on the girl. He found her pale, but smiling, and for several seconds the two stood looking at each other in silence. "This is the end!" the girl asked. The Englishman shook his head.

MURDER SUSPECT TAKEN IN GARAGE

Chicago, Aug. 3 (AP)—Mandeville Zenge, 26 year - old Canton, Missouri, carpenter sought in the mutilation murder of Dr. Walter J. Bauer, was seized today in a lactech garage on the West Side.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the State's Attorney's office led a squad into a garage following a tactech in which Zenge was riding.

The arrest was accomplished after J. Andy Zenge of Canton, Mo., the suspect's father, admitted the man in custody was son.

Expect a Statement

"Zenge hasn't talked yet," said Captain Gilbert. "We are questioning him now and when we have finished a statement will be issued."

Harry Hoffman, head of the Cook County Bureau of Identification, arrived a few minutes later and went into Captain Gilbert's office where Zenge was being questioned.

Charles S. Dougherty, Assistant State's Attorney, said the action of Zenge at first denied the man in custody was his son but later admitted he was the man sought.

Police of four States had sought Zenge, a Canton, Mo., carpenter, since Dr. Bauer was found dying early Wednesday. At an inquest yesterday Bauer's pretty 23 year old daughter said she had been engaged to Zenge for seven years prior to her recent marriage to Bauer.

Setzkin Not Found

Later, a suicide note was discovered in which Zenge said: "I am going to jump in the lake." He was "miserable" the note said, over losing Louise, Bauer's wife.

The note made no mention of the name Setzkin or Bauer. Police Captain John Stege at once branded the note a hoax, saying it was a ruse to throw the police off the track.

The note was left behind in a cab which Zenge took to Navy Pier on Lake Michigan Wednesday night. While the driver waited, Zenge vanished. The driver turned the note along with clothes bearing what police said were unmistakably blood but over to the police.

CHAPTER TEN

The car streaked through the gates of King's Elm House as the sleepy lodge-keeper opened them, and swung left down the hill. Brian slipped his free arm firmly round Sonia's shoulders, and felt her trembling.

"All over," he said. "Don't worry, Sonia. You've left that behind you, and I'm in charge."

"Stop on it!" she said. "Take me away — anywhere away from that house. She raised her head to look against his arm. "Brian . . . I'm a bit tired—do we have to go far?"

For a moment he did not answer.

"Why should we? Do you mind a village inn? No distance—dozens of starters.....Good folks—friends of mine."

"Don't mind anything — with you."

"You darling" said Brian under his breath. His heart was singing. The happiness he had scarcely hoped for—that he had seen slipping swiftly out of his reach; it stifled the hatred that had welled up and blackened his mind. But he had not done with that. It was giving place to a cool, inexorable determination.

Steering with one hand, he shot down the hill a short mile and through the straight street of King's Elm, where he turned into the yard of the village inn, The King O' Bells and ran in, as one of the hostlers came to the exit.

He helped Sonia out of the car and took her to the back door of the inn. They were met by the stout little landlord, George Stubbings. He stared at Brian and the girl with blank surprise.

"Why—Mr. Chalmers!"

"Evening, George," said Brian. "Shutters not up yet, eh? Get busy. This lady, Miss Steel, wants to stay here the night. Got a room?"

"Certainly, Mr. Chalmers. This way in." He led them both through into the front parlor. He set a chair for Sonia, with a respectful, admiring glance at her. Brian beckoned him out into the passage.

"Choice, you're a sound, discreet little chap, who doesn't talk about his customers—"

"You trust me, sir," said Stubbings, and, looking at Brian with shrewd eyes, lowered his voice. "You don't want a row up at the house? No kitchen wenching or long revels with it. Fact is, none of us can stand Mr. Cootes. But you was sayin'—"

"Your best room. Have a fire lit in it at once. Get us a bottle each out of the can—here and mine. And George, send in some hot coffee and food—anything that's ready. I've got to drive to London tonight."

"Tonight, sir!"

"That's what I said. Tomorrow I'll be staying here myself. Meanwhile your wife will look after Miss Ned."

"My daughter will, sir. The missus is out of action—she always goes down an' sits in the beer-cellar when there's thunder around. O.K., sir—I'll see to it."

He bustled off, and Brian returned to Sonia. She had recovered herself, but she was looking white and shaken.

"Brian," she said, "what happened—when I left you?"

"To Bannister? I pretty nearly shook the breath out of his body. A pity I didn't make a job of it. It's time something happened to him. Why, Sonia—what's the matter?"

"It's rather awful, Brian—all of it."

"What do you mean?"

She looked at him, then, turned her head away and stared into the fire.

"I'm thankful to be out of it. You said things to me—and he has a case, you know. There's something to be said for Bannister. I can't feel that I treated him well."

"Put that out of your head—keep it out. What you did was the only thing to be done. The man's not only a beast; he's a crook."

"Crook?"

"Ten plenty of counts against Bannister, these two days," said Brian grimly. "He's going to answer to them now."

"Because he has the place—the money—and you know, Brian," she said anxiously. "You gave him back the Diamond—"

"Gave it to him! I'll say I did. A mistake, maybe. I'm thinking it's the master key to the job. He's not right to give you the Coote Diamond—not right at all."

"He didn't give it to me. I was to be the guardian. So he said."

"Guardian? Good Lord. Sonia, do you know what the value of that stone is that you gave away?"

"How should I know?"

"Well, I know, and I'll tell you. Ten pounds! The thing's a fraud, a fake. Clever fake, but, an expert couldn't tell 'em apart by the eye. But nobody can get by with diamonds when I get my hands on them. Just French paste."

Sonia stared at him, and flushed.

"You see, don't you? The Coote Diamond's worth 20,000 pound! Where is it? Shot out to the States and sold—or maybe sliced up in Amsterdam. There isn't a doubt what Bannister's doing. He's bought the Coote Trust. Skinning it bare. It wouldn't be difficult, for Bannister. Fooling the lot. In his own wallet, so he can get away with it if he wants to. Leaving nothing but the hulk."

Sonia was on her feet in a moment.

"He's no right to do that!"

"Right! The man's a robber! The Diamond—that's only a side show. There's plenty more he could get his hooks on, if I know Bannister."

"What can you do?"

"Get to London—put it before the Trustees. They must be asleep or unless they're sitting in on this skin-game with Bannister. But I can hardly believe that. I'm the last heir at law, and I've the right to call for an investigation. I must be there by morning. There's one job that has to be done now, though."

"Sonia, two days ago I didn't care a hoot about the Coote fortune; certainly I never thought of investing it, or watching Coote. But now it's the only thing in sight. After the way Bannister's put it over on you and me I'll take the roof off King's Elm House before I'll let him get away with such crooked stuff as this. When any man challenges me, I'm a fighter."

"I'd give up nothing I'd a right to. But, Brian—you surely needn't leave me now?"

"I'll be on the road in half an hour. Morning's got to find me at the Trustee's office, slamming it in! I'd be a fool to let Bannister get ahead of me. But don't you worry. I'll be back here tomorrow night. I'll ring you all sleeves a-row—fetch you the news. If you want me, I'll be at Deane's Hotel, Charing Cross —phone Temple 260."

He scribbled it on an envelope and gave it to her. "Sonia, you'll wait for me—won't you?"

He caught her hands.

"You're going to tell me again—what you told me in that house. You meant it, didn't you—for all time?"

"Now?" she said under her breath.

"Now!" said Brian. He caught her to him, kissed her passionately, felt her heart racing. "Sonia—you darling!"

She turned her face up to his, her arms clung round him.

"For all time! I don't care what happens, while I'm here, Brian. I wish you hadn't to go! Take me with you!"

"Three hundred miles in an open car; and you dead tired already! I'll take better care of you than that. But what—I'm not going yet!"

The window, overlooking, gave on the open street. He stepped across to draw the blind. He stopped dead, and drew back a little; she saw his face change and his jaw harden.

"What is it, Brian?" she said moving to his side. She was just too late to see the dark face under the sou'wester that went suddenly by the window. But there was no mistaking the back of that burly figure in the oilskin coat that trudged past and vanished into the gloom.

Brian pulled the blind down.

"Nothing!" What do you mean, nothing! I saw that man from the car, not two hours ago on my way to Bannister's. The shrimp who was saying on you—and on me—all the way across."

Brian nodded.

"That's the fellow. Queer, isn't it? Sticks like glue. Seems sober tonight. He was half drunk when I ran into him in the village last night."

"You did?"

"I'm thinking it's a pity I didn't clean the car right over him; he's the sort that wouldn't be any loss. As a trailer—if that's the idea—he struck me as being a bit on the heavy side, and rather talkative for a blackmailer; but I suppose he's been celebrating his discharge from the sea. Yes, that's the fellow all right. Still here."

Sonia looked at him, her face rather white.

"Why? Is he after me?"

"Of course not. He's after Bannister. Though he seems to have an interest in me, too. How, there's only one thing could bring a thug like that all the way from Portstown to King's Elm. Money. Bannister's the only man here that's got any. To get money out of Bannister is a pretty tough proposition, and that fellow, I'm thinking, means out of getting it, must have a very strong pull over him. I suppose you needn't ask me how—that he's fixed a deal with Bannister tonight. I'm belief is that Bannister will keep it. If he doesn't, I will I'm going to be there—I've got to know what his business is with Bannister before I go any further. I'm going to learn it, too. The Coote property is going to be my affair, and all my business is with Bannister."

He laid his hands on Sonia's shoulders.

"I'm dealing with this, I'll see no harm comes to you; I'm going to have right out with him. You're not scared are you, dear?"

She could not answer, the landlords daughter knocked at the door and opened it; a brisk, good-looking girl with a tray, who made a cast a glance of curiosity at Sonia, smiling at Brian. Miss Ned was very popular at the King O' Bells, and acquainted with the coffee was ready.

"Good girl, Mary," said Brian, "let's get to it." He led Sonia into the back parlor, a cozy little room with a fire of logs and a round table that gave upon the garage yard. The table was laden with plates of fresh cut sandwiches and a supply York ham. He poured out a cup of hot black coffee and handed it to Sonia.

"Drink that. The stuff to give the troops! Not that you look as if you needed it. I do. I'm feeling self a cup and attacked the sandwiches with a healthy appetite. Sonia sipped at her coffee, watching him.

"Now to finish with Barber. He's after Bannister, because Bannister's the man with the money. He watched me, of course he knew me for Bannister's fiancee; knew what my position is. Ah, you—no Sonia because he was interrupted in fury; I suppose he couldn't help seeing that. He knew nothing about that letter, of course.

"Couldn't be! I'm not so sure what he knows. You remember he was seen coming out of my cabin while I was on the boat-deck—"

"Of course. I took him for a sneak-thief prospecting for valuables and caught him on the hop. His tale that he went there to abuse the poor-laird was plain." Brian said you didn't mind anything, Sonia—did you?"

America Transfers Silver Under Heavy Guard

In secrecy and heavily guarded a $100,000,000 shipment of new silver from the United States mint in Philadelphia is pictured arriving at the treasury building in Washington. Secret service men armed with machine guns guarded trucks transporting the metal, which was transferred partly because of overcrowded conditions at the Philadelphia mint and partly because of U.S. government policy to concentrate gold and silver currency in a few heavily protected spots.

Nazis Halt Drive Again at "State Enemies"

Alarmed over the ill winds blowing toward Germany, a high council of Nazis has called off the drive against "state enemies", Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, and Joachim von Ribbentrop, ambassador-at-large, are rumored to have impressed on Reichsführer Adolf Hitler the full meaning of the antagonism abroad. Two direct results are expected from their advice. One is suppression of racial and religious attacks and the other is a special effort to build up goodwill with Great Britain, thus furthering Von Ribbentrop's efforts which began with the Anglo-German naval agreement. Some measures also will be taken to throttle Julius Streicher, publisher of the Stürmer and leader of the bitter campaign against the Jews.

THE GENERAL PUBLIC WAS INVITED

In order to demonstrate how the British Army lives and trains during peace time, the Gloucestershire regiment held an "at home" day recently to which all the public was invited. In view of the gas "scare," which is now sweeping the big cities of Europe, the demonstration attracted quite a bit of attention.

TARZAN THE UNTAMED— (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

For half a minute Tarzan stood noting distant landmarks that he judged might be in the vicinity of the fallen plane. For no sooner had he realized that the British Lieutenant and the Red spy were again in trouble than his inherent sense of duty to his own country impelled him once more to forego his plans and aid them.

He feared from what he judged of the machine's location that it had fallen among the almost impassable gorges of the wastelands. And he believed that the slender English youth and the slight girl he had befriended were probably killed. Yet there was a chance that they might have landed without fatal injuries.

And so upon this slim chance the ape-man started out upon what he knew would be an arduous journey that he might attempt to save the two if they still lived . . . Meanwhile, Lieutenant Cecil worked for two days upon the damaged plane, though from the first he realized the case was hopeless.

At last he told Olga, "I knew it," she said calmly. "I have done my bit for my country; I have found you again, and now, all I hope for is a quick release from prolonged suffering. But while we have food I must tell you what, 'till now, I have kept secret from all the world."

Library Corner

Science Simplified

"Through Space and Time" by Sir James Jeans. Cambridge 1934. These are published lectures which were delivered at the Royal Institution and were designed to appeal to an audience of from eight to eighty with the scientific knowledge ranging from that of the child to professors of science and members of the Royal Society, all of whom expected to be interested as well as entertained. That this rather difficult aim has been admirably fulfilled is well evidenced by a perusal of the book.

It deals with the geology and evolution of the earth and planetary system, the internal constitution of the stars and nebulae. The language is simple and easily understood, the science exact and the latest theories and discoveries of modern science form the basis of the articles. The book can be recommended not only as an introduction for the younger to these subjects but also to the better informed reader who wishes to bring his information up to date.

Science Mystified

"New Pathways in Science" by Sir Arthur Eddington. Cambridge 1935.

This new book of Eddington's, which like the above was originally delivered in lecture form, is a sequel to his work "The Nature of the Physical World". It professes to explain in non-technical language the latest theories and discoveries of abstract science. The style the author adopts is lucid enough but the subject matter is hardly of the nature to be readily converted from the realm of pure mathematics to that of Kindergarten English.

The book is not to be devoured like a fairy tale but will require painstaking reading and rereading to thoroughly digest it's contents. However it can be unreservedly said that the sincere student of science will be well repaid for his efforts.

It might be well to mention in passing that the two above books have been universally recognized as the outstanding books of science of the present season.

White House Peeper

"41 Years in the White House" by Irwin H. (Ike) Hoover. Houghton Mifflin.

This intimate and revealing insight into the lives of the various inmates of the White House since 1891 was compiled from notes made by the Chief Usher which were to form the manuscript of the book. Unfortunately his untimely death in 1932 prevented their completion which robs the story of some of its interest. The book will be a feast to those who crave to know the favourite colours and flowers of the notable, but the true student of science will be well repaid for his efforts.

War in Africa

"Afrikander" by Denys Reitz. Minion-Balch.

This autobiography of the author is a sequel to "Commando" which deals with his experiences during the Boer War when he fought with the Dutch settlers against the British. The present story deals with his self imposed exile and return and his final conversion to the cause of a united South Africa. Through the influence of General Smuts he helps, at great personal loss, to quell a rebellion among a section of the Boer population who have been incited by German propaganda. This is no sooner settled than the Great War breaks out and he enlists with a South African regiment to invade German South West Africa and later the German colony in the south east. After the subjugation of the German forces here he is sent to France where he remains for the conclusion of the last two years of the war and the occupation of Germany.

The narrative was undoubtedly written from day to day rather than completed years later in the form of memoirs, since we gather from the present book that his previous work was so written. For this reason it has a freshness and exciting anticipation of coming events not to be found in books of the memoir class and, is, in all, a most engaging tale.—J.A.D.

Relief Administration by National Commission is Advocated by Mr. King

Provide Useful Work Objective of Liberal Party

CLOSE CO-OPERATION

Liberal Leader Claims Unemployment Increased Under Mr. Bennett

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—(CP)—Election of a Liberal Government at Ottawa to cap Liberal victories in the provinces would provide the best king of a National Governments to cope with industrial and social problems, Liberal Leader Mackenzie King believes. It would ensure co-operation between the Federal and Provincial Governments because all would be of one mind and it would make the elimination of constitutional difficulties easy.

Unemployment was Mr. King's subject in the third and last of his pre-campaign radio speeches last night.

Provision of useful work for the unemployed for which the men would be paid wages adequate at a lower rate than in private undertakings was the objective of the Liberal Party, Nationwide co-operation was necessary to a solution of the problem, he declared. He also lifted the Liberal policy of a representative National Commission to deal with all relief administration and to devise means of providing work for the unemployed.

The Commission would enlist the co-operation of municipalities, provincial governments, municipalities and public bodies generally to make a contribution to its aid. It would be able to avoid overlapping and duplication of effort and eliminate relief rackets and abuses.

NO TIME CHANGE

Local Board to Continue Meeting at Old Time

Members of the Belleville Cheese Board will continue for the remainder of the period of advancing time in this city to meet at the same hour of 11.30 o'clock Daylight Saving Time on Saturday morning, it was decided at Saturday's meeting of the Board. The suggestion by Secretary Mallory, that the time of meeting be advanced to 11.00 o'clock (D.S.T.) was met by a motion, that the same time be continued. Only one member supported the suggested change when a vote was taken on the matter.

It had previously been pointed out by Secretary Mallory, in advancing the suggestion, that producers were busy now getting in the harvest, and that the time of meeting advanced one hour they would be able to get home sooner and get at the work in the fields.

The period of Daylight Saving Time in this city was discussed by Mr. James Cook to be effective for only two or three weeks more, and a change, in his opinion, at this time was not advisable. "Just let's continue as we are for this season," agreed a member.

Invited discussion on new regulations regarding the new regulations under the Dominion Marketing Board, which required a license fee of one dollar from buyers, and an assessment of one cent per hundred pounds of all cheese bought. ## FARMERS STILL WANTING HELP

Applications for farm help in this district are still being filed by the local Employment Service at Clarke's office. It is expected by September 1st, 1,000 farm hands will be required. The placements would be made by the office today. Transportation to the jobs is being arranged by the employers who unless personally inspected by the office through an arrangement by the office.

WILD DUCKS SEEN FEEDING IN BAY

Scores of wild ducks have been congregating in the marshes of the Bay of Quinte during the past few days, feeding and paddling in the shallow waters close to shore. Big, larger flocks have been observed in the reeds north of the bay bridge. Several flocks were sighted feeding unmolested on one of the government docks this morning.

METEOR LEAVES A TRAIL OF SPARKS

An incandescent meteor, leaving a wide trail of sparks in its wake, which illuminating the countryside for a brief period, flashed across the sky not far from the earth from the west late Sunday evening, and disappeared off in the east. Observers who noted the phenomenon declare believed the meteor must have struck the earth owing to its unusual brilliance and low trajectory.

FIRE CHIEF OF CLAYTON DIES

Notification was received today by Fire Chief Lynch of the city of the death of Fire Chief Bennett of the Clayton fire department. Chief Bennett was seriously injured last Wednesday, when a fire truck of the Clayton fire department was struck by a motorcycle, while responding to an alarm. He was taken to hospital in the city on Friday by Chief Lynch during his vacation tour of the state.

CITIZENS COMPLAIN OF SMOKE NUISANCE

A rolling pall of smoke, which has been issuing from the west side city dump at the foot of Dundas street for the past two days was the subject of considerable complaint on the part of residents in the vicinity today. Owing to the fact that the fire is following subterranean channels through the dump its extinction at the present time is virtually impossible, it was pointed out. On Monday the thick smoke almost obscured the bay at times.

ROAD COMMITTEE HOLDS SESSION

Members of Hastings County Council road committee were in session last this afternoon at their regular meeting which was devoted for the most part to the routine passing of accounts and bills. The meeting was presided over by James Howard, chairman of the committee, held in Shire Hall.

YOUNG PEOPLE ENJOY OUTING

A most enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent by twenty-five members of the Y.P.S. of the Zion's United Church, Kingston, on Monday, when they visited their former pastor and his wife, Rev. L. S. and Mrs. Wilson, 55 Willetta street. The spacious lawn was an ideal place for the games and afternoon social half hour was spent. Charles Smith, president of the group read an address and Miss Doris Young presented the host and hostess with a beautiful upholstered chair. Following this ceremony the party left for the Frontenac cottage at Roseport, where they enjoyed a swim in the bay of Quinte. Returning, lunch was served and then a ball game followed between the Arrow Delivery of Kingston and the C.D.S. team of this city, the game being won by the Kingston squad 9-8 in seven innings.

WORKMEN REMOVE OLD SPUR TRACK

A force of thirty section hands are engaged this week at the south station of the Canadian National Railway in the work of ripping up the tracks on the old spur line leading from the south yards across the city bridge to the Cluthings Machine Shop. Owing to lack of use, the spur line has become inoperative, it is expected that the south bridge will also be removed with the tracks.

SEVEN PHEASANTS SEEN IN FIELD

Favorable weather conditions, plenty of food and the fact that stringent game regulations now protect them has resulted during the past year in a remarkable increase in the number of pheasants in this immediate district. The gally colored birds once sighted only at rare intervals are now frequently seen farms and vacant fields just west of the city. Seven were observed in one flock in a field recently cut on field on the Marshall Road opposite the Institute Lane on Monday morning.

CANADIAN COAL FOR CITY SCHOOLS

Members of the Board of Education, firmly believe in the boy-at-home movement, are again setting a good example this year by their announcement of intended purchase by tender of approximately 900 tons of Nova Scotia coal for schools of the city. Tender bids will be accepted up to August 15th, contractors are being advised through local advertisements.

OAK LAKE WATER RATED FIRST CLASS

"Safe for swimming or drinking", was the report of the analyist upon a sample of water taken from Oak Lake during the week and despatched to Toronto for thorough test. The water was given a "Class A" rating by the analyst in his report. This, it is pointed out, is the highest rating that can be given. Oak Lake this year has been visited by hundreds of Belleville and district residents over the holiday week-end while the shores are crowded at all the present time with the permanent homes of summer campers.

NAME OMITTED FROM THE LISTS

In the list of floral tributes in memory of the late Mark Tucker, husband of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Farrell, Great St. James St., were omitted.

TENDERS FOR FILL NOT YET RELEASED

Up to the present no word has been received in the city regarding the award of tender for the sewer fill contract, it was stated by one local contractor today. The fill for Dundas street, Front to Church, by Ottawa will extend from the present government house extension to the north shore and will require thousands of material.

CHILD DARTS IN FRONT OF MOTOR

Taken to Hospital But Injuries Are Not Serious

Darting out in front of oncoming traffic at the upper end of Front St. nearly resulted in serious injuries to little Dorothy Potter of this city, early last evening. Jack Waldron, Trenton motorist, was proceeding northward on Front St. when little Dorothy, age eight, dashed out from the west side of the street in the path of the vehicles. Mr. Waldron swerved his motor car suddenly to the left, but struck the little lass a glancing blow to knock her to the pavement. Subsequently Mr. Waldron's automobile collided with a parked car, the property of J. R. Irvine, 87 Chatham St., resulting in slight damage to both cars. Little Dorothy Potter was later rushed to the Belleville General Hospital in the city ambulance, driven by P. C. Thompson, but fortunately no serious injuries resulted. It was announced after the little lass received medical attention at the police station. Traffic Officer Ross and Delaney assisted in the investigation as to the cause of the accident.

POLICE COURT

Lewis Mahoney, Madoc motorist, appeared in the local police court held before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., today, charged with driving a motor car while intoxicated. The matter was enlarged until Friday.

The case arose out of a motor accident during the night on Bridge street when Mahoney was driving a car owned by Mahoney and collided with another motor car, being driven in the opposite direction by W. E. Fitzgerald of East Onaga, N.Y., on North Front St. late last night. The matter was investigated by Constables Evans and Roe, with the result that Mahoney and John O'Neil, an occupant in Mahoney's car, were both arrested, O'Riley pleading guilty to a charge of drunkenness in today's court and paying the minimum fine. The car belonging to Mahoney was also badly damaged. According to police reports, Mahoney's car struck the left front fender of Mr. Fitzgerald's new sedan, badly damaging the fender.

A number of intoxicants, who had been picked up by the authorities over the week end, pleaded guilty to charges of intoxication when arraigned before His Worship today. The usual fine was imposed, as was the case in one case of the breach of the H.T.A. a charge of speeding on the highway.

Other cases to have been heard were postponed until Friday next, owing to the absence on holidays of Crown Attorney R. C. Donnan, K.C.

KIWANIS HOLD OPEN DISCUSSION

Arrangements For Autumn Carnival's Chief Subject

On open-forum meeting constituted the weekly luncheon of the local Kiwanis Club today at which time general discussion was the order of the day in relationship to the future activities of the club.

President Cliff Barrager occupied the chair and opened the discussion in regards to the repeater Kiwanis Carnival, that is to be held at the Belleville Arena in October, in which time one of its largest floor shows ever to be presented in Eastern Ontario will be one of the centres of attractions along with dancing every evening to a famed Canadian dance band. The largest show of its kind, is being planned by the local Kiwanis for their annual autumn Carnival next October.

Although no official delegates were named, the question of attendance to the district Kiwanis convention at London, Oct. 7th and 8th was also prescribed for consideration. The local Kiwanis Club will send official delegates to this important district convclave for the purpose of exchanging ideas with the members of other clubs and also to assist in the unity of Kiwanis International. The local Kiwanians are planning a big time for the Thousand Islands in a fortnight's time at which time their wives of Belleville will be the guests.

Kiwanian Bill Cook acted as the official leader of the day, while Miss Farrell, Great St. James St., were omitted.

Obituary

LATE MRS. CARTER

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Carter, wife of Mr. George Carter, took place Monday afternoon from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Albert Dafoe, Dufferin Street West. The service in the home and at the gravesside in Belleville was conducted by Rev. Canon Bedford-Jones. The bearers were six grandsons of the deceased.

LATE MRS. SARAH CARTER

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Carter, wife of Mr. George Carter, took place Monday afternoon from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Albert Dafoe, Dufferin Street West. The service in the home and at the gravesside in Belleville was conducted by Rev. Canon Bedford-Jones. The bearers were six grandsons of the deceased.

The funeral were Messrs. Robert Fisher, Reginald Sexton, James Sexton, Thomas Sexton, Victor Fudge and Arthur Fudge.

LATE PETER W. BOVAY

Sunday afternoon the funeral of Peter William Bovay, who died suddenly from his late residence in the 1st Concession of Sophiasburg, Prince Edward County, and was largely attended. The floral tributes were also many in number, being sent in to the home and at the graveside in Bur's cemetery was conducted by the Rev. R. A. McKee, pastor of the United Church at Crofton.

JOHN EDWARD BELCOUR

John Edward Belcour died at his home in the 5th concession of Sidney on Monday, August 5th. Death was due to a heart attack which came on him suddenly, he being up to that time apparently in his usual state of good health.

The late Mr. Belcour was a life long resident of Sidney township and was highly esteemed by many friends who will regret to learn of his sudden passing. He was in his 68th year and was born upon the farm where he lived all his life and where he died. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Belcour. He was a member of the Plymouth Brethren and was a man of fine character.

Surviving him are one daughter, Mrs. John Gallivan at home; one son, Roy Belcour of Madoc; two sisters, Mrs. John Boyd and Mrs. James Smith of Belleville, and one brother, Charles Belcour of the 7th concession of Sidney.

ISSUES OF DAY ARE DISCUSSED

Cannifton Liberals Meet to Hear Candidate Speak

Monday evening was a red letter evening for discussion of politics at the Cannifton Liberal Club, commencing at 9 o'clock D.S.T. the broadcast of the third address by Hon. W. L. M. King was received. Mr. Carl Reid had everything arranged and the meeting was a tremendously good one. The large number gathered on the lawn in front of the Town Hall listened attentively to the address and pudging from the hearty applause it was highly appreciated.

Following the broadcast, Mr. Arthur Gough, chairman of the Liberal Association of Thurlow, chairman of the evening called the meeting to order and the following were assigned places on the platform, Hon. Nelson Parliament, Charles Cannifton, Col. R. R. Hurdon, Mayor Geo. O. Tice; Walter Harder, chairman of the Liberal Association of Sidney and several of the poll chairmen and P. C. Marshall.

Mr. MacLaurin was the first speaker and during his brief address he read (from a telegraph message from an editor's) in one of the Canadian magazines, it was a comparatively easy for people to be loyal when conditions are favorable it is not so easy for people to be disloyal, when they have no stake in the country, after a period of twenty cents a day and board it is no wonder they become discouraged. In a land of plenty they own nothing and they have nothing in prospect. So far as Canada is concerned the remedy the distress it must act promptly and courageously. The qualities most necessary in administration are not self-assurance, self-assertion and bluster, but becoming wisdom and ordinary courage. He who would lead Canada must lead. Nor can he lead who has no policy. Nor can any policy be satisfactory that does not in everything have regard for the righteousness that exalteth a nation.

Liberal Organizer Present

Mr. Drummond Wren, Liberal organizing address and forcibly impressed on one and all that it was their duty to help the party and not to force casting their ballots. Five years ago the country was in a state of excitement and our country would be damaged beyond repair. Loud applause at times greeted the fine address aroused the three hundred present in a high pitch of enthusiasm and approval.

Mayor Geo. O. Tice dealt with the matter of unemployment and endorsed Hon. Wm. L. Mackenzie King and his policy in this regard. Mr. Tice's address was well received.

The candidate, Mr. Charles Cannifton spoke at a greater length and dealt more particularly with the third party under Hon. H. H. Stevens. He referred to the fact that

WIFE AND MOTHER NERVOUS

Premier testified: The Henry Government, then in power, ordered the whole thing investigated and Walker was summoned as a witness.

The Premier was asked what about Vincent Foley being summoned. As a result Walker and Foley arrived in Toronto. To his knowledge, none of the alleged incriminating documents in the Gunning case had been handed over up to that time Mr. Premier said.

Disappointed by Tactics

"We are bitterly disappointed by their tactics," he continued. "Finally he (Walker) demanded $1,000 of me saying Foley and I have got Gunning on the spot and got money and now we want some from you before we go on." "Did you pay him $1,000?" Mr. Newton asked. "I certainly did," said Premier Hepburn replied. "I discussed the matter with Mr. Munro and he said he would not believe Walker. As a result, I left for Ottawa."

Evidence was brought in about Walker disappearing when he was to testify before the Public Accounts committee of the legislature and of a warrant being issued for him.

He was located in a Toronto Hotel.

The Premier said Walker had brought the story about alleged irregularities in the highways accounts and also as to his wife and members of his party. Asked if he had seen Walker since that time, Premier Hepburn replied: "I don't think I have seen him since except at political gatherings."

Premier Hepburn gave evidence about the alleged confession of money through Mr. McCrimmon and Mr. Maley.

"Walker has been a lot of whisperings about dire things that were going on and was trying to get me going to tell about me if I didn't pay him," he said. "Mr. McCrimmon and Mr. McLay told me Walker was also about Walker's threats. They feared for the safety of my wife and my mother. I told them that in my opinion the man was a thoroughly crippled blackmailer and not to pay him any more money."

The Premier was asked by Mr. Newton if he had ever paid Walker any money. He replied that he had given him some to publish his (Walker's) statement in the Thomas Times Journal and at another time had given him $25 to go to Toronto.

Outside of that the Premier had given Walker no money and had he entertained his alleged threats.

Wife Visits Stevens

Asked if the Premier's wife and mother were made nervous by Walker's alleged threats and attempts to extort, Mr. Hepburn replied in the affirmative. Mrs. Hepburn had kept men sleeping behind the house as a precaution and on some occasions there had been police guards at his farm home. His wife had been very much worried, he said.

The Premier then gave his evidence in reference to the alleged attempt of Walker, assisted by Foley and Lesakry, to obtain money from him on May 22nd of this year. He said he had returned to Toronto and about six o'clock in the evening received a telephone call.

The person on the other end of the wire introduced himself as Walker and Mr. Hepburn demanded a hearing at once. Premier Hepburn said he told the latter to see Mr. Maley, who was at once but he would have to get back to Walker.

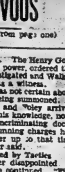
The Premier said he then proceeded to another of his farms and was at the barn with his farm superintendent, and a veterinary surgeon when Mr. Lesakry appeared and asked to see him alone.

Premier Hepburn said he told Mr. Leakey's car. Edward Woolfrey his personal secretary, with him.

He swore Leakey's first words were "Walker called me at six o'clock. I just want to warn you that he is a dangerous man and he's going to get you."

Opinion Stirring

Premier Hepburn said he told Leakey in his opinion Walker had nothing on him. He wanted to know what connection Leakey had with the matter. What was he doing there?"



"Mr. Leakey told me he was there to give me a friendly warning," the Premier continued.

"I said I'd say to that," Mr. Newton asked.

"I told Leakey if you're friendly, you'll stand by me and I'll have a warrant issued for me (Walker's) arrest," the Premier replied.

Leakey said: "Oh, no, I don't want to have anything to go with it. He's a dangerous man."

Premier Hepburn gave his evidence in clear, calm tones, standing back of the barrister's table to the right of Magistrate Livermore.

BABY CARRIAGE IS HIT BY CAR

Fortunately Child Removed Minutes Before Accident

What might have resulted in a painful accident was fortunately only saw the damaging of an empty baby carriage on Front street, yesterday, when damage was caused when Roy Cassidy, 121 Church St., driving a motor automobile, while the vehicle was in gear, The auto was turned on the vicinity of the Front Church in front of which the empty baby carriage was standing. When Mr. Cassidy cranked his motor car the vehicle leaped forward, the owner of the car fortunately had stepped aside and avoid being crushed between the car and the building.

As the vehicle gained speed across the sidewalk it collided with the baby carriage, which was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Samuels, residing at Simcoe, Ontario. Mrs. Samuels had just removed their two-year-old baby from the carriage a few minutes previously. The carriage was badly damaged as it struck the corner of the Church building. Plainclothes Officer Leard and P. C. Arnott investigated the matter and Mr. Cassidy was apparently willing to make whatever restitution was necessary. The motor vehicle was not badly damaged during its driverless trip.

DISCUSSION HELD ON MARKET ACT

clerical costs, would amount to 1-18 of a cent per pound on the product purchased. The bidding will be dropped that much.

"It was also shown," continued the news article, "that last year a production was chosen in Ontario totalled 72,487,000 pounds. At the rate of 5 cents per hundred pounds it will be the case under the bill to be applied this year the sum of $3,624,350 would be collected and turned in to the Marketing Board. In regard that is where the money will be added $1 from each buyer as a license fee. Mr. Johnston stated in the house that this was the usual custom, all such added costs would be collected from the local sources from which they always came—the ranks of the people...."

"The farmers don't mean, don't you?" interrupted a member. "Did you ever see it happen, when it didn't come out of the farmer?"

Mr. Cook continued: "A bulletin from the Ontario Milk Producers' Association sets forth the orders and decisions of the Local Board. In paragraph 2 the following is set out:

"All licensed cheese buyers shall pay to the Ontario Cheese Patrons' Marketing Board, in respect to the marketing of the regulated product (cheese) at the rate of 5 cents per hundred pounds on the product purchased on or after August 1, 1935. The said said toll is to be remitted monthly and is directed to the secretary of the Cheese Patrons' Association, Belleville, together with a certified statement of all cheese purchased from the date of the last return up to the date when the said return is made, together with the registered number of the factory from which the cheese is purchased."

Belleville and district cheesemakers and buyers are familiar with the above regulations, it was pointed out.

Following the reading of the news item some discussion centered on the manner in which the 5 cents toll would be collected. It should be deducted from the buying price of the cheese or sold on the involce. Finally to clear matters, Mr. Cook moved, that the secretary of the local Board be instructed to write the head of the Dominion Marketing Board to ask if the new 5 cent assessment on the hundred pounds could be taken off the invoice. The matter will be submitted at the next meeting by the secretary.

Text Third Radio Address By Rt. Hon. Mr. King

Ottawa, Aug. 5—Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King delivered his third and final radio address on Monday night which is herewith given.

"Tonight," Mr. King said, "I propose to speak to you of the problem of unemployment, and the methods by which, should it be continued to power, the Liberal Party will seek to deal with that problem.

"I know that you do not need to be told that unemployment is today's most urgent national problem. You need only look to your own pavement at the general election five years ago, when he asked you to return him to power. You are also your support because he said: 'I promise to end unemployment.' I propose to provide work for Canadians. Work, I may add, that other Canadians do not ask for charity or doles. They want work and wages.' Perhaps, too, you will recall that Mr. Bennett said: 'Some one is responsible for unemployment.' Also: 'Is there any excuse for Canada to have hard times, if the Government is discharging its duties as it should?' And again: 'There is no excuse for unemployment in Canada, if a Government does its duty.'

"Since Mr. Bennett came into office you have had even stronger reason for feeling that your government is the most urgent of Canada's immediate problems. Today you have seen its menacing shadow creep nearer and nearer to your own doors; more sold more, you have felt its cruel pressures in your own homes. Its grim spectre, its tattered rags stalk about in our land. I doubt, however, if your experience has been sufficient to cause you to realize the appalling extent the problem has grown in the years of Mr. Bennett's administration. Let me give you the figures of the numbers of unemployed and of persons dependent upon relief, so far as it is possible to obtain them from Government records. These figures may help you to appreciate why I may be a little more guarded in my language, little less profuse in my promises, and not quite so ready to guarantee what State action can accomplish, as Mr. Bennett, or Mr. Woodsworth or Mr. Stevens.

Lack of Information

"One thing the Government might have done, but which has never been done, is to have supplied Parliament and the country with accurate information, year by year, as to the numbers of unemployed and the numbers on relief. There is nothing even today, in the nature of a national registry, notwithstanding that the Federal Government, Provincial Governments, and municipalities, have, year by year, for five years past, been paying out millions upon millions of dollars for the purpose of providing employment and relief. The statistical department of the Government have never been given the necessary instructions or authority to collect detailed information. Moreover, this is a work which no one ventures to estimate what the effect of all this may be upon the wealth and morale of the nation? It is any wonder that today there is widespread laxness and demoralization throughout the land, and that, in the case of young and old alike, many are in a condition of despair?

"But even this is only a segment of the circle. In formulating effective upon problems of relief and unemployment as they exist in Canada today, serious regard must be publicly are constantly at work we are too apt to forget the fact that behind these lamb—with which men and women and children in rural and isolated communities are faced. The farmer is as dependent for the support of himself and his family upon the crop and other products as the industrialist upon the goods he manufactures. He may be able to secure. Where crops fail, or are destroyed by pest, or rust, or drought, or where live stock perish through disease or lack of sufficient nourishment there is a situation often more appalling than any which confronts the city dweller. The condition is only one degree less hazardous or baffling where, for want of markets, crops must be destroyed or cattle slaughtered.

Privation on the Plains

"Let us never forget that the problem of privation on the plains is as important as that of privation in the cities and towns. They are the two sides of one and the same problem; the plight of the nation as a whole, to be dealt with successfully, they must be viewed as such.

"The rising tide of urban unemployment, and of rural distress, has been accompanied by a rising tide of Government expenditure. From the time of Mr. Bennett's Government came into office, until the 31st of March of this year, the Federal Government had spent, as its share of relief expenditures, the sum of $150,000,000. In addition, similar vast amounts have been spent by the Provincial and municipalities.

In the same period the Government loaned to the provinces and municipalities, under relief legislation the sum of $23,000,000, and guaranteed loans to the extent of $9,000,000. This does not include any estimate of the vast expenditures in connection with the Government's wheat operations. Apart from the guarantees on this account, Mr. Bennett's Administration had incurred, for relief purposes, by the end of our last fiscal year, a total financial responsibility or liability of $200,000,000. That amount is more than the complete annual expenditure of the Government of Canada in any of the years since Confederation up to the third year of the Great War.

"And what, as a result of all this, is the present situation? At the end of five years of unexampled relief expenditure, the numbers of the unemployed are at least four times as great as they were in 1930, and relief is demanded on as great a scale as ever. Big and young, homeless, unemployed men congregated by thousands in camps and trekking from province to province. National Defence.

"Out of such things young men become inflammable material in the hands of those who would destroy and the camps themselves become, as was inevitable, breeding places for communism, and for fascism. The country has witnessed the birth of both movements in the city of Canada. It has seen relief strikers and unemployed trekking into Ottawa. This estimate was not corrected or contradicted by the Government. Taking the latest figures on employment supplied by the Bureau of Statistics, it can be shown that, on the basis of relative basis, there are today over 700,000 wage-earners out of work. If we go by the estimates of social workers, labor organizations and labor leaders, that could be far out if we place the number of unemployed at 1,000,000 or over a million. To avoid the possibility of misrepresentation, I shall keep the total at over 600,000. It is at least within the mark to say that unemployment is greater in Canada today is four times what it was when Mr. Bennett's Government assumed office.

Increase in Relief

"I have been speaking only of the unemployed. I have not spoken of the numbers on relief. You must be careful to distinguish between the unemployed. It does not follow that, because men and women are unemployed, they are necessarily upon relief. Similarly, it must not be supposed that, because men are working, or employed for a part of the time, sooner or later, they may not be forced to apply for relief for themselves and for those dependent upon them for support. Figures on direct relief are available from May, 1932 to May of this year. They show that, during that period, the number of persons who have been compelled to receive State assistance in May, 1932, there were 497,000 who, in this manner, received relief. Three years later, in May of this year there were 1,272,000.

"The statistics I have given reveal something of the extent of Mr. Bennett's failure to redeem his promises to end unemployment, and to abolish the dole. They are, however, far from revealing the true picture. It is not with statistics, but with human lives, that we are concerned. You cannot measure fear, privation, and want, by any yardstick, or addingmachine. Who will venture to estimate what the effect of all this may be upon the wealth and morale of the nation? It is any wonder that today there is widespread laxness and demoralization throughout the land, and that, in the case of young and old alike, many are in a condition of despair?

"But even this is only a segment of the circle. In formulating effective upon problems of relief and unemployment as they exist in Canada today serious regard must be publicly are constantly at work we are too apt to forget the fact that behind these lamb—with which men and women and children in rural and isolated communities are faced. The farmer is as dependent for the support of himself and his family upon the crop and other products as the industrialist upon the goods he manufactures. He may be able to secure. In the same period the Government loaned to the provinces and municipalities, under relief legislation the sum of $23,000,000, and guaranteed loans to the extent of $9,000,000. This does not include any estimate of the vast expenditures in connection with the Government's wheat operations. Apart from the guarantees on this account, Mr. Bennett's Administration had incurred, for relief purposes, by the end of our last fiscal year, a total financial responsibility or liability of $200,000,000. That amount is more than the complete annual expenditure of the Government of Canada in any of the years since Confederation up to the third year of the Great War.

"And what, as a result of all this, is the present situation? At the end of five years of unexampled relief expenditure, the numbers of the unemployed are at least four times as great as they were in 1930, and relief is demanded on as great a scale as ever. Big and young, homeless, unemployed men congregated by thousands in camps and trekking from province to province. National Defence.

"Out of such things young men become inflammable material in the hands of those who would destroy and the camps themselves become, as was inevitable, breeding places for communism, and for fascism. The country has witnessed the birth of both movements in the city of Canada. It has seen relief strikers and unemployed trekking into Ottawa. This estimate was not corrected or contradicted by the Government. Taking the latest figures on employment supplied by the Bureau of Statistics, it can be shown that, on the basis of relative basis, there are today over 700,000 wage-earners out of work. If we go by the estimates of social workers, labor organizations and labor leaders, that could be far out if we place the number of unemployed at 1,000,000 or over a million. To avoid the possibility of misrepresentation, I shall keep the total at over 600,000. It is at least within the mark to say that unemployment is greater in Canada today is four times what it was when Mr. Bennett's Government assumed office.

Increase in Relief

"I have been speaking only of the unemployed. I have not spoken of the numbers on relief. You must be careful to distinguish between the unemployed. It does not follow that, because men and women are unemployed, they are necessarily upon relief. Similarly, it must not be supposed that, because men are working, or employed for a part of the time, sooner or later, they may not be forced to apply for relief for themselves and for those dependent upon them for support. Figures on direct relief are available from May, 1932 to May of this year. They show that, during that period, the number of persons who have been compelled to receive State assistance in May, 1932, there were 497,000 who, in this manner, received relief. Three years later, in May of this year there were 1,272,000.

"The statistics I have given reveal something of the extent of Mr. Bennett's failure to redeem his promises to end unemployment, and to abolish the dole. They are, however, far from revealing the true picture. It is not with statistics, but with human lives, that we are concerned. You cannot measure fear, privation, and want, by any yardstick, or adding mach

GUESSING AT EARTHQUAKES

Reuben Greenspan has claimed to forecast earthquakes, but as there are said to be 60,000 big and little tremors yearly of which about nine thousand are felt, and as he like others knows where quakes are most likely to be experienced the guessing according to critics is not so difficult after all. Imposing his claims seems at first when he tells time and place, but it is said that statisticians could make as good a record in guessing.

Greenspan claims that he relies upon the moon and the other heavenly bodies of the solar system, upheavals occurring in the earth's crust when the pull of gravitation is strongest as the celestial bodies, are in the right position. Alexis Perry of the University of Dijon, France, between 1847 and 1875 developed this theory, reaching the conclusion that quakes are more frequent at new and full moon than at first and last quarters and that particular places are affected when the moon lies directly to the south. Other means of telling quakes have been devised, some by sunspots, enthusiasts in this method correlating shocks with solar disturbances.

But as a writer in the New York Times points out, it should not be difficult when a noticeable quake takes place every hour of the day, and when he is furnished with a table of times, ranges and of mountain fringes along the deeps, to guess when a quake will strike a vast area like India or South America. He calls Greenspan's way "astrology in a new guise."

But what is the use of foretelling quakes, unless they were exact? Few if any persons could get away and perhaps few would leave anyway.

To the man on the street it seems that the only prediction of quakes which can ever possibly come would be from the mass of evidence in science. How that is possible is not clear as a disturbance would not be recorded until it is too late to get away. It seems unlikely that such guessing will ever have any practical value.

FORD AT 72

Henry Ford passed his seventy-second birthday, one of the great men of the present age, typical of its rapid and amazing development, its intense energy and desire for achievement, and an outstanding individualist. Rochester Democrat and Chronicle speaks of him as looming large on the world skyline. "To find him, now at seventy-two, carrying on with the enthusiasm and vigor of youth is to realize again the exceptional stuff of which real success is made".

Ford could not agree to the retirement at any set age, that seems clear enough. It would be one of the losses of the world were geniuses such as he, to be compelled as so many men are compelled to do to give up their lifework when age is reached. Unfortunately in the business world it seems that speed forces men out of employment when they reach the higher years and when their experience should count for much. The drawback is that they may lag technically and in point of knowledge of latest developments. This is unfortunate since if there were some means by which man could keep abreast of development in industry, he might continue to hold his post.

Men, it would appear should make themselves indispensable even if old age does come so that they are not retired. This need not add to the problem of the younger men finding employment as it will probably resolve into one of the problems to be solved in the days of greater leisure.

Mr. Ford is an individual of whom the world must be proud, an individualist as everyone ought to be, not a man regimented into a groove under a deadly system. Though the product of an industrial and machine age, Henry Ford is an individualist.

JOURNALIST'S CREDO

This creed of a newspaperman who became the president of a university, Walter Williams though he never attended college is remarkable for its all-embracing affirmations on the things of life—

"I believe that the journalism which succeeds best—and best deserves success—fears God and honors man; is stoutly independent, unmoved by pride of opinion or greed of power, constructive, tolerant but never careless; self-controlled, patient, always respectful of its readers, but always unafraid; is quickly indignant at injustice; is unawayed by the appeal of privilege or the clamor of the mob; seeks to give every man a chance and, as far as law and honest wage and recognition of human brotherhood can make it so, an equal chance; is profoundly patriotic while sincerely promoting international good-will and cementing world comradeship; is a journalism of humanity, of and for today's world.

Dr. Williams also called journalism "the great, unfinished fascinating new adventure."

After fifty years of work on the press, he completed a six months tour of the globe which he said to have come to know as intimately as an astronomer knows the stars and night skies.

A VOICE FROM THE GREAT OPEN SPACES comes to us expressing sympathy with the folks who are obliged to remain in the hot city while others are enjoying the cool and balmy breezes of the great outdoors, living on fish mostly, and feeding the mosquitoes and black flies, if any, with only a moderate selection of cuss words. Says this correspondent:

"We have been having a great time with plenty of fish, berries, and all the comforts of a home away from home, with an occasional bunch of ants down our exposed torso.

"The gang entered heartily into the spirit of the outing and everybody was assigned tasks so that there would be no dirty dishes or unmade beds and meals would be ready on time.

"At first all went as smoothly as the proverbial marriage bell, but of late the spirit of laziness seems to have entered the camp. There is a tendency for each to whose turn it is to cook, whose to wash and whose to wipe the dishes, and if this continues, rank mutiny stares us in the face.

"Already we are dispensing with regular washing of dishes, and all kinds of inventions are being used to save physical labor, such as cutting wood, or rearranging the tents and bedding. Now the dishes are just cast into the water and given a rub, and placed on a pedestal being placed in readiness for the next meal.

"A heap of stories have been accumulating about the monster fish that got away, and the one that it didn't get away and was photographed with a magnifying lense.

"There is also a sad story of one of the gang's first introduction to those pretty little creatures with the fluffy tail and black and white markings, the animal which distributes strongest as being safer for a cat. We said STRONGLY advisedly and one of the gang had to take to the bush in a nude state, hating himself and all concerned for a day or two, before he was received back into full membership.

"Then there was the calf with a cough which caused a night alarm, and a cry of beef—and of the old cow which had misplaced her calf, and came nosing around the camp and bawling to best the band when sleep was the most thing we all wanted.

"That's just an outline—the inside story of this camp will appear later when the book-of-words have all been duly gathered up. —and SO LONG UNTIL NEXT TIME.

FOLKS HAVE POKED PARTICULAR FUN at Belleville's telephone fire-alarm system and pointed with pride at the pretty red fire alarm boxes on every corner of streets in their home towns. We must confess that the jibes have hurt sometimes, but wait a moment — Brockville has had those pretty little red fire-alarm boxes these many years, with a glass front to smash and a hook to pull whenever there was a fire nearby — also an electrician paid by the year to keep the darn thing in good running order. Yessiree, Brockville is right on the fire-alarm box map. But Lissen, here's a statement from Fire Chief Harkley of the Lid and City, published in Blue Bell, organ of the Bell Telephone Co. In 1934 there were 181 fire alarms in Brockville, of which 162 were telephone alarms and only 29 from street boxes, with four verbal alarms. In 1933 there were 134 alarms with 109 of these telephone alarms, 20 from street boxes and five verbal. In 1932 there were 115 telephone alarms out of 133 total alarms—and the figures of each year back to 1928 show that telephone alarms have increased while street boxes have decreased. This, of course, may be explained by the rapid increase in the use of telephone for business and home purposes, and it is much easier to run to the phone and give the alarm than run to the corner and smash a glass window and pull down a hook, notwithstanding the thrill of hearing the number announced on the town hall bell and the sirens sounding of the fire department hurrying to the scene. Looks as though our forefathers in City Council builded better than we knew — or words to that effect for Belleville has never had anything else than a telephone alarm system.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT
by T. E. LAWRENCE

The Alma men, who knew every blade of grass on these, their own village pastures, crept unhurried within three hundred yards of the Turkish machine-guns. The sweep held by our frontal threat, first knew of the Alma men when they, by a sudden burst of fire, wiped out the gun-teams who flung the right wing into disorder. Zeid rallied it, and cried advance to the camel men and irrire almost on foot.

Mohammed el Dheilh, comptroller of Zeid's household, led them on his camel, in shirt and white flowered robes, with the crimson bustor of the Ageyl over his head. All who had remained in the centre with us, our servants, guards and machine-gunners, rushed after him in a wide, vivid line.

The day had been too long for me, and I was now only shaking with desire to see the end. Zeid beside me slapped his hands with joy at the beautiful order of our play unrolling in the frosty redness of the setting sun. On the one hand Nasim's cavalry were sweeping a broken left wing into the pit beyond the ridge: on the other the men of Alma were bloodily cutting down fugitives. The enemy centre was pouring back in disorder through the gap, with our men after them on foot, on mad, on camel. The Armenians, crouching behind in all day unmoved, now drew their knives and howled to one another in Turkish as they passed forward.

I thought of the depths between Aba and Kerak, the rivers and the Hesa, with its broken, precipitous banks, the unforgiveness, the narrows and defiles of the way. It was going to be a massacre of men who have been crying-sorry for the enemy, but after the angers exertions of the day I had no mind was too tired to care to go down into the place and spent the night saying them. By my decision to fight, I had lost a twenty or three of our six hundred men, and the wounded would be perhaps three times as many. But the destruction of this thousand poor Turks would end short the issue of the war.

In the end we had taken their two machine-gun howitzers (Skoda guns, very useful to us), twenty-seven machine guns, two hundred horses and mules, two hundred and fifty prisoners. Also we only fifty got back, exhausted fugitives, to the railway. The Arabs on their track from sunset caught them and either ignobly as they ran. Our own men were by the pursuit exhausted that they were tired and sore and hungry, and it was prolific end.

As we turned back it began to snow; and only very late, and by a last effort did we get our hurt men in. "The Turkish limited lay out, and were dead next day.

XXIV

WINTER SHUTS US DOWN

Next day and the next it snowed yet harder. We were weather-bound, and as the days passed the monotony we lost the hope of doing. We should have pushed past Kerak on the heels of victory, fighting the Turks to Amman with our wounds: as it was, nothing came of all the loss and effort.

The Arab regulars drove leaderless and men into the village and huddled them in a lack-lustre idleness against which memories of movement availed little. Indeed, Reason she was within doors. Twice I ventured up to taste the cold bitterness, upon whose even face the Turkish dead, poor brown pats of stiffened clothes.

HIGHWAY WORK FOR 240 MEN

Single Unemployed to be Given Work in North Ontario

Toronto, Aug. 3 (CP)—Captain T. H. Heron, Acting Commissioner of Public Welfare, today began the task of preparing 240 unemployed for departure to Northern Ontario by the first of next week for highway work.

The announcement was made a few hours before Toronto's unemployed awoke in the hostels from which they were evicted Thursday morning under the Ontario ruling slashing able-bodied single unemployed from relief rolls.

Following a conference with Captain Heron, Premier Hepburn's appointed arrangements had been made for the return of the men to Toronto's hostels and the relief lists.

In addition to the 240 men requested last night, Captain Heron was advised 300 more men should be ready to leave by the end of the week pending decision of the provincial officers.

Meanwhile in London, the City Council declared the Premier's order removing the men from the relief rolls was a "foolish piece of legislation." They decided to care for single men thrown out of work and in need in London. The province will be asked to reconsider the order and provide for those who cannot find work. Complete physical examination and classification of the men will be started immediately by a medical board, which will be appointed today by the Ontario Department of Health and the Toronto Department of Welfare in the meantime all unemployed will be replaced on relief on the same basis as before the order.

Following their examination all men found physically-fit will be struck from the relief rolls if they refuse to accept the employment found for them by the Government.

Captain Heron will confer with H. G. Hudson, Superintendent of the Ontario Employment Bureau as to farm positions for some of the men.

EXPRESS FEAR OF LOSING GAMES

German Campaign May Cause Upset in Plans

(By Melvin K. Whiteleather Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Berlin, Aug. 6 (AP)—An authoritative source expressed fear today fear of losing the 1936 Olympic games because of the campaign against Jews and "political Catholicism" by behind Nazi attempts to obstruct foreign correspondents.

Loss of the games at Berlin would come close to being a major setback for the Nazi regime, economically as well as politically.

Millions of marks are being spent in preparations with officials counting on an influx of foreign money to stimulate declining business.

Informed sources said certain Nazi quarters were convinced there existed among foreign correspondents a scheme to have the International Committee cancel the games.

The ousting of some newspapermen and the influencing of those remaining against sending home reports of the attacks against Jews and "political Catholicism" was said authoritatively to be the method of Dr. Paul Joseph Gobbels, Minister of Propaganda, to comply with the alleged plot.

Members of the Foreign Press Association said they were mystified as to why government officials should believe charges of this existence.

Besides the building of a whole city at Doeberitz and houses at Kiel for boat training as well as expenditures at Garmisch and Partenkirchen for winter sports, crews of laborers already are working on the capital.

Seven and one-half miles of highway for Berlin's Luftgarten—to Doeberitz are being paved while construction is going on in almost every downtown Berlin block.

It also announced mobilization of the Cossaria Division as well as formation and mobilization of the Nationalist Storm Battalion's Division to be created by Il Duce since the start of his controversy with Ethiopia.

4,000 STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK

Greek Revolt Brings Wage Increase of 15 Percent

Athens, Aug. 6 (AP)—Four thousand strikers, their revolt crushed, returned to work today with a 15 per cent wage increase negotiated by Gen. Kakapoulos.

The General, after accepting the surrender of the rebels, was instrumental in settling the disputes outstanding among which was the wage question.

Unofficial reports of casualties from the street fighting at Candia yesterday showed six persons were killed and 51 wounded.

Privately reports were received the strikers, supported by the populace, had created a menacing situation in the outlying districts of the Candia district and rumors were current that the strikers had overthrown local authorities.

The government, however, rejected orders for warships and bombing planes to go from Athens to Candia.

Labor circles attributed the uprising to failure to meet the demands of the strikers, although some government quarters placed the responsibility on adherents of former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos who led an unsuccessful revolt five months ago.

Quintuplets Are Bringing Wealth To North Ontario

North Bay, Ont., Aug. 6 (CP)—The Dionne quintuplets are bringing prosperity to this section of Northern Ontario. As a stimulant to the tourist trade they are proving unbeatable.

Tourists from all parts of Canada and the United States have headed for the Dafoe Hospital, 12 miles from here, in literally thousands. Traffic police estimated 1,000 visited the hospital on a Sunday preceding a holiday and about the same number on the following day.

On an average Sunday they estimated more than 2,000 visited the hospital. The average daily crowd was placed at more than 1,000.

They are declared responsible for giving resort proprietors and others dependent on tourist trade the largest season they have had since the tourist business became a major factor in the commercial life of the Nipissing district.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe, physician to the famous babies, reported there was no accommodation for tourists last night anywhere in the district between Huntsville and North Bay. Upwards of fifty automobiles were parked on the streets of Callander throughout the night, motorists trying to get some sleep before they went out to see the first of the babies' "day-time" shows at eight o'clock in the morning.

25 Percent Increase

A. McDonald, clerk of the North Bay Board of Trade's Tourist Information Bureau, estimated tourist traffic had shown a 25 per cent increase over last year. Others confirmed this estimate.

Many tourists have driven from such far-away districts as California and Florida for the express purpose of seeing the babies, and then return home without a stopover.

From other sources came the report the Province of Ontario was enjoying a revenue of at least $360 to $400 a day, or nearly $12,000 a month in gasoline taxes paid by visitors to the quintuplets' home.

A private estimate declared 30,000 automobiles or an average of 500 a day had travelled over the two and a quarter miles from Callander to the hospital since June 1 when arrangements were completed for admitting visitors.

On an average trip of 100 miles within Ontario, it was estimated 500 cars would use 6,500 gallons of gasoline, on which at six cents per gallon, the province would collect $390 a day in taxes.

FORM RED CROSS FOR ETHIOPIA

To be No Repetition of Sequel to Crushing Former Expedition

Addis Ababa, Aug. 6 (AP)—Empress Haile Selassie today announced today a new phase of Ethiopia's preparations for possible war with Italy—the launching of the Empire's Red Cross.

An imperial tent, lavishly decorated in oriental style, was erected in the palace park and Empress Menen, wife of the Emperor, called to order a meeting of Directors and complete organization of the Society.

From the humanitarian viewpoint Ethiopia's adherence to the Red Cross was welcomed as it mean there would be no repetition of the sequel to the crushing defeat of the Italian invasion at Adua 40 years ago, when many Italian prisoners allegedly were mutilated.

COMMISSION IS ADVOCATED

Four Fold Increase

Reviewing the unemployment situation, Mr. King said Prime Minister R. B. Bennett had promised to end unemployment in 1930 but unemployment had increased four-fold since then. Mr. Bennett had failed because he had not understood the seriousness of the problem. As yet there had never been a National registry of the unemployed and the government had not thought it worthwhile to obtain accurate and complete information on the subject.

Mr. Bennett had tried, Mr. King said, but he had tried to do too much himself. The problem was too big for one man. It required united, nation-wide effort such as could be organized under a National Commission. The Liberal record in Soldiers' Settlement after the war and the Patriotic Fund during the war were examples, which might be followed in setting up the commission although each situation demanded appropriate treatment. The Commission would be asked, briefly, to enlist the co-operation of all agencies and arouse the will and spirit of the people.

Make Recovery Reality

Liberals took no issue with Mr. Bennett on the need for social reform, said Mr. King. They did challenge the means he adopted and were accomplishing reform any they believed he was confusing reform with recovery. Economic recovery was a necessary preliminary to any sound scheme of social reform. A structure of social service could not be reared on stationary or diminishing national income. It would be the policy of a Liberal Government to remove the shackles from trade and make economic recovery a reality.

As to the methods of reform it was now clear a broad scheme of social reform could only be achieved through the co-operation of the Dominion and Provincial Governments. To ignore the provinces or invade constitutional rights was to make a dangerous attack on the foundations of the Nation. A Liberal Government at Ottawa would be able to achieve more by co-operation with Liberal Governments in the provinces.

Touching on the relief camp scandal Mr. King said the camps were breeding grounds of Communism and Defeatism. The men in them were easy prey for dangerous agitators. The Regina riot arose from ruthless handling of the situation.

Useful Work Suggested

Under a Liberal Government it would be the aim to provide useful works for the unemployed, work in which the men engaged could take pride, such as building roads, improving park, afforestation, development of airway facilities and slum clearance. All would be directed by the National Commission and the men engaged would be paid wages although on a lower scale than in private undertakings. The Commission would also be invited to consider removing the camps from the jurisdiction of the National Defence Department.

Several times throughout his speech, Mr. King warned his hearers against accepting too much from Governments He said with the experience of the past few years before him he would be more sparing in his promises of benefits from the state action than in the past. Hon. H. H. Stevens or J. S. Woodsworth, He also said the existing $2,000,000 record to provide relief and to provide work projects was inadequate.

The Commission, however, could work out a long-range scheme of national improvement embodying all sorts of useful works As conditions warranted from time to time the schemes could be proceeded with or discontinued.

All unemployment provided would be in the nature of constructive work and the kind which would serve to increase "the social capital of the country as distinct from the private capital."

G. G. HOME

After years of "tanking I go home now," Greta Garbo finally did go back to her native Sweden where biographers relate, she was a barber's apprentice before her advent to movie stardom. But the glamorous Greta will soon be back, reports say, to continue her movie-making. This portrait was made just before she left.

LIFE BEGINS AT ---- WHAT AGE?

By Louis E. Bisch, M. D., Ph. D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

(Copyright, 1935, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The apparently growing tendency on the part of the employer to consider men past forty too old to work is as unsound in theory and practice as it is pernicious in its far-reaching results.

Men have been actually deprived of a livelihood because forty was shrieked and twenty or thirty put in its place. Fathers of families, earnest and conscientious for years, men who have actually in their small way helped to build a business, have been forced to seek employment in some new activity at the very time when their learning, ability and adaptability would not be possibly be functioning at its best.

It is not my intention to make a plea for the man of forty on sentimental grounds. Although such grounds should, indeed, have weight with any progressive concern. In industry and business the human element is equally as important as it is in our personal relationships. A purely money-making concern will never become top-notch. The most powerful organizations pay proper attention to health insurance, sick and death benefits, vacations, promotions. Bosses even go so far as to give the workers an actual share-holder's interest in the profits of the company.

My argument, however, does not lie along these lines. My claim is that the man of forty or older can often often prove stricken and valuable than the man of younger years.

To be sure, youth can claim enthusiasm, unbounded energy, willingness to learn, mental alertness and an aggressive attitude. With it, on the other hand, often goes carelessness, unbridled ego, lack of loyalty, lack of knowledge and, most important of all, lack of experience.

Confucius, that wonderfully wise Chinese sage, said: At fifteen, my mind was bent on learning. At thirty, I stood firm. At forty, I was free from delusions." Yet, how many men younger than forty are free from delusions?

And is not that perspective on life-bred only through long years of labor and hard knocks, more intimate knowledge of men and the other jungle beast an individual's own powers.

A man does not settle down before he is thirty, anyway. If his work be specialized, as most work is nowadays, can he honestly claim that he knows from A to Z as much before that time?

And how many men are not graduated from college before twenty-six. Business men with executive ability rarely begin to master the details of the business and gain the experience that will be the handling of other men any earlier. Are we to say that a man's best ability is behind him?

As regards factory workers doing routine mechanical jobs, let us say — can anyone honestly claim that the mental faculties after forty are so impaired that they can no longer move a lever or shift a gear as well as they could when twenty?

It is the psychological fact that the man who has already been accomplished by science, men can still be superficially alert and keen at sixty or seventy.

Employers often fail to bear in mind that as we grow older and our various mental faculties fade, those particular faculties stressed in one's work become keener.

Instead of addressing the man at forty let us encourage him.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Diet Hint

Food should be satisfying as well as nutritious. The former quality depends not so much upon the fact that the stomach is distended as upon the action of its muscular walls and the presence of its digestive secretion. Meats, fish, milk, eggs, potatoes, bread and sweets are particularly satisfying.

MOWAWK BRANCH SCENE OF ANNUAL S. S. OUTING

Melrose — The annual Sunday School picnic was held at Mowawk Beach on Wednesday.

The Rawdon boys' line up was—Bill Heath, Paul Stewart, Clifford Holmes, Lorne Holmes, Lorne Bateman, Gerald Broadworth, G. Oddie, H. Brown and G. Williams.

YOU boil your jams and jellies only about one minute instead of the usual 25 minutes or so. (Certo recipes give you the exact time for each fruit.) Certo makes gorgeous jams and jellies from any fruit . . . even fruits that never "jelled" successfully for you. The Certo short-boil method also gives you half as much again as less cost per jar because no fruit juice has time to boil away. And it is this magical Certo short-boil that ensures true fresh-fruit-flavour—Certo jells the juice that would have boiled away by the old (long-boil) method. Follow carefully the recipes found in the booklet under the label on every Certo bottle.

If you have a jam or jelly-making problem, write Consumer Service Department, General Foods, Limited, Cobourg, Ontario.
Made in Canada

IT BLOOMS BUT ONCE A YEAR

The night-blooming cereus or queen of the night blooms but once a year and only for a day—from sundown to sundown, with the flowers in full bloom at midnight. The plant shown above is owned by a resident of Ottawa. It is considered a very rare plant. It is over 30 years old and was secured some years ago. During its one-day blooming period it attracts many people to see it.

DEAFNESS and HEAD NOISES

A NEW DISCOVERY FOR THOSE SUFFERING FROM

Experiments and experience bring forth new lights on old methods and what was looked upon as the best possible last year, is surpassed today. Until recent years those suffering from Deafness and its often accompanying aggravating Head Noises were the least considered of all sufferers — a large attorney was known to say that only dentistry was more neglected in complete health. Now, thousands, young, middle-aged, or old.

That day is gone.

We have opened the door to new hearing by means of our newest invention; the reproduction of the auditory system by natural use, a method described by eminent men. A boon to mankind, substituting all the Dead Nerve ever wanted or hoped for. You forget your Deafness and Head Noises and hear all the world of sound, conversation, music, radio, talking, etc. Equally successful in children as it is in one by many has proved most. Recommended by leading surgeons.

Those suffering in Belleville. The eminent hearing aid in the world. Fits in the outer ear without head band. Requires no attention. The use of this small aid will give the greatest relief. Your case will be handled by actual test. Nothing to be done. You merely have to call at the address and we will meet you. We invite you to call or write

Lowest Levels Show Greatest Widths at Noon Hour

The following very interesting article on Reno recently appeared in the Vancouver Sun and was written by Sidney Norman, financial editor. Recent rumours cast some doubt on the continuance of dividends on Reno, but no announcement over the week-end was to the effect that directors declared the regular dividend of 4 cents a share payable October 31st. Mr. Norman's article, which was written before the latest dividend announcement, follows in part:—

The writer believes that recent developments at Reno, added to good conditions all round at Queen mine and recent remarkably successful diamond drilling results at Goldale Bell, have definitely proved, beyond doubt, that veins of the Sheep Creek area increase in width at depth and gained in the "white" quartzite and what is quite as important, maintain more than proportionate values.

Certainly, appearance of the Reno vein at No. 9 level, the deepest point yet reached, is far more encouraging from the miner's viewpoint than at surface, when the writer made his first visit to the property back in 1931.

All veins of the district appear to be more or less erratic in both widths and values, but upon a mine-run basis all seem to average up to a tenor that may be termed high grade in comparison with most other camps, here and elsewhere.

Reno Catching up

At the time the present general manager, W. R. Lindsay, M. E., assumed his duties, development of Reno was far behind what had been built in war times by the late John Mordaunt's company, need considerable repairs and improvements. It was a difficult job to catch up this work, but great headway has been made in the past year and Reno is now in better shape, underway and millwise, than at any time in history.

Reno is the first latter-day dividend-payer in the Sheep Creek area and the record it has achieved so far has been largely responsible for the great improvement in the general situation in the Nelson district.

PITCH SERVICE—The extent of the advance no doubt invites profit-taking, and the market will have to contend with this factor over the immediate future by way of digestion of the advance. Accordingly, hesitation and moderate irregularity may be seen immediately ahead, but the fundamental trend still appears upward. Such temporary developments are likely to be of temporary character only. An increasingly active market is to be looked for upon the earnings progress and dividend action of the leading companies, and a reappraisal of portfolios in the light of changing economic conditions is always desirable to assure successful market operations.

BROOKMIRE (FORECASTER) — Recent events clearly indicate that earlier indications that economic recovery is being established in the world as a whole and is proceeding apace in the United States. In this

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF MARY STELLA LOUISA VANBLARICOM, late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, Spinster, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1927, Chapter 120, section 51, that all creditors and others having claims against the estate of Mary Stella Louisa VanBlaricom, late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, Spinster, deceased, who died on or about the 26th of June, 1935, are requested to forward their claims, duly proven, to the undersigned, on or before the 1st of September, 1935.

AND NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that after the said date the administrator will proceed to distribute the estate, among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to such claims of which he shall then have notice.

country (U.S.) at this time last year, industrial activity was declining; and sentiment in business as well as financial circles was distinctly that of a number of uncertainties. At the present time, in the first, business in most parts of the country (U.S.) is showing a degree of activity which is exceeding popular expectations. A feeling of confidence is spreading.

Symptomatic of this improvement is the rise in commodity prices, the increase in the volume of general business and sales, and the ease with which credit situation is also likely to be an important influence in promoting recovery.

With the New York market continuing its advance and rising to a new 1935 high this past week, the question is being asked as to the possibility of the Canadian list also continuing their dormant state. Actually, however, the fundamental factors in this country are improving.

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 6 (CP) — Liquor shares bit up a good pace on the Toronto industrial list today, encouraged by new high prices for the year on the New York market. Distillers Seagrams, which made a new high for the year, 33¾, and closed around the best. Canada Malting, which sold at 45¾, was also well in the black at over losses at the close.

Trading on the New York market, several groups of the Toronto industrial list showed a fair upward trend today with trading heavy in the liquors and oils. Distillers Seagrams, which made a new high for the year at 33¾, up more than a point from the previous close, led the industrial Alcohol A advanced ¼-point each. In the oils gains up to ¼-point were made by Imperial and International Petroleum.

The base metals were stronger for Ford A. C.P.R. and International Nickel showed a fair gain, while Consolidated Smelters dropped about 3 points.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 6.—(CP) — The Mining section of the Toronto Exchange turned strong this afternoon, with the majority of the Base Metals traded along with scattered gains and secondary golds were firmer. The price gains and gains in the group were not important, however, as there was only a moderate narrow recessions than gains at the close. The weight of the changes over at the Board was up for the day on increased volume.

The senior golds showed little minor losses in the mining section while the Base Metals and Nickels were firm so strong although metal prices were unchanged. Nickel-Copper was offered in considerable volume at 34 cents and Wright Hargreaves weakened 10 to 7.40. Higher prices ruled for Hollinger, Sylvanite, Sisco and Little Long Lac and Reno lost 6 cents to 1.14.

Radios Split Even with Oshawa Over Weekend and Remain in Third Place in League Race

Williams Hurls Perfect Game Here on The Holiday

KERR HITS WELL

Radios Almost Sure To Earn Place in The Playoffs

Displaying his finest pitching form of the season Jack Williams hurled the Bellville Stewart-Warners back into sole possession of third place in the O.B.J.L. standings day morning, when he applied the whitewash brush to the Oshawa Brewers at the local baseball park after having been forced to accept a 7 to 5 reverse at Oshawa on Monday. The dividing of the two games over the week leaves the Radios still one and a half games in front of the Oshawa nine.

Williams was in the form on the holiday morning as he mowed the visitor batsmen down before a striking out eleven, for a league record this season, and limiting the visitors to three scattered singles, all two coming in one inning. Williams rose to heights as the Brewers advanced their only runner past the middle sack in the eighth, Johnny Ford getting to first. Williams improved master of the situation as he struck out the diminutive Oshawa centre fielder stood and watched the last two strikes sweep across the plate. It was a masterful display of pitching, displayed by a proven hurler. Matthews, on the other side of the mound, hurled steady ball as he whiffed five, but walked one, and limited the Radios to five hits, while being for extra bases as Weir and Ford each collected doubles. Weir in the initial frame until the seventh. Matthews turned the Radios back in order in one of the most dangerous pitchers' battles seen locally this season.

Johnnie Kerr led all hitters of the day with two singles to three visits as Weir and Ford hit doubles and Green garnered in the fifth Bellville tally. Hurst, Middleton, Rowden, Wallace and Jubenville were all singles from the delivery of Williams, who proved most effective in the pinches. Running catcher by Weir, Ford, Jubenville and fast fielding by Ford featured defensively in a game, that saw the two opposing pitchers in complete command. Matthews used a fast ball and curve to good advantage while Williams' curve ball and his control was nothing short of masterful. The only run of the game was scored in the seventh frame as Kerr singled, stole second and scored home on Weir's double, Alex being out trying to steal. In the seventh and eighth Bellville had Kerr and later Green reach second and one out, but they did not advance. The visitors made their final bid in the ninth as Ford singled, was advanced to second on McCollum's sacrifice and went to third on Osborne's infield out. Hurst then advanced to the plate and with the count of one ball and one strike, the diminutive Oshawa fire-ball stood to his task on his shoulder and watched Williams' curve ball go past for two perfect strikes as the "Chief" proved his superiority.

Robbed at Oshawa

In a hectic nine inning tussle played at Motor City Saturday, the Stewart-Warners were forced to accept the short end of a 7 to 5 score, which Umpire Fred Fair of Oshawa, while base umpiring, is alleged by the latter to have entered in materially, three of his decisions on the bases being strenuously objected to, the result of which undoubtedly cost the Radios one good ball game. So strenuous did the locals object, that Pitcher Art Calhoun was ejected from the park for his verbal attack upon the official in question. Following this game the executive and the Radios informed President Swanston, that they would not be accepting the game as the official of the day here on the holiday. Umpire McCarney of Peterboro being substituted in the stead.

The Brewers cuffed the combination of deliveries of Calhoun and Williams for 10 safeties, but could only collected seven hits from the offerings of Dose Ogden, who in turn was relieved when Bellville batted and hit Wilkins, Calhoun was derricked in the fifth by Ford's double, while after Rowden had doubled against the right field fence, making the count 5 to 3, Ogden was relieved by Williams, who struck out Wilkins 11, by Williams 8; Base on balls, off Williams 1; Umpires:- McCarney, Fetherborn, plate; Woodley, Belleville, Time of game one hour. 30 minutes.

to score two runs on Kerr's hit, Barclay and Green's sacrifices and Elliott's error, which added two more, but two fourth as Kerr and Weir hit and stole, Kerr scoring on Weir's drive to left. After scampering home on a wild pitch, Belleville was held in the way to knot the count in the seventh, but Umpire Fair called Grey out, after the local lefty had rounded first on an infield hit. Kerr then tripled to deep left and scored on Ogden's error in the ninth Wilkins was hit, Grey hit to short, who tossed to second and in order to try for the double Jubenville failed to touch the middle sack and Grey forced Jubenville at first. Wilkins out and Barclay's subsequent hit went for naught when Green objected strenuously to three bad calls by Umpire Fair. Two batters later, with a full fielders' choice, gave Oshawa two in the ninth, Jubenville's homer, with Rowden aboard, gave them two more in the fifth while they added one on a wild pitch, Belleville was held in check by the two pitchers' delivery during one of the most heavily played games of the O.B.J. this season.

With the Peterboro downing the Port Perry boys Saturday 7 to 0, the Leaders are leading the league, Kingston second, Belleville third and Oshawa in the cellar, but one and one-half games behind the Radios. President Charlie Meagher announced today that the Oshawa Brewers' postponed game of last May would be played as a twilight fixture on Thursday night of this week.

JOHNSON QUITS MANAGERSHIP AT CLEVELAND

"Big Train" Retires And Steve ONeill Takes Over

INDIANS WIN

The Yankees Gain Little Ground, When Tigers Idle

By ANDY CLARKE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Walter Johnson, one of baseball's fast one is of little avail when he's sitting on the bench and the darling of the fans today may be the butt of their jibes tomorrow.

Walter Johnson, one of the greatest pitchers, who ever poised his toe on a rubber, has doffed the managerial garb to go to the town and the chickens on his Maryland farm.

For more than 20 years Johnson baffled batters with a ball that came down the alley like a bullet. The American League bestowed him with its highest award, the distinguished cross of baseball, a Mathews cross studded with 20 diamonds. But he's through as a manager.

After a long seige of illness he took over the helm of Newark Bears in the International League. In 1928 he went back to pilot Washington Senators, the team he made he had spent is big league tenure. In 1933 he was ousted from that position and took the helm at Cleveland. With the years the clubes turned to last.

There are some, however, who feel that Johnson, one of the new mown hay, He always will have a hankering for the smack of leather and baseballs. And so it wouldn't be surprising if he went into the minors. Johnson's managership is quite reach the crescendo of the managers, and he's a veteran at Steve O'Neill yesterday, playing baseball to defeat Chicago White Sox 4-2.

The Yankees walloped the Red Sox 10-2 and Washington turned back the Athletics 10-7 in other American League games yesterday while in the National League the Giants beat Brooklyn 5-4; Pittsburgh beat the Boston Braves 8-1 and the Cincinnati Reds beat the Cubs 5-1.

Al Hollingsworth and Don Brennan, Reds—Between them help Cubs to single run and eight hits, preventing Chicago four games behind Reds.

Ralph Winegarner and Earl Averill, Indians—Former pitched Yankees O'Neill's debut as Cleveland manager by outpitching Lefty Gomez to stir hits, Averill by hitting homer, double and two singles.

Earl Whitehill, Senators—Outlasted Athletics to win tenth victory of season.

Orville Jorgens, Phillies—Snuffed out Boston rally with two hits.

Red Ruffing, Yankees—Beat Red Sox to end personal four game losing streak.

Champion F. Perry Gr eets Champion A. Perry

Apparently the PERRY of England are very much at home in championship ranks. Here are two of that ilk, "tops" in their respective classes. Fred Perry, Lawn tennis ace and mainstay of the British Davis Cup team, "Little Alf" Perry, new British open golf champion. Alf is holding his golf cup as he congratulates Fred on his Wimbledon-showing. He gave Fred a present of a few hints on the links' game. They are not relatives.

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY.

Thanks to the trusty left arm of Jack Williams the local Brewery Warriors are still in the hunt for the C.O.B.L. bunting. It is doubtful if Williams has been seen at a better advantage on the home mound this season, Jack possessed everything he desired and literally made the Oshawa batters like it, but as is usually the custom, when it is announced as the starting pitcher, his teammates forget all about assisting him slightly with a few runs, but Johnnie showed his mettle and proved his superiority especially as the Brewers seemed as cocky as they could be as Williams was "any day in the week" as they termed it. Maybe the great fence buster, Doug May, and a few other Oshawa batters will have a word for the "Chief" in the little respect for the "Chief" in the future, as Hewitt Smith of Kingston remarked as Williams mowed him down yesterday, "I know just how they feel, it looks easy to hit Williams' curves, but it just isn't being done today or any other time for that matter, also.

Yesterday's a.m. tilt was as pretty and thrilling a pitchers' battle as one could wish to ask for. Both Williams and Matthews gave the fans some of the prowed masters of the situation, as the box score indicates, although Matty was somewhat slightly touched by the hitter innings, as Williams was master as the game progressed. His curve ball and control was a little less than perfect, he's still the best hurler in this man's league and a lot of stiffs are included. Matty had a great wreck end for Johnnie Kerr, who fattened his batting average considerably at the expense of the Oshawa hurlers. Yesterday's performance cagles out of three tries and on Saturday Kerr cuffed the pellet for a triple and a single in his set of four tries, making five hits out of seven times at bat for Kerr over the week end.

A number of out-of-town visitors took in the game yesterday and were very much impressed with the calibre of ball being dished up in the C.O.B.L. It is estimated that the local baseball park during the Central loop this year is the best in the province, at least the race is still wide open and we believe that the Central district is staging a major league race in the larger. Why even yet the lowly Oshawa nine could finish in first place if they won all of the remaining 8 games. As the league swings into the home stretch we find the standing as follows:

| | W. | L. |
|---|---|---|
| Peterboro | 11 | 8 |
| Kingston | 11 | 8 |
| Belleville | 10 | 8 |
| Oshawa | 12 | 10 |

Games this week: Wednesday at Peterboro at Kingston. Thursday: Oshawa at Belleville (twilight). Friday: Belleville at Oshawa.

Following yesterday's game President Charlie Meagher announced that Oshawa would return to Belleville for their final appearance of the season on Thursday to play their postponed game of May 29th. Providing the Radios can take the Brewers on Thursday for this game will their services will be over insofar as getting into the play-off is concerned, but the Mills-led aggregation still has local hopes of finishing not lower than second place. If they happen to take the top Peterboro was being used as the spot-light-shifter for the day. The reason was quite obvious, that is to any person who happened to be present at the game in Oshawa on Saturday and witnessed umpire Fair's exhibition of calling plays on the bases. Without fear of contradiction Skipper Mills and every sporty man had a logical kick as Fair was anything but fair in some of his rulings. First in the seventh Grey fairly beat out an infield hit, but was called out by Umpire Fair. The Radios objected strenuously until Art Calhoun was ejected from the park, following his remarks. Then in the ninth as the visitors were rallied and at the time looking for a double play ball, that in all probability would have retired the side, Umpire Fair called Wilkins out at second as Jubenville tried for a double and failed. Jubenville's foot was fully 3 inches or more off the middle sack as he turned to throw first, but Fair called the ball out just the same, and Kerr was declared, but the damage had been done and the game part of it. Not that in both incidents, subsequent hits followed, but would have given Belleville assured victory. It just looks as though Fair was out of his pose decisions and renders them when Belleville is playing the Brewers.

We understand, that Umpire Fair is also in every sight at the General Motors. How any umpire can expect to work all night and then be in any way impartial here since a ball game without his proper rest is beyond our comprehension. A rather comical incident occurred on this Saturday's game, when a roundtable controversy was being held, Umpire Fair being present. Many of the pros and cons concerning Skipper Mills remarked: "What do you say now Fair, at the Mills-Regt" "I'm a trimmer," was the surprising reply Fair received. "I don't know anything about that, but yes sure gave us a swell "trimming" Fair, Mills in disgust.

Credit should be said in relationship to the splendid support given the two pitchers yesterday, not a single error being chalked up against either club and the game was played in much less than one hour 30 minutes, much to the satisfaction of the cash customers. Russ Kitchen must have been on keen edge Saturday as he threw out 3 runners at three small bingles, as the Peles assumed the league lead by defeating Port 7 to 0 Victory over the Daly-led outfit.

The Oshawa punt races were held yesterday off Victoria Park, the local sailors relinquishing the title to date in favor of the sailing races at Deseronto. As there was no Oshawa entry at Deseronto, only two local craft went down to contest the honors with the Bay City. The usual Wednesday afternoon meet will be held tomorrow, however.

All is in readiness for the open golf tournament and play-offs at Central Park tonight when the Oshawa Golf and Curling Club C. C. try off the ld. Carl Gruber, local canoe paddler is under the Canadian Canoe Association finals, finished fourth in the double blade singles at Ottawa on Saturday. Business Manager Bill Fry informs us that the season's first football practice will be held about August 19th, with W. E. Kennedy, of Western University, coaching the local squad. . . Roy Covert, local packster now manager of Peterboro was a visitor in the city over the holiday, which reminds us, that hockey in Belleville this winter?

LOCAL GOLFER WINS TROPHY AT KINGSTON

Jack Sharp, of Bay of Quinte Club Defeats Field

H. RIDLEY SCORES

The beautiful Whig Standard Trophy, competed for by 95 golfers from all parts of Eastern Ontario and northern New York at the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club, Kingston, on Monday will repose in the locker room of the Golf and Country Club for the next twelve months, because of the two excellent rounds of 76 and 78 put together by Jack Sharpe, a member of the local club. The winner received a replica of the trophy and a suitably award from the Whig Standard. H. Ridley (representing the Belleville Golf Club secured the low net score for the afternoon round and was given a handsome golf bag for his effort. The day was ideal for golfing and the best fellowship prevailed. Mr. Sharpe is a golfer of note and has been coming to the front where he is identified with the Craig Nine of which he is Captain, the Bay of Quinte Country Club. Others to make the trip to Kingston were Mr. Ridley, Byron Irvine, partners with Mr. Sharp at the nine and 18 line. Reports state, the course was in excellent condition and the golf scene of the best seen in this district.

TORONTO LEAFS DOWN SYRACUSE

Flatten Fast Travelling Chiefs With Double Loss

By The Canadian Press

The long, profitable home stay of Syracuse Chiefs has ended and with it apparently has passed their hitting ability.

Only Sunday the ruling upstaters whitewashed the last two games on the home log by trimming the leagueleading Leafs 5-0 and 6-0 behind Lee Grissom.

Yesterday at Toronto Leafs handed the Chiefs a blasting a rise, that has been steady from the second division basement. The Leafs' margin was short. Toronto won both halves of a doubleheader, 7-4 and 6-5 and Manager Dick Porter lifting a bat, Montreal increased its leading margin a full game by taking a pair from Buffalo behind stand for the Leafs, and 6,000 turned out.

Porter "Whitey" Hilcher flattened out the Chiefs, scattering 10 Syracuse hits for the victory of the season before accepting the aid of Jim Faulkner who allowed three hits in the last two frames. Doc Leggett was the toughest hitter for him, the Syracuse backstop getting four hits in the single. Gordon Kimble, Hilcher's battery mate, was tougher on Bill Hogan and Coombs, Syracuse hurlers, getting three hits.

Porter Hilcher picked up speed where Hilcher left off, limiting Syracuse to four hits in the second game nightcap.

Kimble moved up into a third place tie with Baltimore by defeating that team in a night game 9-1. Bill Brenzel hurled great ball leading the Bisons to victory, allowing but five hits.

$200,000 GATE IS EXPECTED

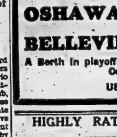
Share For Louis Will be in Neighborhood of $60,000



Chicago, Aug. 6 (AP)—A gate that may reach $200,000 was in prospect today for the heavyweight fight at Comiskey Park tomorrow night between Joe Louis, Detroit's knockout sensation, and King Levinsy, glorified ex-fish peddler.

Receipts at the Foley announced $110,000 was already in the strong box. He predicted another $100,000 was coming in before the wallloping Chicagoan and the Detroit negro started throwing punches.

If Promoter Foley is right, Louis, just 21 years old and yet to have his first shave, will earn $60,000 with his first tomorrow night. Levinsky will get a Detroit automobile plant a year ago to receive $50 of the first fight purse guaranteed 30 per cent of the receipts with 30 per cent going to the Kingfish.

Louis, weighing 194 pounds, a bit lighter than he expected to be, was resting at the summer home of one of his managers, Julius Black, near St. Joseph, Mich. He will return to Chicago tomorrow noon for the weighing in program.

Levinsky, weighing 198 pounds, also lighted he has been in shape, which is completely satisfied with his physical condition and believes he will win.

GIBBARDS AND COPLANDS SPLIT

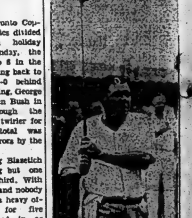
Two Fine Ball Games Witnessed in Furniture Town



Napanee, Aug. 6.—Toronto Coplands and Gibbard Athletics divided morning and afternoon baseball games here Monday, the visitors going down 8 to 6 in the forenoon fixture but coming back to the second game 3-2 as behind Jack Gibbard's fine pitching. George Blaseich opposed Carmen Bush in the first game, and although the visitors got to the local twirler for five hits, the six-run total was largely the result of 4 errors by the Napanee infield.

After the third inning Blaseich was unbeatable, allowing but one man to get as far as third, with two away in the fourth and nobody on, Gibbards unleashed a heavy offensive touching Bush for four straight hits that resulted in as many runs before the side was retired. Hits by Scarlett, Dunn and Bush in the seventh supplied the winning counters. Blaseich had three hits including two walks and Bush one of each. Dunn was the big hitter with four out of four for Napanee.

Jack Gibbard and the left-handed Blaseich opposed in the second game and Toronto star was at his best. Art Scarlett, Napanee centre-fielder, supplying the offensive punch as he drove in three of the five local hits. Polster had 14 strikeouts, but the visitors' pastmen found three of their seven passes to get their run total. Only thirty batters faced Gibbard, a double play in the ninth ending the game.

LEADING GOLFER

Babe Ruth, former home run king, makes his debut as a tournament golfer. He is shown here driving off the first tee in the Westchester invitation tournament at Rye, N. Y. The Bull has a bit of a hook, but Babe dropped it in the hole for a bird. Besides Thompson his fellow baseball uniform Ruth still draws a crowd when he appears.

SINISTER SHADOW

by JOHN GOODWIN

"Tan. But I couldn't tell the shifty people that. When I went through my things I found this something—a letter. But I wasn't even sure whether I'd brought it away with me. I couldn't accuse Barber,—and the last thing I wanted was any inquiry about it."

"What letter?"

"Bannister's — asking me to marry him."

"Ah!" Brian's eyes hardened. "Well, don't let that trouble you—because it won't."

"But I never set eyes on that man before, to my knowledge—how could he have known? Brian, that couldn't have been the motive that brought him from New York? Surely—"

"Of course not. But these fellows have a ferret's nose for any secrets of the people they're dealing with—it's their job. They don't miss anything that could be useful. Get it out of your head, Gonda, you've only a side-issue; you won't matter at all in this show. I'm putting it from Barber's viewpoint. Bannister's the quarry. But I can tell you what Barber is.

"He's a blackmailer and crook, or old-time who has a cinch of some kind on Bannister; what it is I don't know yet—it may be anything from diamond-faking to manslaughter. He has it or he wouldn't be here; he's a regular chunk out of Bannister's past that has boomeranged on him. And he isn't the kind to be afraid of taking chances. It can't touch him, you see. I'm going to be very sure it doesn't. That's why I'm going to take gold. Nearly ten o'clock. I've got to pull out now."

"Now, Brian," she said. "You say the man has made a date with Bannister — how can you know that?"

"You want me to tell you that? Wait, it isn't the time to meddle with people's letters; the thing came into my hands in a way that by chance. I'll attend to that; you're out of it."

"I won't be left out of it! Brian, I'm not a child, and I've got to know."

"You will. You'll know tomorrow, when I give you news, or if—if there is any. Nothing to it, most likely."

"You've got to tell me now! I shan't let you go unless you do; it isn't fair to leave me in the dark. I shan't sleep unless you do. What is it?"

He repeated to her the few brief phrases of Barber's letter, as he remembered them.

"The old chimney by the Stanley Mine, across the railway. As you don't like me to call that 'Gonda' you're no wiser than you were before. And I'm due in London, late in the morning—that's all there is to it. Good night, Gonda...."

She caught him by the arm.

"Brian!" she exclaimed. "Don't go! Leave it. I said, I—I couldn't meddle with that. For mercy's sake don't!"

She spoke with a conviction and appeal that should have checked him. But she clung to him as if she would stop him by force. Brian caught his breath, and looking down into her face, held her to him tight. His jaw sought hers as he rode a fatal folly triumphantly, beating as he felt her trembling. "Brian!"

"Good night, dear. Till tomorrow, he said quietly. He slipped out of the window and was gone.

Brian ran across the little garden and the yard, there were no lights, no sign of life, and started up his car. The Ring O'Bells ahead had closed at either end, one pair gave on the road, the others opened on the back lane that skirted the orchard. That was the shortest. He counted down the street lamps, every turn at which he knew, and swung gently into the road that curved towards the railway.

Between him and the old mine, the main line ran through a deep limestone cutting a mile long.There was a single gap with a level crossing which was only an accommodation-track for cattle and horses; the gates were locked at night. To follow the road right round the bridges to the northward meant a long detour.

It was much quicker to cut across on foot, once the line was reached. Brian shot the car backwards into a gateway not far from the gap, left it with lights doused, and ran down to the level crossing. Over the rails, a steep climb up from the cart-track on the far side. Once he turned sharply left, keeping by the wire fence along the edge of the cutting, and made all possible speed. A doctor's visit to Gonda ran brought him within sight of the mine, and he slowed down.

There was a dim light before the storm that threatening to break. The rain again had held off and heralded him into King's Run had long blown itself away. In the west the sky was almost clear, with a watery-looking moon, but on his own side the heavens were black as night when she had warned him not to go.

An unexpected sound reached him; he stopped. He could have sworn he heard a soft whinny, and the hoof-beats of a pony. He stood on a sheplish slope, peering into the darkness. A few yards ahead of him was the wire fence. Ahead and to the right, no great distance off, was the old mine. Its abandoned dumps and chimney stood well away from the line.

Even the line itself he saw a serpentine setting of the night approaching. It was the north-bound express, coming along at a steady thirty per hour, spouting a trailing banner of steam behind. That was lit by the dull glare from the fire.

The ascending roar of the train boiled out to the hills that Brian had heard.

Could he have been mistaken? Was Bannister here — mounted?

Nothing more likely. Bannister never walked a yard if he could help it. He was slow on his feet, but a keen horseman, and good across country; on short journeys he rode a fast and trappy car.

There was a straight short cut from Gonda's Run House across the waisted path.

The next moment a glimmer of lightning showed up a horse and rider barely a dozen feet away, moving towards him. Bannister's squat powerful figure in the saddle. There was a smell of the cob checked and shied, and a quick swinging oath.

"You!" rasped Coote presently. "You pup—you blasted spy! Damn you—what are you after here?" He jammed the spurs in.

"I want to square up with you, Bannister, and your ass-going friend. You've picked a pretty good place for it," said Brian, as he grabbed the bridle.

Coote lashed at him with his hunting crop. The man's eyeballs gleamed white; even in the dark his face was near enough for Brian to see in it not only blind rage, but surprise and terror. Quick as a flash Coote shifted his grip on the crop and struck at Brian's head. If the heavy metal head had got home it would have cracked his thickset skull. Brian ducked and took it on his shoulder. The crop swung back for a second blow. A quivering glare of lightning lit them both as Brian grabbed his raised arm, and closing with his, tore Coote's heavy body bodily out of the saddle. He flung the man down the slope,every muscle braced, and the beat of fury hot burned in Brian's brain, mist swimming before his eyes.

"You would, you brute!" he said through his teeth "take yours, Bannister!"

There was a heavy "gasp" as Bannister struck the ground. A glimpse of a dark body pitching over the edge of the cutting. A shocked scream followed — almost or less by a thud and the gathering roar of the approaching train that the express thundered through the cutting, a long blur of lit windows; a fiery dragon that roared by, splitting the night in two till its tail-light vanished, leaving behind it a silence that could be felt.

Brian stood dumb, rooted to the spot, like a man paralyzed. It was as though something had snapped in his brain. The whirl that had filled him had turned suddenly to a deadly chill that gripped his heart and body; his very clothes seemed to cling about him ice-cold and clammy. He shivered, and pulling himself together with an effort, ran head. Then he became himself again, and at once. There was none. No man could have climbed down, nor taken such a fall as that for anything less than a broken neck. And the thought made his own neck thighs as though the rope were round it—a thought that would not be denied, and kept shuddering through his brain. He turned, and ran blindly along by the fence towards the mine....

"If Bannister's killed .... King's Mine....and I'm a dead man!"

Lime in the back parlor of the inn, Sonia was desperate with anxiety, doubt and fear. Not for herself; she was in no danger of any kind. Danger on her own account would have troubling her little enough.

She believed that she saw, with a vision shrewder and clearer than Brian's, that he was heading for unmeasurable trouble. Part of this conviction might have been instinct, but most of it was clear, cold reason. The odds were too long against him. He was hotting into this affair business blindly.

Then she stopped. Roger Cecil whose dat the fervent tone in her voice as she mentioned that name. He dreaded what he might hear further, jealous of this man he never knew. "All my life I shall be glad and grateful for having known him," continued Olga. Then after a moment's silence: "Somehow I managed to get me through that mass of treacherous byways.

"Tarzan has told you, I know,", said Olga, "that I, am a Red spy—a traitor to our country's cause."

"He has the Russian slave market and reason by the American loan. How we escaped from that awful situation, seems even now to me beyond belief. But out of it we came together, and our courage of Dick Terrel, for that was my rescuer's name.

Letters to the Editor

BELLEVILLE'S BUILDERS

To the Editor,—

At the northeast corner of Front Street and Victoria Avenue stands that splendid building known at one time as the Victoria Block, constructed of stone, comprising three stores on Front Street and some small stores on Victoria Avenue, three stories and basement. This building was erected by the late Nelson Gilbert Reynolds in 1865, 70 years ago, and is still one of the best business blocks in the city, and there are few business blocks in any of the smaller cities equal to it.

A few years later the northern Mrs. Hall was constructed and the upper part used for dining as a Public Hotel. The City Hall was built about 60 years ago and was, at the time, considered the finest City Hall in the Province, and is still one of the best buildings of the kind.

You made reference to the demolition of old Albert College on College Street, which is now taking place, to your issue of the 3rd instant, this educational institution was incorporated by statute passed May 4th, 1857 and was called Belleville Seminary, and on August 15, 1866, the name was changed to Albert College. You also refer to a few names of graduates. The following are some other distinguished graduates: The Hon. Mr. Justice Chute, K. B. Bordett, Q.C., Ex-M.P.P.; K. Otis Porter, K.C., Ex-M.P.; His Honour Judge Wills, Dr. Marchant, who has recently retired from a prominent position in the Department of Education of the Province; Dr. John Ferguson who was for a number of years financial adviser to the Chinese Government. The late Dr. Badgley was a prominent educationist, having taught in Albert College and also in Victoria University.

Formerly, graduates of the College appeared in the list of teachers and also in the list of Trustees, of the College. I understand now there are no graduates of the College on either the Board of Directors or the teaching staff.

The Masonic Temple is also a tribute to Belleville's early builders, having been erected over 70 years ago. The two Robertson Blocks on the east and west sides of Front Street were built by the late Alex. Robertson, M.P., about 70 years ago, and are still two of the finest business blocks in this part of the Province.

The Bull Block on Bridge Street corner by Wallace & Co., is another substantial building erected over three generations ago.

Belleville was indeed fortunate in having such progressive citizens in past generations.

Belleville, August 5, 1935. C. MIKEL.

EMPTY BOAT FOUND

Three Rivers, Que., Aug. 5.—(CP)—A young man and woman are believed victims of a double drowning tragedy at Lac-a-la-Tortue, 25 miles from here. Miss Therese Forcier, 21, and Henri Mailhot, 26, hired a rowboat for an outing and is vanished by her, furnishes the best work of his career. "The People's Enemy" is an action-crammed drama based upon the plight of the racketeers who are feeling the long arm of the government. It is the creation of Lucas Talbot as the fresh taxi driver who wins a bit with the movie queen

BELIEVE MEN CONFESS

Stratford, Ont., Aug. 5.—(CP)—A posse of police and farmers today sought four men who fled into the fields of Mornington Township early Monday after wrecking a car near Topping, north of Stratford. The car, according to police, belongs to a Toronto man. In the car was a large quantity of cigarettes and tobacco believed to have been stolen.

It was understood police had the men cornered in a brick near Millbank.

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE CAPITOL

"It Happened in New York"
Sights and Sounds of Broadway—
"The Great White War" in Action

Twin feature pictures at the Capitol for the first three days of this week, are refreshing and entertaining as any seen here at the popular south end theatre; in "It Happened in New York" with Heather Angel, Lyle Talbot, Gertrude Michael and Hugh O'Connell there are all the elements that go to make up the perfect comedy.

It tells the story of a temperamental screen actress who visits the Gay White Way and completely upsets everyone and everything with her unconventional methods of spending a vacation in capitals. Lyle Talbot as the fresh taxi driver who wins a bit with the movie queen and is vamped by her, furnishes the best work of his career. Gertrude Michael, the creation of Lucas looked more attractive and bewitching. Hugh O'Connell as the press agent handles his role in a most capable manner and supplies many of the best lines found in the picture.

"The Daring Young Man"

A laugh humdinger that hums with excitement perfectly describes "The Daring Young Man", the second feature offering on the same program.

Jimmy Dunn's portrayal of the newspaper reporter who leaves his bride-to-be waiting at the church, while he dashes off on a secret assignment, is "the top" in madcap comedy.

Written by Claude Binyon and Sidney Skolsky, of newspaper fame, "The Daring Young Man" shouldn't be missed. It is the hilarious story of a New York newspaperman (James Dunn) who never tires of expressing his sarcastic views of marriage until he meets Mae Clarke a reporter on a rival paper. A rapid fire courtship is followed by plans for a quick marriage.

On his wedding day, Jimmy Dunn is forced to cover an assignment in a jail without telling his bride-to-be of the circumstances. She gets worried, has an appeal broadcast for him. The reporter manages to buy "temporary parole" but is quickly brought back by two kidnappers when the warden learns his true identity.

The events that follow will be found uproarious and exciting. The bells lasted. Newsreel flashes will be exhibited on the same program.

DRIVER OF CAR KILLED

Hamilton, Aug. 5.—(CP)—Losing control of his car on the curve at Berfoyle, Charles F. Henderson of Hamilton, crashed into a ditch early today and was killed almost instantly.

Mr. Henderson and three others in the car had been attending an Old Home Week celebration at Fergus and were travelling down the Guelph Highway towards Galt, this city when the tragedy occurred. Riding with Henderson was Margaret Smith, Hamilton, and in the rumble seat were George L. Connor and Dorothy Alderson, also of this city. They escaped injury.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

St. Paul, Aug. 7 (CP)—The fire alarms sounded for seven, instead of apparently called to a roaring house last night. Firemen traced the trouble to a room occupied by Nick Brodie. He said: "I was in bed when I heard a big smudge on the floor here."

New York, Aug. 7 (CP)—The first test pilot of New York's newest country-air Trinity Church has developed a list of 15 hazards in the field, it was revealed today by Robert B. Upjohn, architect.

Upjohn said for some time he has been trying to find a way to check the lead but has kept secrecy because there was no use in merely a danger in the work if the spectators crowd too close.

Nanaimo, Mass., Aug. 7 (CP)—Lieut. Ralph Hill, on flying leave from his base and then fell to his death at Parsons Field here today. Hill, 25, of West New York, N.J., attempted his comeback after a crash which left him unconscious and his plane a wreck. He rose in the air no more than 200 perfect when the motor stalled and he plunged down a ladder. About 50 feet from the ground a rope was severed and the plane fell to earth. Bruno crashed to his death. His wife is Miss Ed Maxfield, ranked to his side.

Washington, Aug. 7 (CP)—The G. Men are going in for Jiu Jitsu. Public enemies watch your step! Sergeant K. D. Stevens, head of the West Virginia State Police, expert in the Japanese fighting art, has been lent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation to instruct.

The little sovereign refused to brook his parliament's determination to modify the powers of life and death over his 10,000,000 subjects.

Eleven-year-old Prince Ananda, the former Boy King, is studying at Lausanne, Switzerland was proclaimed King. He is the son of Prince Mahidol of Songkla, brother of Mahidol.

A regency council was named to administer state affairs until he reaches his majority.

CABINET COUNCIL IN BUSY SESSION

Ottawa, Aug. 7 (CP)— Cabinet council met for two hours today and approved some minor appointments but no announcements will be made while pending their final approval by the Governor-General.

Minister of Justice, the election date and major appointments such as the Senate, Supreme and the Canadian Wheat Board were further considered and decision will likely be reached within a day or two.

Prime Minister Bennett said he had invited R. B. Ramsay, Winnipeg, chairman of the Board of Grain Commissioners, to confer with him over the selection of personnel for the Canadian Wheat Board and would meet him this afternoon. He also consult with Mr. John T. McFarland, General Manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, Limited, and others of the grain industry.

Cabinet will not meet again until tomorrow and the expectation is a general announcement will be made immediately the appointments and decision now under consideration have been completed, either tomorrow or the day after.

Washington, Aug. 7 (CP)—NRA has ad hoc, which will control the secret hint of a change in administration, if not in personnel, character. NRA's estate has fallen so low the fast it had been in years few or none of the scurvy ranks a whisper.

The resignation of James L. O'Neil, New York banker, became effective July 31, and he left town. Since then NRA has been running without a control head.

Arkansas City, Kas., Aug. 7 (CP)—Raymond Wright, Bob Ellsworth and Ed Hoffman not only wanted to go to a ball fight so bore their fish hooks. Moreover, they ran into language difficulties at Ponca City.

They couldn't find the arena so they sought help at a café. They struggled through a list of horns, they drew crude pictures. They were brought a beer and sandwich.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 7 (CP)—Daniel O'Connell, bedridden three years from paralysis and consumption, is walking away the threat of Master Tuberculosis of a tomato plant. It now is nine feet tall and bears 75 fruits.

"I picked the seed out of a salad and planted it. Then I ate it a hype of tomato and it's quite outgrown itself."

Paradise, N.S., Aug. 7 (CP)—Rupert Baldwin, 65-year-old farmer, was recovering from exhaustion today after wandering about in the woods for three days. Discovering after 72 hours of that he had been lost, he was found unconscious on a neighboring farm last night.

INSURRECTIONARY PLOT UNCOVERED IN SIAM'S ARMY

Leaders Reported Arrested by Prompt Action of Government

STREETS PATROLLED

King Prajadhipop Abdicates Throne and Nephew Given Title

Bangkok, Siam, Aug. 7 (AP)— A great insurrectionary plot aimed at the overthrow of the government with wholesale death for officials was reported uncovered today among Siam's defense forces.

A number of non-commissioned officers who allegedly planned to arrest and slay their superiors, assume command of the army forces and seize the administration, were reported arrested.

Prompt action by the government apparently frustrated the scheme. It was not considered likely the situation would become critical although military forces were patrolling the streets of the Capital.

A special court was established to try the revolutionaries.

Monarch Abdicates

Former King Prajadhipop of Siam until recently one of the world's most powerful monarchs, formally abdicated from March 2. He returned to private life as Prince Sukhodaya, one of England's country gentlemen.

The little sovereign refused to brook his parliament's determination to modify the powers of life and death over his 10,000,000 subjects.

Eleven-year-old Prince Ananda, the former Boy King, is studying at Lausanne, Switzerland was proclaimed King. He is the son of Prince Mahidol of Songkla, brother of Mahidol.

2 COMMITTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Mrs. Mary Cowan And Brother-in-Law to Stand Trial

Barry's Bay, Ont., Aug. 7—(CP)—Their preliminary hearing completed, Mrs. Mary Cowan, 43, and her brother-in-law Allan Cowan, 57, today stood committed for trial on a charge of murdering the latter's husband, Albert Cowan, 37, Magistrate W. B. McGregor ordered them to stand trial after evidence in court yesterday.

In his last time, Dr. P. P. Smythe of Barry's Bay said he was called to Albert Cowan's home early on a hot pound Albert "lying in bed with his face imbedded in a pillow."

"From questioning those present I arrived at the conclusion Albert was murdered," he said. There was some blood on the pillow but there were no marks of violence, that I could see at this time.

"I remained there for about 30 minutes and in that time studying greatly improved when I left but he was still very ill.

The doctor said Mrs. Cowan told him Albert had drunk some wine from a previous night.

Two hours later the doctor was called to the house. "Immediately I found he was dead," the doctor continued. "I made another examination and found a small quantity of blood coming from a small wound on the scalp."

Dr. J. J. McCann of Renfrew said death was due to hemorrhage and brain produced by a bullet.

The charge of murder is missing a rifle following Cowan's death.

Parking Meter Wins Approval

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 7 (AP)—The parking meter on trial here has won a large measure of public approval. It has been in the little gadgets set on iron posts at the curbing have taken in $145.99.

Opponents, contending streets should not be used for raising revenue, are seeking a State District Court decision.

When a penny is deposited a green flag rises within the glassedin meter. An indicator moves across a graduated scale as the time elapses and at the end of the period a red flag appears. A penny drops, signalling policemen to "tag" the car. The time allowed is 30 minutes, 30 or an hour, depending on the zone.

Just Wanted to Take Little Trip

New York, Aug. 7—(AP)— "Doc" Nathan Schwartz, persuasive gentleman of 46, onetime an inhabitant of Kingston Penitentiary in Ontario, appeared in police line-up today after he borrowed $400 from Mrs. Sarah Logan, 20-year-old invalid of Brooklyn, to begin a career as a doctor, he had no intention of defrauding her.

Mainly clad in slacks and a powder blue sweater, he told Acting Captain Edward Dillon he merely planned to "take a little trip to Canada". He was held on a grand larceny charge. Schwartz served in Canada in 1925 for selling worthless stocks.

U. S. MINISTER TO CANADA GREETED BY BESSBOROUGH

Expressions of Goodwill And Desire to Co-operate Given

MEET AT QUEBEC

Governor General Thanks President Through Minister

Quebec, Aug. 7—(CP)—Mutual expressions of international goodwill and desire to further cement friendly relations long existing between the United States and Canada were exchanged when Norman Armour, newly appointed United States Minister to the Dominion, today presented his credentials to the Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada.

Mr. Armour, successor to the late Warren Delano Robbins who died while in office, presented the letters to formally present himself to the King's representative in Canada, at the summer residence at the citadel here.

Minister's Address

The United States Minister addressed the Governor General as follows:

"Your Excellency:

"I have the honor to place in Your Excellency's hands letters from your capacity as representative in Canada of his Britannic Majesty the letters whereby the President accredits me as envoy extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to Canada. My pleasure and satisfaction in doing so is only qualified by my deep personal sorrow over the death of my predecessor, the late Hon. Warren Delano Robbins.

The President has asked me to convey to your Excellency the assurances of his friendship and sincere good wishes for the continued welfare of particular gratification to me, that I am specially as at this time, when all British subjects are engaged in celebrating the Silver Jubilee of his Majesty King George. In the words of the President, the many traditions, which we in the United States have in common in the free and peaceful permit us to understand how deeply stirring this anniversary must be to his Majesty's subjects.

"It seems hardly necessary for me to assure your Excellency that it is my most earnest desire to assist to the utmost of my ability in preserving and furthering the friendly relations between the two countries in dealing with problems of mutual interest, and I feel that I can confident that I can count upon the helpful co-operation of the Canadian government which has always extended me so courteously to all of my predecessors."

Reply by Governor-General

In accepting Mr. Armour's credentials the Governor-General replied:

"It is a great pleasure to me, in my position as the representative of his Majesty the King to extend to you a very cordial welcome to our country on behalf of the people of Canada, and to express on behalf of His Majesty the letters accrediting you as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to Canada.

"Your personal sorrow over the death of your predecessor, the late Warren Delano Robbins, will be shared by all those with whom he came in contact while he was with us, as he had gained their high regard and esteem.

"I would beg you to convey to the President of the United States my sincere thanks for his appreciation of friendship and of good wishes for the welfare and prosperity of the Canadian people which I cordially reciprocate towards the citizens of your country.

"I greatly appreciate, the reference, you have made to your gratification in coming to Canada during the year of celebrations of his Majesty's Silver Jubilee, and to the many loyal manifestations of the people of the British Empire and the people of the United States have in common.

"I appreciate also deeply the assurances of your desire to maintain and promote, in the fulfillment of your duties, the co-operative spirit which has marked traditionally the close relationship between the people of our two countries. I can assure you of the hearty co-operation of the Canadian government in seeking, with the United States government, the solution of problems of mutual interest to Canada and the United States."

Many Present To See Quints

Callander, Ont., Aug. 7—(CP)—It was old home week in North Bay today but from the size of the crowd the Dionne Quintuplets' birthplace appeared to be here to catch a glimpse of the Dionne quintuplets.

A near casualty occured when an excited American tourist leaped from a car still in motion to be sure of getting inside the gates before they closed. The woman stumbled and fell but succeeded in getting inside the enclosure.

Dr. Dafoe today reported all the girls in fine condition.

PATIENTS BEATEN TESTIMONY GIVEN

Sensational Charges Are Heard in Probe at Mimico Hospital

New Toronto, Aug. 7.—(CP)—Interrogation by Royal Commissioner W. B. Common, K.C., into the internal administration of the Ontario Hospital at Mimico, began with evidence of treatment of patients and unsanitary conditions, will be continued today.

The first results from affidavits by F. A. Braithwaite and S. W. Marshall, former employees of the institution, charging "political intimidation by hospital officials, harsh treatment by attendants, perjured evidence at previous investigations and general filth and insanitation on the part of employees."

Sensational charges were heard as the investigation got underway with Eric Bills acting for the Commission. Braithwaite testified to having seen Supervisor McLean pull an elderly male patient out of bed and jump on his back when he was on the floor.

Testifies Patient Beaten

A nurse, witness testified, had been beaten unconscious and subsequently developed hemorrhages and died, Braithwaite said Dr. A. E. McKay, Superintendent, answered to a question in the affirmative. The engineers in charge of the construction of Belleville's filtration plant was also present engaged in testing the delivered machine.

Mr. Ellis is an expert in the art of decorative painting the new pumper is scientifically engineered with gold leaf and figured scrolls on fenders and body. On either side of the machine the words "Belleville" are painted in shaded lettering and gold leaf. The machine besides the usual fire hose and fire extinguishers, hydrant adapters and other hand tools for fire fighting. A large chemium plated bell and rousing fire siren is the purpose Gallic will adorn.

During its tests the machine easily delivered between 1,200 and 1,500 pounds pressure drawing water from the harbor. Its pressure is calculated great enough to throw water to the highest peak of the tallest building in the city and is built to the same remote point to which the department must go.

Quebec, Aug. 7—(CP)—Hon. Norman Armour, newly appointed United States Minister to Canada, presented his credentials to the Governor-General at his summer residence, the Citadel, today.

PUMPER ARRIVES EXHAUSTIVE TESTS ARE WITNESSED

Victoria Park Meeting Place of Council, Firemen And Officials

WELL SATISFIED

Machine Easily Develops 120 to 130 Pounds Pressure

A new, red shiny fire pumper complete with glistening chromium trimmings and every accessory needed for modern fire fighting, entered the city unannounced today from the factory at Woodstock, and in the presence of members of the city council, Mayor W. C. Nice and other city officials was being put through exhaustive tests in Victoria Park during the greater part of the morning. The machine was found to be well before the time expected.

Crowds of citizens gathered on the park to watch the latest addition to Belleville's fire fighting equipment, and to see it put to the severest test, put through its rigorous tests. The greater part of the tests consisted of pumping water from the harbor at regulated and predetermined pressures through several lengths of joined at a connecting nozzle. Fireman Fred Ellis manned the pump machine by plugging the intake, although results of the tests will be made officially to the well up to expectations.

Officials Accompany Machine

The machine, purchased by city council from the Hinde Company of Woodstock, was accompanied to Belleville by Mr. R. S. Hickie, president of the manufacturing company, his name and by Mr. J. Lea, chief engineer of the company, and Mr. Penwick, assistant to the engineer. Mr. N. G. McDonald, of the firm of Gilbert, Mackenzie and Gilbert, engineers in charge of the construction of Belleville's filtration plant was also present engaged in testing the delivered machine.

Mr. Ellis is an expert in the art of decorative painting the new pumper is scientifically engineered with gold leaf and figured scrolls on fenders and body. On either side of the machine the words "Belleville" are painted in shaded lettering and gold leaf. The machine besides the usual fire hose and fire extinguishers, hydrant adapters and other hand tools for fire fighting. ## British Government Makes "Strong Representations" To Italy on News Articles

Reported Not Pleased But Italy Makes No Reply

HEAVY TRAFFIC

Suez Canal Extensively Used by Italy to Transport Troops

London, Aug. 7 (AP)—An official source disclosed today the British Government made "strong representations" to Italy with a view to putting a stop to current violent attacks in the Italian press against Great Britain.

The representations were made through Ambassador Grandi of Italy by officials at the Foreign Office and it was stated he promised to inform his government of the British attitude.

Since that time according to the same source, the British Government has received no reply from Italy.

Acting Premier

Ramsay MacDonald became Acting Prime Minister of Great Britain today on the eve of an expected climax in the Italo-Ethiopian controversy over Ethiopia.

Mr. MacDonald taking over the leadership served notice that the National Labor Federation that "I am still in the fight" for peace.

British quarters expressed hope that the situation would be conquered in the Italian conservations with Great Britain and France the representatives of other nations on the League of Nations Council would be able to assist in the discussion if he opposed peace efforts.

(By James A. Mills Copyright 1935, by The Associated Press)

Port Said, Egypt, Aug. 7.—Approximately 340,000 Italian troops and laborers have passed through the Suez Canal in the last six months, records in Port Said's official figures disclosed today.

In a single day recently, nine Italian transports laden with soldiers, airplanes, tanks and artillery passed through the southern end of the canal from the Mediterranean to the Red Sea.

Not all Italian transports are bound for East Africa, however. The statistics show in the last three weeks six large Italian steamships, believed to be carrying Italian soldiers suffering from malaria, have returned to Egypt northward transit of the canal for Italy.

Officials declined to say how many months the Italian government has paid the Suez administration $15,000,000 in canal dues on war transports.

Shipping circles in this seaport on the north end of the canal said Chief of these transports are foreign oil and timber concerns are declining to sell goods to Italians because of the war cash.

Feud Threatened

Paris, Aug. 7 (AP)—A feud in the family of Emperor Haile Selassie was reported today in a dispatch to the newspaper Le Matin from Omara, Eritrea, to be threatening to split Ethiopia.

The Ethiopian heir apparent, Asfac Tafari, was reported to be attempted at preference shown to his younger brother, Makonnen, appointed Governor of Harrar province and to disappove of the Emperor's Italian policy.

The explosion occurred at a new oil well being drilled on Greer's farm. One of the men threw a match into the well to see it any gas had formed and flame and smoke shot 40 feet into the air. The new cement top on the well was blown 15 feet.

Premier Asked To Peg Price of Ontario Wheat

Essex, Ont., Aug. 7.—(CP)— Immediate action on the part of the Dominion Government to peg the price of Ontario wheat is asked of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett by the Essex County Farm Bureau.

The Bureau in a resolution calls upon the government to establish the price of Ontario wheat on the other such level as shall be found necessary to enable the farmer to prices to hold the market against the imported article."

The resolution declares the chain stores are making contracts for wheat from small mills at low prices and "by the weight of their purchasing power still further depressing the price."

Contending Ontario farms "along with all other Canadian citizens" must bear any loss resulting from the pegging of wheat in the west, the Essex Group believes a similar concession should be given to Ontario.

Dobbin's Last Stronghold Likely to Succumb to Horseless Carriage Craze

Mackinac Island, Mich., Aug. 7—(AP)—Historic Mackinac Island, one of dobbin's last strongholds, is about to succumb to that "new fangled horseless carriage craze."

Faced with loss of tourist trade dollars, residents have defeated Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald to lift the barrier against the "gas buggy."

Carriage men insist their business can't stay if visitors for rambling drivey over the island hills faces. If the automobiles are allowed to while around the drives.

The Governor, however, the two very divergent schools of thought, offered a compromise—by not revoke the State ferries to bring the tourist to the island, cars and all but restrict the cars to specially designated parking space.

Premier Hepburn Makes Statement

Toronto, Aug. 7—(CP)—Premier Hepburn today made a statement to the press in connection with the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission's contract with the Ontario Paper Company, Thorold, which has been under fire in the Legislature.

The statement will be released tomorrow.

THRESHER BLAMED FOR LOSS OF BARN

A ball of fire booming from the blower of the threshing machine separator into a mow of new straw is blamed for the destruction Monday of the large barn on the farm of Ted Martin, Albert Bowerbank will sell at the barn and parts of the season's crop, the separator owned by Leavitt Bros. and a team of horses owned by Mr. Martin were destroyed.

Efforts to save the building proved fruitless as the fire spread rapidly in the mow of new straw. The horses are partially covered by insurance.

MAJORITY CITIZENS ESCAPE PENALTY

For the first time in days, since notice of tax collection on the first instalment was posted, busy clerks and the local tax collector were enjoying a breathing spell in their work at the office in the city hall to-day. Taxes fell due yesterday afternoon at five o'clock, but the majority of citizens escaped the penalty by paying promptly and early. Yesterday, however, a last minute rush was observed. Piles of mail today were occupying the attention of the collector and clerks, each letter containing a cheque from some outside point.

"So far it's a little early to tell but what percentage of tax collections have been made; we won't know for a week or so," commented the office.

FLOWERS NOT TAKEN FROM CITY PARKS

Park Board officials entrusted with the care of public parks and the ornamentation and beautification of the city are pondering the vagaries of human nature this season. Either people are becoming more conscientious, or colorful flowers in the various parks within the limits have lost most of their appeal.

"This year you could almost count on the fingers of one hand the number of flowers that have been carelessly picked by strollers through the parks. Last year and for several years we could hardly keep a flower in the beds," declared one park employed today.

CANNOT USE ROAD FOR PASTURE LAND

Notice has been given by the Ontario Department of Highways that under the new Highway Improvement Act, farmers are prohibited from pasturing any livestock, either loose or tethered, on provincial highways. Traffic officers say that owners allowing their cattle on the highway will be prosecuted.

WILL EXTEND SEWER ON FOSTER AVE.

An average of eight and ten men are being given employment this week on the various jobs of the department of public works. When possible relief residents are being given the chance of working allotted hours on relief work and then by the local office. One of the larger jobs next week undertaken by the public works department will be the construction of a storm sewer extension on South Foster Avenue, 72 feet of 24 inch pipe to be laid there will end the flooding of the open drain previously complained of by residents of that street.

MANY FROM CITY ATTEND CONVENTION

Dozens of Belleville and district residents, many of whom have already secured reservations are expected to attend the annual convention of the Central Ontario Liberal Association at Kingston this evening. The convention and banquet, the Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King will make his first public appearance of the campaign. He will be assisted by the Hon. Vincent Massey. The Central Ontario Liberal Association comprises the federal ridings of Ontario, Muskoka-Ontario, Durham, Hastings, Peterboro, Victoria, West Peterboro, Northumberland, Hastings South, Prince Edward-Lennox, Kingston, and Frontenac-Addington.

BACK TO HENLEY

D. E. McNAIR

In charge of arrangements for the Port William group of rowers competing at the Canadian Henley at St. Catharines this year, was D. E. McNair, above, president of the Port William Rowing Club. Mr. McNair rowed in the championship regatta over this course in 1906, the last time Port William had an entry in the championships.

LAURIE CHAPPELLE TWEED, ARRESTED

Allegedly Struck Fellow Townsman With Crutch

One broken nose, one broken jaw bone and one man lodged in the county jail were all attributed to one red headed girl, police authorities of Tweed alleged after Laurie Chappelle, Tweed, was delivered into the hands of the local jail authorities on a charge of assault causing actual bodily harm last night. Chappelle was escorted to the jailhouse bedecking on crutches with one of which he is alleged by police authorities to have struck John Berry, a fellow townsman, after altercations over an unnamed red-headed girl, in Tweed yesterday.

Chappelle was taken into custody early Tuesday on a charge of assault causing bodily harm to Berry after Chappelle is alleged to have wielded a wicked crutch and struck Berry across the face, breaking his nose and jaw. Chappelle was arrested by Chief Hayes of Tweed and taken before the local Justice of the Peace and remanded in custody until Friday, at which time he will appear in the local police court and all concerned will be able to testify except, possibly, the red-headed girl who fortunately was not present when the debate between Berry and Chappelle started.

HEALTH BOARD STARTS CRUSADE

Milk Bottles of Local Dairies Intended For One Use

Have you a milk bottle from your home? When you drain the cream of the bottle you car do you reach for a handy quart bottle decorated with the name of some local dairy to hold the oil? And are you in the habit of appropriating such bottles in order to do up the fall preserving?

If you are guilty of any of these lapses then you're breaking the law, point out officials of the local Board of Health now engaged in a city wide crusade to end the common habit of using milk or cream bottles for any other use except that for which they were intended. Milkmen of the city whose annual loss of bottles unreturned is numbered by the thousands annoyed by the fact they are unable to clean thoroughly and use the bottles they do get back have at last appealed to the local Board of Health for assistance in the matter.

Oil scum is the worst, it is pointed out. Many of the bottles used for holding oil after a most thorough cleansing are handed back by the housewife with a thin film of oil lining the inside of the glass. When put through the washer at the dairy the oil bottles contaminate the wash water for the rest of the bottles, resulting in loss of time and considerable expense to the dairies.

In a signed advertisement warning against the misuse of bottles the local Board of Health promises prosecution for infringements of the law.

EDDIE O'BRIEN WINS 500-METRE RUN

Carrying the United States colors, Eddie O'Brien of Syracuse University is pictured as he wins the 500-metre run in the international track and field meet at Stockholm, Sweden. Johannesson, HJART, of Norway, is finishing second. O'Brien is one of the track stars touring Europe in pre-Olympic tests.

POLICE BLOTTER

No session of local police court was held locally today as His Worship Magistrate K. J. Butler, K.C., was presiding at Picton. A special traffic court will be held in Belleville tomorrow.

After being missing since June 25th last a bicycle, the property of Herbert Burley, 227 Bleecker Ave., was recovered yesterday in a clump of bushes on the second concession of Thurlow. The bicycle was returned to its rightful owner by Sergeant Heath, after having been found by Fred Kirkpatrick, 17 Emily St., near the C.N.R. coal chutes.

Only four transients appeared at the night sergeant's desk in quest of lodging last night while on Monday night only one weary traveller put in an appearance. Local highways were free from serious accidents during the past 24 hours.

GREENBERG SWINGS AT RUTH'S RECORD OF 60 HOMERS

With a chance to surpass the home-run record of Babe Ruth—60 in 1927 — Hank Greenberg, first baseman of the Tigers, was leading both leagues in four-base blows with 30. In the Tigers' first 94 games. In order to beat the Ruth mark, Greenberg would have to hit 31 in the remaining 54 games, or about one every other game. In view of the Detroit sluggers' mid-season spurt, baseball men expressed the opinion he might surpass the Babe's record. Greenberg is shown taking his swing. Note how the right leg is raised in the middle of his batting movement.

CAPT. NICHOLSON VISITS HARBOR

For Many Years in Charge of Boats Plying Bay of Quinte

Capt. Charles H. Nicholson, who will be remembered by many of the older residents of Belleville, as the popular captain during various periods on the steamers Hastings, Henry Norseman, and North King, which used to call regularly at this port, was in the city yesterday and spent some time motoring about the city and visiting places which he had not seen for some years, among which was the harbor. In his day there was no fine government dock at which to land; he brought his boat alongside the old Rathbun dock, later called the Schuster dock. Captain Nicholson began steamboating in the year 1851, being employed as a boy on the Steamer Nicholas running from Rochester and Toronto to Montreal. His pleasing personality and ability caused him to win steady advancement and eventually he became a fully qualified captain and for many years sailed Lake Ontario, the Bay of Quinte and the River St. Lawrence. He had the honor of navigating the first passenger steamer through the Welland Canal in the year 1932. The boat was the Norseman and the trip was made from Rochester.

In the year 1909 Capt. Nicholson went to Vancouver to organize the Grand Trunk Pacific Steamship Lines. In 1923 he returned to Toronto and was appointed superintendent of the Canadian National Steamship Lines from which position he retired in 1933.

Capt. Nicholson is now living retired in Oshawa, where he can look out over Lake Ontario and catch occasional glimpses of the smoke from steamers crossing the lake, which he followed for many years.

On his visit to Belleville yesterday he was accompanied by Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. Reginald Beaumont of Vancouver.

When Belleville was made a city, Capt. Nicholson was a private in the militia in the 15th Battalion and marched in the parade on that day.

OTTAWA DRIVER HELD AFTER CRASH

Samuel Silver, Alleged to Have 'Cat-in' Causing Accident

Charged with reckless driving Samuel Silver, Ottawa motorist, was taken into custody by Motorcycle Patrolman W. H. Delaney directly after an accident, that occurred late yesterday afternoon one mile west of Belleville, on Highway No. 2. Silver was allowed his liberty upon his own bail, and instructed to return to Bellwills and face the reckless driving charge at a later date.

The trouble is alleged to have started when Silver, while proceeding eastward cut in on another automobile, being driven in the same direction by Joseph Branscombe of Bloomfield, fabcing the latter car into the south ditch in front of the Ontario School for the Deaf, where the Branscombe vehicle was badly damaged, although no person was injured. It is alleged by Branscombe that Silver tried to pass him in the face of oncoming traffic, causing Branscombe to swerve into the ditch to avoid an accident. The right front wheel of the Branscombe car was taken off, while other minor damages were reported to have been done the car forced into the ditch.

REFUSES ANSWER ABOUT OIL STOCK

W. E. Spencer, London, Given Time to Think by Commission

London, Ont., Aug. 7.—(CP)—W. E. Spencer, London lawyer and member of the family that pioneered in the Canadian Oil Industry was due to appear before a Succession Duties Commission today with a decision as to whether or not he would answer certain questions.

"I decline to answer," he said yesterday as counsel in the probe of the seven director estates, worth $2,000,000, resumed. He was asked to tell to whom he sold blocks of Imperial Oil Stock he had inherited from his father.

Commissioner John Cowan, presiding at the inquiry to determine whether or not Succession Duties are due the province, gave the witness until today to think it over.

The Commissioner was "not at all satisfied" with the evidence of Mrs. Cecilia McNee, W. E. Spencer's sister, and gave her time to get more information about her Imperial Oil stock.

U. S. S. QUINCY DAMAGED BY FIRE

Starts in Engine Room And Takes Five Hours to Control

Quincy, Mass., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A fire in the engine room of the recently launched U.S.S. Quincy was extinguished early today after a five hour battle.

The deck plates of the cruiser were so hot officials were unable to go below to determine the extent of the damage. Fire Chief William J. Sands said he believed damage would "run high."

The 10,000 ton cruiser lay at a dock at the Fore River shipyards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, where she was being prepared for her trial run. She had been launched at the Fore River plant June 19.

Harry E. D. Gould, general manager of the Fore River plant, said the fire was believed to have started in the switchboard of the main cable room. It is 60 by 60 feet section at the aft end of the engine room.

LABOR LEADER DIES IN GALT

W. A. Denison Sent From Rochester to Adjust Dispute

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—William A. Denison, 61, one of the outstanding labor leaders of this city, died unexpectedly early last night in Galt, Ont., his wife, Mrs. Sadie E. Denison was informed by telegram.

Denison had been sent to Galt by the International Boot and Shoe Workers Union to adjust a wage dispute in a shoe plant there.

He was President of the State Fed and Lasell League, and for 16 years had been secretary and treasurer of the local and then workers Union here as well as being labor's representative of NRA Boards. He was born in Utica, N.Y.

Johnson City, Tenn., Aug. 7.—(CP)—Richard F. Turner's wife left him 22 years ago to visit relatives. Turner, 72, waited. Long for her return, has filed suit for divorce.

WALKER, LEAKEY, BOTH COMMITTED

St. Thomas, Ont., Aug. 7.—(CP)—Mainly on the evidence of Premier Hepburn, Henry M. Walker and Arthur Leakey were ordered today for trial on charges of extortion at the next sitting of the Assizes.

The pair were committed yesterday by Magistrate E. S. Livermore following testimony of Premier Hepburn through he believed evidence from Walker against him to maintain a guard about his Elgin farm home for several nights last spring.

Walker was committed to trial on five charges, Leakey on one jointly with Walker. Against Walker are accusations of attempted extortion from Premier Hepburn, Donald McCrimmon, K.C., Thomas Attorney; and George McKay, of Sheddon Ont., in December 1934; theft of $75 from McCrimmon and McKay on the same date; attempted extortion from Premier Hepburn in May 1935; obtaining money by false pretences from Glen Hamilton and brother-in-law of ex-Premier Henry in 1934.

Leakey was committed on the one charge of attempting jointly with Walker to extort money from Premier Hepburn last May.

CHRISTIAN ETHIOPIA

"How these Christians love another!" was the exclamation of Skylock in the play "The Merchant of Venice" written over three hundred years ago and today Emperor Haile Selassie I of Ethiopia has said practically the same thing about the Italian attitude towards his land. It is the only unconquered black part of the world and the only remaining free state in Africa, the rest of that vast continent being in the hands of European powers or under protectorate. "The King of Kings," Conquering Lion of Judah, the Elect of God, and the Light of the World" today claims that Ethiopia was the first Christian state which accepted Christianity while Jesus Christ was yet a babe in arms before the land that Mussolini represents had heard of the wondrous figure whose life in Palestine was upsetting so many human notions, and when was many years later to conquer Roman Imperialism in the days of Constantine when Christianity became the official religion of the Empire of Rome. The Emperor of the dark race feels surprised that this record does not stand as to advantage to his country when dealing with Europe which is nominally almost entirely Christian and with Italy which is avowedly a Christian state.

This kingdom has never been conquered by the invader since the time of the Pharoahs and it is the oldest kingdom in the world. The claim is made that a son of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, named Menelik, was the founder of the empire. It is even said that Menelik when a young man paying a visit to Solomon received from him as a parting copy of the Ark of the Covenant and tradition goes that Menelik substituted the duplicate for the real Ark and that this is in the hands of the Ethiopians.

The Abyssinians number three million in a population of five and more millions. They are Semitic Christians, of course, tracing itself back to Ham, and have been swept over many times by Semtic waves from Arabia and are mixed, with the exception of other conquered races. Of the rest of the population which is not Abyssinian, some are Gallas, some of them belonging to the Christian faith and some Moslems and some pagan. The Danakil group is Mohammedan. There are also negroes and the Falashas who follow a debased Jewish rite and claim to have descended from emigrants from Israel.

Formally Ethiopia became Christian in 330 A.D. when Frumentius, a Phoenician slave, was ship-wrecked on the Red Sea coast, then part of Ethiopia. He settled in that land and going to Egypt he was consecrated as priest and appointed a bishop of the Coptic church, the church of the native Egyptians. It is said that the line of bishops or Abunas was kept up for but one thing for centuries. The Abuna is an Egyptian and a member of the Coptic Church and is the spiritual leader of the Ethiopians. He has no power temporally, his crowns emperors and officiates at all great religious festivals and ceremonies. Second in the church is the Itchegue controlling all church property, finance and all ecclesiastics who number 100,000. The Ethiopians are monophysite, that is, their nature belief is that Christ was of one nature only, and on the main body of Church decided in 451 at the council of Chalcedon was heresy.

Naturally the church has been influenced by the barbaric surroundings, the customs, and the Judaism which preceded it. There is the use of drums in ceremonial and the priests dance and in each church there is the installation in the Holy of Holies of the Tabot, or representative of the Ark of the Covenant.

The patron saint of the country is St. George. There are many monasteries but few convents. Monks and nuns live celibates but priests may marry once and but once. There are numerous rigorous fasts. The Virgin, saints and angels are adored though graven images and crucifixes are forbidden. It is an anomaly that some of the natives who are Christians wear amulets in which they believe sincerely though often there is a Mohammedan text engraved on them.

Three centuries after the Ethiopians adopted Christianity they were cut off by the Mohammedan conquests and for over a thousand years they remained lost, by themselves. If there are shortcomings in the general morality of the people it is no doubt due to their surroundings.

As Gibbon says, "Encompassed by the enemies of their religion, the Ethiopians slept for near a thousand years, forgetful of the world by whom they were forgotten."

LANDMARK PASSES

In the removal of the buildings of the old Albert College a landmark in this part of the country and to thousands an alma mater which they will never forget on the way of everything which is material. Though the buildings be razed as level as the ground, the old Albert exists as an entity in the mind of those students who knew it from residence within its walls and converse and association with its students and staff.

The old school was not like a public school for many reasons. It was a religious school, that is, an institution which prepared young men for the ministry as well as serving in training for the professions, including teaching. It also served the student who later than usual in life found it possible to gain the training there which fitted him for one or other calling. Another of the great attractions of the school was its residential life. City students who attended the day did not, of course, have this factor in education but they had the intimacy with those who were so privileged. Then the old Albert had the attraction of the house for it was co-educational. It drew its students from far and near, from the various provinces and from city and country. It possessed a soul of its own and its students were imbued with that spirit. All in all an Albert man and an Albert woman could be recognized by their loyalty to the institution and to one another. In some respects the old school had all these things in a larger and more influential degree than the universities have them. The old Albert caught the students younger than university students usually are and when they were in the formative period of their lives, even more so than when they should attend university.

But the gay entertainments with the promenades which followed, the commencements, the games on the campus, the dining hours, the meetings of the societies, the religious services at which the student body assembled before nine o'clock every morning—the associations with teachers and students of the old past —these will now exist in memory which endures longer than brick and mortar though these latter have too an uncanny way of influencing men and women as the old walls of Albert did.

With the opening of the new, modern stone educational pile on Dundas Street West, a new era began for the school as a boys' institution. To it the graduates have linked their memories of the old school and perhaps now that the new school is well on its way it is as well that the older building is to disappear, for it no longer served a purpose—it was no longer Albert when its staff and students left the doors closed behind them. In the new building the School carries on the ancient tradition which governed Albert University away back in 1857 when its doors opened. In the new school a fine spirit has sprung into being. It serves the new day and generation with the old principles which endure.

MY KITCHEN

I like the kitchen big enough
To hold a rocking chair,
With windows looking to the sun
And flowers blooming there.
I like big cupboards by the wall
That hold a lot of things,
The cups hung up on little hooks,
A yellow bird that sings.
I like to do my mending there,
Where I can watch the road,
And see the teams come plodding home
And smell their fragrant load
Of heavy sheaves at stacking time
Or hear the wagons creak
And groan beneath their golden weight
When it is threshing week.
I like to have the supper on
And let it simmer slow,
With rich brown gravy bubbling up
Around the pot holes know—
With apple pie set out to cool,
And flaky new-baked bread,
With golden syrup in a bowl
And jelly bright and red.
I like to have the lamps ashine
With yellow glowing light,
And have the kitchen clear and warm
When they come home at night.

THE TENT DWELLER WRITES

OUR S.O.S. CALL, a la Macedonia, "Come over and help us", has again been responded to by our friend "The Tent Dweller of Rossmore", with a stirring and amusing tale of the constant fight between insect and human life, for Rossmore, in the great Open Spaces seemingly has everything except the Arts, Crafts and Arrgy-Ant, in insect life—but let him tell his own story. Here 'Tis:

Our location is still on the bay shore, Rossmore. Both our tent domicile and investigations continue as before.

The flock of cranes are still here; they feed quietly and now we have decided that the guy who nosed about Florida some months ago is not too bad on closer inspection. Cranes, like people, have a little good in the worst of them, and a little bad in the best of them, but nevertheless we would feel more hopeful for a better disposition for cranes if they could manage to fatten up a little.

A flock of tame ducks, exactly one dozen, owned by a bay-shore neighbour one-half of whom is white every resident in the vicinity three or four times a day and their plump, aleek bodies give ample evidence as to the kindly reception they receive. We have learned that there is a little different for our offerings of mouldy bread, heavy pie crusts and other indigestible material; we whistle, loud and cheery and it is right on the score as the Barnum would have envied to see them come flying and paddling, skimming the surface of the water as in duck language they shout, "Ladies, gentlemen and children; who can get there first?" They eat out of our hand and explain in their own way that they trust us completely, and that the beautiful sunset was made to do the same. Does it not pay to be friendly and sociable?

Playground Circus

We have a constant circus similar to the above in operation at Rossmore's great playgrounds all the time, and we tell them you about some other feathery friends in our nest. Yes, the cows are still nearby and they perform too, like children at play. Two fat heifers become fed up with dry, wire grass and face each other like Roman gladiators; they lower and murder in their soft brown eyes; they paw up the dirt to be still more impressive and then horrors! they lock their tiny, short horns and the battle royal is on. One gives a little ground and then regains it with interest; it is a grand (sham) battle and finally one gives up ingloriously and with that superb animal instinct of attack and defence, wins the round. Then they lick each other like kittens to prove that it was only for fun and practice.

Patriarchs, Ants and Others

We have a grievance against our long line, (some fifty strong) of spiritually learned clergymen; they never explained how the Biblical patriarchs of old combatted ants, grasshoppers, spiders and crickets by carrying bits of kunuk and other pests and now we are threatened with starvation. These insects get into everything we eat, (we dwell in a tent, like Moses, please remember) and even invade our beds at night. We pour out a delicious cup of coffee (the kind Eddie Cantor likes) and before it reaches our lips a second time, a cricket or grasshopper misjudges his jump, and is boiled in that aforesaid coffee before our grieving eyes. If we have a delicious (to us) pie (the kind that beguiled Jacob) left over and if we set it aside for future indulgence, the ants die by the thousands in it, no doubt proclaiming to the end that they enjoyed a glorious death.

Calling All Pastors

If our pastors had only told us what they did on Judean fields two thousand years ago to combat these great evils, how grateful we could be today! Did they finish their calling sermons now and then lest all of intruders and regard everything that happened "as all meat and no bones" or did they add poison or some other effective remedy?

Like so much that has happened in the practical spheres of our lives, we are now thrown on our own resources and intelligence; we have scores of ordinary preserve sealers (pints and quarts) in which everything liquid and solid is placed for safe and cool keeping, even our butter, cheese, biscuits, meat, liquids of all kinds, are so protected and though much trouble, it works beautifully.

What About Moses?

But Moses had no screens or sealers, how did he manage to overcome such great difficulties? That is just the point; we are intended by Divine love and wisdom to have obstacles in our way and to become a little more than the angels by overcoming them. Let us keep up our chins; now is the time to show resourcefulness and endurance; all will be well.

The Silver Lining

The sun this morning came up over the Bay of Quinte behind an immense, black cloud, but the silver lining was luminous, prophetic and awe-inspiring far beyond the power of poor words to describe. Not only was there the promise of a beautiful, cheerful day but also a promise and prophecy that sorrows and burdens may be overcome, accompanied by a great resulting blessing and peace to discouraged souls. The tent-dwellers of old became the world's loftiest souls under such surroundings and tuition. These are the great moulding influences of life, ancient and modern, as compared with so much of the froth, foam and fret of today.

Love Dominates Life

There is no room for hate when the soul is overflowing with the most divine emotions and thoughts of which humanity is capable. Love dominates a life in communion with the sublime mysteries of Nature. You think of all the lovely scenes you ever beheld, of all the good, kind people you ever met, and, if they are absent on earth or in heaven, you are just yearning for their presence to share your joys and your thoughts.

Best wishes to all.

Tact comes as much from goodness of heart as from fineness of taste.—Endymion.

With a soul that ever felt the sting of sorrow, sorrow is a sacred thing.—Cowper.

More helpful than all wisdom or counsel is one draught of simple human pity that will not forsake us.—George Eliot.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

Joyce might have arranged to send me money; but not sadly in this season. I was sitting on my own in myself: and more virtuous than continued tutor and precentuity in Tarbish. So rise of us started off on a day which promised to be a little more than usual. We made good time to Rashidiya and as we climbed the saddle beyond, found ourselves momentarily above the clouds in a faint smallish.

In the afternoon the weather drew down again and the wind hardened from the north and east, and made me sorry to be out on the bare plain. When we had forded the running river at Shobek, rain began to fall, first in wild gusts, but then more steadily. I pulled my cloak over our left shoulders and seeming to cloak us from the main bleakness of wind. When we had crossed the hill the ground they farred out white-ly like a sprue. We pushed on without halting and till-long after sunset urged our trembling camels, with many slips and falls, down the greasy valleys. We made nearly two miles an hour, despite our difficulties; and progress was becoming so exciting and unexpected that its item ceased to matter much.

It had been my intention to ride all night to Azrak or Odrok, and so came down about us in a low ring cirtain, over which the clouds, like tatters of a veil, spun and danced high up across the calmness of the sky. The temperature changed in a change, so that fur hills looked small, and the hillocks great. We bore too much to the right.

This open country, though appearing dead, was really full of breath their weight and let our camels in, for we often had to keep, at every stride. The poor beasts had been chilled all day, and had bumped down on them, and were very stiff with bruises. Consequently, they made trembling work, and new difficulties. They hurried for a few steps, stopped abruptly, looked round, trotted on, and then a larger outcrop or rock. Behind it, where there should be none, they would be couched our camels in a compact group, talk to another thing, they might die of cold. We smuggled down beside them, hoping for warmth and sleep.

The warmth I, at least, never got, and hardly the sleep. I dozed only only to wake with a start when slow fingers seemed to stroke my face. I stared out into the night, but saw large soft snowflakes. They lasted a minute or two, but then followed rain, and after it more frost, while I squatted in a tight ball, aching every way but too miserable to move till dawn, but enough: I rolled over in the cold to see my camels, kneeling in their cloaks, cowering abandoned against the misty hillside. Then a man's face weighed the most dolorous expression of resigned despair.

With other men the horizon had grown very close, and we saw that our proper view was a quarter of a mile to our left. Along it we struggled afoot. The camels were too done to carry our weight (all but my own died later of this march) and it was useless to ride in the clay bottoms that we ourselves slid and fell like them.

The air seemed cold enough to freeze anything, but did not, the wind, which had changed during the night, swept into us from the west in blustering blizzards. Our cloaks balled out and dragged like sails against us. At last we abandoned them off and went easier, our bare shins wrapped tightly about us to restrain their slapping tails. The whirling direction of the squalls was shown to our eyes by the white mist they carried across hill and dale. Our hands were numbed into insensibility so that we knew the cut on them only by red stains in the plastered mud; but our bodies were not so chill, and for hours quivered under the ballcones of each storm. We twisted ourselves to get the sharpness on an squalls side, and held our shirts free from the skin, to shield us momentarily. By late afternoon we had covered the ten miles to Abu el Lissan. Maulud's men were gone to ground.

and so one balled us; which was for we were filthy and miserable: stringy like shaven cats. Afterwards the going was easier, the last two miles to the head of Shtar being frozen like iron. We remounted our camels, whose health proceed whitely through their processing fourth, and raced up to the first wonderful glimpse of the Guweira plain, warm, red and comfortable, as seen through the cloud-gaps. The clouds had ceiled the hollow strangely, making the valley in a flat layer of curds at the level of the hills on which we stood; we gazed on them contentedly for minutes. Every little while, a wisp of cloud, a fleecy sea-foam, shaft would be torn away and thrown at us. We on the valley of hurth would feel it slash across our faces, taste to shreds, and vanish in a powdering of fine mucus or a trickle of water across the pesty soil.

To Be Continued.

THOMASBURG IN LEAD AT QUOITS

Final Score is 9-7 After Interesting Series of Games

TWEED—Thomasburg horseshoe flingers played their home game in Tweed on Friday, August 2nd. They extended this courtesy to the Tweed tossers because the latter had previously journeyed to Thomasburg to fulfil the engagement to find that through some misunderstanding no arrangements had been made to play the game there. So, to avoid having Tweed again make the trip, Thomasburg came in town. H. Brewer and Jack Dudgeon (with Billy Critcher playing the last two matches as sub for Dudgeon) won all four of their games to lead all the players. Glen Lee and Calvin Masters were the leading point winners for Tweed with three wins in four games. The results:

Court No. 1—A. Davis, O. Shewring 0-7; H. Thompson, C. Adams 21-15.

A. Davis, O. Shewring 22-34; H. Brewer, J. Dudgeon, 16-10.

A. Adams, O. Shewring 21-11-32; Geo. Jones, H. Carter 9-21-10.

A. Davis, O. Shewring 15-4; C. Jeffries, L. Morton.

Court No. 2—S. Lee, C. Masters 21-23-32; C. Jeffries, L. Morton 15-22-18.

S. Lee, C. Masters 13-13; H. Thompson, C. Adams 26-21.

S. Lee, C. Masters 23-26; H. Brewer, E. Coulter 2-4.

S. Lee, C. Masters 25-21; Geo. Jones, H. Carter 13-17.

Court No. 3—A. Blakely, F. Fraser 14-24-21; Geo. Jones, H. Carter 21-19-2.

A. Blakely, F. Fraser 5-3; C. Jeffries, L. Morton 21-21.

A. Blakely, F. Fraser 3-9; H. Thompson, C. Adams 21-23.

A. Blakely, F. Fraser 22-22; H. Brewer, E. Coulter 5-4.

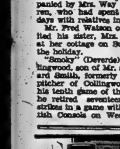
Court No. 4—H. Way, G. Thompson 8-9; R. Sharpe, W. Hickson 24-24.

H. Way, G. Thompson 7-9; Geo. Jones, Ed. Carter 21-21.

G. Thompson, R. Sharpe 21-8; H. McCarthy, W. Hickson 23-22.

G. Thompson, S. A. McCarney 15-21; H. Thompson, C. Adams 21-24.

Summary:



Thomasburg 8; Tweed 7.

The annual meeting of the W. M.A. was held on Thursday afternoon at the United Church with Mrs. C. Barnett, the president, in the chair. After the opening exercises were concluded a motion was passed naming Mrs. G. Rombough delegate to the Training School which will be held at Whitby in a few weeks. A splendid reading on Christian Stewardship was given by Mrs. R. W. Kingston, convener of that department. Mrs. Barnett also contributed a reading on temperance. Mrs. C. H. Kerr took charge of the junior meeting. Her theme was read by Mrs. George Robinson, followed by the Devotional Exercises by Mrs. Myrtle Ward. Mrs. W. A. Beatty sang a beautiful solo. The conference film was an excellent reading by Mrs. S. G. Way.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Young moved into Civic Holiday in Stouffville. He returned home on Saturday accompanied by Mrs. Way and the children, who had spent the past ten days with relatives in Stouffville.

Mr. Fred Watson of Toronto, visited his sister, Mrs. Bennett Frost, at her cottage on Sugar Island on the holiday.

"Smoky" (Deverde) Smith of Collingwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith, formerly of Tweed, pitcher of Collingwood team, won his tenth game of the season when he retired seventeen batters on strikes in a game with Midland British Consols on Wednesday. Smith struck out 156 batters so far this season and is the leading pitcher in amateur ball this year.

An interesting feature accompanied by hail and rain visited Tweed and district at three o'clock Sunday afternoon. Pellets of ice larger than good-sized marbles battered gardens and crops for a period lasting 15 to 20 minutes, causing considerable additional damage. The storm, however, covered the lawns until the grass was scarcely visible in places and could be scooped up by shovelfuls, and lay on the ground for some time after the storm abated. Some damage was caused to shade trees in the vicinity, many small limbs and leaves which had been cut off by the storm.

FAMILY PICNICS

TWEED WINS OUT IN HURLING DUEL

Final Game of Gordon Steel and Young Canada at Tweed

Tweed—Schreider and Luffman engaged in a neat hurling duel on Saturday evening as Young Canada and Gordon Steel met in the final game of the season at the Agricultural Park in Tweed. The home aggregation eked out a victory by the score of 6 to 5, scoring four runs in third and two in the seventh. After forcing Luffman to fly out to Alexander in center to begin the fatal third inning Schreider rifled a single to right fielder Merraw and Simpson in succession hit to Rollins. McCutcheon followed with a two base hit to score two, and Quinn singled to drive home two more runs. The next two were easy outs. In the seventh Schreider hit safely, scoring first man up. He advanced on Rollins' single and both scored on Merraw's double, followed by Rollins on Gale's error on Simpson's hard drive. This ended the scoring for the locals who had six men left on bases.

The visitors scored one run in the fourth on W. Latchford's two bagger, followed by two outs and Sinclair's error on J. Murray's hooper over the infield which let Latchford home. In the fifth and seventh, Schreider, who played a bang-up game himself at the mound over McCutcheon's head. Errors by Rollins who juggled W. Latchford's fly long enough to permit the runner to reach first, and Gale's hard throw placed two men on. They both scored later. The last two innings were played in semi-darkness. Luffman fanned ten men as against one for Schreider. Rollins in the last two men in the eighth, and retiring the side in the ninth single-handed, allowing two and throwing to Quinn for the other out. Young Canada left five men stranded.

Tummon and Alexander, rival centre fielders, had a field day in the outfield, the former making five put outs and the latter six. Rollins played a stellar game at second with two put outs and three assists. His error on Latchford's slow roller was excusable, and it is doubtful if the ball could have been played at first in time to retire the batter. His catch of McCutcheon's drive was a "pippin".

Robinson starred at first for Young Canadas and Reid at third. Schreider led the visitors in batting with two hits, one a homer. Simpson and Orr had two each for the locals. Rollins umpired behind the W. Latchford for the visitors. Luffman walked one man and Schreider five.

The win gives Tweed second place for the season with 12 wins and 8 losses, an enviable record, considering the fast company in which Luffman and Schreider travelling all season.

Young Canadas—J. Harriage 2b, W. Latchford lf, F. Murray ss, H. Reid 3b, J. Murray c; M. Latchford rf, Alexander cf, Robinson 1b, Schreider p.

Gordon Steel—Rollins 2b, Merraw 3b, Simpson c, McCutcheon lf, Quinn 1b, Tummon cf, Orr ss, Sinclair rf, Luffman p.

Umpires C. Harnett, Belleville; at plate, H. Wilson Tweed on outfield.

The Ladies Aid of the Front Road United Church met at the Church on Thursday August 1st. Quite a number of the members were present to help on the cleaning up and putting things in order after the Lawn Social held the evening previously on the Church lawn which was well attended and the proceeds amounted to quite a nice sum.

Mrs. Lockwood favored for a piano in the future but no definite date has been decided on.

Refreshments were served and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

The "Merrie Queen" and her prime agent who provide most of the laughs, last times tonight at the Capitol.

AT THE BELLE

"Drake of England"

Brilliant Historical Play Full of Thrills, and Fine Acting

What is said to be Cgo. O'Brien's outstanding screen achievement comes to the Belle, tomorrow and Thursday, when the famous stage play, the film "Hard Rock Harrigan" has the backs of the Colorado river and tells a brand new type of story in a brand new way, crammed with action and slive with thrills and plenty of excitement.

The talented Irene Hervey appears as Georgo O'Brien's leading lady, who operates the camp concessinary. Miss Hervey's charm and beauty lend a welcome contrast to the rugged and untamed background, where the "hard rock" men fight nature in the raw.

Exciting scenes are marked with thrills and when George O'Brien is caught in the web which impetuous him with a companion in an impassable chasm, the audience's nerves rides high. With an ulterior motive in mind, Fred Kohler braves untold danger to rescue O'Brien.

How the star attempts to repay his ensnarling foes and win the love of Miss Hervey, provides much of the entertainment value of the picture.

"Drake of England" Spectacular Play of the Days When Every Englishman in the British Empire has been waiting for a long time. "Drake of England", the second spectacular romantic adventure story is a fine piece of work, patriotic, thrilling and instructive.

In this generation there is a tendency for many pictures to be blurred by a veil of suture which is drawn carefully over the realism to show a pride in one's country. It is true that this is belied on occasions, as national strife will bring the warm-heartedness of the British people a reverence, but any attempt to glorify England on the stage or screen, or in literature, invites a certain degree of derision on an accusation of flag-waving propaganda.

In spite of this fact, "Drake of England" has done it in a good way with it, and there will be something wrong with your backbone if this grand film does not send a thrill down it.

The Little People", a clever and unique screen oddity will be exhibited on the same program.

Coming—"A man's Reputation".

Two smart features will be exhibited at the Belle tonight for the last times in "Daring Young Man", featuring Jean Muir, Tom Brown and Neil Hamilton, and "Decided to You" co-starring John Boles and lovely Jean Muir. The Belle Latest News Flashes will be exhibited on the same program. The last complete show starts at 8.30 pm.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Mark of the Vampire"

Lionel Barrymore and Star Cast in Latest Thriller—Cape Cod Comedy an Added Number

While "The People's Enemy" and "It Happened in New York" continue to entertain the patrons of the Capitol Theatre, loose than usual interest is being evinced by the public in the forthcoming engagement of that super-thriller, "Mark of the Vampire" that features such capable players as Lionel Barrymore, Elizabeth Allen, Bela Lugosi and Lionel Atwill, that opens a three-day engagement on Thursday at the south end cinema.

"Mark of the Vampire" is a real blood-chilling thriller, with sinister shadows, vampires that roam in the sky, blended with romance, suspense and comedy.

The story concerns the activities of a detective whose wits are pitted against the "un-dead" and who by amazing strategy uncovers one of the strangest crim'gals in modern literature.

Based on a story by Guy Endore, author of "Werewolf of Paris" it was directed by Tod Browning, master of mystery, director of "Dracula" and director of the famous Chaney mysteries.

To counteract the chills and thrills that one will experience in witnessing "Mark of the Vampire", the management has booked a tensely hilarious comedy, "The Cat's Paw" of the simple and hardy Cape Cod folk.

It is the story of a ne'er-do-well old salt who engineers the romance he want, a wife whom he has rescued from the sea. With her and his ne-fasting comedy they provide over the deginies of the girl.

Lucien Littlefield is the character, who created the role of Uncle Sam on "The Tobacco Road", the play that has been running for two years in New York, assumes the lead in "Cape Cod Cupid", while the well-known Canadian-born actors, Gene Lockhart and Douglas Walton are also in the cast.

Lockhart was born in London, Ont., while Dalton hails from Woodstock, Ont. Others in the cast include—Helen Mack, Helen Wood and Arthur Travers.

With the above features there was also be shown the Fox Movietone Newsreel bringing all the latest news events gathered from various parts of the universe.

"It Happened in New York" and "The People's Enemy" conclude their engagement this evening.

Weddings

GARratt—BURley

At the home of the bride, 378 Bleecker Avenue, a very charming wedding took place at three o'clock this afternoon when Bernice Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood G. Burley became the bride of John Edgar Garratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace E. Garratt, Wellington. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. B. Naylor, pastor of Tabernacle United Church.

Pink and white gladioli were used in profusion in the decoration of the living room where the marriage ceremony was performed. As the wedding march was played by Miss Helen Darrah, the bride entered the room with her father who gave her in marriage. She made a charming picture in her gown of ivory satin fashioned in fitted lines and trimmed with touches of Brussels lace. Her veil was caught to her hair with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of Premier roses.*

Miss Edith Burley, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a lovely frock of yellow organdy with matching accessories. She carried roses and blue delphiniums. Little Miss Audrey Burley was flower girl and wore blue organdy and carried a basket of pink snapdragons. Little Miss Herbert Burley gowned in pink organdy carried her sister's veil.

Mr. Herbert Burley, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

After the ceremony buffet luncheon was served. Mrs. Burley, the bride's mother wearing powder blue crepe and matching accessories and Mrs. Garratt, mother of the groom, attired in navy blue with gray accessories received with the bridal couple. Later Mr. and Mrs. Garratt left on a wedding trip through Ontario and the Eastern States. The bride wore for travelling a smart ensemble of brown and navig. Upon their return they will take up residence at Wellington.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wannamaker, Picton; Mr. and Mrs. T. Tipp, Mr. D. Wannamaker, Picton; Mrs. Lucy Church, Toronto; Mr. Ben Burley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lavender, Wellington; Mr. and Mrs. E. Burley, Bloomfield, and Lieut. O. I. and Mrs. Ingram, of Wellington.

WANNAMAKER—TENNYSON

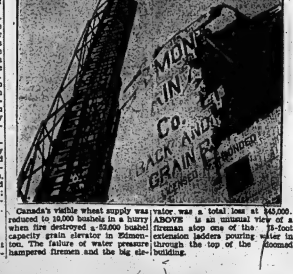
A quiet wedding took place at the Tabernacle Parsonage, Belleville, on Wednesday, July 31st at 2 p.m. E.S.T., when Lucy Belle Tennyson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tennyson and the late Mrs. Tennyson of Madoc, became the bride of Mr. John Wesley Wannamaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Wannamaker, also of Madoc.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. B. Naylor.

The bride wore a graceful frock of shell pink organdie with picture hat and matching white accessories. She was attended by Miss Mary Wannamaker, sister of the groom, wearing pale green organdie with white hat and matching accessories.



The groom was attended by Mr. Keith Chambers of Eldorado.

After a short motor trip south the happy couple will reside at Eldorado. The bride's sister, Miss Myrtle Tennyson, and the groom's brother, Mr. Carl Wannamaker, also attended the wedding.

ST. JOHN'S MISSION ANNUAL PICNIC

The Sunday School of St. John's Mission, Herchimer Avenue, held their annual picnic at Point Anne on July 25th. An enjoyable time was had by all. The fourth anniversary of the Mission was celebrated on Sunday, August 4th, in the evening. The service was conducted by Rev. Humphreys in the absence of Rev. T. H. Hall, who is on his holidays. The choir was augmented by the members of Holy Trinity Mission (Canniffon) choir. They were ably led by the organist, Mrs. Osborne, of Canniffon. The Rev. A. Geen and several old members of the Mission were in attendance and welcomed by Rev. Humphreys.

HOW TO DISPOSE OF OUR WHEAT SURPLUS

Canada's visible wheat supply was reduced to 10,000 bushels in a hurry when fire destroyed a 25,000 bushel capacity grain elevator in Edmonton. The failure of water pressure hampered firemen and the big elevator was a total loss at $45,000. ABOVE is an unusual view of a fireman atop one of his 75-foot extension ladders pouring water in through the top of the doomed building.

FOREIGNERS SAFE IN EVENT OF WAR

Emperor Selassie, Ethiopia to Afford Special Protection

Addis Ababa, Aug. 7 (AP)—Foreigners in Ethiopia would be safe in the event of a war with Italy.

"The Government envisages special measures for protection and security for foreigners and their property in case of hostilities, or movements of troops in their vicinity," he said.

The Emperor once more lent substance to a belief he would follow the example of his famous grandfather, Emperor Menelik, and keep the Ethiopian warriors against the Italians should the necessity arise.

Obituary

THE LATE JESSE W. HEARNS

Trenton, Aug. 7.—Special)—Jesse Wilbert Hearns, life long resident of the community and retired railroader, passed away Sunday at his home in the Carrying Place after an illness of several weeks' duration. The late Mr. Hearns was born in Frankford sixty-eight years ago, a son of the late David Hearns and Mary Elizabeth Saunders. He started his railroad career with the old Grand Trunk and later served with the C.N.R. and the C.P.R. Three years ago he was superannuated and at that time he was a trainman on the Trenton-Picton run. He then moved from Trenton, where he had spent the greater part of his life, to Carrying Place, where he enjoyed in light farming. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and of the L.O.O.F.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from his residence in Carrying Place with a large number of friends and former railway associates in attendance. The services at the house and graveside were conducted by Rev. Sanders of Consecon, assisted by Rev. A. E. Hicks, of Trenton, Rev. C. Tuttle, United church, Interment was made in the Frankford cemetery. The pallbearers were R. S. Derbyshire, Angus Cook, C. H. Burk, Agnes Hill, Fred Rowe and F. Arguggia.

NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)— The stock market plunged along its irregular course during late today with renewed selling among motor accessory shares the only feature.

Briggs Mfg. advanced a full point under extraordinarily heavy demand, but gains occurred in Houdaille-Hershey and Hayes Body. Other shares holding part of early gains included American Can, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Eastman Kodak; Montgomery Ward Sears Roebuck and Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit.

Losers included U. S. Steel, Johns-Manville, Bethlehem Steel, Standard Oil of N.J., Santa Fe; Union Pacific and Consolidated Gas. The late lone was irregular. Sales approximated 1,400,000 shares.

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 7.—(CP)—Dealers Corporation-Segraves made the only today-on New York Toronto Industrial Board, hopping up to a new high at 23 1-4 for a gain of nearly a point. Other stocks changed hands in huge volume. Other liquors were slower and lags occurred. Their price action but all closed on the up side with exception of Seagrams and Distillers which held unchanged. Over the Board gains were in the majority. Brazilian was sold in quantity for a loss of 1-8 but prices going, in a new list for the year.

Segraves was reported to be a seller of the stock.

The industrial Share list turned moderately soft in the early afternoon today after slightly higher opening but the early falling, a few of the Interlisted leaders however, managed to hold to part of their gains. Trading was much slower than during the morning session in advance.

Distillers-Seagrams was the day's feature, rising to 23 1-8, its high mark for the year but profit-taking shaded the price to 22 7-8 to show a gain of only 1-8 net. Walkers Common had a loss of 1-4 this afternoon. Nickel, Ford A. Imperial and Coal were the only narrow list to the up side while Smelters dropped two points and Brazilian, three-eighths. Base Metals were inferred in heavy volume at a new low price for the year.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 7 (CP)— Gold shares figured more prominently in the trade on the mining section of the Toronto exchange today, the list showing a considerable number rising in a few of the secondary issues recording gains. Consols, Hollinger, Macassa, Pickle Crow, Cod's Lake and Central Patricia, the latter unchanged higher for the day. Base metals were slow, despite a higher range for nickel issues and silvers recorded no important changes while Smelters were almost lifeless. Exploration.

The London prices for copper, lead and zinc were lost on the base metal stocks today as traders avoiding the extra speculation of a tel'nical reaction on the New York market. Interest was almost lifeless and Base Metals Corporation 1 cents to 60.

A few of the medium priced gold shares stepped along actively on buying and short covering. McWatters hit 1.49, up 14 cents and Lake Shore touched 10 at 1.45 this afternoon. Pickle Crow, Hollinger and McKenzie on higher and Reno weakened 5 to 1.09.

Action in the silvers centred in Bear Exploration which moved up to a new high at 80 cents. Eldorado and Castle eased slightly.

WALL STREET FINANCIAL

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Mildly irregular influences ruled the stock market today. A selected group of industrials, metals and merchandising shares showed gains on the upside, some making 1935 high while oil shares were under pressured and rails and utilities were inactive.

Among shares of Canadian companies, Dome and Dominion Stores rose a shade lower while International Nickel and Canadian Pacific held even. On the curb, Lake Shore and Hiram Walker were fractionally higher. Consolidated Bonds were inactive, Montreal funds continued unchanged at 99.90 5-8 cents.

Prominent shares making new 1935 highs included Allied Chemical, Ward, Sears Roebuck, Brooklyn Manhattan Transit and General Motors, all wins going or nearly a point. Others joining in the upturn included American Can, Air Reduction, Eastman Kodak, Chrysler, U. S. Cast, Amanonda, American Smelting, National Department Stores, Interborough and Westinghouse. American Telephone, Santa Fe, Consolidated Gas and N.Y. Central were among others holding about even.

Large scale selling broke out in doomy-Vacuum which cut its dividend rate yesterday and soon resulted in a loss of about a point. Other shares were a bit wobbly in sympathy. Standard Oil of Calif., Texas Corp., Phillips Petroleum and Seaboard.

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Jamieson Bone & Co.

KIRKLAND LAKE GOLD LOCATING NEW ORE

Some interesting discoveries of new ore are reported in the upper levels of the first mine, with other additions to new ore being made in the intermediate group of levels and at depth. Most of the new ore is being located in areas where ore of commercial grade was not previously found.

The general situation as it affects the security markets continues to be more favorable than otherwise. Business is currently displaying an encouraging upward trend, in a period when seasonal influences normally result in little or no improvement, if anything, in the direction of movement a year ago.

Trade advocates appear to be in the opinion that the longer term trend is favorable. The upward curve of operations are doubtless under way and evidence has been found indications of some increase in production schedules. The fact remains that the market continues to reflect hesitation, buying which is being conducted with caution and with a chary reason to brokers' loans. The healthy fundamental condition of the price structure is amply attested to by the extremely low ratio of brokers' loans to market value of listed securities. There is no indication of any early change in the present composition of the money market, and it appears that the low rates will continue at approximately their present unusually low level for a long period of time.

SOIL MARKETS

No brass band announces the arrival of the market; rather, a few market steals upon us, unless the night upon a woodland. Before you it, it is gone. The point is, you know it stocks are up—much higher than they were a few months back.

There are signs, of course. Business is picking up. Commodities went erratically moves upward; prices get firm to strong, but there is a reluctance to buy. Real estate is highly unstable; carloadings are slowly rising; but on the whole, stocks seem to creep upward. It is not the time for a specific investor look for the reaction.

Indications are somewhat that a reversal has taken place. Then, there is a stab at getting new capital. A new industry is born. Or, there is a reorganization with an old industry. Or, a rather spectacular stock is offered. What is a test. Will investors respond? Something has signified the rejuvenation of confidence, the return of enterprise That is the sure sign.

Livestock

Toronto, Aug. 7.—(CP)—The Toronto Livestock Market opened this morning with a slow start, prices being somewhat easier than yesterday. Cattle holdover was 700 head, inquiry was fairly good.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 360; calves, 450; hogs, 970; sheep and lambs, 800.

The week's receipts had few features to offer in the opening session, meeting equally light buying. Its sold from $4.25 to $5.75 with bulk coming from $4.50 to $5.25 and $2.50 to $3.50. A few shipping bulls changed hands with the price ranging from $2.90 to $3.00. Choice heifers sold for $3.25 to $4.35.

The calf trade was generally dull at $7.00 to $7.50 with a few tops bringing $8.00. Grass calves were sold downward to $4.50. Hogs were reported to be still unsteady with indications that no change would be before the close.

Lambs opened steadier this morning bringing $7.50 for good ewes and wethers with choice lambs sold anywhere from $5.50 to $6.50. Good light sheep brought from $3.50 to $3.00 a head.

Dizzy Dean Wins Own Game By Homer in 10th Inning With Two Mates Aboard

Shave Lead of Giants One Full Game By Win

CHICAGO WINS

Only One Game in The American With Senators Winning

By ANDY CLARKE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The incomparable Dizzy Dean, having observed the tenk of Wes Ferrell in the American League, walked out a 10th inning home run to give the Cards a victory yesterday.

The mighty sock added another pitching victory to the record of the fractious twirler, running his number of wins up to 17, second best in the National League. The Red Sox moundsman leads the American League in the number of wins, having chalked up 18 also.

It was on the 31st of July, that Ferrell, batting for Lefty Grove in the ninth, met one of Tommy Bridges' slants squarely and rode the ball out of the field to save Grove's 4-3 win, stirring memories. The next day, against St. Louis, he again batted for the pitcher to win another for the Red Sox.

It is not unlikely Dizzy was thinking of those feats as he stepped to the plate yesterday. He went to the mound in the ninth and held Cincinnati hitless for four innings, having been the third Redbird twirler to see action.

Two Aboard

With the game tied at three-all in the 10th, Bill Delancey got a lucky double, Calvin Gilbert was passed and Leo Durocher sacrificed. Then the older Dean stepped to the plate and let fly. He knew by himself for that blow indicated he wasn't looking for a single. The ball sailed into the left grandstand and the score was 6-3.

Brooklyn-Dodgers shaved a full game off the Giants' lead as Tom Zachary reared another victory from his aged arm. The Giants got 11 hits but could muster but one run. The final score was 3-1.

The win, combined with Chicago Cubs 3-1 victory over Pittsburgh, cut the Giants' margin to three games. Roy Henshaw was on the mound for the Cubs but it took a brace of errors on a freak play to turn the trick.

Bill Jurges' got a single in the third and then Henshaw, trying to bunt, popped one into the hands of Birkofer. The pitcher, apparently intending to trap Jurges and get both runners, intentionally dropped the ball, then got careless and the throw wild to first. By the time Suhr got it, Jurges was nearing third. Then Suhr threw all the way to the left field bonse and Jurges scored.

One Game in American

Boston Braves temporarily again and defeated the Phillies 4-0 behind the three hit pitching of Bob Smith. For 7 1-3 innings the Braves pitcher hurled perfect ball, not allowing a single man to reach first.

In the only game played in the American League, Washington Senators collected 14 hits to score their second straight win over the Athletics, 11-3.

Johnson Glad To be Back to Quiet of Farm

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Germantown, Md., Aug. 7.—(AP) Walter Johnson was busy in the farm today, eager for the quiet of the countryside with no nearness in his heart, except baseball.

The "big train" of other years, who resigned Sunday as manager of Cleveland Indians after undergoing a withering time from fans and critics all season cramped over portions of his 160-acre farm with his familiar slouch hat on. He greeted friends and looked over his horses and scampering dogs.

"What a relief to get back to the country," he said, "to get away from it all."

Born and reared on a farm, Johnson has never altered the aim to slip from his shoes. His only desire now is for rest and the nerve-quieting chores of the farm.

"The Cleveland baseball men are fine gentlemen. I like them. I believe President Alva Bradley always was and still is strong for me," he said. "And I think most all of my players were fine. But most of them gave 100 per cent of their efforts for me.

"When I left yesterday many of the players came to me with tears in their eyes, expressing their regret. But I was smiling and thanking me for what I've done for them. I'll remember their words.

"The Cleveland Club just wasn't as good as I 'ped thought it would be. Some of the players didn't live up to the expectations I had for them. We had injuries that hurt us. But that's baseball.

"I think it was for the best interests of the Cleveland Club that I resigned."

Mercantile Softballs

Recreations and Corbins advanced a step nearer the play-off berths in the Local Mercantile Softball league last night as the Recreations pounded out an 18 to 8 victory over the garlanic Intelligencer nine, while Corbins gagged a mid-game rally to defeat Finch's 16 to 14.

All the fireworks on the Field the Finch nine gave the victorious American Hardware aggregation something to worry about as the losers staged a belated eighth inning rally to score seven runs, but fell four short of knotting the count. Corbins having amassed a sufficient lead to coast through to victory in the eighth inning. Corbinson, hurling for Finch's was touched quite hard as was Graham on the hilltop for the winning Corbins, the game being purely a battle of base hits with one Corbins going out on top.

The line-ups:

Corbins—J. McGuire, Smith, Hobson, J. Graham, F. McGuire; Dinnie; Rookes; B. Smith and Fisher.

Finch's Cigars—Fulton; Giffin; L. Jenkinson; Temple; C. Jenkinson; Stewart; Langabeer; Grey and Graham.

| Corbins | 000 744 100—16 |
| Finch's | 000 201 220—14 |

At their Yeomans St. grounds the Recreational scored six big runs in the initial frame to assume a lead they never relinquished as they downed the local "printers" by the wide margin of 18 to 8. Carson, hurling for Recreations, was in rare form and was in complete command of the game from the outset The Recreations scored in every inning, except the second and eighth, while the "intelligers" were held in submission. Harris, hurling for the losers, was hit freely. Only one game, Loblaws vs. Simpson, is scheduled for tonight.

The line-ups:

Recreations—Tapp, B. Morgan, R. Morgan; Hurley; Mansfield; P. Morgan; Major; Carson and Carson.

Ont. Intell—Philp; Goyer; Oliphant; Robinson; Canning; Harris; Knock; Kemp; Doyle and Lunbery.

Score by innings:

YOUNG CANADAS TRIM ST. PAULS

Win First Playoff Game in Softball Loop by 6 to 4

Coming from behind and staging a belated eight inning rally, that netted them four runs, the Young Canada A.C. defeated the St. Paul's A.C. by the score of 6 to 4 in the first play-off games in the local Senior Softball league at Central Park last evening. Bunt Miller, hurling for the Young Canadas and Ted Sager hurling for the Foster Ward aggregation, hooked up in a beautiful pitchers' duel, that lasted until the eighth, when the winners moved in for the kill with a four run spurge after collecting four hits at the St. Paul's aggregation kicked in with two glaring errors, that materially assisted the Barrtage-led squad in victory.

Although Miller was quite erratic at times, he struck out six as he walked five. Sager did not whiff as many nor did he walk anyone to hurt his cause, as he passed three and struck out four. A fast double play, Barrtage to Robinson blasted any hopes the St. Paul's had in the eighth inning, when they were pulled gasping from the fire.

The teams battled at practically even keeps until the eighth when the Canadas assumed the lead over the St. Paul's that had led nearly all of the way. Two errors, a pair subsequently as the winners out-slugged the losers in the pinches, as the latter tag seven apiece, while not an extra base hit registered. Miller, on the mound for the Locke Street boys, was brilliant behind their respective pitchers.

J. Murray with two singles and Phil Lott, with a single apiece, were hits led the swatsmen of the day, while the fielding honors were vouchsafed by Mase Rigby's running catch of Palmer's drive in the third, J. Barrtage's grab of Green's hit in the fourth, Lott, Reid also fielding well at the bat route. The basket of groceries given to the holder of the lucky ticket was won by Miss Nellie Barrett. The two clubs resume baseball on Thursday night.

The line-ups—Young Canadas — Miller, c; J. Barrtage 2b; W. Latchford 1f; Reid 3b; Murray ss; Alexander cf; Robinson 1b; M. Latchford rf; and Miller p.

St. Paul's.—Loft 3b; Whitehead ss; Smith lb; Green lf; Greenspoon 2b; Hutchinson rf; Ritchy cf; Pointon c; and Sager p.

SHANNONVILLE HELD HITLESS

Callaghan of Latta Hurls No Hit No Run Game

The final schedule game of the South Hastings baseball league was played at Latta on Aug. 2 between Latta and Shannonville.

The game developed into a pitchers battle between Callaghan of Latta and Juby of Shannonville, with Callaghan getting the honors by Latta winning 2 to 0. Not a Latta pitcher pitched a no hit, no run game, walked three and hit one batsman and had five strikeouts, Juby also had five strikeouts in his favor and the support behind him allowed runs for Latta. Callaghan with a double was the heavy hitter for Latta followed by singles by Young and Marsh. A double play by Juby and he helped a Shannonville threatened at this stage. This constitutes a successful season for the league and the playoffs will be the next attraction.

Umpires Scott at plate, Dunning, bases.

Lineup of teams:

Shannonville: Milligan rf, Loft 2b, Juby p, Bell c, Little 3b, Brunton ca, Reid cf, Burnett lf, C. Ollinger ss.

Latta: C. Hall 3b, J. Gowe cf, Art Hall 3b, I. Young c, J. Marsh ss, Callaghan p, G. Young lb, S. Tyrp rf, L. Shannon rf.

Scoring is the standard of the teams:

| | Won | Lost | Te | Pts. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Foxboro | 11 | | 22 | |
| Cannifton | 9 | 5 | 1 | 19 |
| Latta | 8 | 6 | 1 | 17 |
| Shannonville | 6 | 10 | | 12 |
| Melrose | 2 | 13 | | 4 |

Second and third place teams play off two out of three games and winner meets first place team in three out of five games.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press)

J. (Dizzy) Dean, Cardinals—Hit home with two on in tenth to beat Reds after four brilliant innings of relief pitching.

Bob Smith and Welly Berger, Braves—Smith shut out Phillies with three hits; Berger bit 324 homer of season.

Tom Zachary, Dodgers —Scattered eleven Giant hits cleverly to win 3-1.

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

Unless something unforeseen happens next week, Thursday's Oshawa at Belleville O.S.A.L. game this season will be all just about determine the Motor City crew's future for the season, as a defeat for the Brewers will just about eliminate them while a victory for Dave Stewart-Warners would practically put the Radios "in the money". At the present time of writing, the Radios are one and one-half games ahead of the Dominions and a win for the Radios on Thursday would make the standing two and one-half games in favour of the locals, but a reverse would only leave the Millionmen one-half a game in third position, so important is Thursday's struggle.

Prior to this evening's Peterboro at Kingston game, the Peter have five more games to play, Kingston six, while Oshawa has four and Belleville three. The Motor Citymen are—Oshawa here on Thursday, Belleville at Kingston on Aug. 14th and Kingston here on Aug. 16th and 19th. The Brewers must come to Belleville on Aug. 15th, Kingston and then to Peterboro and wind-up the season at home with Peterboro on Monday, Aug. 19. It is to be hoped the Radios must win here on Thursday night, as Oshawa have been playing in a play-off berth, but any chances the locals have of defeating the Motor City crew was blasted in Oshawa on Saturday, Doubtlessly Radios "Chief" William will be on the mound for the Radios on Thursday night, but the services of the team mates will give him a better working advantage than he usually receives, as Bill is not a fast ball second. Manager Art Legg will have to resort to some fancy twirling, he may pull a fast one and start a left-hander at the last moment. At any rate Thursday night's game means everything to both clubs, bustle as they may into the play-off's is concerned.

Just what arrangements are being made for the play-off games and the playdowns seems to be a deep dark secret or mystery, as Secretary President Norm Mallett and Secretary Ernie Ohboard, Last week it was announced the play-offs for the league would commence immediately with Belleville and Peterboro meeting in the three game series to determine which club would advance into the intermediate O.S.A.A. "B" play-downs, while Oshboard or Napanee went on into the "A" series elimination contest. After Picton and Belleville play-off for their honors, then the Picton and Napanee clubs are to play a five game series for the championship of the Bay of Quinte League, those two clubs finishing one-two in the regular schedule. Of course the Picton-Napanee series may be played prior to the Belleville-Picton series, which is the suggestion would naturally meet with objection from Belleville, as the locals would then be idle for nearly two weeks. Of course the league in the O.S.A.A. do not like to declare a winner before the first of September but with at least a junior and intermediate league, we understand, so maybe Percy Mallett and his executive will be sitting and figuring one way or the other pretty soon.

Out in Marmora the baseball moguls are shouting to the high heavens in relation to the "Big Deal" they allege their baseball club received in the Trent Valley League for a three teamed loop composed of Bill May's Peterboro Rayheads, the Hill and Marmora. The team from Bob Elliott's neighboring village looked like a pennant contender when out of a blue sky the Coe Hill nine, who had been previously eliminated, were brought back into circulation by the league executive and now the Marmora-Coe Hill-Coe Hill in a round robin series, with the winner meeting Peterboro in the intermediate "C" play-downs, while the Rayheadon elevated themselves and will meet the winner of Elliott's baseball element in the intermediate "B" series. Now, as we understand, the Marmora nine had was the fact they hadn't been invited to "run Peterboro out", but have been given the opportunity, so say they all around the intersection of Highways No. 7

House of David Baseball Team To Show Wares

The House of David baseball club, probably the world's most widely travelled baseball aggregation, which is travelling this year with its own portable lighting plant and equipment, will play the Perth "Stars" of the St. Lawrence League at the Belleville Exhibition Park on Aug. 19th, in a night game of baseball and under flood-lights, a new feature to baseball in these parts.

Not only are the bearded House of David players, who call Benton Harbor, Mich., their home, one of the most colorful baseball clubs in existence, but they are one of the strongest clubs ever organized outside the major leagues as well. Led by Jack Quinn, former star major league pitcher for a number of years, the House of David players every one are athletes who might have starred in the old leagues had they not been signed with their baseball talents, as the baseball scouts picked them up.

Of course, Manager Quinn and his bearded players are a most unusual attraction, but rivaling the team is the new giant portable lighting plant carried by the club. The huge lighting plant is mounted on 50-foot poles, placed around the field, complete. The power plant itself is a large truck, equipped with a 100-200 watt generator, powered by a 200-horse power gasoline marine motor.

The House of David baseball club is known as the "Ambassadors of Baseball" of the greatest novelty baseball attraction ever organized, the team has drawn crowds of 25,000 at the Polo Grounds in New York, 40,000 at Philadelphia and other like crowds elsewhere. And members of the club also make the proud boast that they would be a drawing attraction if for no other reason than that they can play plenty of baseball.

MONTREALS BACK ON HOME GROUND

Increase Lead to Two Full Games Downing Albany

(By the Associated Press)

Montreal Royals are back in the home fortress today and with holds true the Opposition is going to find their walls too sleep to scale.

The Royals took to the road July 17th with a three game lead and returned from an almost disastrous tour of the seven cities. There only 11 of the 24 games they played in enemy encampment dropped but three out of four to the surprising second place Syracuse Chiefs.

The last place Albany Senators came into Montreal last night and were beaten 8-0 as the Royals stretched their lead to two games over the idle chiefs, who were rained out in Toronto.

Ray Prim held the Senators to eight scattered hits as he turned in his first shutout of the year, forcing 13 of the upstaters. The Royals clinched the two game lead in the first inning as the Albany hurler walked four men, hit a batter and was touched for one hit, enough to score four runs. Dutch Leiber threw the first two runs and was batting for the remaining four runs.

Newark Bears and Rochester Red-wings split a double header, the Bears taking the first game 10-3 behind the five hit pitching of Marving Duke while the Wings took the second, 5-3 scoring all their runs in a fifth inning gallurge.

Louis Sure He Will Drop Kingfish in Five Rounds

Chicago, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Their imaginations stirred by the prospect of a duplicate of the immortal Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney battles, rewards of 40,000 action hungry fans will see Max Schmeling Yank tonight to watch Joe Louis, Brown Bomber from Detroit, throw his devastating bombs at the Kingfish, King Levinsky of Chicago.

The pre-battle setup was almost a carbon copy of the Dempsey-Firpo battle of 12 years ago, with experts bodies exempt no heavyweight champ-pionship prize is at stake tonight. Louis, cool and deliberate, was the better strategist and boxer like the Manassa mauler of old but before him on had a man like Firpo, who didn't care what happened as a man who could smash his iron fists through a two inch board with a blow or two like it in return and then come back to give more.

Louis, winner of spectacular fistic knockouts in 13 out of 24 professional fights, ruled the favorite at varying odds from two to three to one.

Both principals, great oratorical contrasts, were sure of victory in tonight's battle billed for ten rounds. Louis, stolid and uncommunicative, said he would knock out Levinsky within five rounds, but Levinsky —

"This guy Louis has been meeting pushovers and bums," he declared. "And tonight, I'll prove it. He's never had a punch hit him like I've got. He's my cousin and they can hold the funeral anytime. I'll hand him forever. So will you me now."

There wasn't much of an advantage in the physical makeup, however, Louis, who tips the scales at 197 to 198 for Levinsky although the negro had the advantage of reach by 2 1-2 inches and was 21 years old, three younger than the King-fish.

SINISTER SHADOW

by JOHN GOODWIN

CHAPTER ELEVEN

A train was roaring into the cut, the engine's head-lights sweeping along at full speed—a flash, or lightning in the hills, and she saw, a hundred yards or more to her right and on the farther side, a momentary picture that froze her. The after-glare of the flash left the place like noon, for some fraction of a second, and showed a black figure—Brian's or incredibly like him—clinging something blacker still that hit the wire fence and bounced over horribly and fell—fell . . .

It was nightmarish and unreal . . . the one of those photographic horrors thrown suddenly on a cinema screen. The grip and struggle, the dark body falling; a plunging, ridiculous hop in the air, ground . . . then a black-out that left only a darkness that pressed on blinded eyeballs, and the roar of the train that smashed itself against the earth and vanished . . . Gloria gripped the wire and held on to save herself from falling. Her eyes were shut, she could see nothing; yet out there, where that had burned itself into her brain.

And then—such a weakness had never come over her in her life before—she felt her senses going, her consciousness slipping itself out just like the darkness after the lightning flash. By a supreme effort of will she contrived to overcome it; her mind dominated her body—told her she could not faint—felt it.

Because she hurried, and found the grass till she was opposite the spot where the dreadful thing had happened. Had it happened, or was it some illusion? Who had been with Bannister . . . Brain . . . ?

She could see nothing—hear nothing. Her mind told her to call out, but her voice failed her, and some instinct warned her not to raise it. For a few moments a blind impulse to run back to the inn—away from it all—felt after all that was unthinkable: she could not turn her back on a thing like this.

She had to go through with it, and would have to go through with it.

The disaster that she had sensed had happened—to Brian, Bannister she must get down there. There was no climbing down the side. She would have to get round to the end of the cut. Which way—left or right?

She turned to the left and ran. Presently she tripped and fell; she was bruised, the breath knocked out of her; it was some time before she could go on. After awhile she came to a deep hollow that led her through it and down to the rail-line once again. She found the spot—and stood to stare. Beyond there was a low hedge running through the dip—but they scorned—she would have to get across that. And as she did so, nightmare hands clutched her and held her tight.

It was nothing more than a line of barbed wire that . . . slimed itself through cloak and dress. For awhile it held her with certain malignancy—as if it had got free with her flight unaccounted for in the places. While struggling with the barbs something made her stop and stare across towards the mine shaft, just visible away on the far side of the line.

A little spurt of red flame shabbed like a match somewhere over yonder—hardly more than a spark; a brief pause and a second one—and her ears, like the breaking of a dry stick.

It did not seem to mean much at the time; a trifle, but somehow it added to the horror that obsessed her; she climbed out of the dip and began again, very tired now and going slowly, but taking what speed she could. The railroad now appeared to her to stretch for miles through it might have been any great distance, at the one reached the end of it where the fence on her own side dipped down, on to the flat, but as the fan-thirty podded again came puffing and lumbering on its night journey.

She had to wait for it so near everything under heaven seemed conspiring to bind her back. Just beyond the fence by the shaft was something lying on the far side of the line—a dead thing—like a sack or a large stone. Then it was shut out of sight by the goods train clanking and rattled past.

Gloria got to the outer side of the fence behind the thorn-bushes waited till the tail-flap had clanked out of sight. Then she climbed through and climbed the wire fence on to the line. She would need to make her way back along it to the mine—to the place where she had seen that flash-light vision. Dared she go?

She must go. As she turned her eye caught that vague dark object again on the line-side. It was only nothing that could matter, yet she moved forward.

Then her heart missed a beat, and she stopped dead. It was the body of a man.

She had to force herself to approach it. A dreadful fear seized her, turning her into stick and stone; she stopped quickly.

It was Brian.

He lay face down on the rough stone ballast under the steep bank; one arm was extended ahead of him, the other doubled under his face. She knelt beside him on the stones.

"Brian!" she gasped, "Brian . . ."

She sank down by him, forced her trembling arms to control themselves and with a strength that she did not know was in her, managed to turn him over—he was heavy as a log—and drew his head into her lap. His face was deadly white, his eyes closed. His head was wounded and wet. . . . There was blood on her hand. Her fingers passed gently through his hair, seeking the injury. It seemed to be nothing much; more than a cut or graze, he was quite insensible, breathing heavily and steadily. If there were no worse damage than that, she thought, his life was not in danger . . . not yet. But how could she tell? She looked down into the white face.

"Brian! Brian—speak to me!"

What was she to do? Leave him lying there—get back to the inn for help? Somehow—she could not have told why—she was utterly loth to quit him. She held him close, and feeling for her handkerchief contrived to reach into the ditch where there was a trickle of running water, and pressed the wet over his forehead, pressing it gently to his temples.

How come he to be here? It was far below the place where she had first seen him—or thought she saw him. But she was unable to think clearly about that—she was in no condition for thought at all. Sonia stared along the straight track. There was a louder clap of thunder, and a reflected flash that lit the cutting showed her something that moved. A dark figure, clambering down a gully that clove the cliff away yonder in the direction of the mine—it might have been two hundred yards distant. Then it was blotted out.

Sonia's heart leaped. A few moments later she saw it again a dim hilly figure, moving her way, silent as a ghost, till she heard a faint rattle of stones stirred by a pacing foot and knew the thing was no illusion. Here was aid at hand.

A cry for help was at her lips; she checked it before it was uttered, and with a swift instinct of caution shut her head light. It was as if a hand had been clapped over her mouth, holding her be silent. There was tragedy abroad, tragedy and an mysterious creeping under cover of the darkness. Dread filled every fibre of her . . . dread of something worse than any that had befallen yet; fear for Brian . . . and fear for herself. What had she come to deserve this?

As she held him close, something hard and sharp pressed against her knee. A flash, blade—it was his clasp-knife. Then, with a quick thrill of surprise she realized it was the hold of a revolver.

Somehow, she had never imagined Brian carrying a gun. Sonia's fingers suddenly closed tight around the thing, and she pulled it out. It was a heavy Service pistol.

Normally she would no more have handled the thing than an open razor. She knew no more of guns than the average woman does, but instantly she realized that she was no longer defenceless. She held a life in the crook of her finger. She had no thought of taking life . . . but the instinct of protection flamed up in her as she glanced at Brian's white unconscious face. Sonia drew back the hammer, and heard it click into place.

She thrust the thing out of sight beneath her clothes—pushed it into the butt, and waited motionless, holding her breath to hear.

The tall figure was very near.

Sonia waited, holding her breath. She saw the shadow-shape pass, still some sixty yards away. The man seemed to be looking ahead. He had not seen her. She prayed that the gathering night not glimmer again and reveal her.

The dim form turned, and moved to the right, across the line-side, and back again. He seemed to be searching—looking for something. Her eyes caught the sparkle of a small electric torch that shot a wavering spot-light here and there over the permanent way. Then it was extinguished; then it shot off again hurriedly. The figure appeared to stoop down.

Then she saw him rise . . . the man was retreating . . . receding away from her, fading out of sight, first in gloom, rapidly and silently. She breathed—but could not be sure for the clouds were now black overhead and the first gust from the storm swept through the cutting—that he turned in once more through the gap in the bank, from which he had first appeared. One certainty remained—he was gone.

A quivering breath of relief escaped her. She eased down the hammer of the pistol cautiously and slipped it back into Brian's pocket. Had she made a complete fool of herself? Impossible to go back again. He seemed to be searching—looking for something he caught the sparkle of a small electric torch that shot a wavering spot-light here and there over the permanent way. Then it was extinguished; then it shot off again hurriedly. The figure appeared to stoop down.

Then she saw him rise . . . the man was retreating . . . receding away from her, fading out of sight, first in gloom, rapidly and silently. She breathed—but could not be sure for the clouds were now black overhead and the first gust from the storm swept through the cutting—that he turned in once more through the gap in the bank, from which he had first appeared. One certainty remained—he was gone.

A quivering breath of relief escaped her. She eased down the "Good Lord!" he said blankly, "Sonia . . . I'd give my eyes if you'd kept out of it. What on earth made you come . . . here, we've got to get away!"

He struggled to a sitting position.

"Don't move . . . you're hurt. And go keep quiet! If that man comes back. Back, who was he!"

She heard him catch his breath.

"Man? What do you mean! Who did you see?"

She told him, without raising her voice above a whisper.

"Who was it! Barber . . . ?"

"I don't know —couldn't see."

His hand tightened on her arm.

"Do you mean he came along the line!"

"From the gap just up yonder, I think . . . where the mine chimney is. He went back there—anyway he's gone, Brian, for mercy's sake, let's get away!"

He pulled himself together with an effort, and got up.

"Sonia, you're the pluck of ten. Now listen. You're perfectly safe here . . . I've got to leave you for a minute. I want to try here and see . . . don't move till I come for you. Sonia, I must go. Stay here and sit tight."

She tried to hold him back; he was gone before she could stop him.

How long she was alone Sonia did not know. It could have been but a very short time. She only knew that she could stand it no longer. He had no right to leave her like this; she didn't care what happened so long as she was with him. With an effort she got up and followed dimly along the line.

She had not gone twenty yards before Brian loomed up before her suddenly, on his way back. For a moment she hardly recognized him in the gloom so tense and rigid was his face, so hard his eyes. He thrust

"I'll get you out of this!" he said, "no—not that way . . . across the line. Come on!"

He led her across the metals; she stumbled and would have fallen had he not supported her. They reached the fence not far from the spot where she herself had got on to the line. He swung himself across, and turning, put his hands under her arms and swung her over the fence as lightly as if she had been a child. Marvellously considering she found that sheer physical strength of his. He had taken charge, forcibly—almost brutally. He hurried her away up the slope, his arm round her; she stumbled again, dazed with fatigue.

"Brian . . . I can't go on. Stop, for mercy's sake."

"That's all right. I'll carry you."

TWEED CHOIR HONORS MEMBER

Miss Marie Meiklejohn is Recipient of Beautiful Gift of Linen

Tweed, Aug. 7—On Thursday evening the members of the choir of Tweed United Church have gathered in the lecture room on the eve of an event which is possibly the most important happening in the life of any individual, and no doubt the most important in your life, your coming marriage.

It has been said that coming events cast their shadows before. If this be true, and there is abundant evidence to prove that it is, your married life promises to be filled with great joy. This may be safely predicted from the number of enjoyable functions, similar to the present one, which have been held in your honor both in Belleville and in Tweed.

These occasions have not just happened. They possess a real significance. They show the very real affection which your many friends have for you—an affection which may be traced directly to your own admirable qualities which call us forth. For this reason we say that your future life cannot fail to be filled with great happiness.

We desire to mark this occasion by presenting to you our sincere good wishes and through the medium of this gift to felicitate you on your approaching marriage.

Signed on behalf of the choir—Mrs. H. Orser, President.

Aug. 1st, 1935.

Miss Orland Richardson organist of the choir, then presented Miss Meiklejohn with a beautifully embroidered linen table cloth and serviettes. Miss Meiklejohn thanked the choir for the fine gift, which she said she did not merit in any degree.

At the conclusion of the banquet, the guests assembled inside the auditorium where a delightful musical programme was given. Mr. W. H. Hewson, president of the Music Committee of the church acted as chairman and called upon all in his usual happy manner. He referred to Miss Meiklejohn's faithfulness as a member of the choir while living in Tweed, and expressed the wish that happiness would came from her return. The following items were given:

Chairman's address: Mr. S. Corson.

Chorus: solo: "Because", W. E. Dark.

Solo: "O Promise Me", Mrs. F. E. Houston.

JUDGED TO HAVE "MOST PERFECT FORM"

Miss Muriel von Cloodcadt, who gives under the professional name of Jer: Marie, is giving the cameraman an opportunity to photograph what a committee of Hollywood judges call "the perfect female form". Miss Goodcadt, who hails from Salt Lake City, is only 19 years of age and has won many oohlents for her good looks.

day next week. His illness will undoubtedly be somewhat of a handicap in the impending Federal election campaign. His political opponents will no doubt refuse to take the advantage of the situation.

Miss Marie Meiklejohn was the guest of honor at a delightful function held on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Marion Ferguson when about forty ladies were present to present her with a shower of linen, silver, cutlery and kitchenettes. The affair was arranged by Miss Noreen and Mrs. C. R. Ferguson. The evening was devoted to the making of casters for Miss Meiklejohn's miscellaneous shower. "A Musical Romance" was held, the jars were neatly wrapped and while tissue paper each bearing an amusing label or rhyme which were read aloud by Miss Meiklejohn to the manifest enjoyment of every one.

A signal and well deserved honor has come to Mr. G. Bury Fessenden, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. John Mills of Tweed and director of music in Hamilton schools, when announcement of his appointment as supervisor of music for the elementary and secondary schools of the province of Ontario was made by Hon. L. J. Simpson, Minister of Education, Province will make a survey of the extent to which musical instruction is at present given in the schools and will continue so that the Department of Education may plan such enlargement of the course as it may be desirable. Mr. Fessenden is associated with Acadia University and the Pennsylvania Summer School of Music. He was musical director of Hamilton schools for last year's festival. In a short time ago he was appointed conductor of the renowned Elgin choir of Hamilton.

An enjoyable time was spent at the Stirling annual men's bowling tournament by a number of members of the local club, who were not a bit discouraged by their failure to win a prize. Those attending were: Messrs. A. W. McGuire, A. Beach, F. Mitchell, G. H. Kerr, W. A. Beatty, D. Corcoran, W. E. Beckman and Dr. F. T. Bowby.

Death came suddenly on Wednesday 31st to Cecilia Dewey Steenburg at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Black of Campbellford. For some time the deceased, a former resident of Tweed, had been suffering from a stroke, but had apparently made a good recovery when a second stroke brought about her sudden passing. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chapelle Dewey who lived in Madoc township. She was married to Charles Steenburg who passed away some years ago. For many years she resided in Tweed where she was beloved of all who were privileged to know her. Surviving are two daughters: Mrs. Chas. Price, Newcastle and Mrs. James Black, Campbellford, one son Fred of Saskatoon, one brother Hiram Dewey of Prince Albert and a sister, Mrs. Thos. Sampson of Chapelle.

The deceased was a faithful member of the Methodist (United) Church of Campbellford where reverent services were held on Saturday morning, Aug. 2nd. The cortege then proceeded to Tweed where interment was made in St. Carthage's cemetery.

Following an illness of about three weeks duration, Thomas Calvin Rollins, father of Dr. A. B. Rollins, B.A., a member of Tweed high school staff passed away at the family hospital on July 19th. The deceased who was in his seventy-fifth year was born in Hungerford, where he was a leading farmer all his life. Surviving are his widow and seven children. The deceased was a member of the Methodist church of Veronville. Interment was made in Grafton, Tuesday, July 30th. Dennis LeGrow passed away at Belleville, Mon., at the age of sixty-two. The late Mr. LeGrow was born in Hungerford township, a son of the late Mitchell LeSegg, and had many friends in Tweed and Hungerford township. When a young man he left his home for the western states where he was engaged in express and freight business for a time. Falls, Minn. Surviving are three brothers, Mitchel, Tweed, Peter, Otter Creek, John, Bay City, one one sister, Mrs. John Cassidy, Tweed. Interment was made in Minneapolis.

Rev. W. E. Wright of Hamilton, former rector of St. James' Anglican Church, Tweed, was a visitor in Tweed on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hindle and children Margaret and Jim of Belleville, were in town on Wednesday.

Mr. Hindle's friends are delighted to know that he is in much better health following a serious illness.

Miss Beverly Wheeler and two brothers Harold and Allan, of Montreal, were in Tweed for a short time last week renewing acquaintances.

Mr Murvil Dennison of New York, is in town last week. Mr. and Mrs. Dennison spent the week end at Bon Echo. The former holds a position of responsibility in the National Broadcasting Company in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Drinkwater, Mr. and Mrs. R. Connor and children were visitors at O.C.I.T. camp at Moira Lake on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

A severe electrical storm accompanied by a terrific downpour of rain and hail visited a section of country north of Tweed on Friday about 12.30 p.m. From Actinolite and Sulphide came reports of hailstones of enormous size levelling fields of corn and other crops and literally threshing the grain in the fields. In some places considerable damage was done to the roads which were washed out by the torrent of rain. No rain or hail fell in Tweed which was fortunately just outside the southern edge of the storm.

Mr. R. McDonald and daughter Miss Alice, of Edmonton, Alberta, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. Orser and other friends in Tweed. For some time Mr. McDonald lived in Actinolite, his birthplace. It is a few years since they were last left this community.

There is every possibility that Dr. Allan Roy DaCoe O.B.E. of Calhander, will pay a visit to Tweed on the occasion of the Roman Catholic Church social which will be held this week. Dr. DaCoe is an esteemed friend of the Very Rev. John J. F. O'Gorman who recently visited him and obtained this promise if his duties made it possible.

During the evening the bride and groom were presented with 4 miscellaneous shower and wedding gifts in a very beautiful gifts. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and games. Refreshments were served by the ladies. Friends were present from Stirling, Thomasburg and Madoc Village.

MRS. THOMAS DYON PASSES AT PICTON

Picton—The death occurred at her home Ena Street on Friday August 2nd of Minnie Crouter, beloved wife of Thomas Dyon in her sixty-seventh year. Death was due to pneumonia, following a stroke suffered some weeks ago.

The late Mrs. Dyon was born in P. E. County, a daughter of James Crouter and his wife Agnes Babcock. She had spent practically her whole life in Picton. Surviving are her husband, and one daughter, Mrs. Harry Shannon, of the staff of the Bell Telephone Co. in Picton. The deceased Mrs. Dyon was a member of the United Church. The funeral service was held at her late residence on Sunday afternoon August 5th, and was conducted by her pastor Rev. David Wren, with interment being made in Glenwood Cemetery.

Friends are congratulating Mr. G. F. Hicks who was elected President of the Ontario Motor League Boys Association at their annual meeting held in Toronto this week.

Messrs. Dan and Joe Tierney and sister Miss Jennie Tierney of Syracuse, N. Y., arrived this week for a vacation at their summer home on Union St.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Turner, and their guest Miss Clifford Turner of Toronto motored to Gananoque early in the week to visit relatives.

Mrs. I. Miller and Miss Vera Miller returned on Wednesday from a pleasant visit with Mrs. and Mrs. Harold Miller, Peterboro.

Miss Betty Hall is the guest of her aunt Mrs. Joseph Cenier at Point Traverse.

Regimental Quarter Master Sergeant Bailey, surveyor with eight local men went into camp on Friday to prepare for the two hundred officers and men of the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment, who will arrive for camp here on Saturday August 3rd. Col. E. A. Adams will be in charge of the camp at the Fair Grounds.

Mrs. Henry Bongard of Waupoos was the guest on Friday of Mrs. James Mercer.

Mrs. Douglas Wark with her brother Mr. Hamilton motored to Bulbrook, Ont., where they were guests of their sister Mrs. C. H. Pearce and Mr. Pearce.

Mrs. Gordon Walmsley and Mrs. C. S. Black were joint hostesses at a linen shower given at Mrs. Walmsley's home, Main St., East, Thursday afternoon, honouring Mrs. Bernard Kingsley, (nee Miss Hilda Holden) a recent bride.

The house throughout was lovely with a profusion of flowers in a colour scheme of pink and white. Five tables were in play with the various gifts, at Mrs. Lyle Wood and Miss Marjorie Walmsley and Kingsley was presented with a gift, from which she expressed her appreciation.

At the time the tea table with its lace cloth and centred with a silver basket of pink and white blooms was presided over by Mrs. Gordon Nichol and Mrs. Lindley Calnan, both of whom presided at the hostesses in serving. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Karl Trebilcock of Belleville, Mrs. Joseph Bolton, Mrs. E. A. VanDe Water and Mrs. A. Gordon Nichol of Montreal, Mrs. Hulme Duffill of Bones, Okla., Mrs. Monte Shannon of Toronto and Mrs. Lindley Calnan of Windsor.

Great unanimity was caused at the Outlet and in Picton on Friday night, when Helen Duetta, four-teen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Duetta, who are camping at the Outlet, was missing from camp. She was last seen at five in the afternoon and when she could not be located by every one searching her parents grew frightened, and rushed into the night to search. The alarm spread to Picton, and by eleven that night a large number from town were out to help in the search. The woods nearby were combed, and a search light turned on the creek at the mouth where many boats were on the lookout for any trace of the child. The tension increased until at 3 a.m. word was received that Helen was safe at her grandmother's home in Bloomfield. She had apparently, impulsively decided on this visit without telling her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hicks have proved very very popular — so much so that within some fraternals, apparently, could not restrain them. An elderly resident of Cherry Valley, on going to take possession of her cottage, found the lock had been tampered with. Inside were the muddy tracks of a man's boots on the floors and on the white counterpane on the bed. The couple occupied another cottage for the week-end, apparently they were strangers, who had rented it. Interviewed later the owner had known nothing of the situation.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food just decays. It just decays in the bowels. One doctor says that constipation is responsible for 95% of all sickness. If you could get your bile flowing freely, you would know what the world looks good.

Laxatives are not what you need. They are only a temporary relief. What you need is a liver movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old, time-tested Carter's Little Liver Pills to get them two pounds of bile flowing into your bowels daily. Then you "feel like a million dollars." Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse substitutes. 25c at all druggists.

'Dictatorship' in Canada Denunciated by King At Kingston Convention

Opening Address in The Campaign Attracts 5,000

PRISON REFORM

Promises Immediate Enquiry if Elected as Premier

Kingston, Ont., Aug. —(CP)—The Liberal Party was pledged today to end "dictatorship" in Canada, restore parliamentary government and safeguard civil liberties, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, sounded the rallying call for the party, when he opened his election campaign here last night.

Sandwiched in a general denunciating of the Bennett Government as a dictatorship fashioned along the lines of Hitlerism in Germany and Fascism in Italy, was Mr. King's definite promise to investigate penitentiary administration. A royal commission would be launched as one of the first actions of the Government, the Liberal leader said.

In a many-sided indictment against the Bennett Government, Mr. King charged liberties in Canada were becoming endangered by cheque relief legislation, tariffs pegged under the Empire trade agreements, militiary and police forces increased, voting or unlimited powers in the cabinet and certain clauses of the Marketing Act were used by him as steps taken by Mr. Bennett in the direction of dictatorship.

TRY SCHULTZ ON CRIMINAL CHARGE

Evasion of State Income Tax is Information

New York, Aug. 8 (AP)—Arthur "Dutch Schultz" Flegenheimer will be tried on a criminal charge for evasion of State income taxes, New York Tax Department officials decided today.

It was decided to drop civil proceedings.

The view is that this Dutch Schultz is New York's public enemy No. 1, and that he has long owed to State officials from the government of considerable information about Schultz's beer syndicate profits.

Schultz, acquitted by a Federal jury in Malone last week of income tax evasion, is an honored guest on the Ashlon-Stillerville highway yesterday. She died in Canada several hours after the mishap.

After the wedding ceremony the official party of the bride, Miss Dulcy White, bridesmaid, and Lieutenant Hall, best man, and others were returning to the wedding reception. A rear tire of the car blew out and threw the car off the road. After turning over several times, the car landed in a ditch and threw the four occupants on the pavement.

Miss Whyte was seriously injured although her condition is not regarded as critical. Lieutenant Hall was said to have broken a shoulder, while Wilbert Healey escaped with minor bruises.

SAVINGS OF $104 TAKEN IN POUCH AS MAN SLEEPS

Peter Domanski, at The Trenton Relief Camp is Loser

SLEPT ON TROUSERS

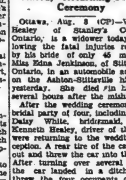
Provincial Police Carrying on Intensive Search at Camp

Four years hard earned savings, the result of continuous saving by Peter Domanski, Polish employee at the Government Relief Project No. 2, Trenton, vanished into thin air while he owner slumbered in his bunk last night. The exact amount of the money to disappear was reported to Provincial Police to be $104.



Domanski toted daily at the Trenton Airport for the past two years, where the enumeration set by the government is reputed to be worth a dollar a day and his board and clothes. Domanski carefully saved his earnings, each pay day converting the smaller denominations bills and coppers into larger ones and depositing them into a pouch, which he carefully secluded on his person. Each night Domanski removed his trousers, carefully placed the money pouch in his trousers pocket and then placed his trousers underneath his pillow. Last night stealthy fingers removed the money pouch from underneath Domanski's head, as he peacefully slept.

Provincial Constable John Kelly was detailed to investigate the matter, when the robbery was reported today. Close scrutiny and full search by the police failed to disclose the whereabouts of the missing money or the money pouch. P.C. Kelly carefully searched and questioned over the tent to money was gone bunk mates occupied by Domanski, but with little avail. Continued investigations are being carried out by the authorities to-day, however appearing the police and party. Domanski assured the police he did not feel the money pouch could be removed from his person as he slumbered and today is mystified as to how it could have gone. He says to remove the money pouch from his trousers pocket, as he used the trousers for a pillow.

Two Drowned And One Reported Missing in Flood Carnage

Coshocton, O. Aug. 8.—(AP)—Flood waters of the rampaging Tuscarawas and Wallending Rivers which has caused damage estimated at $1,000,000 moved together at their confluence here and swept southward into the overflowing Muskingum towrad Zanesville where the crest of the devastating sweep of water was expected at noon.

The high water mark here had taken a toll of two lives. A third person was missing.

Heavy rains continued last night increasing the flood torrent that sped toward Zanesville, McConnellsville and Marietta. Zanesville officials ordered residents of two sections of the city to vacate their homes.

The damage caused by the most severe Ohio flood since 1913 when 713 persons lost their lives was $180,000,000 in property damage resulted, was estimated at over $250,000 in Tuscarawas County, $200,000 in Coshocton County, approximately $150,000 at Massillon and $40,000 at Millersburg and Killbuck.

SAILORS REJECT PROPOSAL MADE

Premier Laval Insists Men Accept Ten Percent Cut

PARIS, Aug. 8.—(AP)—After a previous announcement the French Line strike had been settled, the Liberty striking crews at Le Havre tonight rejected the settlement offered by the Ministry of Merchant Marine.

The sailors' refusal was announced when a delegation representing Premier Laval insisted they accept the 10 per cent. pay cuts, which caused them to strike yesterday.

A delegation representing the strikers which conferred here with William Bertrand, Minister of Merchant Marine, said it intended to win the men to a settlement upon its return to Le Havre tonight.

Bertrand promised to listen to all their grievances except that against wage reduction.

The demonstrations against parcuts broke out today in the Cherbourg naval arsenal where the workmen angrily laid down their tools and started marching through the shipyards shouting the Communist hymn "Internationale". Troops were held in readiness.

SPEAKING TOUR IS ARRANGED

Liberal Leader Leaves For The West on August 19th

Ottawa, Aug. 8 (CP)—Scheduled to return this afternoon to his country home at Kingsmere on the Gatineau Hills, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King plans to remain there until Monday when he leaves on his Western Ontario tour. He will speak in Woodstock in the afternoon, August 13; Wingham at night, August 14, and at Springbank Park, near London, in the afternoon, August 15. He will then return to Kingsmere and complete plans call for his departure for Western Canada, August 19.

Masonic Lodges In Germany to Close Saturday

By MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER

(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Berlin, Aug. 8 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, announced today all Free Mason lodges throughout the Reich would cease to exist Saturday.

The newspaper asserted on that day the State Lodge of Saxony, the Dresden Great Lodge and the "German Brethren Chain" of Leipzig would be dissolved.

After dissolution of the old Prussian Free Mason Lodge, July 18, and the gradual disappearance of smaller lodges in a year-long campaign, the Free Masons in Germany—first so-called "State enemies"—would thus be wiped out completely.

Hitler's organ, asserting the dissolution of Free Masonry was a Jewish world republic, said the forthcoming dissolution would "finish a special chapter in world history and the guardian of the Nazi ideal will be alert."

OUTSIDE HELP IS NOT NEEDED SAYS ITALIAN SPEAKER

Will Start Manoeuvres in Northern Italy Shortly

PLANS SECRET

Reported Ethiopian Mission Would Visit Japanese Capital

By A. E. STUNTZE

Associated Press Foreign Staff

Rome, Aug. 8—(AP)—With secret military manoeuvres involving perhaps 500,000 men scheduled shortly for Northern Italy, an Italian government spokesman said today Italy needs no outside help, "financial or otherwise", in her struggle with Ethiopia.

He made his statement in denying reports Italy has been seeking money from London or Paris.

The spokesman said as far as the foreign office knew reports of a protest filed by the British Government with Ambassador Grandi in London over alleged attacks on Great Britain were equally unfounded.

He said there was little chance in the general Italo-Ethiopian situation over the week-end conferences among Italy, France, and Great Britain would result about the middle of August in Paris.

War Time Secrecy

Virtual war-time secrecy surrounded the work for the manoeuvres, which Premier Benito Mussolini has put it became known all told, some 400,000 men would be involved.

The latest reports indicated neither Italy nor Ethiopia (Abyssinia) are would be permitted to view the Manoeuvres.

Premier Benito Mussolini as War Minister was believed to have no country house at Kingsmere in the Gatineau Hills, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King plans to remain there until Monday when he leaves on his Western Ontario tour. He will speak in Woodstock in the afternoon, August 13; Wingham at night, August 14, and at Springbank Park, near London, in the afternoon, August 15. He will then return to Kingsmere and complete plans call for his departure for Western Canada, August 19.

Strange Prank of Sea Carries Boat to Safety Through Channel

Halifax, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Sixteen-year-old Bruce Latimer thanked his lucky stars today a sleeping whim of the sea had brought his yacht Abegweit carrying his mother and three children safe to shore after a battle with angry waves he will not soon forget.

The youthful navigator, on a week-end cruise to Cow Bay, put out to return to Halifax in his 28-foot craft just as a snorting northeaster sprang up. The sea was short and choppy, the tiller was broken and the cockpit filled with water.

World's Pro Swimmer, Nelson, Wonders, Told Quints Can Swim

Callander, Ont., Aug. 8 (CP)—To the complete surprise of the world's champion quintuplets, Marvin Nelson of Fort Dodge, Ia., Dr. A. R. Dafoe announced today, the quints can swim.

"Little Marie can swim. They do it every day in the pool at the Dafoe hospital bathtubs.

Marvin, three-times winner of the Canadian National Exhibition distance swims at Toronto, visited the quints and Dr. Dafoe today, smilingly offering his services as swimming instructor to the babies.

"They can swim," smiled back the doctor.

"What they can?" Nelson was incredulous.

"Sure they can—all except Marie and she isn't quite strong enough."

Dr. Dafoe said the babies have outgrown the tubs were used in front of their baths and now use the "man-sized" tub almost half full of water.

"The four of them have no floating trouble," he said, "and if they are dunked they don't mind it at all. They are born swimmers. All the nurses in the house in bold hand under their chins and the babies will swim around the tub."

Dr. Dafoe anticipated the day when his charges will be able to add swimming to their occasional appearances a day at the festival.

Nelson promised he would return in two or three years "to put the finishing touches" to the quints' swimming education.

FLOAT NEW LOAN

London, Aug. 8.—(CP. Cable)—A new loan of £1,750,000, approximately $8,350,000, has been floated here today for Trinidad British West Indies. It will be issued in three per cent bonds at par, redeemable in 30 and 35 years.

Court Accedes To Man's Request

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 8.—(CP)—Charles Cahill with 42 previous convictions and Charles Listed with 22 convictions, appeared for sentence before Magistrate Burtidge today. The pair had been convicted of breaking into the city asphalt plant Aug. 2.

"One way and another you two must have cost the city and the taxpayers many hundreds of dollars by trying you and housing you in jail," His Worship said in imposing two years in prison upon each man.

"Make it Kingston will you?" pleaded Cahill.

"That's what it's got to be," the court responded.

TOURIST INJURED IN CRASH NEAR TWEED

Fred Meyer, Schenectady, N.Y., was seriously injured and removed to the Belleville General Hospital, when his automobile nose-dived into the ditch on the No. 7 Highway, one mile east of Actinolite early on Monday. The car skidded into the gravel when Meyer attempted to pass a team and truck driven by Simeon Langevin, of Tweed. It travelled 150 feet on the side of the road, finally landing in the ditch. Meyer is said to be suffering from serious internal injuries. Joseph Cairns, also of Schenectady, who was assisted him, suffered from superficial wounds. The car was badly wrecked while the truck was only slightly damaged.

CORBY'S PARK IS RESTFUL SPOT

An oasis for tired and heat weary residents of the city, Corby's Park this summer has become one of the prettiest and most restful spots in the city following considerable work performed there this season by Board of Park Management. New flower beds, cosy-cut grass, grass and the refreshing sparkle of water from the large fountain all combine to soothe the nerves of local citizens who congregate nightly for a cooling rest.

CHEESEMEN LIKELY TO MEET IN CITY

Whether Belleville or some other nearby municipality will be renewed with the annual convention of the Central Cheese Board Publicity Association this season has not yet been decided, it was stated today by one official of the organization. Last year Picton was the scene of the convention, but it is believed that Belleville will be first choice this year.

GARDEN PRODUCE IN GREAT DEMAND

Garden produce fresh from the vines was laid out in colorful array at one of the largest midweek offerings on the local market today. There was little contrast in prices, however, with the usual assortment and roots selling at about the same price asked on Saturday. Home grown tomatoes, cherries fresh from the trees and huckleberries were in the afternoon it had competed about five hours' pumping and an Victoria Park and moved off laden with officials and firemen. It arrived at No. 1 Fire Hall just in time to receive a summons to a fire at No. 1 Emily street, where a short-circuited electric meter gave forth clouds of smoke. Only a few citizens were aware of the arrival of the machine before it dived through the streets to the fire alarm.

Firemen extinguished the potential blaze without the aid of the husky new pumper.

MESS DINNER FOR A. L. I. OFFICERS

Fifteen officers of the local Argyll Light Infantry were entertained at a mess dinner given by officers of the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment at Picton on Thursday evening, where the county regiment is now in summer camp. On Wednesday general inspection of the Regiment was carried out by Col. Conley, of Military District No. 2.

COLLEGIATE READY FOR FALL OPENING

With the re-roofing of the local Collegiate Institute, the repainting of several rooms in other buildings, and minor interior improvements and repairs on local schools have now been completed it was stated by Mr. Chas. Hyde, chairman of the Sites, Buildings and Repairs Committee of the Board of Education. No other work will be undertaken until after the first meeting of the Board.

START CLEANING BRICK ON HALL

Patches of brickwork are emerging in their natural red color in the city hall tower this week as workmen commence the task of restoring hall a number of cracked and weather marks from the roughened surface of the building. Wire brushes are being used in the cleaning by the men working from the wooden platform which is built up the surface of the tower. Following the cleaning of the brickwork and the reconstruction of the exterior of the building the whole surface will be weather-proofed.

AWARDS FOR FIELD CROPS ARE MADE

At the field crop competition held by the Ameliasburg Agricultural Society on August 1 the following were awarded prizes in order named:

1. Jno. A. Walker, Belleville R.R. 1.
2. E. A. Ackerman, Belleville R.R. 1.
3. J. A. Weese, Belleville R.R. 1.
4. A. E. Nuchinglis, Belleville R.R. 1.
5. Jas. B. Walbridge, Belleville R.R. 6.
6. Gerald Redner, Ameliasburg.
7. Stanley Bartley, Belleville R.R. 1.

Judging was conducted by Mr. Percy Hubbard, of Belleville.

ARMY, CUT WORMS QUITE PLENTIFUL

Army and cut worms were never so plentiful in this district as they are this season, Joseph Farmers of the section. This is borne out by personal observation of standing crops made this week through the Hastings and adjoining counties by Mr. Wm. Michael, Dominion fruit inspector of the local office. But in spite of the bugs a good crop in nearly all lines will be harvested it was stated.

"Barley should be good this year, although oats have grown too fast and have run to stalk. I've noticed quite a bit of rust on the oats, too", stated Mr. Michael.

Rain is badly needed in this immediate district, it was pointed out.

ALGAE IN WATER NOTICED AT PLANT

First disturbing signs of screen and filter blocking algae are observed this week at the local filtration plant, it was reported by officials of the waterworks department to-day.

Just one year ago filter beds and pumps at the plant were working overtime, while officials from Toronto attempted through various methods to rid the water of minute particles of weedy growth, which entered the intake and filtering from the bay, resulting in low pressures in the mains and consulting night and day back washing of the filter beds. So far this year the department has escaped that trouble due to higher water level in the bay and the comparative absence of the algae growth, but the season is a little too early yet to tell definitely if the same trouble will be encountered this season, it was stated. With the arrival of the fire-pumper, however it was stated, that the greatest menace, that of low water in the water mains, would be removed.

MODEL YACHT RACES ATTRACT ATTENTION

A new sport has seized the fancy of local boat-minded youth. Popularity of model yacht sailing has grown so rapidly during the past month or so that young and old are now bowling over in mad racing and sailing fair sized model boats. Many of the small craft attain considerable speed in their impromptu races evenings and afternoons on the upper harbor.

ANGLER'S CLUB IS FORMED AT TWEED

Assisted by Joseph Short, president of the Belleville Anglers' Club, and Joseph Wigmore, fish and game inspector, both of this city, members of the Tweed Fish and Game Association completed organization of that association in Tweed on Wednesday evening. Officers of the new organization are: President, W. A. Paul; vice-president, W. H. Crosbie; secretary, I. D. Corcoran; membership committee, W. A. Beatty and Alfred Davis.

One of the aims of the organization is the restocking of Stoco Lake and streams and brooks in the surrounding district.

"SECONDS" MEET TO MAKE PLANS

A special meeting of the "Iron" 2nd Canadian Infantry Battalion Association, Belleville, was held in Toronto last evening at the Armouries for the purpose of discussing and completing plans for the annual reunion of the Battalion, which will be held in this city on Saturday evening, August 31st.

POLICE BLOTTER

Following complaints received from a Wilis street resident yesterday, local police investigated a report relative to dogs molesting cows in the vicinity of the Cosmona at the lower end of Platte Ave. The authorities found, that citizens were encouraging dogs to chase the cows, that are pasturing at that point. The matter was quickly settled when warnings were obtained by the police and a warning issued in regards to dogs disturbing cattle in public places.

Five transients and one lone lodger occupied the cell block, at the police station last night, all being liberated early today, the drunk being instructed to return in time for police court proceedings tomorrow. No special traffic court was held in Belleville today.

Residents on Gilford Ave. need no longer worry about baby sleep, because of hitch hikers making a disturbance in that sector. For the past three nights local police have been dispersing the usual congregation of young men, who gathered at the top of West Bridge Street hill in pursuit of a chance ride westward, with the result that five young youths were summoned into court to face charges under the Highway Traffic Act, all soliciting rides. This practice of standing on local street corners and hailing passing motorists has become a public nuisance in Belleville and must stop", stated Acting Chief of Police Herman today as he intimated that more drastic measures were in the offing for such offenders who disturb citizens during their sleep at night.

No serious motor accidents were reported in the immediate vicinity of Belleville during the past 24 hours.

MANY SINGLE MEN PLACED ON FARMS

Nearly 90 Per Cent of Those Unemployed Now Working

Single men have deserted the city streets and usual haunts during the past few weeks in search of employment, it is declared place have appeared only the unskilled labor and those who are chronically unemployed.

"Eighty-five per cent of the men who have been placed in positions during the past two months have been single men," stated Mr. Ross, local superintendent of the local Employment Service of Canada office this morning. "I might go further and say, that single men made the best workers of the men who have found jobs."

Today a group of twenty farmers, who have hired men from the local office during the past week or so are being called by Mr. Ross by telephone to enquire the possibility of finding more men for local applicants among their friends. This is being done because there are many more jobs being found.

It was reported today that only an odd man at infrequent intervals has applied for a berth at the Relief Project at the Trenton Air Camp.

INTERESTING PROGRAM AT THOMASBURG W. A.

Thomasburg—The August meeting of Christ Church Women's Auxiliary was held on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Howard Carter on Friday afternoon last with nearly thirty persons in attendance.

The President, Mrs. Charles Jeffery was in charge and opened the meeting by singing a missionary hymn followed by the Lord's Prayer and Members Prayer in unison. The scripture lesson, Romans was Psalm 24.

Following the business part of the meeting a very interesting programme was given consisting of a reading by Mrs. Ernest Gardner "A Daughter of Tyre." Miss D. Porter gave a recitation "Gossip Town" Mrs. Albert Porter gave a splendid reading "Mrs. Brownlee Joins the Missionary Society". A duet was given by Miss Geddes and Mrs. Stevens, and Mrs. Wesley Morton read an impressive paper "A stirring appeal to the careless" by Bishop Vaughan of Mt. Carmel.

The meeting was brought to a close by giving "O God, to the world that is higher than I" and the Benediction. A delicious "ten cent tea" was then served.

Miss Audie Morton of Toronto was a week-end guest at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Morton and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morton had as their several calls on former friends and relatives in the community.

A number from here attended the annual reunion of the Baleman family at Camlifton on Wednesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Melburne Adams left last week for a few weeks' camping at Cobourg and Sundridge and other places in Northern Ontario.

Miss Rosie Calberry entertained nine of her school mates on Tuesday afternoon, the early part of the afternoon was spent in playing games, after which a delicious lunch was then served. Rosie received many useful presents.

Threshing has commenced in this vicinity. Mr. William Vance and Mr. H. Emerson are both busy with their threshing machines.

Sorry to report Mr. George Walker is confined to his bed under the care of Dr. R. P. Ketcheson.

Many from here attended the threshing annual meeting held at Morton family at Oak Lake on Wednesday.

Mrs. Irene Hall of Latta spent last week the guest of her sister Mrs. Ernest Morton.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Adams and baby and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reid and Carmon, Mr. and Mrs. George Thrasher, Miss May Lee, Mr. Ivan Wilson, Miss M. Hicks and Mr. Wesley Prindle spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Melburne Adams who are camping at Cobourg beach.

Miss Mary Robinson of Detroit is holidaying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Robinson.

Little Miss Barbara Rutherford of Cortwall is holidaying with her cousin Miss Eva Green.

Miss Helen Rowe of Belleville spent last week with her uncles, Messrs Gordon and Fred Maynes.

Mr. Lorne Carleton has been under the care of Dr. H. R. Welch with an infected hand, but is much improved.

Mr. Howard Kerrulah of Kingston was a week end guest at Mr. Wm. Mallory's.

Miss Ruth Coulson is holidaying with relatives at Sulphide.

Miss Leona Morton of Moira was a guest for a few days last week at the home of her brother Henry and Mrs. Morton.

Mrs. W. S. Embury spent a day with friends in Tweed recently.

Rev. H. B. and Mrs Herrington and Miss Lucille returned on Friday from their vacation at Denbigh

Mrs. Alfred Rutherford and Barbara of Cornwall spent a day last week with Mrs. Albert Green and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Green.

Mrs. Clarence Carleton spent Thursday with Mrs. J. R. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bateman and family and Mrs Wm. Bateman of Lodgewood on Sunday evening with Mrs. Murney Geen and family.

Miss Shirley Gilbert of Detroit was a holiday guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thompson.

Mr. Archie Reid has opened a new service station in the village. His many friends wish him every success.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kellar and baby June of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Emerson and Lois were guests on Sunday last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Potter.

Mrs. James Way has returned home after spending a short time with her daughter and family in Belleville.

Sorry to report Mrs. R. T. Porter is confined to her bed.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie Geen was the scene of a jolly party on Monday afternoon, August 5th when Mrs. Geen entertained in honour of Eva's twelfth birthday about twenty five friends and school children. During the afternoon games and races were enjoyed. A delicious supper was served and Eva received many lovely presents.

Four little girls from Toronto are spending a part of their summer vacation here, namely Audrey Fyn at Mr. Leslie Lucas; Dorothy Jones at Mr. Harold Morton's; Marion Fyn at Mr. J. Chappell's and Eleanor Fyn at Rev. H. B. Herrington's. The last two enjoyed a holiday at these homes last summer.

Mrs. (Dr.) Cheeney of Alexandria is visiting her mother Mrs. R. T. Porter and other relatives here.

AUGUST MEETING TWEED COUNCIL

Discuss Inauguration of System of Collecting Garbage

Tweed—The August meeting of the Tweed Village Council was held on Friday evening in the Council Chambers with Reeve W. H. Sayers and Councillors Myles and Hayes present. The meeting was advanced to Friday from Monday which was observed as Civic Holiday. The minutes of the last regular meeting June 28th and the emergent meeting of July 12th were read and confirmed.

Dr. W. R. Mather M. O. H. interviewed the council with a view to inaugurating a system of garbage collection in the village. The matter will be looked into by the Council at a subsequent meeting.

C. E. Way, on behalf of the citizens of South Victoria, addressed the Council regarding the excessive speed at which cars travel down the hill at South Victoria street and asked the Council to take whatever steps were in their power to eliminate this practice as the citizens are in constant fear of children being struck by these cars. The Council will look into the matter.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

Judge Derocha, Court of Revision $10.00

Geo. Clark, Direct Relief Acct's $1.00.

A. Baker 2.40, F. B. Foster 72.80, Tracy Quinn 40.52, A. J. Mayne 22.95, Dominion Steam Ltd. 31.00, Acc't. 1.50, Ledage Motor Sales Acc't. 2.30, Lennox Electric Shed Rental 10.00, John Burleigh, Street Acc't. 86. W. H. Richardson, Monthly salary 25.00, Tweed News, printing 9.33, J. C. Hayes, Delany Bay Expenses 81.54, Eagle Tankwater Direct Relief Acc't. 2.40, C. A. Quinn, Charity Acc't. 5.00, Wm. Morton, Salary 50.00, Ontario Hospital, Woodstock 43.50, E. H. Burton, Insurance prem. 26.35, W/S Sayers, telephone 4.80, W. B. Hoyle, salary acc't. 10.00, C. E. Way, fire protection 121.00, Paul Rashotte W. W. Const. Acc't. 57.60.

A circular letter was received from the Unemployment Relief Branch instructing the Council to strike from the Direct Relief List the names of all single men between the ages of 18 and 60. All there have been no single men on the Direct Relief Village list and this did not affect any local residents.

The resignation of A. C. Hayes presented his report to the Council. During the month 36 complaints had been received and investigated, 6 loiterers had been picked up on the street before midnight and lodged in jail until morning, 49 warnings had been given to various persons — 31 to motorists for speeding through the village at speeds between 30 and 38 miles per hour, 5 warnings for driving without lights, 4 warnings for driving without markers, 3 warnings for no lights, 4 warnings for summary offences. Prosecutions numbered three.

The clerk received from the Department of Highways its approval of the plans for which designated as through streets—

(a) that part of Jamieson, going west of Victoria street and being the west intersection of Metcalfe and Jamieson.

(b) that part of Colborne street, lying south of Spring street and being at the intersection of Jamieson and Colborne streets.

Motorists are now required by law to bring motor vehicles to a full stop before entering or crossing any of these streets.

The condition of the hall storm on Sunday afternoon indicate that the roof is in poor condition at the son. Windows were broken in a number of farm houses and the Victoria Chemes factory at Lodgeroom where hailstones as large as golf balls fell. One Tweed motorist motoring near Madoc during the storm reported that thirteen holes had been made in his car top and a windshield broken by the hail Corn, potatoes and other crops suffered greatly, as well as the bread-leaved trees which in some cases were almost denuded of their leaves.

FINE SILVERWARE

Old Dutch Cleanser, through its advertising campaign now running in leading daily newspapers and magazines throughout Canada, is offering Canadian homes for every wife, prospective bride or young man boy to build up a complete set of Wm. A. Rogers guaranteed 26-piece Plu Silverware at a trifling cost.

The "Croydon" pattern is the very last word in smartness and beauty of design, and the four units which go to make it are: 1 teaspoon; 1 dinner knife and fork; 3 oval soup spoons and 3 dessert forks; any of which can be obtained in return for 8 small panels from Old Dutch labels and 5c.

When the regular value of the units is compared with the price at which they can be obtained through the Old Dutch special offer, it can easily be seen what a splendid bargain the makers of Old Dutch are offering the thrifty housewife.

Mr. Tra Simmons of Foxboro spent a couple of days this week at the home of his son Wallace.

Mrs. (Rev.) A. M. Wootton (nee Grace Simmons) of Tyrone, on her first day holidaying at her summer home at Bapiste caught the largest bass that has been caught in that lake this summer so far as known, weighing 4 3-4 lbs. Grace was pretty proud of her catch. Her father, Mr. W. Simmons received the glad news a few days later.

Mr. Seldon Hannans has boys of Montreal and Toronto spending their summer holidays at his home here.

Mr. McDonald and daughter of Alberta who have been visiting friends in this vicinity have returned home by motor.

Mr. John Homans visited friends and sisters on Sunday and Wednesday of this week.

The apple crop has been reported to be below the average of other years, but the grain crop is very heavy in harvest as the straw is so long, some oats measuring over 6 ft. in length.

BRIDE AND GROOM ARE HONORED

On Thursday evening, Aug. 1st, a large number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. J. H. Riggs and presented the newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hay with many beautiful and useful gifts.

Rev. H. Lackey acted as chairman, while Miss Irene Tucker and Margaret Danford and Mr. Reta Carman performed the program which was on the lawn.

Visitors Delighted With Motor Tour

Carmel—The hum of the threshing machine is heard again in this district, threating peas for the canning factory.

Mr. Andrew Cartier and son Jack of Chatham, Ont., and his son Malcolm, of Detroit are holidaying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Simmons.

Mr. Simmons and his visitors motored to Niagara on Saturday, returning home by way of Prince Kingston, etc. They all report a very pleasant day spent viewing the sights of Ottawa and visiting the parliament buildings, but the Detroit visitor said that no city which he passed through from Detroit to Ottawa suited him as well as the city of Belleville.

Mr. Harry Hawkins and family visited at Mr. Levi Latlone's on Monday evening.

Several visitors at Mr. Wallace Simmons' were Mr. Jos. Brunson, Quinte, Mr. Edgar Maynes and family of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Jas Brownson of this place.

Silver Dive Brown is holidaying with friends at Frankford.

Mr. Bert Brunson of Stirling who has been visiting relatives in this community has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Johns of Belleville took tea at Mr. Wallace Simmons' Monday.

Mr. Jack Latlone of Belleville is spending the week with his brother, Mr. Levi Latlone.

Mr. Ed Clark of Foxboro is helping his brother Ben take in his harvest.

Miss Edna McMaster read an interesting address in the form of a poem.

The address was signed on behalf of many friends and neighbors by Ethel Hagerman; Lela Johnson; Edna McMaster.

Both Bernice and Philip thanked their friends and invited all to visit them in their home. All joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows." Lunch was then served and a social time spent, after which all left for home, wishing for the bride and groom many years of happiness.

Always plenty of fun on early Autumn months, but this year there'll be more than ever. A new coat of black broadcloth has a double collar with wide revers that extend to the oversleeves that start at the shoulder and terminate in wide cuffs at wrists, just permitting the black fabric to be seen. Seaming gives a long, fitted waistline.

Turn to the East and you'll see that we are using Oriental fashions in everything. Now it's shoes, especially those made for lounging wear. A lovely slipper is in gold cretonne and both feathers into an ancient design from Northern India.

Keep shiny and look at early Fall promotions and you'll discover that the black suede T-strap shoe is here again. A new model has a strap that extends from the front of the shoe, becomes narrow at the cross-strap. The shoe has jagged stitches appliqued of black patent at every edge.

WINDOWS SHOULD OPEN

Science is supposed to have made immense strides, but apparently it has not yet perfected a brain which can be operated without straining, sweating, pounding, banging or swearing. When a train window opens without calling on the passenger's powers in any of these directions, it is the cause for delighted surprise; the passenger feels something like a man who has drawn a winning number in a lottery.

When the train has gone through the tunnel and emerges into the daylight, the attack on the windows begins. The heaving and thumping and pounding resound merrily through the cars. Here and there windows actually fly open, accompanied by expressions of self-satisfaction and triumph. Elsewhere the pounding dies down or becomes intermittent; passengers collapse, sweating, angry and humiliated. A man otherwise regarded as a gentleman pretends to read his paper while a lady struggles with her window on the seat in front of him. He would like gallantly to offer his aid, but he fears that he too may fail and will only be exposed as a miserable weakling.

Perhaps the only thoroughgoing reform would be the entire abolition of all excuse for the form of standard type and the construction of new air-conditioned cars. Meanwhile a few palliative measures are possible. Windows might be added to go through each train every few days with automobile jacks and axes to loosen the recalcitrant windows. Once opened, the rule might be made that they be removed, and perhaps a drop of oil put here and there. But this is a problem for engineers. The human mind which gave us the airplane, telephone and radio can find an opener will not confess itself baffled before the problem of the openable train window.—New York Times.

GREENWICH'S MERIDIAN

Timothy Healy once said in the House of Commons, in reply to Lord Hugh Cecil that "no one, not even the noble Lord, would die for the Meridian of Greenwich." Then said Gilbert Chesterton, in commenting upon Mr. Healy's sentence, which "summed up nationality to perfection," is because it does not "cohere in the same manner as did 'Athens or Sparta, says the New York Times. This is urged as a tribute to the "purely psychological character" of the meridian from which longitude takes off and to which it returns, and from which time itself is measured for many peoples.

It is, however, seriously proposed that the Royal Observatory, which may be said to stand astride the invisible line, and which has recorded the birth of earlier kings and queens in the palace near by, may be discontinued. The Astronomer Royal has noted objections to the present site in his report for last year:

The pollution of the air due to the surrounding industrial works and factories by the precipitation of sulphur-dioxide, soot and hard grit is very detrimental to mirrors and other delicate parts of astronomical instruments; the condensation of moisture from hot gases ejected from nearby chimneys; the use of mercury vapor lamps for street lighting lately introduced in the neighborhood is objectionable because the ultra-violet light they discharge affects photographic plates exposed at low altitudes.

But this does not mean that the Meridian of Greenwich will be changed, or that it will cease to be the basis of the computation of terrestrial time and distance. East will still be east of Greenwich and west will still be west of Greenwich, and east and west will continue to meet at Greenwich, even if the Royal Observatory must seek another home because of encroaching industry—which it has no doubt helped to foster on sea and land. Perhaps no one would be quite ready to die for the Meridian of Greenwich, but it has made the globe "cohere" for so many millions of us that it would be a different world for us with any other. Asking why it does so cohere is, as Chesterton says, "like asking why a man "falls in love with one woman and not "another." It is to be hoped that the Board of Longitude will find a way to keep the Royal Observatory where it is, with eyes undimmed beneath the "Greenwich stars."

The weary sun hath made a golden set; and by the light track of his fiery car, gives token of a goodly day tomorrow.—Shakespeare.

As a giant strong, a bridegroom gay, the sun comes through the gates of day, and hurls his beams o'er the proud hills—a stream of glory and a flood of day.—Broome.

Kings will be tyrants from policy, when subjects are rebels from principle.—Burke.

A King ruleth as he ought; a tyrant as he lists; a king to the profit of all, a tyrant only to please a few.—Aristotle.

IF DREAMS CAME TRUE

I wish I had a cottage that very lonely stood,
Like a sleepy rabbit, in a drowsy wood;
I wish I had a cottage with windows open wide,
And snowy cloths and shining cups, and tiles of red inside.

I wish I had a cottage with a thatch of trees,
And lilacs and laburnams to scent the morning breeze;
I wish I had a cottage with thatch of brown and gold,
And a tiny painted porch that was very, very old.

I wish I had a cottage—and bowls of daffodils,
And I'd have a shady hat, and a flowery frock with frills!
I wish I had a cottage with curtains cream and blue,
Oh! I'd have a lilac apron,—if only dreams came true!

—Emily Sandeman.

TWO GIRLS DRESSED IN SHORTS visited Belleville market on a recent Saturday. They attracted considerable attention but the comment was distinctly unfavorable. "Might be all right for a summer resort," said one woman, while a man from the rural section commented "all right for the middle of the woods". All of which goes to show that when the city gals give their annual "coming down" in the good old summer time, down to bare essentials, they must expect a dressing down from folks who think the procession is moving a mile too fast for them to keep step with.

RUBBER CHECKS HAVE BEEN PASSING AROUND PROMISCUOUSLY LIKE, recently, and it were better to miss a sale than to miss a bunch of money. However, all strangers and strange checks are not bad. Police, Constable Bill Evans proved it. Two strangers in hard luck struck town. Registered at police station for a sleep, then asked P. C. Evans, who was on duty, for the loan of a dollar, offering two suspicious looking checks for security. The cop asked what they were going to do with the dollar if they got it, and they replied that it was to purchase materials for some work they contemplated doing. P. C. Evans has a large heart and a heap of optimism so he let the strangers have the dollar. The next day they returned, paid the dollar, and stated they had earned seventeen dollars on the capital advanced. They are bricklayers with the chimneys and anything in their line. Instead of waiting for work to come to them they decided that there was work waiting for them and started out to round it up with the result that the first day showed a profit of sixteen dollars, and they have been busy ever since, according to the optimistic constable, who does not agree with the man who stated that all men were liars and rogues.

DO YOU KNOW that you are liable to a fine if you sit in a theatre or other place of entertainment and can not produce your half of the amusement tax coupon as prescribed by the Ontario government. That is the law and if an inspector happens to ask you to show a tax coupon better have it or you may be fined. Most people throw these tax coupons down immediately after passing the entrance of the place of amusement. Don't do that, the tax inspector will catch you if you don't watch out.

VACATION SEASON is rapidly drawing to a close. Soon the children will be going back to school, and the lazy days of the good old summer time will be succeeded by fresh energy applied to business pursuits. Just now is ideal vacation time. The fish are biting eagerly and the mosquitoes and other insect pests are not ambitious. Nights are cool for sleeping and the ozone is just one big revitalizing drink of health and vigor. If you haven't had your vacation yet take it now—and boy, if you are at a loose end or undecided, begin it with a trip down the grand old St. Lawrence river, starting with the Bay of Quinte, and taking in the Thousand Islands. That would give you pep and ambition for the rest of your vacation wherever you may decide to spend it. But remember it is the part of patriotism and sound economics to SEE CANADA FIRST.

FERRIS FIRED SHOT COURT INFORMED

Florence Jackson, Says He Was Standing Over Victim

Detroit, Aug. 8 (AP)—Florence Jackson, one of the women defendants at the trial with William Lee Ferris in the slaying of Howard Carter Dickinson, New York attorney, admitted under cross examination, that she saw Ferris stand over Dickinson's body and fire a shot.

The contradicted testimony the 34-year-old former burlesque dancer gave in direct examination Tuesday she heard a shot, while she was behind the death car but did not see Dickinson shot.

Before court opened Florence Jackson's attorney announced under cross examination my client will testify that Ferris stepped from the car and shot Dickinson in cold blood and that he did so without provocation.

If the prosecutor did not bring out this statement Miss Jackson's attorney said he would do it himself on re-direct examination.

There have been indications throughout the trial the Attorneys for the four defendants planned a policy of "everyone for himself."

The other women defendants in the murder trial are Loretta Jackson and Jean Miller. Dickinson was shot to death in Rouge Park the night of June 24, 1933.

The prosecutor and defence Attorneys engaged in verbal exchanges which drew applause from spectators in the crowded courtroom, and the court admonished them to "desist from such tactics."

BONDS UNLISTED AMONG ASSETS

Government Claims Bonds Valued at $95,000 Not Given

London, Aug. 8 (CP)—Unlisted among the assets of the estate of William Melville Spencer, $95,000 worth of Ontario Loan and Debenture Company non-registered cumulative debentures have been turned up by the Ontario Government in its investigation of records of the seven liquidated estates.

The Government claims the debentures were purchased by W. M. Spencer a few years before his death and were not recorded for succession duty purposes.

F.E.A. McKellar, accountant for the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company, yesterday produced records showing dates on which W. M. Spencer had purchased the debentures, which ultimately totalled almost $100,000.

SERIOUSLY HURT AS TEAM BOLTS

B. Phillips, Bethel, Injured When Thrown From Wagon

ROSLIN — Rev. F. C. Beazer and Mrs. Beazer are spending their vacation in Montreal.

Miss L. Hudson of Toronto, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Beazer, accompanied them.

Master Bob Holland of Belleville is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson.

Rev. H. R. Herrington and Mrs. Herrington have returned home after several weeks' vacation and Rev. Herrington conducted service in the United Church on Sunday evening.

The August meeting of the Women's Auxiliary was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Bills.

A serious accident occurred near Chisholm's Mills, on Wednesday last when a team driven by Mr. B. Phillips of Bethel ran away. Mr. Phillips was thrown from the wagon, and received severe injuries to his back. The injured man was rushed to Belleville Hospital in the ambulance where slight hope is held for his recovery.

will never be proclaimed a dunce! And this is true, even on the whole in speaking about buying coal. You read of quality and price, and simply say, "That's very nice!" . . But all the same you do not buy until you finish your sought. Then coal is scarce, and prices soar, then, looking windows, you're also sore!

RELIEF BILL IN PROVINCE MOUNTS

Over 12 Million Spent in Four Months of Fiscal Year

Toronto, Aug. 8 (CP)—Pendering over a relief bill of $13,236,653 for the first four months of the present fiscal year today, Premier Hepburn saw added reason for his recent action in striking from relief rolls all physically-fit single unemployed in Ontario.

From today, Mr. Hepburn announced last night, all single men physically able to work will be sent north to work on the roads. At the present time it is known henceforth all men applying for relief will be medically examined and granted aid only, when found unfit for manual labor.

The first batch of 276 single jobless shipped northwards from Toronto last yesterday to work on sections three and four of the trans-Canada Highway between Schreiber and White River. At they left reports came in 650 men from all districts of the Province had been found work on farms. Premier Hepburn explained this figure was exclusive of men placed by agricultural representatives, whose reports were not yet received.

To Farm All Summer

Mr. Hepburn stated his plan to send men to the north and refuse relief to the physically fit would remain in force at least until the end of the summer.

"At least," he hesitated. "Toronto's problem is settled. The City is cleaned up, Mayor Simpson need not worry any more or shed any more crocodile tears."

Class A men—those able to do heavy work—are a different little worry. The men in Classes B. and C. however, is admitted, "are a problem." Those in Class B. are those suffering slight disability. Skills that are listed as being totally unfit for heavy work. Efforts to place those in the former class would be made, he added. As for those unfit for work he expressed the hope that they would to relief through emergency relief channels.

Weddings

MORTON — MEIKLEJOHN

In a beautiful garden setting at the home of the bride, the marriage took place yesterday afternoon, (August 7th) at three o'clock, of Vera Marie, daughter of Mr. George A. Meiklejohn and the late Mrs. Meiklejohn of Tweed, and Mr. Orrett D. C. Morton, Tweed, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Morton. Rev. R. J. Craig officiated.

Lovely summer blossoms in pastel colorings marked off an aisle in the centre of the lawn and the ceremony was performed under a natural arch of evergreen. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charmingly attired in navy blue and white with matching accessories. There were no attendants.

Wedding music was played by Miss Lois Richardson and during the signing of the register, Miss Lillian Hall of Madoc, sang very effectively "The Crown."

At the reception following the ceremony, Miss Cooey Meiklejohn, sister of the bride, received with the bride and groom. Buffet luncheon was served on the lawn. Tea was poured by Mrs. Roy Meiklejohn, New York City, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Lorne Hall of Toronto, sister of the groom. cut the cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton left on a wedding trip, a cruise through the Great Lakes. The bride won for her travelling a smart dress of navy moire with navy blue fur fell hat and accessories. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. will take up residence at Tweed.

Guests were present from New York, Detroit, Madoc, Campbellford, Belleville, Warkworth and Windsor.

MACKENZIE—ROCKWELL

On Wednesday, August 7th, the marriage was solemnized of Her. O. T. McKenzie of Bath, and Miss Annie Rockwell, of Napanee, at the home of Rev. E. Farnsworth, Belleville, the officiating minister. The bride is a very popular and charming young ladies. Rev. Mr. McKenzie who has served several years served in Yarker circuit and is now stationed at Bath, is widely and favourably known.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS

by

McElberan & Watkin

The winners in Friday night's Jitney were W. Bates, F. Purdin, A. Williamson and H. Middleton.

A game of Irish Triples was played on Saturday afternoon between Geo. Watkin and H. Holland, skip, Twenty-four ends were played and the score 20 to 13 in favor of the Holland rink. These games are very popular in Toronto, and I would advise our club to organize them here.

We had with us on Wednesday Mrs. Perry from Toronto. Mrs. Perry is a sister of Mrs. Tanner, a member of the ladies' club.

Our civic holiday game was all that could be desired the weather was perfect and everyone enjoyed themselves. Miss Hurley, President of the ladies' club, prepared the lunch after the second game and everyone came off for same giving a good appetite and did justice to the good things prepared for them. Miss Hurley was presented with a piece of silver for her services. After tea a 18-end game brought a real enjoyable day to a close. The rinks were—1st Jitney, Williamson, A. Williamson, George McGee and Bob Wray, skip. 2nd prize—A. Wesley, Mrs. Tanner, Mrs. Holgate, and W. Belair, skip.

Mr. Lent a visitor from Toronto and brother-in-law of Mrs. K. Lewis visited us on Wednesday and enjoyed a good game.

Get yourself paired up for our Labour Day doubles. Several teams have already entered. Give your names in to the President as soon as possible and get some practice in.

Our prizes for Labour Day are valued at over one hundred dollars, including four pairs of composition bowles and four leather cases, beside other valuable prizes.

There will be a competition for married couples to start on Aug. 12th. Your entry must be in on Saturday of this week so that the draw can be made. These games will be 15-end and no entry fee is charged. The prizes will be presented on Labour Day, Monday 2235J to the President right away.

In a game of doubles Wednesday afternoon A. Wolmsett beat Geo. Watkin 38-36 the teams being, Wilbur and A. Wannacott; T. Halliday and Geo. Watkin.

Before going to press twelve teams have entered the married couples tournament. Have you entered?

The winners in last night's tournament were—3 games high—Mrs. Neal, W. Harder, Mrs. Thompson, F. Harper, skip; 1 game high—Mrs. McElheran, R. Stewart, Rev. Wight, Jas. Symons, skip.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

After having wondered at the sky we slid and ran gally down the pass to dry sand in a calm mild air. Yet the pleasure was not vivid, as we had hoped. The pains of the blood fraying its passages and mixing about our frozen limbs and faces were much faster than the pain of its stirring out, and we were miserable that our feet had been torn and bruised nearly to pulp among the stones. We had not felt them tender while in the ice mud; but this warm, salty sand scoured the cuts. In desperation we climbed up our sea camels, and rode them woodenly towards Guweira. However, the change had made them happier, and they brought us home there suddenly, but with success.

Thirty thousand pounds in gold came up from Akaba for me, and my cream camel, Wahhab, was the best of my remaining stud. She was Aleiba-bred and had won many more for her old owners; also, she was in splendid condition, fat but not too fat, her pads hardened by much practice over the northern flints, and her coat thick and matted. She was not big, and looked heavy, but was docile and smooth to ride, turning her left or right if the saddle's horn were tapped on the required side. So I rode her without a stick, carefully ready for a look when the march permitted.

As my proper men were at Tafileh or Azrak, or out on mission, I asked Feisal for Nasir and Gasim lowers. He lent me his two Aleiba horsemen, Serj and Rameid, and to help carry my gold added to the party Sheikh Mofleg, whose wrath we had discovered when our armoured cars explored the plains between Mudowarra Jig Tebah.

Mofleg had gone as sponsor, pointing out the country from a perch high on the piled treasure of a box-Ford. They were dashing in and out of sand-hills at speed, the Fords swaying like launches in a swell. At one bad bend they all decided half-round on two wheels crashily. Mofleg was tossed out on his head. Marshall stopped the car and ran back comitire, with ready excuses for the driving, but the Sheikh, ruefully rubbing his head, said gently, "Don't be angry with me. I have not learnt to ride these things."

The gold was in thousand-pound bags. A few two bags each to fourteen of Mofleg's twenty-men, and took the last with myself, which weighed twenty-two pounds, and in the awful road-conditions that was weight enough for a camel, and swung fairly on either side in the saddle-bags. We started at noon, hoping to make a good first stage before getting into the trouble of the hills, but unfortunately it turned wet after half an hour, and a heavy rain soaked us through and through, and made our camels' hair curl like a wet dog's.

Mofleg at that precise stage saw a tent, Sheriff Fahad's, in the corner of a sandstone pale. Despite my urging, he voted to spend the night there, to see what it looked like on the hills tomorrow. I knew this would be a bad sign, and the rain days in indecision, so I said farewell to him and rode on with my two men, and with Mofleg's hound Howeital, who had joined our caravan.

The argument had delayed us and consequently we only reached the foot of the pass at dark. By the sad, soft rain we were made rather sorry for Mofleg, but decided to envy Motleg his hospitality with Fahad when suddenly a red spark to our left drew us down to find Saleh the Sheifa camped there in a tent and three caves, with a hundred of his freed-men fighters from Yenbo.

He welcomed me in spite of my drenched condition, to his own carpet in his tent and gave me a new garment of his mother's sewing while waiting for the hot stew of meat and rice. Then we lay down and slept a full night of great satisfaction, hearing the pelter of the rain on the double canvas of his Mecean tent.

In the morning we were off at dawn, munching a handful of dakeik bread. As we set foot on the ascent, Serj looked up and said, "The mountain wears his skull-cap." There was a white dome of snow on every crest; and the storm crashed quickly and enticed up the pass to feel this new wonder with their hands. The camels, too, were ignorant and stretched their slow necks down to sniff its whiteness twice or thrice in tired inquiry; but then drew their heads away and looked forward without life interest, once more.

Our inactivity lasted only another moment; for, as we put our heads over the last ridge, a wind from the northeast took us in the teeth a cold so acrid and fierce biting that we gasped for breath and turned hurriedly back into the shelter. It seemed as if it would be fatal to face it; but that we knew we must try; so we pulled ourselves together and rode hard through its first extreme in the half-shelter of the valley. Serj and Rameid, terrified by these new pains in their lungs, thought they were sinning; and to spare them the mental struggle of guessing a friendly cause, I led our little party aside Mauluf's hill, so that we saw nothing of the weather-beaten devil.

These men of Maulud's had been camped in this place for days now and feet above the sea for two months without rain. They had to live in shallow dug-outs on the hill-side. They had no fuel except sea grass, wormwood, and camel which they were just able to bake their scones on. For breakfast one day, They had no clothes but khaki drill uniform of the British summer short. They slept in their rain-sodden verminous pits on empty or half-empty flour-sacks, six or eight of them together in a knotted bunch, that enough of the worn blankets might be pooled for warmth.

Rather more than half of them died or were injured by the cold and wet; yet the others maintained their spirits, exchanging abuse daily with the Turkish outposts, and delighted only by the indifferent weather from crushing counter-attack. We owed much to them, and more to Maulud, whose pose made stiffened them in their duty. We, for one day, had a bit of hardship. Just on the ridge about Abu el Lissan the ground was rounded with rises and only the smart of the wind in our eyes distinguished it from our troubles began. The camels came to a standstill in the slush as the bottom of twenty-five feet bank of slippery mud and lowed at it helplessly, as if to say that they could not go up that. We jumped off to help them, and slid back ourselves just as badly. At last we took off our new, cherished boots, donned the armour as against the winter, and hauled the camels up the glacis-like face, at the top of many down.

That was the end of our comfort, and we must have been off twenty times since sunset. Some of the discounts were involuntary, when our camels side-slipped under us, and came down with the jingle of coin ringing through the hollow of their cask-like bodies. Then we had to grope and pray to find our saddle-pin. Consequently, when thrown from the saddle, we pitched into a crash slithy on the ground, still clutching in the cross-legged attitude of riding.

However, there was no rain and no wind fell like a darkness, so we held on steadily to the north, and covered almost one-third of the rivulet of Basta. This meant that we were travelling more than half-way to food for the last time. To-morrow we and our camels would have all we could find to do, and to lead the way on foot, through the mud, to the next water.

Over the high ground, beyond, the wind buffeted us like an enemy; but about nine o'clock, the others flung themselves crying down on the ground and refused to go further. I too, was very near crying; sunstruck, indeed, only by my armament with their open lamentations; and therefore relentlessly glad at heart to yield to their example. We built up the nine camels in a circle, and lay between them in fair comfort, listening to the driving wrack flashing about us as loud as the surges by night round a ship at sea. The visible stars were inefficient, seeming to change groups and places waywardly between the clouds which flooded over our heads. We had each two army blankets, and a packet of cooked bread; so we were armed against evil and could sleep securely in the mid-rain.

At dawn we went forward refreshed; but the weather had rained soft, with a greyness through which loomed the sad wormwood-covered hills. Upon their slopes the limestone ribs of the very old earth shook wearily exposed. In their hollows our difficulties increased with the mud. The misty valleys were a wrought sea-foam of melting snow; and at last new thick showers of wet flakes began to fall. We reached the desolate ruins of Otroh in a midday twilight; a wind was blowing and dying intermittently, and slow-moving banks of cloud and drama closed us about.

I here right, to avoid the Sedullir between us and Shobek; but our Howeitat companions led us straight upon their camps. We had ridden six miles in seven hours, and they were exhausted. The two Aleiba boys, the only exhausted, but demoralised, and swore mutinously that nothing in the world should keep us from the tribal tents. We wrangled by the roadside under the soft drift.

For myself I felt quite fresh and hungry, despite the delay of needless tribal hospitality. Zeid's penniless state was excellent pretext for a trial of strength with the Ekimmie winter. Sobek was only ten miles further, and daylight had yet five hours to run. So I decided to go on alone. It would be quite fun with such weather neither Turk nor Arab was abroad, and the Howeitat would look after four thousand pounds from Serj and Rameid. Nasir could ride in the valley for cowards; which really they were not. Rameid was exhilarated by his health in great air, Serj's nervous pain marked each further side by side with comic accidents, which she seemed rather to enjoy.

By sunset the snow-fall ceased; we were coming down to the river of Shobek, and could see a brown brick straggling over the opposite hill towards the village. I tried a short cut, but the frozen crust of the mud banks deceived me, and I crashed through the ice-lee (which was sharp, like knives) and hopped myself so deeply that I feared I was going to pass the night there, half in and half out of the sludge, or wholly in, which would be a tidier death.

CHEQUE TENDERED FOR FIRE PUMPER

A cheque for $6,980.00 was tendered Mr. R. S. Bickle, president of the Bickle Fire Engine Company, Woodstock by city treasurer H. B. Stock at the city hall this morning as payment in full for the new city fire pumper following its acceptance yesterday by Major Geo. G. Tice, members of the city council and the local fire department after a full day of rigorous tests. The machine, it was pointed out, was the least expensive model manufactured by the company.

Acting on behalf of the city, Mr. N. G. McDonald of the firm of Gore Vasmith and Storrs tested the machine both on straight section from the harbor and hydrants. "We're perfectly satisfied," was the general statement of firemen, members of the council and Mayor Tice following the previous to payment.

Today four firemen of the department were being given instructions in driving and operation of the machine by one of the company engineers.

NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 8 (CP)—Industrial share prices were firm in strong at the close of the Toronto exchange today after a session of normal summer activity which bulked in the liquor, oil and metal shares and the banks, Bell Telephone and Bank of Canada, and Brewing Corporation.

The liquors turned strong in the final hour and closed with a gain of about 3-4 each for Distillers Seagrams at 23 2-8, and 1-3 for Hiram Walkers common and 27 1-4.

Bank of Canada stock was sold in considerable volume today at a loss of 3 1-3 to 86. The price for the year was 86 1-2. Other bank shares were steady, and a moderately firm price tone ruled over the board.

Minor gains were posted for the liquor shares as well as for Ford of Canada, Consolidated Smelters, Bell Telephone and the Quebec Power stocks. On losses were a little heavy with International Petroleum at 34, off 7-8.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, Aug. 8—(AP)—The stock market resumed its advance today under the leadership of motor, chandise, aviation, steel, aircraft and specialty issues.

Gainers of one to more than two points included Sears Roebuck; Montgomery Ward; U.S. and Bethlehem Steels Common and Preferred; Republic Steel Preferred; Union Pacific; Douglas Aircraft; Electric Auto-Lite; Case; Westinghouse and Johns-Manville.

A number of new highs for the year were recorded. The oils were hesitant and the majority of utilities and motors were only moderately improved. The curb was firm. Transfers approximated 1,-450,000 shares.

WALL STREET FINANCIAL

New York, Aug. 8 (AP)—Selective buying provided a needed prop for today's Stock Market and after an apathetic start firming tendency appeared throughout the list.

Slight increases were noted in such Canadian shares as International Nickel, Canadian Pacific and Canadian Pacific. Dome was up a fraction, while Hollinger and Consolidated Hiram Walker ruled steady. Montreal funds were unchanged at 90.25 3-4 cents.

Share gainers of fractions to around 2 points included Union Pacific, Johns-Manville, Douglas Aircraft, Bendix, Electric Auto-Lite, Murray, United Aircraft, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Macy, Alaska Pa. R., Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Case, American Sumatra Tobacco, Westinghouse, Consolidated Oil and Public Service of New Jersey. Moderate gains were recorded by Du Pont, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Socony-Vacuum.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 8 (CP)—Trading ruled in the gold share listings of the Toronto exchange today, featuring Teck Hughes, Wright Hargreaves, McWatters, God's Lake, Central Patricia, Pickle Crow and a few others. All were not on the active list at the close though the majority were, the general tone among the golds appearing strong. Base metals ruled quiet and steady and all were nearly firm on the close.

Gold stocks displayed buoyancy in the early part of today's mining market session but prices and volume eased off in the afternoon. McWatters, Pickle Crow and Percupine Actways surrendered morning gains. Pickle dropping back 10 cents from a top of 2.20. In the golds Wright Hargreaves, Dome, Hollinger and Teck Hughes all sold at higher prices.

Base metal issues were barely firm in slow trading and in the silver list Beaver Exploration rallied after moving up in the early session. Mining Corporation was showing a gain of 2 cents this afternoon and Castle was off 3 cents at 66. Eldorado held unchanged.

HOGS

Toronto, Aug. 8 (CP)—Two points registered changes in hog prices today out of eight markets. Kitchener hog prices advanced five while Barrie, the other point to change, dropped 10. Today's prices:

Barrie, $8.00; Brantford, $9.10; Chatham, $8.75; Hull, $9.25; Kitchener, $9.00; Peterborough, $8.00; London, $9.00; Stratford, $8.00.

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Briggs and Crawford by Financial Service

Distillers-Seagrams was a strong spot in industrial trading, rallying up to a new high. New York conditions and the buyer of the issue the demand being predicated not only on the excellent results expected in the fiscal year, but on the probability of a continuation of these high earnings and the inauguration or dividends before long. The company is solidly entrenched in the liquor market, and its products there are highly regarded by the trade. On an earnings basis, Distillers-Seagrams appears to offer interesting possibilities.

Persistent selling has been noted in Bell Telephone of late. There has been nothing in the news of late to account for the weakness in this issue. The company's earnings have been showing a steady improvement but this year, for the first time since 1934, Brazilian Traction's financial position is today better than in some years and any substantial rise in the exchange situation would make this company a most interesting speculation. Over the long pull Brazilian is not without attraction.

Buffalo Ankerite Gold Mines

The following discussion on Buffalo Ankerite, in reply to a query sent to Saturday Night, should be of interest:

Buffalo Ankerite Gold Mines was incorporated in 1933 with a capitalization of 1,000,000 shares by a Buffalo group which had purchased the property of the defunct Ankerite Gold Mines. Because the vendor to the present company in exchange received 500,000 shares. All latest reports 577,307 shares were outstanding. The company's property is situated in the Porcupine area. On the basis of 577,307 shares issued and the low grade nature of the ore purchased a profit from the present company of around $2,000,000 would be necessary before any dividends could be declared. Up to date 1,000 feet of drifting and crosscutting has been done on the property. Values are reported to be low grade. Development has been carried on by diamond drilling and underground work. ## Produce Market

Toronto, Aug. 8 (CP)—Ontario farmers can obtain a wider market for their barley in the brewing industry if they produce the right kind, according to information in a deputation from York County committee.

After completing with the Agriculture Department the Premier advised the deputation the proper type was O.A.C. 21. He said at present time Canadian brewers are using all the Ontario barley fit for the purpose. The deputation at the outlet asked the Premier to do all in his power to influence brewers to use more of the Ontario product.

The deputation was headed by Morgan Baker, M.L.A. North York and W. J. Oardhouse, M.L.A. West York.

CANNIFTON WINS FIRST PLAYOFF

Defeat Latta 12-to 11 With Five Hurlers Being Used

Coming from behind to score three runs in the last inning, the Canniffon "sluggers" drew first blood in the South Hastings Baseball League last night when they downed the Latta nine by the score of 13 to 11 on the home diamond.

A fine drive over second with two out by G. Wade scored two runs to give the Roosters their belated rally and victory. Five hurlers were used during the torrid contest, Canniffon pitching the three, while Latta used two moundsmen, Gerow eventually being credited with the victory. Webb's double ended a see-saw game which saw both teams take the lead with almost every inning.

Simpson started for the Canniffon second and was pitched for four successive hits in the fifth, and was demoted in favor of Bill Gerow finished the game for Canniffon. Callaghan started for Latta but was replaced by Tyrrel in the fifth, Webb and Means were the heavy hitting for Canniffon, while Gow led the Latta offensive. The second game is in Latta Friday night. The score:

Band Concerts Popular

Early in the day on Sunday, Aug. 4th. crowds of picnickers, bathers, and music lovers gathered on the shores of Oak Lake at the west-ern end, known as Crescent Beach, where was a record crowd in the afternoon when planned their outing to coincide with the band concert provided by the Belleville Salvation Army band. This programme was completed earlier in the week by the managers of Crescent Beach and those in charge of the band to make this fine entertainment available. The concert was scheduled to begin at 7.30 and at 7.30 every available spot close to the bandstand was occupied. Picnic tables along the waterfront were all laden heavily with bulging lunch baskets. The afternoon was vigorously happy, and then the sun disappeared behind a black cloud coming out of the western sky and pales of the happy throng was drowned out by occasional rumbles of thunder in the distance. One or two of the cars started for home when light drops of rain appeared on the surface of the lake but the greater part of the crowd had come for the day and remained. The band arrived and marshalled at the pier and as they began to play the rain increased with great proportion, and still the crowd remained standing out in the rain they listened with interest to the many fine numbers given by the band. Stirring marches, sacred numbers and rousing choruses all had their part in a musical program that brought rounds of applause from interested spectators. Later in the afternoon the storm passed over, and once again the crowd began to swell, and by the limited time set aside by the band for this fine concert passed quickly and they departed for Belleville to fill a later engagement. As the pus left, the only music to be heard was the ringing of the horsshoes as the picnickers took part in the horseshoe games, and the laughter of the children as they played about the beach. This concert was the first of its kind to be held at Crescent Beach and from the manner in which it was received by the audience makes it appear that such concerts will be a part of the regular resort in the days to come.

As the afternoon passed so also did the storm, and the warm sun beamed forth again and a large number came for the tea hour leaving later for Bird's Beach where another twilight band concert was in progress with the Stirling band under the leadership of Maurice Bell and strengthened considerably by the presence of Mr. Ted Potts of North Bay who is holidaying at his home here. Mr. Potts who formerly was the conductor of the Stirling band is well known throughout the district for his ability as a concert player. Never in the history of Oak Lake has there been such a crowd present for any occasion as the one present on Sunday evening. Every seat and bench about the park was occupied, boats filled with passengers lined the water front. Along the pier all seats were filled and standing room thought well of a restful evening beside the water where they could enjoy a novel music. The traffic problem became more puzzling than ever and with such an increase it will certainly be necessary to widen the roadway and improve the grade of the hill to insure safety in the future as a safety measure. This project, which is according to those in authority on the same sea level as the health giving lakes in the Muskoka area grows more and more popular each week. The cottages which dot the shores of the lake are continually occupied. As one family vacates camp and departs, there is another arrives to take their place. Very few sites for summer homes remain about the shores of the lake and the roads are like busy thoroughfares.

Rain and Hail Storm

While the rain was heavy at Oak Lake on Sunday and was accompanied by some hail, no damage was reported in the district. At Moira Lake, hailstones as big as hen's eggs fell and fishermen on the lake were threatened with injury from them. One of the boats was cut pushed at the side of the lake had its roof perforated with large holes caused by the hail. Several large holes were counted in the top of the car after the storm passed and of the usual umbrella carried in a rain storm, men dashed about with hats in hands over their heads to protect them from the hailstones, some of which were picked up later and placed on ice to keep them for cooling purpose to serve. In the majority of cases they ranged in size from a silver dollar to a good sized hen's egg.

Union Services

During the holiday season and vacation period, the congregations of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and St. Paul's United Church will hold union services with the ministers of each church each conducting two services. For the first two Sundays in August the services will be in St. Paul's United Church, with Rev. R. W. Trent of St. Andrew's Church assisting and the services of the last two Sundays of August will be connected in St. Andrew's Church when Rev. R. W. Rochester of St. Paul's Church will minister to the members and friends of both congregations.

The first of these services was on Sunday morning when the large gathering representing both congregations assembled in St. Paul's United Church for a most impressive service. Mr. G. L. Stirling organist of St. Paul's presided at the organ and Mr. Stanley Wilbur of Belleville was guest soloist for the day. Mr. Wilbur who some years ago was a member of the church choir is a talented soloist and his visit was a very welcome one. Mrs. J. A. Kofford delivered a very thoughtful message on the old testament as compared with the new, their associations and need of each other in unfolding the purpose of Jesus Christ complete.

This sermon was one which provided a great deal of thought on the part of everyone present, especially in these days when one would like to skip parts of the Bible, or at least condense some of the passages therein.

It was a message of power and thought and greatly appreciated by all those in attendance.

SACRED CONCERT BY S. A. BAND PLEASES STIRLING

Large Crowd Attended Enjoyable Program by Belleville Group

Stirling, Aug. 8—On Wednesday afternoon and Thursday a mixed tennis players from the Madoc club visited the courts of the Stirling club and engaged in a friendly tournament with some of the local stars. The weather was ideal for the occasion and the activities of the afternoon were heartily enjoyed by all the players who took part. The Stirling players made a far superior showing at that which they made when they appeared against the visiting Tweed players last week when the contests were very much in favor of the visitors.

The results of the various games were as follows: Men's singles, D. MacLean vs. K. West, Stirling 6-4, 7-5; A. Meikiejohn vs. A. Ross, Stirling 6-4, 6-2; W. Lovelond vs. K. West; Madoc 6-2, 6-4, D. Jackman vs. A. Ross; tie 5-3, 5-4.

Men's Doubles

Hickel and M. Clark vs. J. Ross and D. Jackman; Madoc 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, K. Hickle and M. Clark vs. H. Williams and Geo. Duffin; Madoc 6-2, 6-4, K. West and M. Clark vs. J. Ward and Geo. Duffin; Madoc 6-2, 6-3, A. Meikiejohn and H. Loveland; Stirling 8-6; 6-3. A. Meikiejohn and J. Ward vs. M. Clark and K. West; tie 8-6; 3-6.

Lunch was served at the conclusion of the games by the members of the local club.

Stirling Men's Bowling Club Held Annual Tournament

On Wednesday afternoon and evening July 31st, the men's bowling club of Stirling held their annual tournament. Favored with fine weather and the greens in good condition for the event, play began at 1 p.m. and lasted until nearly 7 o'clock. Thursday evening rinks competed, 3 from Tweed, 4 from Belleville, 2 from Kingston, 4 from Hastings, 1 from Deseronto, 2 from Campbellford, 1 from Warkworth, 1 from Havelock, 3 from Madoc, 1 from Norwood and 2 from Stirling. Three competitions were played namely, primary, consolation and third rinks.

The hard luck prizes were captured by Messrs. G. Wilkins, W. Pearce, E. Ostebo and C. Symons, skip of Belleville which were leather bill purses.

The consolation winners were — Messrs. Percy Harris, R. Offord, W. Arnish and J. Derry, skip. The winners up were Campbellford team skipped by A. J. Myers. The winners received leather overnight cases and the winning rinks received pots in leather cases.

The primary competition which was not completed until after 1 a.m. on Thursday morning was won by Ted Green's team from Kingston, who defeated the Havelock team skipped by Hooper in the twelve end final by a score of 19-6 and by virtue of this win took home the Baker Service Cup. This lovely trophy which was put up for competition by Mr. C. H. Baker in 1933 and was won the first year by Warkworth and last year by a rink from Norwood and this year it goes eastward to the Kingston club. Those on the Kingston winning rink were Messrs. H. For COOL, Appetizing Desserts Nothing Equals BENSON'S CORN STARCH

GOLDEN RIVER CUSTARD

3 Cup Milk
1 Egg Yolk
¼ Cup Sugar
1½ Cups Graham "Crown Brand" Corn Syrup
2 Tablespoons Kruger's Corn Starch
½ Teaspoon Vanilla
Method—Cook first six ingredients in a pail over boiling water. Add vanilla. Pour into moulds and chill. Serve with "Crown Brand" Corn Syrup and nuts.

COLD ORANGE PUDDING

2 Tablespoons Benson's Corn Starch
¼ Cup Graham "Crown Brand" Corn Syrup
A few grains of Salt
1½ Cups Milk
1 Egg
Grated Orange Juice
1 Tablespoon Lemon Juice
1 Teaspoon grated Orange rind
2 Tablespoons Sugar
Method—Scald one cup of milk in the top of a double boiler. Mix the Benson's Corn Starch with the remaining quarter cup of milk and stir into the hot milk. Cook, continuously until the mixture thickens. Then cover and cook for fifteen minutes. Beat the egg yolk and mix with the "Crown Brand" Corn Syrup. Pour the hot mixture slowly over the egg yolk and return to double boiler. Cook for two minutes. Remove from fire and add the orange juice, lemon juice and rind. Pour into a wet mould and chill. Serve with whipped cream. Garnish with orange sections and cherries which has been soaked for an hour in orange juice. Chill and serve.

Nothing equals its smooth fineness . . . the amount of nourishment it contains . . . its absolute purity and goodness. And nothing equals BENSON'S CORN STARCH for making delicious frozen desserts that will tempt even the most jaded appetite.

At the new low price there is no reason why you should accept ordinary corn starches . . . because BENSON'S is best . . . and has been so for 75 years.

Other Uses for "BENSON'S"

As a baby powder . . . safe and soothing for the most sensitive skin.

For softening its cooling action gives quick and positive relief!

Dusting tired feet with Benson's gives instant relief. It allays the irritation of insect bites, dampen them and dust with Benson's.

WILL ATTEND MILITIA CAMP FROM MARMORA

Further Schedule Arranged in Trent Valley Baseball League

Marmora—The following members of the militia left for Picton on Saturday where they will go into camp from August the third to the eighth.

Lieut. D. F. Mavett-Sergeant H. O. Osborne, Privates Elmer Merritt, Frank Wilbe, Reginald Donnelly, Kenneth Kerr, Garrett Vincent, George Osborne, Clayton Cronkwright, S. Palmatier, Lloyd Williams, George McKay, James Thomson, C. Paramuk and Sidney Bullock.

SPORT

An unusual situation has arisen in connection with the playoffs in the Trent Valley Baseball League. Peterboro, Marlbeaton and Oak Hill and Marmora made up the league with a double schedule. Marmora and Coe Hill were classed as Intermediate "B" while Peterboro were undecided about their class. Marmora and Peterboro are tied while Coe Hill is out with one game yet to be played between Peterboro and Marmora. Peterboro not being pleased with the prospects before them got some of the "honorable mid boys" of Peterboro together with the result that a meeting was held on August 1st with the following motions made and seconded.

That Marmora default their remaining game to Peterboro.

That Peterboro represent the league in O. B. A. A. playoffs "B" series.

That Marmora and Coe Hill start all over again with a possible game series in "C" class.

That Marmora and Coe Hill each play one game in Peterboro during August (all there own expenses).

The schedule drawn up for the "C" series play off:

Coe Hill vs. Marmora Aug. 12th
Marmora vs. Coe Hill Aug. 19th
Coe Hill vs. Marmora Aug. 21st.
Marmora vs. Coe Hill Aug. 26th.

A possible fifth game to be decided.

Just how well pleased the Marmora boys are remains yet to be seen, but they certainly would like to have one more chance at Peterboro and best of luck.

Decoration Service

The annual Decoration Service in connection with District No. 1 Central Hastings Orange Association is being planned for next Sunday afternoon August 11th, members of the four lodges of the district will assemble at the Orange Hall, Springbrook at 2 p. m. to proceed to Mt. Moira Cemetery for decoration of graves of deceased members.

by JOHN GOODWIN

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Brian caught Sonia in his arms and pressed straight on through the darkness, holding her like a baby before she realized what he was doing. Her arm was round his neck.

"Where are we going?"

"My car," he said briefly.

"And then?"

"Me for the London road—hell for leather, as hard as I can push her. That's all. Now, you; you're going back to the inn. . ."

"Brian! Tell me—"

"Shut your dear little mouth Sonia," he said, and closed it for her. "Don't worry. Nothing's going to hurt you—now."

She heard him breathing heavily as he breasted the top of the slope.

"Put me down!" she said, won't be carried; I'm not a fool or hysterical; can walk, and will."

"All right. Walk if you want to; help you." He set her down. "Now Sonia, don't talk! Don't ask questions. Tomorrow . . . I'll tell you everything tomorrow. Not now —no time. I have to be going. Come!"

He hurried her along, one powerful arm holding her up. A sense of disaster filled her . . . of peril, not for herself but for Brian. He was dwelling on it; nothing matter-ed but to carry on—help him if she could: He wanted to be rid of her.

They went back the way she had come, but a quicker route. No wire none of the fences and gullies she had blundered into. "I'm getting to know country, she didn't. Presently the high park wall showed up. There down a rough path, and they came upon Brian's car standing in a gateway.

As they neared it there was a deafening clap of thunder and a glare that seared the eyeballs. The storm had brooded all through the evening was loose. A rush of wind swept down on them, roaring through the trees. Great, heavy rain crashed down, the forerunners of a deluge. Brian was jerking up the hood of the car.

"Get in!" he said curtly, and lifted her bodily into the barrel seat, diving after her and jamming his heel on the starter. "I'll run you up to the inn, quick."

"No!" she exclaimed, throwing open the door. "You've got to get off —do, I find my way—"

"What, through this? Not on your life!" He slammed the door and shot the car out as the thunder crashed again. "Don't talk, dear! There's not a hope you'll ever obey me when we marry; but by the living Jumper WE'RE GOING HOME now! I'm shooting you home to bed, spirited for you, maybe."

Brian snaked the car up the steep lanes to the crest of the hill without turning on his lights, and swerved through by the back entrance of the inn yard. He was dechlothed and braked. After a moment's thought he slid ahead again gently and ran the car into the open-ended shed. Brian stepped out and peered across the yard.

"Good Lord" he said softly.

For a moment he stood staring, his brain busy. The windows of the parlor stood open—the one at which he was burning, on the table stood the coffee-pot, the plates with the remains of the sandwiches were still there. Everything just as they had left it. The room empty.

"Come!" he said, taking Sonia by the hand as she got out of the car. He ran her quickly across the yard into the parlor.

"Here you are! Safe and cosy. Take this off dear." He slipped the wet rain-coat off her and threw it across a chair.

"You'll stay!" she said.

"I'll get away as quickly as I can. You'll stay. And remember, you don't know anything."

Before she could answer there was a rush of hurried footsteps along the passage outside, towards their door. It was Jimmy upon the intruder was only Mary Stubbings, the landlord's daughter, and with her came a gust of wind that blew the lamp out.

"Them windows!" said the girl, and hurrying across, hauled the casements together and shut out the beating rain. "Proper storm, sir! It! All right sir, I'll light the lamp again." She turned to Sonia, who was visible in the fire from the fire. "Your room's all ready miss, your things are taken up an' the fire's lit."

"Good!" said Brian. "Up you go, Sonia. Get a good sleep. I'm getting out, Mary. Driving to London."

The girl looked at him, aghast. The rain roared on the window, a clap of thunder shook the house.

"You can't drive through this. It's comin' down like the end of the world!"

"What d'you think I'm made of? I'm going if I have to swim. Urgent private affairs." He opened the door.

"And she main road's an air!"

"I know. I shall take the Derby road. Night, Sonia. Sleep well—and don't worry."

They heard the lock of the back door rattle, and Brian was gone. The girl looked at Sonia.

"You didn't ought to let him go!"

"I didn't! I was! him to," said Sonia huskily. "But— I suppose he knows best. I'll get to my room—I'm rather tired."

Mary, intensely curious and anxious to talk, got a candle and showed her into a cosy room with a real four-poster bed. Sonia saw she was alone Sonia locked the door, and sinking into an armchair by the crackling fire, buried her face in her hands.

The events of that fateful night, each following fast upon the other's heels, had exhausted her bodily and mentally. They had ended, out there in the darkness by the old mine, in stark tragedy. That was the one thing of which she was assured.

To that she was an eye-witness. That deadly struggle on the brink of the cutting, the black thing that crashed and fell, revealed by the gleam of the lightning, was burned into her brain. What it meant, what the upshot of it was to be, to herself and Brian, she could not tell. Brian had gone, refusing to harm her with knowledge that seemed to her sheer folly—danger-ous to them both. But perhaps he was right.

She felt that in the morning she would have to face the consequences. She rose and undressed wearily and sank down on the rural bed, but sleep was denied her. When she closed her eyes that vision always returned to her, only in place of others, shifting and flickering like the figures on a screen: the white, furious face of Bannister . . . the blaze of anger in Brian's eyes . . . the dark features and black-clad figure of Barker, slinking through the night, watchful and cunning. . . Once, by some illusion, it seemed to her that he was standing at the foot of her bed as she lay in the firelit gloom.

Then exhaustion mercifully intervened; she fell into a stupor-like slumber, and knew nothing more till the dawn crept through the curtains.

Police-Sergeant Howe of King's Kim was completing an early breakfast—in his shirt sleeves, his tunic on a chair and his belt and truncheon hanging on the wall, when the telephone clinged with an alarm-clock whirr, before he could reach for his pipe.

Sergeant Howe was an ordinary man for a policeman; a vast but actively built man, with intelligent brown eyes. A man of ambition, his grievance against life was that nothing ever happened at King's Kim; save on Saturday nights an occasional "drunk"; who generally went quietly. Most men went quietly when Sergeant Howe handled them.

He reached for the receiver on the oblong parlor wall.

"Inspector Fryth, Crawford Station, speaking."

"Driver of the 7.15 down Express, Northsider, reports a man's body on the line, abreast the Old Stannary Mine, King's Kim. Get off there at once! take charge."

Sergeant Howe snatched up his tunic, and shot himself into it, reaching for his belt and truncheon.

"First time I've known anybody with energy enough to get himself killed in the Mine," said Sergeant Howe. "Can't be a native."

The crash of a falling bicycle was heard outside. Someone had leaned it hurriedly against the railings, and a man in breeches and gaiters thundered in, breathless and excited. It was Tod West, a farmer at King's Kim House.

"Well, Tod—what's your trouble?"

"Sergeant! There's the devil to pay up at home. Somebody rod last at ten o'clock last night—ain't come back. His bowe turned up in the stable—half out of his mind—and covered in mud."

"Rode last night! In that storm? Well he was asking for it. Horse threw him?"

"I dunno! Look to me like there's been dirty work at the cross-roads, says there was the bizzes of a row last night between Mr. Coote an' young Chalmer; about a lady name of Neil that came there off the London train—Mr. Coote's guest. They quarrelled, and Mr. Chambers set upon young Chalmer; knocked him, and the girl cleared out."

"Mr. Selby, are all wrought up about it, and there's a bit of scrypin like a crazy woman. They want to know what's become of the Coote's

Howe. "You'll be in the witness-stand over this job. You say Mr. Coote rode out last night; why saddled the horse for him—you?"

"You know I crock off at six, an' sleep in the village," replied the groom. "He saddled the horse himself an' it ain't the first time—I've known him go night-ridin' in the park before. But never in such weather as that—wan't fit for a dog to be out! When the horse returned it was dead lame. I hiked all through the dark paths lookin' for the Gov'nor—he ain't there! Old Ma Selby took me up to his bed-room an' showed me. Red not slept in—there was the Gyvnor's evenin' coat and shoes, and he'd taken an old jacket an' a pair of iddn'-boots. He left in a hurry."

Tod West gasped, as he glanced at Howe's face.

"Sergeant! You mean to say the Gov'nor's dead! His money goes to young Chalmers—you know that. Everybody knows it. If Coote's dead, the young un's rollin' in the stuff. Bins on that, Sergeant! Mind you, if there's dirty work, I wouldn't say he's done it. We like young Chalmers, most of us. Wouldn't make a bad boss. He's rough stuff, that's all; could see him doin' a man in, if he was cornered. He's a fighter. But I would-not think that in cold blood—he'd not be a man to get the police on him. If you ask me I think—"

"Selby—ain't there! His wife told me he went out, either with Mr. Coote or just before him. And he ain't back yet—not a sniff of him!"

Sergeant Howe gave a silent whistle.

"Mr. Coote on the line. Selby-missing," he said. "How what's happened to that good an' faithful servant?"

"No friend o' mine," growled the groom. "To close to the Gov'nor. Master an' man—thick as thieves, them two."

The sergeant's eyes twinkled as he swung himself off his machine.

"You want to watch what you're saying, Tod West. Now gimmonsit; we've got to foot it."

If I'm any judge of current events you always invariably without fail take an exter cup of coffee when you get a exter reason, ma said. What happened, and pop said, I dident get a exter reason at all. Just an ordinery nitemare, it was terrible.

My goodness what was it, dont tell me if it was as awful as all that, ma said. It was that awful, pop said. It was really terrifying. I was writing away at my desk in the office, just minding my own affairs and not hurting anybody, and suddenly my secretery, with a face as white as chawk, handed me a letter that she had accepted by mistake.

Do you mean it had been given in to me said, and pop said, My dear nobody could imagine what was in that letter. It could only happen in a nitemare. Anually any one with imagination. It started like this: Your letter of last Thursday has been received and read, pop said.

Then it proceeded to that good an' faithful servant—

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE CAPITOL

"Mark of The Vampire"
Lionel Barrymore Has Strong Role in Thrilling Drama—Other Features

"Hurricane" Full of Laughs

Sinister shadows that loom in the night, terror in its ultimate intensity, blend with suspense, thrills, romance and comedy in "Mark of the Vampire" now showing at the Capitol in conjunction with another feature, "Capt. Hurricane."

Dealing with a mysterious crime, in the midst of an uncanny vampire cult, the story deals with a detective whose wits are pitted against the "undead" and who by an amazing ruse traps the head of the strangest criminals in modern literature.

"Mark of the Vampire" is based on a story by Clay Boland, who wrote the "Werewolf of Paris" and directed by Tod Browning, master of supernatural drama and author and director of the famous Lon Chaney horror films.

Lionel Barrymore plays the principle role as Professor Zelen, amazing student of demonology, who aids the police in ferreting out a vampire horde. Bela Lugosi, of "Dracula" fame, plays the horrific vampire. Count Mora, and Carol Borland is Luna the vampire's daughter. They figure in blood-chilling episodes in a setting of castle, dungeon is provided by pretty Elizabeth Allan and Henry Wadsworth as the lovers in terror. Jean Hersholt is the dominating Baron Otto.

Other clever players in the cast include Lionel Atwill as the detective in the case, Holmes Herbert, Donald Meek, Leila Bennett, James Ralph and Ivan Simpson.

Running a close second for entertainment value is the second feature on the program, "Captain Hurricane" a colorful comedy-drama of Cape Cod folk, in which an odd sea captain who is a woman hater, ashore and confirmed, is romance with a spinster who had married many years for his return from foreign ports who is appointed the guardianship of a waif that was rescued from a foundering vessel, and she, being with more of his feminine foes a great time trying to bring up a child.

James Barton, he who made such a great success in "Dancing Lady," plays the title role, and Zasu Pitts, Westley of stage fame plays the old maid and Helen Mack assumes the role of the girl.

Besides these two excellent features, there is the Fox Movietone Newsreel bringing the last minute range events from various parts of the earth.

DICTATORSHIP

ternal and external trade of Canada, Mr. King declared, was that no party legislation he could command every dollar in the power of the dictator he given more power, the Liberal leader asked.

It was 18 years to the day since Mr. King became leader of the Liberal Party and he said he was sorry that he had not been asked to be selected by the Governor-General to form an administration.

"Unless I am mistaken, there is a party of loyal enough, big enough and strong enough to extend an olive from coast to coast—Canada or nothing," the premier said. "Canada or nothing" is the only slogan that can save the nation today."

Mr. King pictured Canada under a Liberal Government in the Provinces and Liberal Governments in the Provinces. This would give Canada a chance to recover before the close of one party and of one thought and work together to raise this country out of the depression in which it has been for the past five years."

The issue today in Canada, Mr. King said, was between dictatorship and democracy or parliamentary rule against one man rule. When the cumulative legislative results of the last five years were examined the trend toward dictatorship was marked. Mr. King said, and added how liberties had disappeared and bureaucracy fostered. It was all done under the guise of emergency and social reform but he cautioned his hearers not to forget the same reasons were advanced for Hitlerism in Germany and Fascism in Italy in their initial stages.

National Bank Advocated

As an instance of the downfall of parliamentary control in Canada, Mr. King mentioned the creation of the Bank of Canada. The Liberal Party believed in a National Central Bank to control the issue and currency in the best interests of the country as a whole. But the Conservative Government created a private bank for that purpose—taking the right to issue away from the Finance Treasury and transferring them to the private company.

The Government, the Liberal leader declared, has given representative on the Board of the Bank except the Deputy Minister of Finance, who had no vote. Even the Governor and his Deputy were appointed for a term of years by them and could not be ousted by popular will. The Bank was "another Fascist institution" fashioned by Mr. Bennett's own admission on the rights of the peoples' representatives.

The time had come, he continued when Canadians should ask themselves if the Bank established Canada to become a second Italy, a second Germany, or a second Japan, especially in the light of the trend of the last five years.

Premier Laval Orders Cleanup of Agitation Centres to Stop Riots

Search in Toulon Area Brings About Arrest of 40

REFUSES COMPROMISE

Premier Laval Holds Firmly to Deflation Program

(By Stuart Morrey, Associated Press Staff Writer)

Paris, Aug. 9 (AP)—With troops ready but out of sight, the French government today ordered police forces to clean up agitation centres.

Premier Laval ordered the prefects of all France's 86 departments to confer with him immediately. It was the first such conference in the history of the Republic.

A somewhat easier attitude prevailed as the laborers in the government arsenals at Toulon and Brest went back to work and the French line employes at Le Havre voted to end their strike.

The object of the prefects' conference was understood to be the development of a more favorable attitude on the part of government employes toward the pay cuts, which the government considers necessary to help balance the budget.

Government officials said the riots of the last few days which reached a climax last night in Toulon, where two persons were "seemed to be organized disorders" but "unlikely to continue."

A vast network of police was thrown over Toulon's vice zones after a house-to-house search today brought 40 arrests and the discovery of many weapons. Socialist Deputy Lebas "a regular arsenal" in one home in Toulon where two wounded were hiding. They brought out many similar caches and the mass and a few sub-marine guns.

Premier Laval refused any compromise in his flipping strike but the French line agreed to compensate the sailors for their pay cuts, decreed by the government.

Repeating complaints and protests, the Premier held firmly to his deflation program. He assembled the prefects in case of riots and speedy application of his program and to explain how the reduction of incomes was compensated by lower costs of living and how all the government measures were intended to revive business and to avert a financial crisis.

Ambulances Not Needed as Pilot Lands His Plane Without Trouble

Newark, N.J., Aug. 9.—(AP)—While police, firemen and ambulances waited on the field, a lone pilot brought his crippled plane bearing six passengers to a thrilling but happy landing at Newark Airport today.

Pilot L. W. Willey and Co-Pilot Albert Duke, flying the New Orleans to Newark route, took off from Washington at 6.12 a.m.

A warning light soon told them the retracting landing gear was not working properly. Duke climbed out on the wing but efforts to repair it were futile.

Eight pieces of fire apparatus, ambulances bearing city hospital doctors and nurses and police rushed to the airport.

The plane roared in a circle for 20 minutes, while persons on the ground watched fearfully. Co-Pilot Duke herding the passengers into the rear of the plane to take the load from the defective wheel.

Pilot Willey glided in at an angle which made the crash less severe, and the usual shock of the landing sprung the right wheel into place again and the plane sped over the runway safely.

$2,000,000 IN OIL NOT REGISTERED INQUIRY IS TOLD

Government Claims Tax Owed on That Amount

SEARCH RECORDS

Premier Hepburn Says Findings are "Only The Beginning"

London, Ont. Aug. 9.—(CP)—Pursuing its investigations into estates of seven members of the wealthy Spencer family, the Ontario Government today had uncovered $2,000,000 in Imperial Oil stocks which it claimed were not listed in inheritance of each of three estates.

Following the disclosures before Commissioner Gordon Cowan, K.C., yesterday, Premier Hepburn said "it seems that this was "only the beginning."

Mr. Hepburn said the government would attempt collection of additional succession duties from many estates and by that means said he hoped to recover millions of dollars lost to former governments through corruption or inefficiency.

Trace Holdings

All day yesterday bankers and brokers gave evidence as the government moved to trace the holdings of C. Norman Spencer and W. Melville. Spencer sons of one of the founders of Imperial Oil, and also the holdings of Melville Spencer's daughter, Caroline Bagley Spencer, were brought to the attention of the court.

From records of the Imperial Oil Company, and from bank accounts of the three members under investigation, who died between 1928 and 1931, governments auditors arrived at their claim that undisclosed succession duty purposes were the following:

In the C. Norman Spencer estate, $667,000; in the W. Melville Spencer estate, $830,000; in the Caroline Bagley Spencer estate $519,000.

The evidence given by C. M. Spencer estate includes $100,000 of Ontario Loan and Debenture Company bonds and $10,000 of other holdings which he claimed were not reported for taxation.

Trekkers Pitch Camp, Prepared For Long Stay

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—(CP)—Ontario Relief trekkers pitched camp in the Capital City today and prepared for a long stay. They sought an interview with Prime Minister Bennett for next Thursday and will spend morning erecting tents, which had been loaned them by sympathetic citizens.

During the night the trekkers slept in the open on a vacant piece of property near the heart of the city but this morning they had shifters in course of erection. While Mayor Nolan's orders to Bennett to see the trekkers' delegates as soon as possible were reported to have been sent to Mr. Bennett's office with the proposal, the interview being delayed until next Thursday.

They left a copy of their seven demands" for the Premier, with alteration in the interval and said the reason they could not meet him earlier was to give him time to consider them.

Besides the many alterations taking place is that of changing one of the main floor class-rooms into a very inviting ladies' lounge and reception room. This room will be a much needed addition to the facilities of the lady students, and will be a most delightful room when fully furnished.

For the Fall season, the services of Mr. W. Beach have been secured. Mr. Beach has been for the past seven years assistant secretary and Physical Director of the Y.M.C.A. of London, Ont. He is an outstanding physical director and athletic coach and will unquestionably give a good account of himself.

Bedford Fielding

Mayor Nolan and City police have forbidden all begging on the streets or canvassing of houses or stores during the early part of the afternoon. All city fire stations, however, have been ordered to act as voluntary receiving depots and any citizens who wish to contribute food or money to the maintenance of the trekkers may leave it at a fire station with the assurance it will be delivered to the trekkers' executive. A box car was sent down on the open field as the trekkers lolled on the ground, some of them worked in the erection of their tents. Picket lines were drawn around the encampment and visitors were warned not to pass them.

About 500 people, including some thirty women, were said to be in the encampment. These included the group which marched in from Toronto yesterday and a number of hundred others who were already here. The latter include most of the from Northern Ontario and parts of Quebec.

LOOT IS RECOVERED

Toronto, Aug. 9.—(CP)—A motor truck and about 1,000 pounds of tobacco and cigarettes, valued at $2,000, stolen at Hamilton, were recovered by police. The truck was found empty but its cargo was discovered in a nearby garage.

Police held two men for questioning pending arrival of Hamilton police.

LIFE OF DRUDGERY BLAMED FOR CRIME

Police Say Woman Planned With Friend to Kill Husband

Salem, N. J., Aug. 9—(AP)—Riches just beyond her reach, contrasted with a life of drudgery as a farmer's wife, caused Mrs. Mary Estelle P. Dolbow to plan with Norman Driscoll the slaying of her husband, Sheriff Henry Layton disclosed today.

Two policemen aggregating $140,000, officials said, were withheld from the 38-year-old school teacher's estate by the will of Henry Y. Dolbow, plodding tenant farmer, who was beaten to death with the iron axle of a harrow as he did his chores last Friday night.

The possibility that disposing of him she might win her way to wealth provided the "main motive" for the crime, Sheriff Layton said.

State police consider the revival of a childhood love affair between Mrs. Dolbow and Driscoll as a secondary motive.

Corporal Whitred Dubbie, detailing details in the alleged "money motive," said the wife and her farmer-friend "plotted to do away with Dolbow after the intention of getting married and gaining $40,000 left by the husband by an uncle."

Mrs. Dolbow was unable to get money, Dubbie said, because it "was tied up in such a way Mrs. Dolbow's brother could not administer on it when it was to be turned over to her."

"The mother, Mrs. Genevieve Kirlin Fox, never liked Dolbow," Dubbie declared, "and did not let her daughter have the money after she married him."

Dubbie disclosed "they also hoped eventually to share in another $100,000 trust fund created by Mrs. Dolbow's father, John Kirlin." Kirlin was a wealthy South Jersey land owner.

100,000 PERSONS FLOOD VICTIMS

14 Million Homeless And Damage Estimated at 150 Millions

Nanking, Aug. 9 (CP-Havas)—The Chinese Government announced officially today more than 100,000 persons lost their lives in the disastrous floods in Central China. Fourteen million persons are homeless and property damage amounts to more than $150,000,000.

Most of the disaster occurred in Honan, Hupeh and Hunan Provinces where the waters of the Yangtze and Hsiang Po Rivers burst through their banks and flooded cities, villages and thousands of acres of the most fertile farming land in all China. Many cities in these areas are partly under water.

The worst flood case in China the Coolies and their families, living in crude bamboo huts on the river banks or in shaky structures of poles over the rivers, were the greatest sufferers. Bodies of Coolies by thousands were washed ashore along the rivers.

The enormous loss of life from the flood will be greatly increased from famine and disease. The destruction of farm lands no crops can be raised in many places and those that are planted will be delayed until too late to save thousands from starvation.

KIDNAPPING CASE AT LONDON TAKES ON STRANGE ANGLE

Mrs. Murray, Wife of One Held Says "Somebody" Confessed

NO CONFIRMATION

London Officials Express Interest in New Feature

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 9—(CP)—Mrs. Kingdon P. Murray, wife of "Vicious Peter" arrested with Lon London, Ont., under indictment for the kidnapping of John S. Labatt said today she "heard somebody" confessed at London to the abduction and her husband and David Meisner, serving a 15-year sentence for the crime, were likely to be freed.

Mrs. Murray who has maintained from the time of her husband's arrest he had nothing to do with the Labatt kidnapping, would not reveal the identity of the confessed man. It was believed, however, she referred to numerous reports Michael McCaffrey who confessed to the crime a week ago at London had told Ontario authorities a full confession.

Murray has been held in London jail for several months police holding him as an accomplice of Meisner and the third man sought as one of the three actual kidnappers, Albert Pegram of Detroit. Mrs. Murray was visited him at London jail.

4 MONTHS' BRIDE INSTANTLY KILLED

Car Strikes Grassy Shoulder Hits Culvert And Overturns

Port Colborne, Ont., Aug. 9—(CP)—Mrs. Margaret Liddell, 24, of Toronto, bride of four months, was instantly killed on Highway Number Three, five miles east of here, early today when the car in which she was riding, driven by her husband, James Liddell, struck the constructed lis efficiency and the most exacting conditions.

The death of Mrs. Raimondo Frascheitl, 46, in the accident deprived Italy of the services of an invaluable expert on East African geography.

It followed by only a few weeks the death of Ludwig Nesbitt, English explorer, who also surveyed the Ethiopian frontier and who likewise perished in an air disaster.

Officers State Strike Failure

Philadelphia, Aug. 9 (AP)—Naval officers said a strike called by leaders of relief workers on Philadelphia navy yard WPA projects failed to materialize today.

Small picket line was maintained, Pickets claimed 60 men struck and navy officials said all but 10 of the 316 workers were at their jobs.

ITALY SHOCKED BY PLANE CRASH

Machine Type Designated For East African Service

BY CHARLES H. GUPTILL
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Rome, Aug. 9 (AP)—Italy, shocked by news of the destruction of one of its most modern airplanes and the death of Public Works Minister Luigi Razza, applied itself with undiminished zeal today to every particular of its military power.

The disaster to the tri-motored craft which crashed on an Egyptian desert Wednesday night while on an inspection flight to Eritrea, killing seven persons, was viewed with particular concern since the plane was of the type designated for East African service.

The accident occurred just as plans were blossoming for establishment of a commercial airline linking Italy to its colonies.

Aeronautical circles, however, contended the accident was the result of something other than defective material or construction, asserting this type of plane had demonstrated its efficiency under the most exacting conditions.

The death of Raimondo Frascheitl, 46, in the accident deprived Italy of the services of an invaluable expert on East African geography.

It followed by only a few weeks the death of Ludwig Nesbitt, English explorer, who also surveyed the Ethiopian frontier and who likewise perished in an air disaster.

Seen Troop Movement

Large number of tanks and armored cars manned by white Russians were in evidence, Dr. Mueller declared. He said he and Jones had the important troop movements Delonor, although in Chahar territory, was entirely occupied by Japanese invasion.

Dr. Mueller said he was convinced the kidnapping of the newspapermen had acted on the instigation of Japanese military authorities, worried as to the extent of the newspapermen's knowledge of Japanese military activity.

Jones and Mueller were kidnapped July 28 near Chengmaikou, about 15 miles northwest of Paochang on the road from Dolonor to Kalgan. Dr. Mueller and their white Russian chauffeur were released the next day to negotiate for ransom.

Mr. Jones former secretary to David Lloyd George, is still in the hands of bandits.

BRITAIN LAYS PLANS

Understood United States Taking Active Interest in Controversy

Addis Ababa, Aug. 9 (AP)—Dabs Birrou, former Foreign Office official, left for Japan today, accompanied by an unidentified Japanese on a secret mission.

It was reported without confirmation the mission had to do with the purchase of arms and ammunition from the Japanese. A reliable source said Birrou would establish the first Ethiopian Consulate in Japan, probably at Tokyo.

In connection with the arms and ammunition report, it was said Ethiopia would attempt to obtain credit for at least 50 per cent of the value of the order.

The Government today embarked on a campaign of economic self-sufficiency for the empire along with its military preparations for the threatened conflict with Italy. The Ministry of Commerce began a series of meetings considering methods to develop the empire's economic expansion.

PASS RESOLUTION TO W. E. TUMMON, M.P.

At the Liberal mass convention held in Kingston on Wednesday, an expression of regret at Mr. Tummon's passing was unanimously tendered Mr. W. E. Tummon, M.P., at the South Hastings owing to his illness and confinement to his home. The resolution was moved by T. J. Carter, Peterborough and seconded by Col. W. B. Ponton, Belleville.

Following the election of officers, previously printed, the convention was also named one of the members of the committee.

TWO MEETINGS AT COUNTY BUILDINGS

Two meetings of Hastings County Council committees are scheduled for the coming week. On Tuesday members of the Finance Committee will convene at Bridge Hall, while on the Thursday following the Old Age Pensions Committee will transact routine business.

BUILD POST OFFICE AT CAMPBELLFORD

Work is expected to commence on the construction of the Campbellford Post Office this week, following the award of tender to the Dinnie Construction Company of Toronto. Lowest bid, which was submitted by this company, was for the construction at $23,236. Thomas Fuller, architect of the Dominion Department of Public Works, drafted the building and will supervise construction.

PRESENT FLAG TO BRIGHTON, ONTARIO

Brighton, Ontario, is to receive a gift from Brighton-on-the-Sea, England, in the form of a flag, a large Union Jack, which will be accompanied by kind wishes and fraternal greetings from the Mayor and corporation of the larger English city.

AUGUST 22, HOLIDAY IN P. E. COUNTY

Announcement has been made by W. B. Rikely, Warden of Prince Edward County that Thursday, Aug. 22nd, will be proclaimed as a public holiday in the county. The proclamation is made at the request of leading municipals of Picton and other communities.

BE ON LOOKOUT ON «LONELY SPOT»

Snake shy campers of the city are warned by seasoned fishermen to be on the lookout, when using uninhabited islands in the Bay of Quinte for their days' outing this season. Reports of numbers of snakes are observed in the bay and surrounding islands. Watersnakes are the most common, and not infrequently, a massasauga rattler have been sighted it was declared. Opinion is divided as to the effect following a chance bite by either snake, but the general theory is that the poisonous massasauga can inflict a dangerous and painful wound.

"Hour the understrunk and camp is a place spot where you won't get bitten," is the advice given.

BAY WATER IS NOW IN "BLOSSOM"

Water in the Bay of Quinte is "in blossom" this week, it was reported by other residents. Minute particles of weedy growth have formed a film over the upper reaches of the water, causing boats and bathers to "paint" and creating a typical "dog days" condition.

NEARLY IMPOSSIBLE TO PUT OUT FIRE

Popular songsters long have declaimed in the swaying rhythm of modern verse the fact that "smoke gets in your eyes", but to garbage fires at the city dump yesterday and this week had literal reference. Smoke from the burning garbage during the afternoon poured forth in Vesuvius-like on the west side of the city dump, and last week has smoked them out. So thick has the white and black pall been that even the hardy collectors of the city's refuse have been unable to get close enough to the fires to dispose of their collections.

Complaints to the city engineer were relayed to the local fire department, but owing to the subterranean character of the fire its complete extinction by the department is virtually impossible, it was stated.

LIBERALS MEET FOR WARD RALLY

St. Agnes Manor Grounds Gaily Decorated For The Occasion

Gaily decorated grounds of St. Agnes Manor last evening bade a large attendance of local citizens on the occasion of the gathering of Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Liberals, when Mr. Ross Cameron, Liberal candidate for the forthcoming riding of South Hastings, addressed the meeting.

Mr. Cameron, assisted by the Hon. Nelson Parliament, Liberal organizer for the province, F. O. MacEachern, Liberal M.P.P. for Victoria again exhorted his audience to bring out a record vote in the by-matter of marching their ballots at the coming election," and continued the efforts of the present government during the past regime with its record of improvement in the past year. In his appeal to choose carefully the man upon whom will devolve the leadership of the country during the next five years, Mr. Cameron pointed out that only through Mackenzie King and his colleagues has Canada returned to returning prosperity in Canada.

Hitler and Mussolini, he declared, no longer the vogue and are being replaced by cool methodical reasoning of facts, declared Mr. Cameron. Parliament, Premier Bennett was responsible for a bill in the form of a man, who had throttled and strangled democracy, and that bill was Bill supreme. "Not until this trade has been restored to Canada will recovery from its present depression be realized," he declared. "My friends, I am fighting this bill with peaceful repercussions throughout the country, into the legislative chamber, and trade and prosperity will follow. When this happens, world peace will follow. Let's abolish and armament conferences and disarmament," promised Mr. Parliament.

Appeal to First Voters

In a message directed primarily to the young people who will cast their first vote at the coming election, Mr. F. O. MacEachern declared elections had arrived at a time, when Canada was the choice of either improving from the depths of living into other darkness. "Some Street car accident that recently occurred on Front Street, when the automobile which Weldon was driving knocked down a little girl. Weldon's driver's license was suspended for three months also.

"The election just now is won, shortly after the polls close, as well stop the sun from shining as to stop the Liberal government from taking office at Ottawa at this election. The longer we go the stronger we get," Mayor Ponton warned, that while Stevens would not be in the picture after the elections should be on their guard and not be misled by the statement. Mr. Howard for the use of the grounds, and members of the committee for their efforts in arranging the meeting was delivered by Col. Richards.

The evening was concluded with refreshments served by the ladies of the committee and Bob Jack Rob'in, chairman, and Mrs. Agnes Curry.

ARRAY OF STARS READY FOR MEET

22 Titles to be Decided at Canadian Track Meet

Winnipeg, Aug. 9 (CP)—When the barrier goes today on the Canadian track and field championships 22 blue-blooded athletes from all parts of Canada will begin the chase for twenty-two Dominion titles.

A formidable array of stars from Ontario presents a solid front. There are Bill Chrichton, Toronto's Canadian sprint champion; Ian Hamilton; Nell Paterson and Sammy Richardson, negro jump star.

Out of the three prairie provinces has emerged thirty-three new and near-champions, seeking the glory that goes with a Dominion crown. In number, Ontario has a slight edge, but the West is depending on its flying Saskatoon, Winning, and Moose Jaw for her points.

Six title events launch the meet on its way today and tomorrow is the 100-yard dash. Bert Preston, Nell Paterson and Bill Christie are drawn in separate heats. Bill McIlroyde, local hope, is in the heat with Richardson and Christie.

Heats in both the 440-yard and 880-yard events will be run off today. There will be three heats in the 440 with two qualifying in each heat for the semi-finals.

The 440 yard relay title will also be decided, and the Toronto Achilles Club team of Christie, Paterson, Richardson and Fleming is favored.

ADOPT CHANGES

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—(CP)—The 14th annual convention of the Canadian Association of Kinsmen Clubs in Canada adopted amendments to the constitution designed to enlarge the Association's policy. A spirit of cooperation, tolerance and understanding among all nations was urged. Unity of thought and purpose throughout the Dominion was advocated at a meeting of establishing this in Canada.

At noon A. R. Mosher, President of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor, addressed the delegates at luncheon.

CASES DISMISSED BUT BOYS WARNED

Against The Law When Trying to "Thumb" a Ride

Five Trenton youth, Frank Showaker, Kitchener Cox, Everett Stewart, Gilbert Clegg and Allan Taylor appeared before the police court held before Magistrate K. J. Bolter, on charges with soliciting rides from passenger vehicles contrary to the law. The lads were taken in charge and the facts of the case were presented to His Worship by Acting Chief Harman.

Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K. C. pointed out to the court the fact he did not desire to have the young men plead owing to the fact they would have a record, and therefore did not lessen the evidence, the matter being finally dismissed, but not before the boys were given a severe reprimand from the bench.

Acting Chief Harman pointed out to His Worship, that continued complaints had been received from local citizens residing in the vicinity of Highland Ave. in relationship to men and boys raising highway disturbances while attempting to solicit rides from motorists. One evening this morning at 2:00 a.m. we received one of these complaints and upon investigation found three five young men shouting and singing on Highland Ave. The charges followed," stated the witness.

"Yes, I have also received similar complaints. This practice must be stopped as it is not only against the law to solicit rides, but a general nuisance," added the magistrate before dismissing the charges. "Boys, this is a serious matter and only by the fact, that Mr. Donnan has not tendered any evidence on the part of the Crown, you young men would have been in serious trouble. Remember, you are breaking the law when "thumbing" a ride, Case dismissed," concluded His Worship.

Buttermakers Join With Junior Farmers at Brighton Meeting

Addressed by The Chief Creamery Instructor in Ontario

The Bay of Quinte Buttermakers held their August meeting in the Agricultural Office, Brighton, last evening, having as their guests the Junior Farmers of that locality.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. John R. Reid, chief creamery instructor for the province. Mr. Reid outlined to the Junior Farmers how the Dairy Branch are endeavoring to improve the quality of Ontario butter through improvement in the quality of cream. He also explained the work of the creamery instruction staff in safe grading the producers of cream and protection from exploitation by unscrupulous buyers. ## AWFUL DRUBBING FOR CANADA BUD

Wooler Wins First Game in Finals by 34-9 Score

Trenton, August 9.—(Special) — The Bay of Quinte baseball season turned out to witness the worst slaughter of the softball season on Wednesday evening, when Wooler trounced the Canada Bud a 34-9 drubbing. This was the first game of the finals in a best three out of five series to see which team will represent Trenton in the provincial intermediate O.A.S.A. play-downs. Wooler now leads by one game. Some of the regulars and the remainder of the team did not look like the club, that won the league game on schedule, and ended on top of the league.

The veteran "Bogo" Free, on the mound for the Woolerites, had the Buds baffled for five innings, when in the fifth Bogo got a little to pop out to the Wooler lads, who scored four runs. Bud Bell and Orby Wesse were the only players to reach first off Free, and Orby got there on two errors. Doc. Vining pulled Free in the fifth as he could not get anything on the ball and the team had piled in twenty runs. Hubert Chambers was on the mound in the seventh and allowed eight hits and gave the Buds a run, a hit to first. Doyle hurled the last frame but retired the side in short order. Wooler batted safe on seven hits, error but Chambers hit into a double and Legge flew out to Reddiffe field to end the game.

Chambers started for the losers but was taken out in favour of L'Esperance in the fourth inning. Reddiffe walked four and issued the same number of strike outs. L'Esperance did no better and Burton Lott was called to the mound. Continuing in the same way, safeties off the three moundsmen and the support was also free, no less than seven being chalked up with Wooler batting four at second. Rosenplot having four at second baseman, Legge at short with a homer and a double. For Wooler, Doyle, Free, Vining and Legge with five hits in seven times at bat, Rosenplot with a homer, two doubles and a single.

Lott and Chambers had never pitched a league game before and Doc. Burrows was short the services of Bill Hamilton, regular left fielder, who had an injured hand. Burrows was also handicapped and the tide may go the other way as the Buds have not played as good game since their inception.

Wooler — Doyle, lf and p; Cherry, cf; Fox c; Free p; Rattan 2b; Reddiffe ss; Reid 1b, Sternburg lf; Rosenplot 2b; Legge ss.

Obituary

MRS. MARGARET BIRD

After an illness of less than one day's duration, Mrs. Margaret Bird, wife of Mr. James Bird, passed away at her family residence on Church Street, Thursday evening. Although not enjoying the best of health, Mrs. Bird had been about her usual household duties up until Thursday morning when the illness which proved fatal came upon her. Her death has brought much sorrow to the hearts of the friends of the members of her family.

The late Mrs. Bird, who was in her 63rd year, was born in Ireland but had lived fifty years she had been a resident of Belleville, being highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was a member of St. Thomas' Church.

Besides her husband, four sons, five daughters, Mrs. Fred Young, Belleville, and Miss Elizabeth Bird, at home; five brothers, Wilson Bird, Charles Bird, John Bird, George Bird, all of Belleville, and James Bird, of Trenton.

ROMANCE BROUGHT TO A FRUITION

Winnipeg, Aug. 9 (CP)—Announcement of the marriage at Cambridge today of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Rowland and Baron Wolfgang Philip Von Schmerling brought to fruition a romance, that started here three years ago.

Philip's family estates were lost in it's post-war shuffle in Czechoslovakia. He studied in Toronto, Europe and Philip decided to seek his fortune in the new world. He worked as a laborer on road construction jobs in Manitoba, saved some money and worked his way through University of Manitoba.

A year ago he was awarded scholarship at Harvard. Mrs. Rowland managed a tea room here. The couple met shortly after the Baron enrolled at the University.

at Lansdowne and Charleston Lake.

Dr. Cline of Frankford, a former resident of Stirling suffered severe injury about the head on Aug. 4th when he was a victim in a motor accident near Campbellford. Mrs. Cline was driving the car at the time and in an attempt to avoid hitting another car ran too close to the ditch. The car left the road and turned over twice. Mrs. Cline escaped with bruises and her older daughters escaped uninjured. They were taken to Brighton for medical attention. The new Ford eight coach in which they were travelling was completely wrecked. Many friends of Dr. Cline hope for his early recovery. Dr. Cline's home is well known about the district.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hampton, Roy and Bernice of Gananoque were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ward at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Ward and family have been camping on the north side of Oak Lake.

Many friends of Mrs. John McCarthy will be glad to learn that her condition is greatly improved and that she is expected to return home from Belleville within the next few days. Mrs. McCaw has been under the care of doctors and was admitted to the Belleville Hospital where she underwent an operation for the amputation of a finger.

Lieut. Thos. Ward, Lieut. W. H. Ward, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Harold West, Arthur Gould, Chief Cooke and Wallace Cooke left on Saturday for Picton to attend the Military Camp there. Many are expected to visit Picton on Wednesday which is the day set aside for the review and inspection of the troops.

A large number of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Dempsey Tyler near Consecon, at a surprise party given in her honor. Twenty-five sat down to the sumptuous dinner provided and a very delightful time was spent by all. The afternoon was devoted to games and dancing. Among those from Stirling and district who were present at this unique event were:—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gerrior and two grandsons; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foster and Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rosebush, Mrs. Robert Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Utman, Miss Marjorie Belcher. Mrs. Mooney, Gerald and Charlie Irvine, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Couch and Harvey and Mrs. M. Hays of Rawdon and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitsell of Sydenham. The gathering was a happy one and no one present enjoyed it more than the charming guest of honour Mrs. Dempsey Tyler, who, though in her 87th year still remains young and happy and very popular with the younger folk.

Mr. Butler landed a sixteen pound pike which is really a thrilling experience.

CLUB DEFEATED

On Monday evening the Horseshoe Pitching Club of Thomasburg visited the courts of the local Club to take part in a game that had to be postponed several weeks ago. The weather was fine for the contest and many interested spectators occupied the benches to see a real exhibition of good horseshoe pitching. The honours were about equally divided and at 11 p. m. it was decided by a draw with each team having eight wins. Those representing the Stirling Club in the evenings performance were:—James Mitchell, Fred Rubin, M. Reid, M. Anderson, Lloyd Walker, Jeffery and Orval Rosebush.

This is the first year that the Stirling Club have enjoyed a lighted court for the purpose of staging contests after dark and at each tournament the number of spectators is noticeably increased. No doubt the evenings when the courts are onlookers this year will become a regular feature of the Club and year and have their place in the line up at these fascinating tournaments.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT

REGIMENTAL CAMP AT PICTON ENDS

Parade And Drumhead Service is Held on Sunday

Picton, Aug. 5—The Hastings and Prince Edward regimental camp here concluded on Thursday at noon when tents had been taken down. The men, two hundred strong, went under canvas last Saturday night at the fair grounds.

On Sunday, a parade and drumhead service were held. A wreath was deposited on the monument. On Monday routine training was in order while on Tuesday a sham battle was held on the Amos Hoffelin farm on the Cherry Valley road. An acrobatics zone Trenton took part dropping "bombs" — small bags of flour and also messages.

Wednesday was inspection day, with Col. C. R. Connolly, Actiki district officer commanding, as inspection officer. He was accompanied by several other distinguished officers and an inspection was made of the regiment's efficiency.

An interesting feature of the camp was the administration to R.S.M. E. Almy of Trenton with the Canadian Efficiency Medal in recognition of twelve regular service years spent in the militia, along with honorable credit of all duty examinations. The presentation was made by Col. Connolly, acting G.O.C.

This presentation also marks forty-one years service in military matters for Mr. Almy. His first service was with the Imperial forces in 1876. He has been with the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment for thirteen years.

The regiment is in command of Lieut. Col. E. A. Adams V.D. of Picton, with Major Ketcheson of Trenton, E company from Madoc, C company from Picton and D company from Prince Edward county.

Last night the officers entertained their friends at their mess. A concert party from Belleville provided entertainment.

The officers expressed themselves as much pleased with the camp and the treatment accorded them in Picton.

QUAKER PUFFED RICE - PUFFED WHEAT

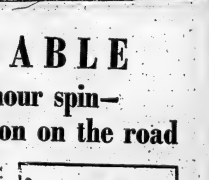
DEPENDABLE ... for a half-hour spin— or a summer vacation on the road

A WEEK-END VISIT to the country, a summer trip or errand to the corner store . . . you drive it with comfort and peace of mind in a Ford V-8. Speed, power, acceleration and proved economy are dependable qualities of the Ford V-8 engine. Onepiece steel body, rust-resisting clutch and brakes, and Safety Glass* are famous elements of Ford V-8 construction. Together they contribute that assurance and confidence which are always present when you drive this great example of Ford engineering genius.

You can depend on comfort too — an easy relaxed ride on front or back seat — miles after miles. Interiors are roomy — and back-seat passengers are positioned forward of the rear axle instead of over it. They are not jolted between more flexible springs. They sit on deeper, yielding cushions. Front-seat passengers also share the extra leg space created by the new rear position of the V-8 engine. The perfect front-seat ride is softer. Driver's seat adjusts for extra comfort.

We believe you will want to make your own exacting tests of Ford V-8 dependability. Get in touch with your Ford dealer and borrow one of his cars . . . convince yourself of its power, safety and comfort.

* Safety Glass is standard equipment on all closed cars of the Ford V-8 line at no extra cost.



LOW PRICES EASY TERMS

A FEW DRIVING SUGGESTIONS

General suggestions for driving motor vehicles issued by the Ontario Safety League in the form of a traffic bulletin call for the serious attention of drivers, no matter how experienced they may be:

1. When starting out, check the condition of tires, mirror, brakes, horn, lights, windshield wiper. Make this a habit.

2. Report and have fixed any mechanical trouble. Do not drive with makeshift repairs.

3. Even if you have the right of way, give the other driver lots of room at intersections. He may need it.

4. Watch for signs and signals and obey them.

5. Never pass another vehicle on a blind curve or approaching the crest of a hill and especially not at an intersection.

6. Between speed and safety, choose safety every time.

7. Do your slowing down in approaching an intersection, be prepared to stop.

8. Back up as little as possible but if you must back, sound your horn first and then watch where you are going.

9. Always watch for children.

Every one of these suggestions contains food for thought on the part of drivers and all of them may profit from observance of the fundamental rules of safety thus laid down.

WHAT ROTARY MEANS TO MY TOWN

Rotary stands for things close at hand and things that may be close at hand though seemingly far away. It stands for very definite things and has attained very notable results. Rotary has meant less pettiness and more nobility; it has meant less quackery and more sound ideas; it has meant less bigotry and more religion; it has meant less snobbery and more culture; it has meant less garish hues and more color; it has meant less stagnation and more live interest; less pretense and more service.—Burton L. French, Moscow, Idaho, in the Rotarian Magazine.

JACK MINER CONGRATULATED

Jack Miner, the Canadian naturalist, who was on the broadcast in connection with the Jubilee of His Majesty King George on May 6th is still receiving letters from every part of the globe, in congratulation. Over eight thousand letters, telegrams, phone messages from most parts of the British Isles and the United States have come to Kingsville.

That is proof of the work Jack Miner has done. Canada is greatly blessed in having a man of such character as a citizen, and the birds and animals of this and other lands through him have found tens of thousands of new friends.

Miner recently said: "Three more people will come to Canada or any spot to see live attractions than they will to see dead specimens. The Miner name sanctuary was called by a Parliamentarian recently Canada's greatest single attraction. Plans are being made to have the public perpetuate the famous spot so that when Jack Miner has passed, the place will stand as an international park and be a shrine for tourists and a living monument to Jack Miner.

HAVE FAITH

Canst thou take the barren soil,
And with all thy pains and toil,
Make lilies blow?
Thou canst not! O helpless man,
Have faith in God. He can!

Canst thou still thy troubled heart,
And make all cares and doubt depart
From out thy soul?
Thou canst not! O faithless man,
Have faith in God. He can!

A NOVEL FEATURE OF THIS GENERAL ELECTION is the fact that there are very few party papers left to sound the usual partisan battle cry as the campaign progresses. Modern newspapers are rapidly getting away from that political partizanship which can see no good in one party and nothing but evil in the other.

There are fewer newspapers now than there were a few years ago but we venture to say they are better newspapers —the survival of the fittest.

DID YOU EVER SEE A CANDY DOG WALK, RUN, LEAP, BARK, ETC.? Well we did. There is a police dog which makes the rounds of the Front street stores which sell candy every morning and picks up candy which has fallen to the floor from the candy counters, if any. If there is a scarcity of fallen candy, he begs, and generally gets his candy. A new store was opened recently with large candy counters and the candy dog speedily added this store to his calling list. So, if you see a large fox-colored dog unashed, trotting in and out of Front street stores, you may know that this is the candy dog aforementioned.

BUILDERS OF BELLEVILLE can add another brick to their community edifice structure by purchasing an advance book of tickets for Belleville Fair—now being sold five admission tickets for one dollar.

GILL FRENCH, GOVERNOR OF THE COUNTY GAOL, is certainly making a record for the improvement of the surroundings of this grim grey Bastile. Flowers grow in luxuriant profusion around the walls on all sides and the boarders in Castle French delight in working among the buildings with lawnmowers and gardening tools turning ugliness into beauty. Whatever the inside may be like the outside of the County Gaol is a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

OUR DALLAS, TEXAS, CORRESPONDENT, has again responded to the call and forwarded copy for a Sidelight column to appear shortly. Some of the Sidelight Family enjoying life to the full in northern Hastings have not yet been heard from and there is a suspicion that the laziness or inertia or lassies faire, or what have you of the Great Open Spaces has temporarily paralyzed their will to write, and the memoirs are being saved for future presentation. However, it should not be forgotten that the Great Family Journal must come out every day but Sunday and legal holidays, and a better paper can be published for all readers with the assistance of this outside membership, so don't be afraid to print your pet peeve or your best jokes, or things UNUSUAL coming under your notice. The regular news hounds will gather up the USUAL happenings—as usual.

COPPER CLIFF WEATHER PROPHET STATES that August will be a hot month. Very hot days, but cool nights. For the latter we thank him and hope that his prophesing will not be without profit.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT

by

T. E. LAWRENCE

Wodhaiba, sensible beast, had refused to enter the morass, but she stood at a loss on the hard margin and looked soberly at my misdoing. However, I managed, with the still-bald head-stall, to persuade her a little nearer. Then I flung my body suddenly backward against the squelching quag, and, grabbing wildly behind my head, laid hold of her fetlock. She was frightened, and started back, and her purchase dragged me clear. We crawled farther down and lay as a sate place, and there crossed, after I had ineffectually sat in the stream and washed off the weight of sticking clay.

Shiveringly I mounted again. We went over the ridge and down to the base of the shapely cone, whose natural crown was the last relic of the old castle of Moumelle, very very noble against the night-sky. The chalk was hard, and it was snowing hard. Soon I felt a root deep each side of the spiral path which wound up the hill. The white low snow disappeared under my naked feet as we neared the gate, where, to make a steep entry, I climbed into the saddle. Then I remembered, since only by turning myself sideways along her neck did I avoid the voussoirs of the arch as she crashed underneath. It was a terror of this strange place.

I knew that Sherif Abd el Mahi should be still at Shobak, so rode boldly up the silent street to the citadel and starlight, which played with the white icicles and their underlying shadows among the rocks and snowy roots and ground. The moonlight, reflected from the snowledge hidden beneath a thick covering of snow; but I had no care of it. Having reached the door of my goal, and having so powdery a blanket to fall on, it was always always I called out the salutation of a fair night, and after a minute, a husky voice protested at the door through the thick sacking which muffled it. I asked for the Sherif's house on my right. I asked for Abd el Mayein, and was told that the Government house, which lay at the further end of the old castle's enceinte.

Arrived there, I called again. A door was flung open, and a cloud of smoky light streamed recklessly into the darkness, with more, through which black faces peered to know who I was. I called them Government, and hoped that I was come to eat a sheep with the master, upon which those slaves ran out, noisy with astonishment, and relieved me of Wodhaiba, whom they led into the reeking stable where themselves lived. One little one with a flaming eye on the stone outside-stairs to the house door, and between more servants, hesitatingly, while I stripped off my things and hung them to steam before the fire, which became less smarting to the eyes and throat when I sank down to cool. Meanwhile, Abd el Mayein clapped his hands for supper to be prepared, and his messengers fled in Harith, slang, so named from the Government Harith (or village) hot and spiced and often, till the mutton, boiled with raisins in much butter, fell to pieces.

He explained, with his blessings on the dish, that next day they would march down to the sea, and here two hundred men, and no food for supper, and his messengers to Feisal were held up in the snow. Whereat I, too, clapped hands, congratulating myself, and also presented him with five hundred pounds from the sacks of their

HOW TO MAKE ICED TEA

Infuse the heaping teaspoon of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh boiling water. After 3 minutes strain liquid into two-pint container. While hot, add 1 tbsp. of granulated sugar and 3 of 4 lemons. Stir well and when sugar is dissolved, fill container with cold water. Do not squeeze lemons before adding to the cold water, otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chopped ice.

VARIED PROGRAM BY YOUNG PEOPLE

3rd Sidney—The morning service at Allen's was in charge of the pastor Rev. R. B. Johnson. He chose as his text "There shall be a new Heaven and a New Earth," and the sermon contained many thoughts on subjects confronting the thinking church member of today.

A very inspiring service was held at Alexa on Sunday evening under the auspices of the Women's Association. Due to the efforts of the president, Miss Aletha Parry, a group of Young People from Evangel Hall, Y. P. S. Trenton, presented a varied program. Miss Parry introduced the group and the chairman for the evening Mr. Arthur Snider then took charge of the service. Miss Lucy Tucker read the Scripture and Miss Eleanor Baker gave a splendid reading "What do You Read?" Mr. Leonard Brooks gave two pleasing numbers on the Harmonica, and a guitar solo, Mr. Chas. Cunningham was the speaker of the evening. His subject was "Choice". The enthusiasm of this young man and the zeal for his Christian work was an inspiration to all those privileged to hear him. Mr. Snider sang with much feeling "What Will You Do With Jesus". Miss Mary Haslett, the pianist, helped to make the evening helpful to all present, and it is to be hoped this group of Young People will come to us again in the near future.

About seventy-five Gilead friends motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Boldrick of Tweed, to honor the newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Boldrick, (nee Grace Jones), who recently returned from their honeymoon.

The following address was read by Greta Huffman:

"Dear Grace and Gordon,—

"It is with great pleasure that we your Gilead friends have come back here tonight to assemble you on this the beginning of your united voyage on the sea of matried life.

"The voyage of life is uncertain but we do hope that yours may be full of health, wealth and happiness united with love and trust in each other.

"As you, Gordon, have grown up among us we are glad to know that you have found for your life partner one who is so highly esteemed by you. Grace, we extend a glad hand of welcome to you also for we are not personally acquainted with you as we are with Gilead but we pass on our friendship will increase.

"We ask you to please accept this token from Gilead friends as a token of our regard for you both. We hope you will enjoy using it and that it will prove of real service as well as pleasure to you. Signed on behalf of "(Signed)—Verna Huffman, Greta Huffman."

Mr. Jones thanked them for the lovely gift, after which lunch was served, and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Duet Grace and Gordon—

"We, your friends and associates, have gathered here this evening to show you how we wish you a happy voyage on the sea of matrimony. Your boat was provided for you with a happy scent pass without spending any anxious moments. We extend to you our very best wishes for a happy and prosperous wedded life in your new home.

"We are glad that you are not leaving our neighborhood and we hope to see you often.

"Along with our heartiest congratulations we wish for you all the good things life has to offer, health, happiness and prosperity.

As mere words fail to express our sentiments at this time we ask you to accept these gifts with sincere pleasure, which we may gladly endow you with his choicest blessings, and trust that they may be a constant token of your many friends in this community.

"On behalf of Bethel Young People—Nellie Irvin, Angus Webb."

The groom thanked the donors for their gifts and invited them to visit them. "For They are Jolly Good Fellows" was sung. Lunch was then served by the ladies after which dancing was enjoyed till we hours of the morning.

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE BELLE

"Carry Top" ,

Singing Cowgirl Rose Hobart, Shirley Temple In Her Happy, Tuneful Treat

Shirley Temple seems to have no limit to her resources for winning and holding audiences. In one picture she dances, in another she sings; in some pictures she tugs at the heart strings of her audience, and in still others she sends them home roaring at her comedy antics. But her newest starring picture, "Curly Top," which comes to the Belle tomorrow (Saturday) for three days, matinee daily, combines all of Shirley Temple's many talents and adds still another, Shirley sings, dances, laughs.... and plays cupid in bringing sweethearts together.

Mr. Millionaire's Fever

"Curly Top" opens with scenes in an orphanage where Shirley is the irrepressible ring-leader, forever getting into trouble and forever laughing herself out of it.

John Boles, the millionaire, patron of the orphanage, adopts the child, who has won his heart with her gaiety and wholesomeness. But he also has to adopt her pet pony, her duck and her lovely grown sister, Rochelle Hudson, in the bargain.

The ensuing scenes of the film show quite a romance grown up between John Boles and Miss Hudson and reaches its happy climax. And, when rifts or misunderstandings threaten, it's always Shirley who heals the breach.

Five Sparkling Songs

Five sparkling tunes, all with music by the versatile Ray Henderson, were especially written for Shirley and the other members of the cast. Topping them are, "When I Grow Up", "The Simple Things In Life" and Shirley's own tune "Animal Crackers In My Soup."

Jane Darwell and Esther Dale are prominent in the supporting cast of "Curly Top" in which p.m.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Capt. Hurricane"

Quaint Laugh-Provoking Comedy of Cape Cod Folk — And a Mystery Shocker at Capitol Now

Brought to the screen for the first time are the people who live on Cape Cod. "Capt. Hurricane" is the story of a ne'er-do-well old salt, a mountain of his beard, a beautiful lass whom three old sea-dogs have rescued from a wreck and the scene of a thrilling storm.

Roaring laughs and humor abound in this comedy that takes place among the colorful characters of the Cape before and after this rescue.

James Barton plays the name role and is ably supported by Helen Westley, Helen Mack and Gene Lockhart.

"Mark of the Vampire" is the super-thriller that shares honors with the movie production on the screen of the Capitol. Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and directed by Tod Browning, who is responsible for most of the mysteries parts he child, who has won his heart with her gaiety and wholesomeness. But he also has to adopt her pet pony, her duck and her lovely grown sister, Rochelle Hudson, in the bargain.

The ensuing scenes of the film show quite a romance grown up between John Boles and Miss Hudson and reaches its happy climax. And, when rifts or misunderstandings threaten, it's always Shirley who heals the breach.

"Mark of the Vampire" was written by Guy Endore-Finch, and is a "Mere wolf of Paris" and narrates grown, murder of a detective by ferreting out a vampire horde, in so doing he uncovers one of the strangest murder plots in criminal literature.

Bela Lugosi, creator of "Dracula" has another such role and plays it with all his horrific abandon.

Elizabeth Allan, Lionel Atwill and Leila Bennett also are prominently cast in this exciting and blood-chilling drama.

A Fun Newsreel showing the latest events of interest from all parts of the universe completes the bill.

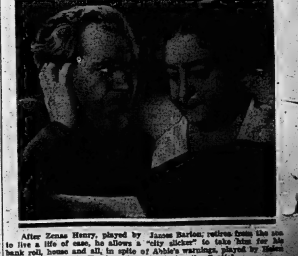
PRACTICE



Practice makes perfect but not always. For instants if you have a violition he is perfect serf-torer and make the mistake of practicing without ever taking your head out of the water, your only chance of ever swimming perfect in case you're a fish in your next reincarnation, the only consolation being that you wont have to wait long to find out.

The most necessary thing to have for practice is patience. It would be impossible to sit at a piano and practice scales and things for a hour without stopping unless your mother has the patience to keep sounding you when you was supose to be doing and unless the rest of your family had the patience coot to come down and push you off of the piano stool.

Even doctors would have to stop practicing if they ran out of patients. (John)

Some things need more practice than others to get perfect in, such as standing on your hands and doing mental arithmetic and eating best salad without getting a mark on the tablecloth, while some dont hardly need any practice, such as keeping alive by breathing, being such a cinch that most people can do it in their sleep. On the other hand some things couldn't be done even with all the practice in the world, such as learning to go to bed with a clear conscience against your will before you're sleepy.

People who spend their life practicing singing things such as bad dancing and whistling through their fingers will probably never be rich but they will always be entertaining and may get more invitations to parties than people who spend their life practicing useful things such as manicurist their finger nales and taking clocks apart.

After Zenas Henry, played by James Barton, retires from the sea to live a life of ease, he allows a "city slicker" to talk him into a bank roll, business and all, in spite of Abbie's warnings, played by Helen Westley, in "Capt. Hurricane" now p laying the Capitol.

FINANCIAL MARKETS
NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 8—(CP)—Disillusionment stalked up vigorously today on the Toronto industrial market facing the buoyancy on the New York Stock Board and one of the advances were retained. All the interested shares sold better and the final closing price level over the board was up for the day. Walkers common advanced about 1 1-2 to around 99 3-8 and Distillers-Seagrams closing around 94, had a gain of about 3-4.

Hauled along by the New York market, industrial sharp listings moved into higher ground today with liquor stocks well out in front. Gains up to nearly two points were registered by the distillery group. Walkers common selling at 99 3-4 and Distillers Seagrams above the 94 mark. The more pronounced of the listed shares ruled higher, including oils and metals.

Brazilian was the only important weak spot on the board, selling to 6 7-8, a new low for the year. Rest of Canada was mildly heavy at 54 1-2, off 1-2 on smaller volume than in Thursday's market; and the older base metals were firm.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 9—(CP)—A little life was infused into the copper and silver shares when the stocks turned strong on the New York Stock Exchange today although the general performance of the Toronto Mining Board was disappointing. Narrow price recessions ran through the gold group and early losses in the base metals were not entirely made up in the last-hour flurry.

The Hollinger market was about as dead as the proverbial door nail today and appeared slower than it usually was because of the fact trading on the New York and Toronto industrial boards.

Golds showed more losses than gains this afternoon but premier price ruled also in the silver and base metal shares.

Pioneer and Hollinger had modest gains this afternoon but Bralorne, Dome, Wright Hargreaves and McIntyre were weaker. Base Metals Corporation dropped 4 to 56 and Noranda, after a rally, slipped moderately. In the silvers Beaver, Kerr Addison and Treasury were off and Bear up two to three cents. Chemical Research lost 7 to 1.05.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, Aug. 8—(CP)—Virtually all groups of stocks joined in a fast forward push in today's market. Merchandising issues led the upcraft, and even the recently hesitant rails and utilities shared in accelerated gains of fractions to more than two points as the closing bell for the year or longer were in evidence.

Among the more active advances were those of Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Gas, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Unified Aircraft, Lima, Baldwin Locomotive preferred, Johns-Manville and Consolidated Oil. The last item was strong. Transfers approximated 2,000,000 shares.

WALL STREET FINANCIAL

New York, Aug. 9 (AP)—Failure to rally only occasionally, stocks rumbled their drowsy way in an inactive market.

Slim profit taking here and there was virtually ignored and buyers were in the majority from the start.

Some and McIntyre were fractionally higher. Canadian stocks while International Nickel and Canadian Pacific ruled virtually unchanged. On the Curb Standard Oil of Kentucky more than a point. Montreal funds were pretty of a coin higher at 99.96 7-8 cents. Unit 6s of '55 for the year or longer were registered by the more active shares. Among fainers of fractions to 2 points or more were Chrysler, General Motors, Auburn, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, North American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Gas, Pacific Service of New Jersey preferred, Pacific Gas, Pacific G.E., Pacific Telephone, Douglas Aircraft, Bethlehem, General Electric, United Chemical, Westinghouse, Dupont, Johns-Manville, Murray Corp, American Woolen preferred, Commonwealth and Southern, Douglas Shawinigan, Air Reduction and Bendix. The oils were moderately improved.

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Private Wire.

Outlook For Copper Prices Brighter

We may now assume that the copper market has entered a normal course again and, if nothing is done to interfere with the present situation, we may look for a steady if slow increase in price and consumption," says Brandeis, Goldschmidt and Co. Ltd., in their weekly market report. "The present price is no inducement to new production and a full level it does not pay to open up mines now closed down. Aluminum, which had taken a good deal of the copper trade when prices were high, is now being replaced again by the red metal."

The local market continues to give a fairly good account of itself, although the majority of advances are not of very great proportions. Moreover, Debentures are currently selling fractionally above their call price, indicating the high regard held for their yield, and a moderate revival of interest in the Canadian utility issues has been noted.

In view of the excellent earnings being experienced by Canada Northern Power, the moderate increase in the dividend is looked for in some quarters. It is expected that the rate will be raised to $1.40 per annum before the end of this year, and this would appear to explain the recent rise in the issue to a new high level.

Hiram Walker still depends in great measure for its future success on its Canadian trade. The firm has built the world's most modern and largest distillery at Peoria, Ill., but recently had a reverse in a fire which destroyed its number three rack warehouse. The estimated damage of about $2.5 millions. As there is some doubt whether the builders of the building premium exceeded the fire, the question of insurance has not yet been decided. It will not prevent the company making the most of its opportunities in the U.S. in the whole 4 million gallons in that warehouse can be matured in from 3 to 3 months. It happened to be the youngest whisky that was stored and it has just completed another rack warehouse so that its actual holdings should be unchanged. Nevertheless, it was a regrettable loss.

KIDNAPPING CASE AT LONDON TAKES ON STRANGE ANGLE

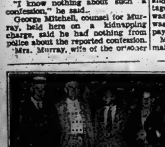
No Confession

Toronto, Aug. 9—(CP)—An attempt to confirm a Cincinnati report that Kingston Murray, under indictment for the kidnapping of John S. Labatt, and David Meisner, serving a 15-year sentence for the crime, were likely to be freed because of someone's "confession" was unsuccessful here today.



Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck would not comment on a statement made by Mrs. Murray, wife of "Pinnole Pete" Murray, charged with the abduction.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 9.—(CP)—Crown Attorney Norman W. Newton today described as "feverish" a report a confession in the Labatt kidnapping case had cleared Kingston F. Murray and David Meisner and they might be released.

"I know nothing about such a confession," he said.

George Mitchell, counsel for Murray, held here on a kidnapping charge, said he had nothing from police about the reported confession.

Mrs. Murray, wife of the convicted

THE MOST POPULAR "MUTT"

In a recent Mutt contest held at the Toronto Exhibition, the Toronto "Crown and Sword Sports Club," "Rosie", owned by Wilfred Chapman, was voted the most popular mutt by the thousands of people who attended this event. There were ten different classes of dogs—dogs with the most breeds, the biggest ears, the smallest dog, the largest dog, etc. In the above picture reading from left to right, are: Mr. McDermott of London, England, Mr. C. C. Clifford of The Canada Starch Company Limited, Mr. Lambert Powell, Master Wilfred Chapman (Member No. 9853 of the Crown and Sword Sports Club), Mr. Harry "Red" Foster (Club Director); Dr. Alan Secord and Mr. Fred Coles.

here, said at Cincinnati she had heard a confession by Constable might lead to the release of her husband and Meisner.

"Mrs. Murray certainly didn't get the information from me," Mr. Mitchell said. "She wrote recently to ask for anything new and I told her nothing like that."

Police quarters declined to the statement of Murray's wife at Cincinnati, and said, nothing.

It was understood, however, that developments might be expected in the case since Michael McCardell pleaded guilty to a kidnapping charge in court a week ago today. Arrested at Crown Point, Ind., McCardell waived extradition and appeared even the prosecution with his pleas of guilty on his first court appearance.

May Absolve Pair

Friends of Murray, held in jail here, and Meisner, serving a 15-year sentence in Kingston Penitentiary were quick to assert that any confession by McCardell would absolve Murray and Meisner of blame. But police and Crown Attorney Norman W. Newton, special prosecutor, have been silent on this point.

At his trial here, Meisner, arrested at Covington, Ky., was identified by Edgar Labatt, wealthy London brewer as one of the band of three that stopped his automobile near the city last summer, bundled him into another machine and stashed him in a summer cottage in Muskoka district, where he was held for $150,000 ransom. He was released two days later without payment of the ransom.

Meisner went to prison steadfastly maintaining his innocence. Although he did not take the witness stand in his own defence at the trial said, will you sell her, or something to that effect." Well, the sight of that five hundred dollar bill shot the works as far as my trip went.

He immediately took possession and sailed out of the harbor that afternoon, but in the meantime Dad had made sure the bill was a good one by taking it to the bank.

I have the certificate of the enrollment of the Gracie in the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club, dated July 15, 1878, and signed by S. T. Greene, measurer, and Richard Bell, secretary.

I am writing this near the shore of the Bay of Quinte past which I sailed many, many times in the Gracie, many, many years ago.

Ed. J. Roy.

TURNS OVER THREE TIMES

Collingwood, Ont., Aug. 9.—(CP)—J. R. Davis, 19, and his companion Beatrice Parry, both of Toronto, had a narrow escape from death when their car turned over three times here last night. They suffered only cuts and bruises.

John Taylor, Minneapolis, driver of the second car which collided with Davis' auto was not injured.

Letters to the Editor

The Ontario Intelligencer,
Belleville, Ont.

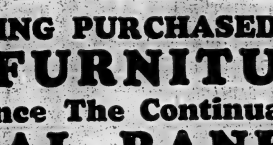
Dear Sir:

Was I surprised to read in your "Looking Backward" column of Aug. 2nd issue, that it is just fifty years ago August 1st that the yacht Gracie was sold; and it certainly brings back memories as though it were yesterday.

I very well remember that day, Lt., Ira Gordon, on Shoreberry's ways, which were located on the near end of the Bath Pier, and your lovely Victoria Park. They would have been about opposite the Yacht Club building, and the shore end of the ways the "shanty-men" looking after the logs for Gilmour's, Rathburn's, Bock's, Langhan's, and Bronson's mills, and had their eating and sleeping quarters, and many the dough-nuts and rice pudding we kids were treated to.

As I recall, the Gracie was receiving some smoothing up touches for the season and again for the L.Y.R.A. races, and Billy Hassell and Eling Rogers and others were putting all they had into the polishing so she would be as smooth as a "cigar's heel".

But I have not told you the sad part yet, I, although only a kid (I am not saying how old because a little mathematics would give me away) was the mascot of the boys around the race circuit, which usually took about two weeks. Well, this is what happened—A small, but very well furnished tug, the Alex Tisdale used to build at that time, only longer) was moored in the harbor from the bay, and beside the man rowing there was a uniformed English looking gentleman seated in the stern. They looked like the Corsair; never said anything but walked around and at last asked who owned the yacht. He was told, Mr. Roy; and he immediately asked if the boat was for sale. He was told that they were getting ready for the Circuit Races, but the gentleman said he would like to look her over and so went inside and with a pocket knife tried all the ribs and planking and then outside the same. Evidently he was satisfied, for he pulled out a roll of bills large enough to—well, I forget. But what they said at the time, but they were all five hundred dollar bills. He peeled one off and said, will you sell her, or something to that effect." Well, the sight of that five hundred dollar bill shot the works as far as my trip went.



He immediately took possession and sailed out of the harbor that afternoon, but in the meantime Dad had made sure the bill was a good one by taking it to the bank.

I have the certificate of the enrollment of the Gracie in the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club, dated July 15, 1878, and signed by S. T. Greene, measurer, and Richard Bell, secretary.

I am writing this near the shore of the Bay of Quinte past which I sailed many, many times in the Gracie, many, many years ago.

Sincerely yours,

Ed. J. Roy.

COUNT VINCI

Following his recall July 21, Count Vinci, Italian minister to Addis Ababa, has been ordered returned to his post. He has not yet received a reply from Haili Selissaie to his protest against a vigorous speech delivered by the emperor,

Probably Sturgeon Sunning Self But Boys Thought It Was a Whale

When James (Boo) Farrell in company with other youthful fishermen in his punt on the Bay of Quinte first saw the splash, and shortly after the weaving fin of some strange and unknown denizen of the deep clearing its way just below the surface of the water yesterday afternoon, he put it down at first to the belief that his eyes were playing tricks. But when his slightly trembling forefinger at the end of a wavering arm commenced to follow that part of the fin and occasional section of tail which appeared above water, he was convinced, in spite of himself, that all the stories he had ever read of whales were true, and that at last they had come right into the Bay of Quinte to gobble little boys up. That's a whale," finally gasped Jimmy as his eyes became more accustomed to the sight. "It's a—a—a— It's a real whale; one of those big ones."

Splash! came a resounding thump in the water as the dark green creature flipped an agile flipper, sending cascades of water flying into the air, and turning slowly in the water, exposing part of its belly.

Not Interested In Catch

Several bass had bitten the hook of the young fishermen some time before this and had been safely landed in the boat. But the fish, which still cluttered the bottom of the punt were forgotten. All eyes were on the strange sight of a whale, a really big whale, disporting himself in the water before their eyes. And land looked so far away.

"Oh, boy, what'll we do," came the trembling accent of one of the party whose name was just not remembered in the excitement of the" occasion. "Let's get out of here," urged cooler counsel of a second youth, always scrambling for oars. Three other small boys stood agape, too petrified to move.

But youthful apprehension was soon relieved. With a mighty dive, the whale, as afterwards declared to be a playful snort, that (which they had seen and still did not believe, disappeared beneath the surface of the bay. Only the widening ripples in the bay traced the spot where it had gone. Fear and dismay turned to blank looks of enquiry on the faces of the boys.

Later Jimmy recounted in part the story.

"What was it? I dunno, It didn't seem to pay any attention to us. It cent picture.

ETHIOPIA SENDS SECRET MISSION TO JAPAN CAPITAL

Britain through its legation recommended only women and children be evacuated.

The British representatives also completed plans for concentration of British subjects living in the interior of the Empire at ten selected points in the event the internal situation should become serious. It was estimated 160 persons were affected throughout Ethiopia, including Danes and Swedes.

Hundreds of Ethiopian women aristocrats, inciting several princesses, held another patriotic demonstration last night.

U. S. Takes Interest

London, Aug. 9 (AP)—Published reports of attempts to discuss the United States is taking an active interest in the Italo-Ethiopian controversy preceded Anthony Eden's return to London today to make final preparations for tri-power conversations.

British press reports said James W. Gerard, former United States Ambassador to Germany, was hastening to Rome at the request of the United States Government to talk over the situation with Premier Mussolini.

(State Department officials at Washington said they were not acquainted with any order sending Gerard to Rome as an official representative to discuss the Italo-Ethiopian situation).

Although British Government circles were looking forward to the Paris talks with gloomy foreboding they indicated recognition of issue should be decided once and for all at these talks, leaving nothing undone before the League of Nations Council meeting in September.

Use as Troop Ships

After the disclosure that two Canadian and three German ships passed recently in Italian ownership, the Herald and Mail said these old vessels were not going to the ships breakers as was intended but have been insured for service in the Mediterranean and the Red Sea.

The Mail said Italy has spent $2,500,000 on ships for conversation into troop transports in recent months.

The latest purchases were the Canadian Pacific liners Melita and Minnedosa of 15,000 tons each and the North German Lloyd ships, Sierra Cordoba, Sierra Vasiana, 11,000 tons each, and the Werra, 9,000 tons. Three British liners and one Danish ship were reported to have been bought earlier.

HON. DR. FAULKNER TO PROBE REPORT

Will Inquire Into Woman's Claims To Cure Cancer

Toronto, August 9.—(CP)—Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health, today directed the special department committee concerned with cancer to inquire into the cure claims of Miss Rene Caise of Strasbourg.

Miss Caisse's claims were placed before the Minister and Deputy Minister, Dr. H. M. McGibb, by a deputation from that district headed by Frank Kelly, Mayor of Huntsville.

It was pointed out in the conference the woman had advanced a cancer cure some three years ago and recently she apparently cured a man. The committee asked Miss Caisse be permitted to treat patients.

RUST RESISTANT SEED WHEAT DISTRIBUTED

OTTAWA, Aug. 9 (CP)—Distribution of seed of rust resistant wheats in two to four bushel quantities to farmers may be made in the spring of 1937, it is announced here by L. S. Newman, specialist for the Dominion Experimental farms.

The Department of Agriculture plans to prevent exploitation of the seed of the new strains by retaining control of distribution through the cereal division until sufficient seed has been produced to permit reasonably wide distribution.

Twenty years research has behind the wheat strains which are expected to be distributed.

ON WAY TO INSPECT CAMP

Toronto Aug. 9 (CP)—Premier Hepburn, accompanied by Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health, left today for Lake Couchiching where an inspection will be made of the Ontario Athletic Commission's camp. The Premier said the sole purpose of the trip was to inspect the camp. It is stated the department is considering the question of closing the camp as an economy measure.

WORKERS PONDER ON NEXT MOVE

Premier Declines to Withdraw Authority to Sell Beer

Toronto, Aug. 9—(CP)— Ontario temperance forces, repulsed in an encounter with Premier Hepburn over withdrawal of beer and wine licenses in counties of Simcoe, Peel and Perth, today pondered their next avenue of attack.

A joint prohibition delegation from the three areas, headed by Dr. A. J. Irwin, Secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation, yesterday heard the Premier, in no uncertain terms, decline to withdraw the beverage room authorities for hotels and clubs or the districts.

The delegation felt withdrawal of the licenses should follow the recent ruling of the Supreme Court, that the Canada Temperance act superseded the Ontario Liquor Control Act in the three counties named.

Premier Hepburn declared, however, even if the privy council to which an appeal is being made upholds the legality of the Canada Temperance Act, the Ontario Government will make no effort to enforce the act in those districts.

Further, Mr. Hepburn said, temperary authorities will be issued to holders in the counties affected if no judgment is handed down before expiration of present authority.

He suggested if the people in those areas did not want beer and wine sold in beverage rooms, a plebiscite be taken.

WITNESS CALLED LIAR AT PROBE

Patient For Five Years at Hospital Has No Complaints

New Toronto, Aug. 9—(CP)—Royal Commissioner W. J. Common, K.C., continued today his probe of the internal activities of the Ontario Hospital for mental cases after hearing a diversity of charges and one witness branded a liar during the investigation.

Late night as S. J. Stuchell former attendant, continued his string of allegations from the witness stand, he was interrupted with the shout "you're a liar!" The interruption was made by attendant Alex Arling. Stuchell asked for protection, asserting Arding had tried to assult him during a recess of the hearing. He was refused protection and ordered to stay in the room, where he would not be subjected to physical attack.

So far Stuchell has been the main figure in the probe. He accused Dr. R. J. McKay, Hospital Superintendent, of trying to have evidence hushed up and a former supervisor and an ex-nurse with beating a patient.

In regard to the latter allegation he testified a tubercular patient's death was hastened by a beating given him by the supervisor and his nurse with a screwdriver, when he complained of the manner a plaster was being removed from a boil on his neck. Both women entered categorical denials to the charge.

Patient Has No Complaints

Corroborating their assertion no cruelty was inflicted on inmates came John Andison, who is still a patient at the hospital. He said he had been there for five years and had no complaint to make. He was always treated kindly.

Andison, however, said he had been bothered by attendant Stanley McPherson for three months. "He fastened me in my room talking propaganda against the officials of the hospital," he declared. "He referred slightingly of the chief attendant and I not only reported this to Dr. McKay but I wrote out a report and sent it to Dr. T. B. McCabe, an official of the Provincial Health Department."

WANG CHING-WEI RESIGNS OFFICE

At Present Time is Premier And Foreign Minister

Nanking, Aug. 9 (AP)—Wang Ching-Wei, Nationalist Government Premier and Foreign Minister, resigned today because of illness.

Wang Chang-Wei, 50 years old is a celebrated Chinese Revolutionist and a veteran member of the Kuomintang, the party which brought the Nanking Government into existence after the overthrow of the Peiping Government.

He came into international prominence through an attempt to assassinate the Prince Regent, father of youthful Manchu Emperor, Heuan Tung. Wang was condemned to life imprisonment but was released after the 1911 outbreak of revolution.

Radios Cinch Playoff Berth Defeating Oshawa 6-2 Behind Five Hit Hurling by Williams

Second Time in Week Locals Came Through With Win

LISTLESS GAME

Johnnie Kerr Continues to Hit Apple, Getting 3 Out of 4

Behind five hit pitching by Jack Williams, the Belleville Elevator Warriors assured themselves of a play-off berth in the O.D.B.L. last evening, when the Radios downed the Oshawa Dominions' by the score of 6 to 2. Repeating his effort of three days ago, Williams bested the efforts of two Oshawa hurlers, when the locals blasted 'Doss' Opsden from the hillock in the sixth, only to have Maitby Matthews, Oshawa's veteran and stellar versatile utility-outfielder, ascend the hillock and finish the pastime as he buried no hit ball from that point. But his efforts were wasted as Williams proved himself master of the situation throughout.

Rapping Ogden for three big runs in the initial frame, the Radios gave Williams a substantial working margin that he took full advantage of. They never limited the visitors to five safe hits, including extra base hits by Matthews and Hurst, but was invincible from the third stanza forward. Williams allowed seven Oshawa batters back to the bench via the three strike route and failed to issue a single free passegy. Ogden struck out two in six frames and walked three, while Matthews also managed to register a single whiff, but walked one.

Fumbles Penalize

Besides hurling a masterful game Williams fielded his position perfectly as he threw four outs at the initial sack. Johnnie Kerr, in left field led the locals defensively with four nice running catches and a timely assist that nipped an Oshawa runner going into second. Green and Barclay also played stellar ball on the defense for the Williams. Johnnie kicked in with five chances without a bobble, while Green, Oshawa's junior, starred for the visitors, when he only made one misplay of ten chances that he was called upon to make. The Oshawa junior infielder covered plenty of ground and brought rounds of applause for his defensive play for the Dominions. The other junior, also played good defensive ball in left. Dalton also helped himself to a nice single. Hurst and Jubenville each hit triples for the visitors.

Johnnie Kerr continued his hitting streak by connecting for a double and two singles, elevating his total to eight out of eleven trips to the bat in the past week. Every other member of the Radios collected at least one single, except the battery; Williams and Barclay, with Barclay making a sacrifice and Radios offence with two perfect sacrifice hits each advanced. The runner that Barclay scored by perfection. The locals rapped Ogden for a total of seven hits in the first five innings, but failed to connect safely from the delivery of Matthews. The victory cut the second in three days for Williams over the Motor City crew, allowing them but ten scattered hits and two runs during the past 18 innings, or two full games.

The Belleville victory elevates the Radios into a play-off position, and only one-half game behind the second place Kingston Frontis. They appear in Belleville next Friday following a Belleville at Kingston game on Wednesday next.

HOARDINGS BROUGHT IN OLD CIGAR BOX

KITCHENER, Ont., Aug. 9. — (CP)—The hoardings of a Wilmot Township farmer, discovered following the death of Christian Bauer by Kitchener bank for exchange, were brought in by a wheat cigar box in which they were found. The savings, which totalled approximately $2,000, included bills from banks, which have long been out of existence, including the Metropolitan Bank, Bank of Hamilton, Molson's Bank, Sovereign Bank and Traders' Bank. There were also a number of old American bills from the old issue of the Bank of United States.

SINISTER SHADOW

by JOHN GOODWIN

CHAPTER XIV

They left their bicycles at the gate of the level crossing, turned left along the railway track and strode out hugging their left hand a mile to go. They had not covered half of it when two more figures turned through the gate and followed; Doctor Crisp and P. C. Willet.

Behind these at a respectful distance came three small boys from the village who had been loitering at the crossing, their curiosity excited by so unusual a spectacle as a doctor and a policeman hurrying along the track.

The day was fresh and fair after the night's storm, the air like wine, the sun shone warm. The ditches beside the permanent way still ran with small torrents. All nature was sparkling and dripping; miniature waterfalls ran over the steep sides of the cutting that bordered the line.

Far ahead, a little way short of the mine chimney a dark Thing lay, like a bundle of rags, close against the down-line metals.

"That's it," said Tod, and quickening their pace they came up on it.

"The Over-ner!" Tod peered at it for a moment, then turned his head away, his face went white and pulpy.

"Makes you feel sick—don't it?" he himself looked.

Sergeant Howe said nothing.

Dead men were nothing new to him, yet he had never seen anything quite like this. He looked at the body with thoughtful eyes, glanced up at the steep cliff overhead, and at the fence where the top strand of wire hung broken, then turned his gaze back to the dead man.

There it lay; all that was left on earth of Sandicote Lodge's King's Mine. An offense against the daylight.

The body lay face down, neck against the rails, just as it had fallen. So the dead man's costume was strangely incongruous. The old tweed hacking jacket, black dress vest, sodden with rain, tucked into brown riding-boots. The body inclined slightly on its left side—a patch of white dress shirt-front, crumpled and pulpy, was visible.

The right arm was doubled almost under him. A yard away on the same side lay a heavy metal-headed hunting-crop.

The wheel-flanges of a passing train had severed the head after it had fallen across the metals. The stones ballast and the wooden tie were only slightly darkened with blood; most of it had been washed away by last night's deluge of rain.

The left arm was extended, lying along the rough stone ballast, the hand, very white, was clenched. On the little finger the gold signet ring with the Crisp crest glinted in the sunlight; otherwise the whiteness of the hand was only marred by a tiny black smear of court-plaster, just above the middle joint. Sandicote's tweed cap, that he had assumed on leaving the house, had evidently not been displaced by the fall.

"This is the 'job starts,'" said Howe grimly.

He knelt by the body, and made a rapid but careful inspection.

"Awful, ain't it?" he muttered. West. He pointed up at the broken fence. "That's where he came down, anyway. Pitched off his head on his top wire, bounced on the top of the slope up there and shot over the edge on to the line. A fall like that would kill any man if the Ancient hadn't cut him up."

Doctor Crisp had already arrived, breathless; a stout little man with large whiskers, carrying a black bag. With him came P. C. Willet; the three small boys, with awed hush, crept up behind him, the rear, though they had already been warned off.

"Sergeant, this is terrible," panted Doctor Crisp, "Poor Sandicote—an end for him to come to. My patients—my wife—my friend. Strong, healthy man, should have lived another thirty years—attended him a fortnight ago for a slight chill—wanted him to lie up, but he laughed at me. And now!—Sergeant, we'd better get him off the line before another Scotsman comes."

"There's none due for half an hour!" said Howe, "an' before he's shifted, Doctor, I'd like you to examine him and tell me how long he's been dead. You can get that far, can't you?"

"Dead not less than ten hours; that's as near as I can fix it."

"Then he was last seen by me when he left home, we can fix the time of death within an hour as the outside; probably thirty minutes."

"I'll over, the edge up there, of course," said Doctor Crisp, and leaned just as you see him now. At that angle by the line, head just over the rear metals. Plenty of train wheels smashed his skull not long after he fell—I should say almost immediately after; difficult to be precise there that. Must have been several trains along since then; they wouldn't make much difference of course; one was plenty."

Sergeant Howe shook and bedviting the night express that passes here at 10.7 and is punctual enough to set a watch by, reached the bridge promptly. Two slow night goods-trains, and the morning express whose driver was the first to see the body and reported it. Now, Doctor, anything else you can tell me from your end?"

Crisp was making a closer examination.

"Um!" he said. "Ah! That's queer."

Three small boys had drawn near, their leader, a freckled youth with a fiery red head, stared open-mouthed.

"Crooks!" he said in hushed tones. "It's old Crooks!" Howe turned on them fiercely.

"Get of this, you boys! Off with you!" They retreated reluctantly, but halted and hovered in the background, while Howe turned to Crisp.

"There's a point I was charged up, Doctor, if it's possible. He fell on the line; the train passed over him. Did he die from the fall before it hit him. Am I right? Whatever killed him, it was not the train."

The Doctor shook his head.

"I don't know how you can tell, Sergeant. But you're right. The neck was broken by the fall. I can tell you that definitely. Third cervical vertebra fractured."

"Now, it would be possible for the neck to be broken by the shock of the wheel flanges on the inner side of the line striking the head, Fact that isn't what happened. In simple terms, his neck was broken before the train struck him, and the heart had stopped beating.

"Sure of that, sir?"

"Absolutely. You'll notice that there's not much extravasation of blood; nowhere near as much as there would be in the case of a living man suddenly decapitated. Had he been merely stunned by the fall, there would have been much more hemorrhage than actually occurred. There was very little bleeding. It is difficult to tell for there we've beaten it, but middle's there, which has washed away the strain through these loose stones that ballast the track. You see—"

"I've got that, Doctor. You put it clearly. Dead before the train struck by. How long before? Can you tell me what the interval was, as nearly as possible, between the fall that killed him and the passing of the train. Think, it over—that's important."

"Quite a short while," said the doctor, evidently thinking deeply as he replied. "Not possible to give it accurately, the rain storm beats me. I'll be able to answer more definitely at the inquest. But a few seconds even, after the heart had stopped there'd be comparatively little blood. Later there'd be still less."

"Say it was an hour afterwards: would there be any then?"

"Oh! of the greatest. The body would be cold by then."

"Well," said the Sergeant, "we can rule that out, for the night express passed at 10.7 and if he was here by ten that's the one without doubt."

The slow goods-train, switched on from the branch line, came by less than thirty minutes later. "We've got the times." He made a note, and turned suddenly to the boys who had followed him.

"No business here, Scat!"

The boys, terrified by the Sergeant's accent, gave it up and bolted, for good this time, disappearing into the distance. Howe continued:

"Bit of sticking-plaster over a cut on his hand, I want to know how he got that," said the Sergeant reflectively. "Scotts sodden with the rain, but unstained and none of that thumb-mark mud on the soles. Hadn't done any walking, exactly; have set his feet on the ground, I should say. Anything more you can tell me, Doctor?"

"No other injuries," said Crisp. "But the linen collar seems to be quite newly creased, has crumpled and torn."

"I'm noticing that," returned Howe. He stooped over the body, made a few careful measurements with a rule, then felt in the pockets, went to the gutter that ran close under the fence, and back to the line, then along to the mine, where you can see the distance-signal and let us know when the train's coming."

The Sergeant made a careful examination of the ground, with considerable way past the body and back.

"No tracks—no marks of any sort. Rain wouldn't be on this stone ballast anyway; especially with the wind behind it, the plot. Bad luck for me, that was. Good luck—for the other fellow—it's luck that don't last long, I'm sure."

"But surely the thing's plain enough?" said Crisp impatiently. "He's been riding along the slope up there to get down to the mine—and his horse shied when the lightning flashed. Or maybe a stumble. He was thrown; down he came over the edge. I've never seen a fatal accident that was easier to reconstruct."

"Accident!" said the Sergeant briefly. "No sir. Just plain murder."

Doctor Crisp looked at Howe with startling eyes.

"Murder!"

"I allow he'd never get away with it as manslaughter, not even with a country jury," said Howe. "Certainly not in the Assize Court.

"But who stands to gain anything by Mr. Cooke's death? There isn't anybody—except young Brian Chalmers."

"Just so. Looks like that is sticking out a mile, as Doctor! And yet, don't let's jump at conclusions till we've looked around a bit more. It's a mighty interesting case."

"I would like you also to get your camera body, Doctor, if you'll oblige me; we'll take a record before the train which West is signalling comes along and makes more trouble."

Doctor Crisp's hands were shaking as he took the black camera case out of his little bag; the mere murder had upset him, but he controlled himself with professional coolness and took careful snapshots of the body from four angles, under Sergeant Howe's directions.

"That'll do first," said Howe, and signing to P. C. Willet who had stood by watchful and silent throughout.

The two policemen lifted the body away from the line and laid it at the foot of the cutting behind the switch-wires. Howe kneeled and went through the pockets.

"Um! Thin gold watch, glass smashed by the fall, hour hand indicating three minutes past ten. That gives us the time he came over the top. Bunch of keys fastened to loose button with thin silver chain to trouser pocket. Nothing important keys that he couldn't be separated from even at dinner. Nothing else in the pockets but a thin gold match-box. Not a cent of money. Queer. Mr. Cook, I believe, was a man who never went anywhere without money in his pocket though he certainly left home last night in an uncommon hurry. Dress trousers with a slip picket—empty as his pockets, though a bit dirty with the wet. Doctor, is pretty wide and stretched, it's used to carrying something bulky. Not a flask should say—no. And if it was a flask, where is it now?"

"That's about all. Hand me your rain-coat, Doctor, if you don't mind." He draped the coat over the body, as the train approached with an ear-splitting whistle. "And both of you stand in front of it with me! we don't want fifty passengers gaping out of windows at a show like this; we aren't ready for publicity. Here's West coming back."

The express roared by, and Howe beckoned to the groom.

"I've a job for you Tod—you belong to the household. Keep watch over your master—and don't touch him—while I go aloft and see what's going on the other line. Willet, you slip back to the village, phone for an ambulance to take the body, then return here quick as you can. We have been a bit unlucky in company me if you like, an' take care nobody's hanging to that camera in your bag."

He trod along the line, and Doctor Crisp, who seemed anxious not to be left out of it, went with him a little way. They arrived under the mine-chimney, where there was a gully leading up from the rail-road track by a fairly easy path. The Sergeant made for it.

Howe went up the gully. He came round the stony track carefully, it was hopeless ground on which to search for tracks of any kind; even his own big boots made no impression on it. At the head of it was a tract of level ground where stood the tall chimney, an old mine dump, and a ruinous wooden shed.

He passed by these and made his way back to the wire fence on top of the cliff till he was abreast the spot where the body had been found. He was now forty feet above it. Here was a more difficult descent; a bare slop of hard turf, worn by the recent rain. He made a meticulous search on every side.

The stump round face was deeply troubled, stood by in silence.

"Here we are, Doctor," said Howe grimly. "They arrived just in time. A month's drought on hard soils like this and then the deluge—we don't get much. But see above hoof marks. They're spread, made for a long time out. Bannister Cooke's cob. Here he rode—didn't come at the gallop or the canter. Looks like he was on his way home.

"Now look at this. The only four hoof marks that's middlin' clear. Here the horse slopped short. Tore dug in hard; hind hoofs jammed back and slithered. Looks as if he'd shied. But what an! Did he shy? Look again."

TARZAN THE UNTAMED— (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

"With the Russian ballet I danced in France, Italy and the capital of south Europe after we left Moscow. It was a wonderful year of new scenes, excitement and near-happiness for me." Events of that year crowded time, the girl did not dwell further upon it. But what they had led up to what she wanted Roger to understand.

Every gala night the beautiful, raven-haired dancer appeared, she received an ovation for her success was as immediate as it was unprecedented. Being the public's latest idol, she was showered with jewels and rich gifts at the most exclusive portals of society gladly opened for her. There she became acquainted with famous men of many nationalities.

Diplomats, army officers and financial wizards delighted in her company. With these varied experiences she acquired a knowledge of several languages. Many sought her hand in marriage, lured by her fame, her charm and beauty. And always her glamour was enhanced by the mystery of her secret about her past. For the world at large did not know who she really was.

Because she never saw fit to divulge her past, there was much speculation which but served to increase the legends that sprang up about her. Throughout the years Tarzan's name and inherent good sense so that never a scandal touched her, and then, only rumors of international import would began to be whispered about the drawing rooms where often she appeared as guest-artist.

FORMER SUPERVISOR DENIES ALLEGATION

Mrs Helen Murray Says No Patient Bit Will Screw-Driver

New Toronto, Ont., Aug. 9—(CP) Mrs. Helen Murray, former supervisor, told Royal Commissioner W. B. Common, K.C., investigating alleged maladministration of the Ontario Hospital for mental patients, she had never had occasion to slap a patient and denied she had ever struck a patient with a screw-driver, as charged by a previous witness.

Mrs. Murray said she had not seen a screw-driver, chisel or any similar instrument at the time she worked at the institution.

"Did you leave the hospital of your own volition?"

"Yes" said Mrs. Murray.

"Were you punished or disciplined in any way while supervisor of the hospital?"

"No."

John McBrien, night supervisor, charged S. J. Stuchell, former attendant, whose charges were the basis for the Royal Commission inquiry with being intoxicated at the institution the night of July 4.

"Stuchell was under the influence of drink," McBrien testified, "he had quite an amount. He wasn't steady on his feet. He clenched his fists and spoke in a sarcastic and threatening tone. He had no business on the grounds."

Miss Catherine Scott, formerly a nurse at the hospital, said she had seen Mrs. Murray slap a patient on the shoulder but did not see her strike anyone with a screw-driver.

EXTRA HEAVY CROP OF GRAIN HARVESTED

West Huntingdon—Stook threshing is again in vogue.

Messrs. Nelson Shapley and Gold. die McInroy are in great demand, the extra heavy crop of grain making it necessary to handle considerable amount of threshing out of doors. The numerous hay and straw stacks are a fair indication that there will not be any shortage of feed this winter.

The Endeavor Class held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening in the Auditorium of the church. The meeting was partly attended by the entire community as Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Prescott of Lansdowne were invited to be present as the guests of the evening. The special feature of the program was the baptizing of infants by Rev. Trusscott. The infants were:—Geo. Richard Post, Albert Ray Hammond, Mary Doris Alda Elliott, Doris Pauline Donnan, Shirley Dawn Elliott, Donald Harry McCurdy.

Mr. Clifford Elliott President of the class called the meeting to order and briefly welcomed all the visitors and Mr. and Mrs. Trusscott and asked Mrs. Trusscott to preside over this very interesting program. Singing of a hymn and prayer by Mr. Philip Carr, Quartet composed of Messrs. Sandy McCurdy, Melville Reid, Hicroy Post and Melville Donnan gave an excellent selection: "Love Lifted Me". Mrs. Melville Donnan gave an inspiring address on subject of Mother. Rev. and Mrs. Trusscott gave a duet "Face to Face". Both Mr. and Mrs. Trusscott gave a short address expressing their great delight in being invited back to their former field of labor and also spoke of the Endeavor Class which they were instrumental in starting while stationed here. It surely was a great treat to hear again our former pastor and wife and their encouraging remarks will no doubt be a great help in this very active Sunday school class.

The president conducted the business period and a hearty vote of thanks was given to Mr. and Mrs. Trusscott for accepting the invitation and contributing so much to the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Trusscott spent a day or two in community visiting old friends and were entertained in the evening at Mr. Philip Carr's home.

Mrs. Effie Wilson and Arthur attended the Old Boys and Girls Re-union at Stockdale on Monday.

Miss Margaret Tuft of Zion's spent a few days with her aunt Mrs. Sandy McCurdy.

Mr. (Dr.) Moran of Buffalo has returned home after visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Gray. Miss Ruby Gray accompanied her home and will remain for a brief visit.

Messrs. Allan and Jimmie McCurdy of Lansdowne are spending with their cousin Mr. Alex McCurdy.

Mrs. Dr. O. W. Bates and Mrs. Ida Williams of Buffalo were calling on friends on Tuesday. Mrs. Bates was visiting some of the places where she spent her childhood days.

Mr. Philip Carr occupied the pulpit on the Rawdon Circuit on Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coaly and Bobbie of Campbellford were Sunday guests of Mrs. Sarah Purdy and Bobbie is staying over for part of his vacation.

Mr. William McMechan Sr. and Mr. Harrison McMechan of Madoc were recent guests of Arthur Wilson "Maple Farm".

The W. M. S. conducted the service in United Church on Sunday in an unusual manner in that they prepared the program and then requested some of the laymen of Church to officiate for them. Mr. Philip Carr was chairman and Arthur Wilson gave a talk on Missions and Mr. Melville Reid rendered a splendid solo.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pitman received word recently of the birth of James Edward Post, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Post of Los Angeles, California.

Mr. Ray Donnan is spending a short holiday at Mr. William Johnston of Zion.

Mrs. Geo. Reid entertained the W. M. S. on Thursday.

Mrs. Floyd Aheffield and Jean of Zion's are spending a few days with Mr. Jas. A. Wilson of Mill St.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Franklin, Pa., Aug. 10 (CP)—President—one minister golf course still in operation since the 1830 strain.

Franklin's course not only remains in operation but is well patronized. Residents claim it is the "oldest subsidized golf course in the world." It was built in 1830 at the height of the fad.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 10 (CP)—Chief of Police John Wahl posted the following notice on the police station bulletin board:

"Hereafter no other than the sergeant shall have access to the Sergeant's office.

"The rumpus room stole 85 from the Sergeant's office."

Hollywood, Aug. 10 (CP)—Jekel, the rhesus monkey which Dr. Ralph Willard reports he drove mad and then revived, escaped from his cage yesterday and fled into the basement of the film building. Dr. Willard arrived at the same time, and two police captured his energetic 30-pound charge and shooed him back to his laboratory.

New York, Aug. 10 (CP)—Cockfights and dog racing may soon be permitted for audiences in Madison Square Garden.

A campaign toward that objective was launched today by Mrs. Hugo B. Lagwarde's Musical Art Committee, the League of New York Orchestras and the Gardeners' Equity Association.

They plan to ask the Legislature and Board of Aldermen to amend present laws affecting the Garden.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 10 (CP)—Eight years ago F. F. Laurence and Mr. family left Interior China after participating in a massacre. They left belongings in a trunk, which the father brought to Seattle. The trunk has just arrived, its contents intact. Canoes ranging from one to 40 feet, molds carved from wood, and other articles contributed to the outfit.

Tamaqua, Nov. Aug. 10 (CP)—For 14 months Steady Canavan, veteran police dog, sat by the original Gilbert Mine and he came up finally with 15 tons of high grade coal. He and his owner received $150 to $200 paid a boss.

There was a dispute with the other night and every bit of the ore was put on Steady's car.

"He's lucky everywhere for it and can't find even a single chunk of high grade," concerned Canavan.

Mt. Ephraim, N.J., Aug. 10 (CP)—Unemployed owners of automobiles may have their cars taken back from the pound on their agreement to contribute two hours of each week toward defraying the township's parking signs and traffic lights in lieu of payment of the $1 fine.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 10 (CP)—Harry Larkin proved his skill as a fisherman by making a wooden lure from a broom handle while it was being loaded a few minutes later he had a bite on the hook. It was caught fast by the belly. He was casting with two partners on the bank.

Kitchener, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP) —The gas supplied by the city of Kitchener is "sweet enough to suit the hosts the hosts and heats the bath. It curbs whooping cough as well. At least it was said many parents swear by the gas as a whooping cough cure for their children.

Many parents have taken children afflicted with the cough to the gas plant to inhale the fumes as a cure.

Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP) —A bonus of $5 for "darning needle" was a source of annoyance in a newspaper office when many dozen were brought in today. ## DYNAMITING OF RAILWAY TRAIN INJURES THREE

Tangled Affairs of Coal Miners' Dispute Believed Cause

DERAIL LOCOMOTIVE

Right-of-Way Torn up And Traffic is Delayed

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 10 (AP) —Three men were injured, two seriously, when an Illinois Central freight train was dynamited three miles south of here early today.

The blast derailed the locomotive and ten of the 110 cars that the engine was pulling. The right-of-way was torn up, temporarily disrupting traffic.

Investigation officials said they believed the tangled affairs of the Illinois coal miners' dispute was behind the dynamiting. Members of the United Mine Workers of America and the Progressive Miners organization have been at "war" for several years.

Police and railroad authorities said they presumed the blast was intended to delay nightly train Chicago bound with a load of coal.

The injured were Fireman Westbrook, conductor, and Ira Pitzgerald, flagman, all of Centralia, hurt, and W. H. Hoff, engineer.

WHERE UNEMPLOYED BEING SENT

Many single unemployed men are now being taken off relief rolls and being sent to Ontario government camps, to trans-Canada, highway between Montreal and Manitoba. Above is one of the United Mine Workers of America, and the Progressive Miners organization have been at "war" for several years.

Police and railroad authorities said they presumed the blast was intended to delay nightly train Chicago bound with a load of coal.

The injured were Fireman Westbrook, conductor, and Ira Pitzgerald, flagman, all of Centralia, hurt, and W. H. Hoff, engineer.

PAID FOR TIP-OFF FIRE BUG STATES

Henri Rivest, Montreal, Admits Setting 11 Places Afire

Montreal, Aug. 10. — (CP) — A charge of arson has been laid by the Montreal detectives Bertin against Henri Rivest, 32,—whom detectives have identified as selling fire to 11 sheds in the north end of the city in the last few weeks. Rivest was to be arraigned later today.

The youth was arrested late yesterday by Chief Special Investigator Bertin, after he had given a two-hour pursuit through back lanes. Newman Bertin, the youth had made a statement in which he gave details of the incidents in which he set fires and admitted starting many more. The detectives said Rivest explained he was motivated by curiosity, insurance adjusters, who paid him as high as $3 for a quick "tip-off" on a fire.

DICTATORSHIP IN FRANCE PROBABLE

Providing Decrees of Premier Laval Not Accepted

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Paris, Aug. 10 (AP)—Premier Pierre Laval today was warning a dictatorship or France was not unlikely if present measures fail in their enforcement. He has proposed decrees which have already caused discord and bloodshed.

The warning was contained in his insistent demands for his unpopular decrees be accepted.

The fate of the regime and the life of the country are at stake, he told a gathering of all but one of the cabinet members during dictatorial powers himself, the Premier made the Provincial Governors share the responsibility for preventing the "dramatic situation."

Fears of further disorders over the Government's effort to find a way out of the depression through deflation subsided, however, as the investigating officials blamed a few professional agitators for the rioting at Toulon and Brest.

Writer Offers Self to be Frozen And Possibly Revived by Science

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 10 (AP) —Stephen Simkhovitch, 34, writer and scenarist, has signed a contract here in which he agreed to be frozen solid and possibly revived in the interest of medical science.

Dr. Ralph R. Willard, young Russian-born research chemist, who said he has been freezing and reviving guinea pigs, rabbits and monkeys over a six-year period and claims tuberculosis can be easily overcome through this treatment, agreed to conduct the human experiment.

Simkhovitch said he was prompted by a desire to "do something for humanity for a change" and to determine "if there is life after death."

He said he was a son of V. C. Simkhovitch, Professor of Economic History at Columbia University, and Mrs. Mary K. Simkovitch, head of Greenwich House in New York, widely known student of Sociology.

ALL EVIDENCE IN AT HOSPITAL PROBE

Not Likely to Announce Findings Within Two Months

New Toronto, Aug. 10—(CP)—Commissioner Hon. J. A. Common today began reviewing the evidence taken at the four-day inquiry into conditions and administration at the Ontario Hospital, Mimico. He will report on his findings sometime within the next two months.

Dr. R. J. Hartley, inspector of hospitals, testifying yesterday during the closing minutes of the Ontario government probe, said he did not believe the Mimico Hospital was understaffed as previous witnesses had charged.

Dr. H. A. McKay, superintendent, contradicted the evidence given by two former attendants at the hospital F. A. Bradshaw and S. J. Stuchell whose charges were the motive for the inquiry.

The superintendent said Braith waite had been dismissed from the hospital for inefficiency, for failing to look after patients properly, for using profane language and for calling the patients "pigs".

Stuchell, he said, had been suspended for drunkenness while on duty and later had been dismissed after an investigation by the Department of Health.

Dr. McKay said he could obtain no substitution of charges a patient's death had been hastened by the hospital's alleged inefficient handling of a screwdriver by a nurse.

Charges that patients were beaten, compelled to bathe simultaneously with others suffering from infectious diseases and given unclean linen to use as towels also were denied.

BRUCE JEMMETT PLEADS GUILTY

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 10—(CP)— Bruce G. Jemmett of the defunct brokerage firm of Jemmett and McCarthy today pleaded guilty in police court to unlawfully making a false statement to the Ontario Securities Commission. He was remanded until Aug. 16 for sentence.

His partner, Charles McCarthy, pleaded not guilty to a similar charge and his case proceeded.

David Ferguson Jackson, Solicitor for the Ontario securities commission, was called to the stand by T. J. Rigney, K.C., Crown Attorney, in prosecuting the charges against McCarthy.

TRAFFIC ON PORK LOWEST IN YEARS

Nature's Co-operation With Man-Made Plan Probable Reason

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP)—Nature's excesses co-operation with a man made plan for price raising was cited by meat authorities today in explaining the present position of pork in the food list.

While housewives dug deeper into their purses, half of the hog pens in the world's greatest swine market were closed because the traffic on porkers was at the lowest ebb in the 57 years for which records are available. It was reportedly the first time part of the facilities was closed because of a paucity of receipts.

Pork prices have lofted to levels unprecedented at the "boom" era. Retail purchasers paid in some instances four times as much for pork chops as a year ago. Packers paid above $13 for pork, the first time in years hogs had hit the $13 mark.

Causes of Rise

The cause was attributed to:

1. The 1934 drouth during which farmers got rid of their hogs as quickly as possible to avoid losing them from heat, thirst or starvation.

2. The Agricultural Adjustment Act which provided for the destruction of 6,000,000 piggy sows or grown sows which would have been on the market this year. In addition, uncounted prospective litters were destroyed.

Receipts at the union stockyards for the first four days of the week totaled 33,600 head of hogs while in the same period a year ago 98,831 head were received. The estimated figure for the week is 39,000, down on record. To date this year hog receipts amounted to 2,229,000 head, compared with 4,042,000 hogs received by this date last year.

PLEASURE TRIP IN BALLOON STARTED

Carries Five Men And Likely to Appear Over Ontario

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 10 (AP) — A huge balloon carrying five adventurers away from here in the darkness early today "for just anywhere."

What the weatherman described as "moderate south wind," was blowing at the time and it was believed carrying them through the day somewhere in the Lake Ontario neighborhood. They hoped to stay up until tonight.

The balloon, of 90,000-cubic foot capacity, was piloted by Milton Vanik in the last International balloon race in Poland last year. Vanik was at the valve rope on today's flight. With him were Edward Pelletier, Robert Wetherly, Edwin F. Walton and James O. Redding, employes of Buffalo airplane manufacturing firms.

They believed the record flight was merely a pleasure trip.

WORKERS TO BE SAFEGUARDED BY INSURANCE PLAN

Royal Decree by Italy Demanding Approval for Contract Men

SETTLEMENT BASIS

Ethiopians May "Doctor" Water to Hamper Italian Troops

Rome, Aug. 10 (AP)—Italy announced a new unit of its reserve military and workmen's corps today.

A Royal decree was published in the official Gazette ordering the subalterns and technicians of the Air Force classes 1934 and 1935 recalled for service for an indeterminate period.

Soldiers of the workmen's corps are to be safeguard in the welfare of its soldiers and workmen in East Africa, the official Gazette also announced. A Royal decree ordered the employers to provide insurance for the workmen. The insurance will compensate them if they fall ill of malaria or other tropical disease or otherwise suffer ill effects from their stay in the colonies.

A Government spokesman "emphasized the inaccuracy" 22 reports from Berlin that Italian ships had been bought for scrapping into East African service, declaring that the act would be in violation of the purchasing contracts.

These ships were bought from the Canadian Pacific Railways and subsequently sold to transport, as were three vessels purchased from the North German Lloyd Line, the spokesman said, somewhat "However that was done only after the original owners had been paid for the privilege."

500,000 Troops Ready

London, Aug. 10 (AP)—Reuter's (British) News Agency says today that Italy already has arrived a quarter or a million troops and has plans to put seven armies totaling 400,000 men in the field in the event of a conflict with Ethiopia.

The Ethiopians' war stocks are estimated at between 300,000 and 1,000,000 rifles, no cannon and most of them made in 1880), between 400 and 500 machine guns and the same number of automatic rifles. They have eight airplanes, six of them in flying condition.

Prusel, Kaka Homes

Addis Ababa, Aug. 10—(AP)—The French military authorities have taken over all vacant houses in the capital city of Djibouti, in French Somaliland, it learned from reliable sources today.

It is understood the houses will be used as billets for French soldiers arriving within the next few days.

Djibouti is the Gulf of Aden important port.

Meantime in Ethiopia the tribesmen of Emperor Haile Selassie prepared furiously for war against Italy's ambition of trouble with Italy. Tribesmen were destroyed their crops, thus polluting the water supply. They were supplying the Italian troops with food instead of creating one.

BASS STILL BITING IN QUINTE BAY

Fair sized bass are still being taken in the bay of Quinte. Last evening Mr. Jack Hickell, local resident, landed a fine bass, this one fine specimen of small-mouth bass weighing slightly over three and one-half pounds. The fish were caught, not far from shore.

4,900 CAR LICENCES ALREADY ISSUED

"Although we haven't had any word regarding it, as far as I know the same half price licenses will be available to car owners again this season, but it isn't likely to come into force until September," stated Mr. S. S. Wrenham, local issuer of licenses today when questioned.

Although the local office has been decidedly quiet in the matter of licenses issued during the past month or so, since the beginning of the season an approximate total of 4,900 passenger car licenses have been given out. These figures do not include commercial vehicle licenses.

HARBOR IS CLEANED OF NOXIOUS WEEDS

Equipped with long-handled rakes and working from a raft, Harbor Commissioner Singleton is busily tackling the annual task of clearing the upper harbor of its harmful weed growth. Annually tons of weeds are harvested in this particular area. The crop this year, however, due to antibotical cleaning out each year is not as heavy as in previous years.

FIVE TRANSIENTS CALL IN ONE DAY

A William Street housewife claims to have set a record for the number of uninvited guests in one day.

On Friday no less than five tattered transients knocked at her door with the usual request for a meal or handout. The men all called at different hours.

During the week that her home is situated almost in the centre of a block studded with hotels, the local woman is pondering the reason for her popularity.

FAIR YIELD FROM RELIEF GARDENS

Although the majority of the gardens are not ready for the relief rain baby, garden produce planted by the city's unemployed in the vacant garden plots earlier in the season is returning a fair yield to workers, it was stated by Mr. Fred Wm. Harden, relief investigator of the local office. Many of the assisted gardeners have already dug a record crop of potatoes for winter's use.

TOWER NOT IN DANGER OF FALLING

A demure young thing who had just made her exit from a car bearing Michigan registration as it pulled into a parking space on lower Front Street this morning, looked sagely at the lattice work scaffolding now rearing up the city hall tower.

"Look, mother," she pointed. "The building must be going to fall over, and the men are putting the wood up to brace it."

ALD. MARSHALL'S COLLIE KILLED

Jack, long-haired collie, and one of the most familiar sights on the city streets, is dead. His loss is being mourned by his owner Alderman Thomas Marshall to whom he was a faithful companion. Weakened from loss of blood following the severing of an artery in his leg the day previous, the beautiful collie died at the home of his owner, 26 Emily Street yesterday.

A favorite of children and oldsters of the neighborhood, Jack had endeared himself to the city at large. His friendly ball wag and re-portoirs of tricks, performed in his own whimsical manner at the slightest gesture of his owner had gained him recognition wherever he went. Many of his stunts were of a difficult and complicated character. Constant companion of Alderman Marshall on his daily walks through the city, his loss is deeply felt.

City Hall employees and officials know him best owing to his fondness for sandy. Scorned in various spots in the office the cocaspaniel sweetly would be ferreted out, be-loaned dog, if he would then adopt a begging attitude until rewarded.

Accompanying his master to the City Hall yesterday morning, Jack cut his leg. At home, in spite of the best efforts of a local veterinary, the wound overtook him. He was four years old.

DATE IS STILL ON TURTLE'S BACK

Back in 1921, some resident of this city or district, with time on his hands, spent an hour or two cutting the date and month of that year into the hard shell of a turtle he had captured somewhere. In time the turtle was evidently returned to the bay, where he still lives a normal and peaceful life. Yesterday afternoon he was basking in the sunning itself comfortably on the park wall, was observed by one or two persons. The inscription, "August 18, 1921" carved deeply in the shell, was plainly visible.

RELIEF REGULATIONS NOT YET RECEIVED

Officials of the Central Relief Office of this city have not yet received any copy of the new relief regulations which will go into effect in October on September 1st. It is expected however, that copies will be furnished for the regulation of relief from the Toronto office about the 18th. of the present month.

SHORT CIRCUIT CAUSES SMOKE

A dawn alarm at 4.30 o'clock this morning sent members of the local fire department rushing to a butcher shop on Station Street when a short-circuit in an electrical motor was the cause of considerable smoke. No damage was reported.

25 WOMEN WORK AT BLOOMFIELD

Twenty-five middle-aged women in the Bloomfield will be placed in the Canadian Canning Company plant at Bloomfield, Prince Edward County, next week by Superintendent James V. Ross of the local Employment Service of Canada office, following a request for help by that company to the local office. The office that little difficulty will be experienced in hiring this many workers.

The job will consist of peeling tomatoes for canning and in asking for assistance, officials of the company, it is pointed out, that experienced help is preferred. No statement was made as to the appointment of a forelady in charge, but it is expected that transportation will be provided.

Owing to the number of placements made during the present season, the local office has developed into one of the chief hiring centres of help needed for its daily registrations reveal.

LITTLE EFFECT ON LOCAL SHIPPING

Late boat strike trouble will have little effect on local shipping, it was stated by Harbormaster Robt. Gould today. The majority of boats entering the local port on regular schedule are independently owned, it was pointed out. Canadian Steamship Lines craft, also daily visitors to the port, have in report themselves unaffected by the strike holding up shipping in Cornwall.

CORRECT CERTIFICATE SENT MISS BELAIR

An error in the examination results given out by the Department of Education, Toronto, was rectified in a revised Middle School certificate received today by Miss Betsy Belair a student of St. Michael's Academy. Her correct standing is as follows: — Ancient History 2nd, Geometry 2nd, Grammar 2nd, French Authors 2nd; French Composition 1st.

JURY VERDICT IS ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Accidental death was the verdict of the jury empaneled inquiring into the death of Nelson Paquette, Madoc mine employee, who died in the Belleville General Hospital as the result of injuries sustained, when he fell down the shaft at Craig gold mines on Aug. 2nd last.

The inquest into the death of the late Nelson Paquette was held in Madoc last evening before Coroner Dr. S. Masson, with Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan K. C. conducting the investigation. Fellow workers at Craig Mines and John Connors, testified in the relationship to the accident, both stating that the platform upon which the deceased was working became dislodged and caused him to fall 35 feet down a 945 foot shaft resulting in the injuries, that proved fatal.

The verdict rendered by the Coroner's was to the effect that the late Nelson Paquette came to his death in the Belleville Hospital on Aug. 2nd as the result of injuries received at the Craig Gold Mines when a platform became dislodged, causing him to fall a distance of 35 feet.

TROUSERS ARE TORN BY PASSING CAR

An unidentified, basket-carrying man was the object of much confusion in a nearby store on Front Street near the city hall late this morning when a trouser leg of the suit he was wearing was almost completely torn off by a passing car. The citizen, attempting to cross the street, approached too closely behind a passing car, caught the leg of his trousers in a project-ing front fender, allowing it to rip. A needle and thread loaned by a storekeeper enabled him to make hasty repairs.

LITTLE CHANGE IN MART PRICES

Eggs And Butter One Cent Above Last Week's Close

No changes in the prices of farm commodities were noticed at today's Belleville market despite the abundance of fruits, vegetables and other products. The price of butter and eggs remained firm, selling at a one cent in advance of last week.

One of the features was the many displays of beautiful cut flowers, practically every variety to bloom at this time of year was shown. They were offered at very reasonable prices. Color was added to the market by their appearance.

Tomatoes made their appearance, selling at one dollar per bushel, instead of being offered in smaller quantities. The usual large fruit market of berries, early apples and other seasonable fruits was also in evidence.

Has Served Faithfully Dundas St. Mission For Nine Years

Rev. J. S. McMullen has resigned his pastorate of the Dundas Street Mission of the United Church, after nine years of service, because of the continued ill-health of Mrs. McMullen which demands a complete change of scene and release from all obligations touching this work. Mr. and Mrs. McMullen will leave Belleville on August 14th., for their new home, 107 Chester Avenue Toronto, near the location of their family.

Rev. Mr. McMullen will preach his farewell sermons tomorrow, (Sunday), at Centre Street in the morning and at Dundas Street in the evening.

W. H. PATTERSON GIVEN CONTRACT

Fill of 30,000 Yards to be Placed Near Government Dock

At a price of $35,000.00, the lowest bid reported tendered Mr. William Patterson, president of the Patterson Construction Company of this city, has been notified of his appointment as the contractor for government dock fill south of the city. Specifications call for a total fill of 30,000 yards of solid material, which will extend from the newly constructed dock addition to the present dock. The reclaimed land will be levelled and packed sufficiently hard to enable construction of loading dock and buildings on this area.

Work is expected to commence immediately following the arrival at supervising engineers of Ottawa which will probably be placed at some time next week.

It is understood, that the contract has narrowed down to two tenders, that of Mr. Harry Smith, local contractor and the Patterson construction.

Obituary

EDWARD WESLEY CALNAN

After a lengthy illness Edward Wesley Calnan passed away at his late residence, 215 Dundas Street, early this Saturday morning.

The late Mr. Calnan, who was in his 67th. year, was born in Prince Edward County, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Calnan. For many years he was engaged in farming in Prince Edward County and for the past twenty years he has resided in this city, being highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was a member of the Tabernacle United Church.

Surviving him are his widow, who prior to her marriage was Miss Mary Elizabeth Burley, and one son, Allan D. Calnan, of Prince Edward County.

WILLIAM SILLS WESTFALL

Trenton, Aug. 10 (Special)— Wm. Sills Westfall, a life-long resident of the township, passed away on Thursday after an illness that had extended over a period of two years. At the time of his death he was in his sixty-eighth year.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Margaret Jenness, one daughter, Mrs. Albert Jones of Sidney, and four sons, Roy of Trenton, a member of the town council, Lorne, Frank and Arthur.

Two sisters, Mrs. P. McCauley and Mrs. Eva Bolton of Rochester, N.Y., and two brothers, Charles of Smithfield and Edward of Rochester, also survive. The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon.

MRS. M. G. NASMITH (New York)
MRS. ELIZA ROGERS (New York)

At the home of Mr. Frank B. Hamlin in New York City, on August 7th., his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary G. Nasmith, and Mrs. Eliza Rogers, passed away. The latter was the widow of Thomas Hamlin Rogers and for many years resided in this city.

LATE FRANCES C. BUSHNELL

Adams Centre, N.Y.—Francis C. Rushnell, 86, farmer, of Route 2, Adams Centre, died at his home at 7.45 Tuesday morning following an illness of two months. He was born at West Huntingdon, Canada, November 1, 1848, a son of Adam and Anna Johnston Rushnell. About fifteen years ago he moved to the United States with his family and until a year and a half ago, when he came to this vicinity, he had operated a dairy farm near Sackets Harbor.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah Vandewater Rushnell, eight children, Mrs. L. Still, Mrs. N. Still of Belleville, Mrs. Ida Gardener, Fordoro, Ont., Lee, Route 3, Adams Centre, Mrs. Ethel Boyce, Adams Centre, Mrs. H. Brown, Miss Helen Rushnell, Watertown; five sisters, Mrs. Fred Mykins, R.D. ## POLICE BLOTTER

Activities in and around local police circles consisted of routine work during the past few days. One arrest was made last night and resulted in a local citizen appearing before Magistrate K. J. Deacon K.C., today charged under the L.C.A. The matter was adjourned until Monday for trial, no evidence being submitted this morning.

A slight motor accident was reported at the intersection of Bridge and Front streets, shortly before 8.00 p.m. last night, slight fender damage being the sole result. The accident was committed, when two automobiles being driven in the same direction and making identically the same turn collided. F. C. Thomson investigated and found that one car driven by Wm. Wong of Coleman and making a right hand turn to proceed south on Front struck another driven by Mr. C. McElrath of the city. The matter of damages was amicably settled between the parties concerned.

Two lonely tramients occupied the cell block at the police station last night, both wending their way on their journey when released at an early hour this morning.

Canada's Political Quintuplets' Ideas Differ But Private Lives and Habits Often Similar

One Common Immediate Aim of Each is to be Canada's Next Prime Minister

R. B. Bennett

Arthur Meighen

W. L. M. King

H. H. Stevens

J. S. Woodsworth

They don't look alike, but Canada's five political quintuplets have one thing in common at least—they all intend to be Canada's next Prime Minister. They have two other things—some of these plays golf. In addition, all five were born in the eighties and two of them within six months of each other. H. H. Stevens is the "baby" of the five.

By WILFRED EGGLESTON

Central Canadian From Writer

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—Canada's five political leaders Bennett, Meighen, Mackenzie King, Woodsworth and Stevens—have this much in common: they were all born in the eighteen seventies.

The prime minister was 65 in July. Meighen, Mackenzie King and Woodsworth were all born in 1874, within six months of one another, Meighen in June, Woodsworth in July, Mackenzie King in December. Stevens is the "baby" of the group: He will be 57 in December.

Three of the five — Mackenzie King, Meighen and Woodsworth—are Ontario-born. Berlin, (Hitlerney), Anderson in Perth County, and Meighen just outside Toronto were their birth places, in the order named. Prime Bennett, of course, was born at Hopewell, New Brunswick, near the Isthmus which joins the province with the mainland. Stevens was born at Bristol, Hampshire, England, and was an immigrant boy at the age of nine.

Gift For Mathematics

Meighen, like Sir Lyman Duff, Chief Justice of Canada, had a gift for mathematics: he still reads mathematics and the works of his long legal training, still thinks he loves more mathematics than law; one of his boys is little short of a mathematician. Meighen himself taught this subject for several years in high school before going west to open a law practice. Mackenzie Bennett taught a country school with much success. He presided over Bible class on Sunday. He helped put himself through Dalhousie by assisting in the library. The first law he ever studied formally was taught by Charles Russell Cahan, now the secretary of State. Mackenzie Bennett wrote editorials on a small New Brunswick weekly paper for a couple of weeks one summer while the editor was away fishing and when the editor came back the countryside thought was in an uproar over a couple of forthright editorials. The youthful journalist had put in the paper.

Woodsworth, like Meighen, lived in Manitoba for some years. It was in the former's schooldays, when he used to be seen in winter time driving around the settlement (Reindeon) in a sled pulled by his collie dog. He took lessons on the melodeon, but with little success. At college he won a place on the association eleven, and was chosen "Senior Stick" for his year, denoting all-round activities.

Doctors Of Philosophy

Mackenzie King easily leads the five in the extent and brilliance of his college career. He never gets the title, but he is known in Mackenzie King, having by dint of much study and the writing of a thesis acquired his doctorate of philosophy from Harvard in 1908. But in his college days he too dabbled in journalism. He was hired up to report the workings of police court at Toronto in association with or competition with Harry P. Gadsby. The city editor didn't think Mackenzie King made an inside human story of the trials as he might have done. The future premier was fired. He continued as an exposer of sweat shop conditions. His report on the sub-contracts for postal uniform won him the attention of Sir William Mulock, and ultimately the position of deputy minister of labor.

All Gifted Speakers

Stevens never worked on a newspaper, so far as the records show, but he owned and ran a crusading weekly for a time in Vancouver. In color and variety of occupation he outstrips any of his fellow-leaders. Cliff worked once in Peterboro, drove stage-coach in Ottawa, prospected for silver and gold, fired a locomotive, served with the U. S. forces in the Philippines and China, toured the South Seas, worked in a grocery store, studied accountancy, dabbled in real estate, became a financial broker.

Two of our five never married: the other three have families ranging in number from one to eight. The story is told that when, while still in New Brunswick R. B. Bennett proposed to a girl, the latter said: "Come back and ask the question when you are Prime Minister of Canada." The joke now is on the girl. Several years ago, Michael Luchkovich United Farmer member from Alberta arose in the House of Commons and called attention to the celibacy of the three house leaders. Bennett, Mackenzie King and Robert Gardiner, and suggested that they could not do better than marry a nice European girl apiece —"if whom, he said, there were beautiful specimens on the prairie. But the remarks were forgotten.

All of the five are gifted speakers: they would have to be, to have risen in their present eminence. But there is no resemblance in their style, either of thinking or of addressing a gathering.

The Prime Minister is essentially an advocate. It speaks with the utmost fluency, is never stuck for a word to much more likely to repeat an old paragraph than a new one. He is a master of parliamentary tactics, and has had much human experience of men as he might have done. The future historian will find in his speeches not an exposer of sweat shop conditions. His report on the sub-contracts for postal uniform won him the attention of Sir William Mulock, and ultimately the position of deputy minister of labor.

All Gifted Speakers

Stevens never worked on a newspaper, so far as the records show, but he owned and ran a crusading weekly for a time in Vancouver. In color and variety of occupation he outstrips any of his fellow-leaders. Cliff worked once in Peterboro, drove stage-coach in Ottawa, prospected for silver and gold, fired a locomotive, served with the U. S. forces in the Philippines and China, toured the South Seas, worked in a grocery store, studied accountancy, dabbled in real estate, became a financial broker.

Two of our five never married: the other three have families ranging in number from one to eight. The story is told that when, while still in New Brunswick R. B. Bennett proposed to a girl, the latter said: "Come back and ask the question when you are Prime Minister of Canada." The joke now is on the girl. Several years ago, Michael Luchkovich United Farmer member from Alberta arose in the House of Commons and called attention to the celibacy of the three house leaders,

TO SEE THE FUTURE

From Berkeley, California, comes the information that it is expected that it will be possible to see as far as 100 years in the future by the year 2035 or the year 2935, just as man likes if the simple provision is agreed upon to allow oneself to be frozen stiff and laid away in a compartment, hopped to be thawed out in whatever year of grace is decided upon. Monkeys have been frozen and thawed out alive after three days, says the discoverer of the new way which may come to include humans as well as the monkey family. Dr. Ralph Willard of Hollywood is the man who has made the announcement. "This experiment" says Dr. Robert E. Cornish, Berkeley scientist commenting upon Dr. Ralph Willard, Hollywood giand research scientist and his work, "makes it possible to take a man of say, forty years of age, inject sodium citrate into his blood, freeze him, and put him away for a thousand years or as long as he is kept frozen very cold, to prevent any changes in the body. Then thaw him out and he would go on living."

To children it implies the giving up of the present: If the experiment could be carried out, would it be worth while to the man of forty or more? Could he live in the world of 2035 or even 2935? Would he be like a man who has been in prison for fifty years, finding himself free and then his friends frightened to see, that he hurried back to the deadening routine of the prison life? How many years would it take oneself to learn to get along in the far-distant future?

One thing seems clear. The man would be lonely. Today while he lives he is in a world he can largely understand, at least as to most of his fellows.

Would the frozen ticketed man care to have his awakening trusted to experimenters of another age? Or so might be the oversight of the vault in which the frozen man would be kept. Or after all would the awakening in that age cause some scenes like those which stretch the imagination of the mind and the skill of the pen of the writer of a one time well-known story, "The Frozen Pirate"? Many readers recall the scene of a frozen ship in a pirate crew came to life.

One would think that man after all would rather sleep with his own generation than to be used as a curiosity by some later earth-dwellers.

TREND TO CITIES AND TOWNS

Unemployment hits all classes hard. Montreal's Gazette claims that direct relief is causing people to leave the countryside for the town, not only in the autumn but for the year round.

"Actual or part staying in the urban centres for the reason that they fell assured of regular payment in cash and goods, whether there be work of employment or not. A striking example of this trend is reported from Edmonton, where, with the greatest annual increase in years, the number on relief rose to 5,261, a jump of 1,848 over the 1934 figure. This announcement is made by Mr. Thomas Walker, city assessor and tax collector, after completing the city's census. He states that actually there are several hundred more persons in the community, for the enumerators found many who were just short of domiciliary qualifications. The residents, old and new, total more than 82,000, he believes. This increase is largely accounted for, states Mr. Walker, by the big influx of families from the country. He and other civic officials are convinced that hundreds of families have come into the city in recent years from small towns and villages to get the infinitely more generous scale of relief given in Edmonton, as compared with country points. Were it not for the money likely being distributed to the distressed in the larger centres, many of these people would remain in their smaller home communities, to struggle along as formerly until conditions righted themselves. Instead, they gather their goods together and move to the city, there to be registered on the relief lists. In the long run, there condition may be more hopeless than if they had remained amid familiar surroundings. Furthermore, they make it all the more difficult for the idle workers long domiciled in the towns to secure jobs. The trek is at the expense of both the countryside and the urban centre; no one benefits at all in the long run.

Positive views of truth and duty are those that impress the mind and lead to action; negation dwells mostly in cavil and denial.—Whately.

MAKING A GARDEN

Man ploughs and plants and digs and hoes;
He works with hoe and spade;
God sends the sun and rain and air;
And thus a garden's made.

He must be proud who tills the soil
And turns the heavy sod.
How wonderful a thing to live
In partnership with God!

DALLAS, TEXAS, IS A LONG WAY from the Oak Hills, as the crow flies, or as the hitch-hiker walks, or rides if he is lucky—and it is a long way from Dallas to this place—but far enough so that folks there can not spend week-ends in the Bay of Quinte district. Former residents of this district are scattered all over Texas, and Dallas has its quota, like all other live and progressive communities all over the world. And the Great Family Journal is a welcome daily visitor in Dallas, keeping alive the joys of childhood and the hopes and fears of more mature years—a daily letter from HOME. This is Dallas Day in this column and the Dallas correspondent will proceed to tell of some of the usual things down there which are unusual up here.

Now that Abyssinia is so much in the headlines it may not be amiss to speak of a young miss in Dallas who was born in Abyssinia. She is Miss Ruth Wilson, born seventeen and a half years ago at Gorei, twenty miles from the capital city of Addis Ababa, where the Emperor Hailie Selassie is now mobilizing his forces for the impending war with Italy. Joan is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Wilson and the late Rev. Mr. Wilson, missionaries to Abyssinia four years before the present Emperor's mother reign of Queen Zauditu, an aunt of the present Emperor.

Potatoes they grow small in Texas, according to an old song which trifles with the truth, but makes they grow large in Texas, according to a story which comes from Cleburne, naming two men who are said to have killed fifty-two copperheads on an acre and a half of ground. Wonder if any other crop was sown on the same ground.

Take popcorn now, one section of Texas will ship 800,000 pounds of popcorn during August which will bring growers two cents per pound or more, with some fields producing 4,000 pounds to the acre. The corn will be shelled, sacked and loaded for shipment to the Northern States as the first commercial popcorn crop from Cotunua section.

Take Frogs, now, that's something else again. Here's a frog story that is worthy of the late Mark Twain. It comes from Laredo, Texas, where the resident engineer of the Texas Highway Commission reported that thousands of young frogs hopping along the highway for a distance of six miles in Duval County. Motor traffic was interrupted by the frogs, said the report. The frogs appeared in great numbers immediately after a heavy rain about 8.30 p.m. and motorists had to travel slowly since the cars crushing the frogs made the road slippery.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

Mary Ellcock, the housekeeper, said that defendant behaved very well when he first came back home... He abused his father and mother and every one else. He would throw the food from the table to the yard and smash the ware. One Sunday he came into the kitchen and threw water on the fire. He then threatened to kill his father, brother and her.—Barbadoes (B. W. I.) Advocate.

And now let us hear from a badly behaved Barbadian.

A stranded English actor went into a scrubb hash-joint off Broadway for a cheap meal. In the waiter with the once-clean shirt sleeves he was horrified to recognise a colleague who had played with him in London.

"Good heavens, So-and-so!" he gasped, "you a waiter in this place!"

"Yes, but I don't eat here," replied the other, with some dignity.

Two cavalry officers were invited to judge a show of costers' donkeys. During the course of the afternoon they overheard some lurid and picturesque language from the entrants, and at last, when they were on their way home, one said: "Well, Bill, it's a long time since I heard such real full-blooded cussing as we did this afternoon."

"That's true," commented the other. "I haven't heard anything like it since I left the Holy Land!"

CHAPTER XXV.

THE SCHOOL OF MAAN

Zaid was yet scatter-hound. While I chafed at this, an accidental circumstance constrained me to leave him and return to Palestine for urgent consultation with Allenby, who told me that the War Cabinet were leaning heavily on him to repay the stalemate of the West. He was to take at least Damascus; and, if possible, Aleppo, as soon as he could. Further, he was to be put out of the way at once and for all.

His difficulty lay with his eastern flank, the right, which by day rested on Jordan. He had called me to consider if in that flank could rather him of its burden.

I pointed out that this was the Jordan scheme seen from the Arab camp. Allenby assented, and asked if we could still do it.

Not at present, unless new factors were first discounted.

The first was Maan. We should have to take it before we could advance in force. If more transport gave a longer range to the units of the Arab Regular Army, it could take Maan with some miles north of Maan and cut the railway persistently. But then the Maan garrison to come out and fight them; and in the field the Arabs would vastly outclass the Turks. We would require seven hundred baggage camels, machine-guns and machine-guns, and, lastly, assurance against flank attack from Amman while we were fighting at Maan.

On this basis a scheme was worked out. Allenby ordered down to Akaba two units of the Egyptian Camel Corps, an organisation of Egyptians under British officers, which Lawrence had originally raised in the Beersheba campaign. It was a great gift, for its carry was generally estimated that we should now be able to keep our three thousand regulars eighty miles in advance of their base. The guns and machine-guns were also promised us. As for shielding us against attack from Amman, Allenby said that was easily arranged. He intended for his own flank's security, shortly to be that of the Arab Jordan, and hold it with an Indian Brigade. A Corps Conference was due next day at Jaffa to stay for it.

By this conference it was determined that the Arab army move instantly to the Maan Plateau, to take Maan. That the British cross the Jordan, destroy the railway south of Amman as much of the railway as possible; especially the great bridge. And, finally, what share the Amman Arabs should take in the British operation. Bols thought we should join in the advance. I opposed this, since the later retirement to Jordan would cause rumour and reaction, and it would be easier if we did not enter till this had spent itself.

Chetwode, who was to direct the advance, agreed how far east were to distinguish friendly from hostile Arabs, since Lord Lloyd's war in Jerusalem against all wearing skirts. I was sitting next to Lloyd and replied, naturally, that skirt-wearers disliked men in uniform. The result clinched the discussion, and it was agreed that we support the British retention of Jordan after they came to the east there. As soon as Maan fell the Arab Regulars would move on the supplies from Jericho. The seven hundred camels would come along, still eating their grain, and miles radius of action. This would be the signal for the Amman Arabs to rise against the Amman garrison. Then we would cross the Jordan in Amman in Allenby's grand attack along the line from the Mediterranean to the Sea of Galilee, the end phase of the operation, directed on Damascus and Aleppo.

I pledged Feisal's warm co-operation in every detail of this scheme, and left for Akaba encouraged and relieved, hurried down to Akaba by air to confirm the decisions. I gave him the good news that Allenby, as thanks for the capture of Aqaba, Sea, Akaba had put three hundred thousand pounds at his disposal immediately, and given us a train of seven hundred pack camels complete with equipment and drivers.

This raised great joy in all the camps. With the new transport we would enable us to prove the value in the field of the Arab regular army, and the Egyptian Camel organisation Joyce, Jaafar, and so Lawrence and the English intelligence branch, under Alan Dawnay, brother of the maker of the Beersheba plan, who had now gone to France. Dawnay was Allenby's greatest gift to us—greater than thousands of rifles, camels, and big profundities; officer, he had the clear-touch, so that even the reddest hearer recognised an authentic recipe for war. He was an understanding mind, feeling instinctively the special qualities of rebellion; at the same time, his war-training enriched his treatment of the antithetic science. His married war and rebellion in himself, as of old in Joyce, who had been my dream every regular officer would be. Yet, in three years' practice, only Dawnay succeeded.

The Arab Movement had fired as a wild-man show, with its handful of rifles, which could be counted it as a sensible part of his scheme; and the responsibility upon us of doing better than we wished, knowing that forfeit for our failure would permanently be part-paid in his soldiers' lives, removed it terrifyingly farther from the sphere of joyous adventure.

With Joyce we laid our triple plan to support Allenby's first stroke. In our centre the Arab regulars under Jaafar, would attack Maan. Joyce with our armoured cars would slip down to Mudowwara, and destroy the railway—permanently, we hoped, for now we were ready to cut off Medina.

Mirzuk would ride north with me, to effect the junction with the British. After Joyce and Dawnay had gone, I rested on the third, 1918, from Abu el Lissan, and with Nasir starting he promised to crown the weariness of this lofty table-land. I was sitting in the tent, tired of furious blizzard, and some of the Howeitat were with me, when a sound we have passed into the light. The ground was vivid with new grass, and the sunlight, which slanted across us, pale like straw, mellowed the flattering wind.

With us burrowed two thousand Sirhan camels, carrying our ammunition and food. For the convoy's sake we marched south to reach the railway after dark. I went on with Nasir to search the line by daylight, and be sure of peace during the hours these great numbers would consume in crossing.

Near sunset the line became visible, a single-track railway, undisclosed land, among low tufts of grass and bushes. Resting every-thing was peaceful. There was no meaning to halt beyond and watch the others' move. There was always a little trill in touching the rails which were the target of so many of our efforts.

As I rode up the bank my camels feet scrambled in the loose ballast picked out of the long shallow of a culvert my left, where, no doubt, he had slept all day, rose a Turkish soldier. He glanced wildly at Aab and at the pistol in my hand, and then, with deliberate aim, his rifle against the abutment, yards beyond. He was a young man; stout, with sulky mouth and cheeks. He said and, softly, "God is merciful." He spoke in the Arabic phrase, and raised his eyes like a Shah who made his beauty sleep—ridden face began slowly to change into incredulous joy.

However, he said not a word. I pressed my camel's hairy shoulder with my foot, she gathered her dainty ate across the metals and down the further slope, and the little Turk was standing quiet to shoot me in the back, as I rode away, and he waved forward his men over towards a life one has saved. At a safe distance I glanced back. He was still there, and, twinkled his fingers at me.

We lit a coffee fire as beacon for the rest, and waited till their dark lines passed by. Next day we marched to Wadi el Jirs; it to flood-pools, shallow eyes of water set in white mud. Here the camels were bashed about with scrubby stems of brushwood. The water was grey like the marly valley-bed, but sweet. There we rested for the night, since the Zaal had also to bustard, and Xenophon did rightly call its white meat good. While we feasted the camels feasted. By the bounty of spring they were knee-deep in succulent green-stuff.

A fourth easy march took us to the Azara, our goal, where our allies, Auda, Nasir, Wadi, and Abdulla were camped. Fahad was still stricken, but Mifleh, with bonepoll Sherifs, came out to welcome us. Faris eaten up by greed, and his voice wheezy with it.

Our plan, thanks to Allenby's lion share, promised simply. We would, when ready, cross the line to Themed, the main Hejaz Zaabr railway. Thence under cover of a screen of their cavalry we would move to Madeba, and fit it as our headquarters, while Allenby put the Jericho-Es-Salt road in condition. We ought to link up with the British comfortably without firing a shot.

Meanwhile we had only to wait in the Azatir, which to our eye were barely green, with every hollow a standing pool and the valley-beds one silky-waved sea of flowers. The chalky ridges, sterile with salt, showed the water-channels delightfully. From their tallest point we could look north and south, and see the living, moving colour. Joyce painted the valleys across the white hills a broad stripe of green, very and firm like brush-strokes. Everything was growing, and daily the picture was fuller and brighter as the desert became like a rank water-meadow. Parties of men with camels crossing and tumbling over one another, their wide, brief gaps surging through the grass, to lay it momentarily in swathes of dark and light satin, the ground corn after the roller. On the hill we sat and shivered before these sweeping shadows, expecting a heavy blast—and there would come into our faces a warm and perfumed breath, very gentle, which passed away behind us as a silver-grey light down the plain of Azatir. Then the camels came crash grazed an hour or so, and then lay down to digest, bringing up stomach-load after stomach-load of butter-smelling green cud, and then contentedly.

At last new came that the English had taken Amman. In half an hour, they had crossed the Jordan, across the deserted line. Later messages told us that the English were halted back, and thoroughly had forwarded the Arabs of it, yet they had not taken it. Later reports per reported how the English had just fled from Salt. This was plain, and unbelievable. Allenby is human, and I swore straight out that it was not true. A rumour hopped in to say that the English had broken only a few rails south of Amman, and after two days of vain assaults against the town, I grew seriously doubtful in the conflict of rumour and sent Aduh, who might be trusted not to lose his head, to talk with a letter for Chetwode or Shea, asking for a note on the real situation. The next morning Lawrence we trumped restlessly over the fields of young barley, our minds without but plan after plan with feverish activity.

Very late at night Aduh's reappeared, having crossed across the valley and he came in to tell us that Jemal Pasha was now in Amman, and had concentrated thirty Arabs who had welcomed the English. The Turks had left the amazing Allenby far down the Jordan Valley. It was thought that Jerusalem would be recovered. Here was proof of my countrymen to reject that possibility. Allenby had driven them very wrong. We slipped off, bemused, to the Azatir again.

This reverse, being unsure, hurt me by its news. Allenby's plan had seemed modest, and that we should be held down before the Arabs was deplorable. They had never trusted us to do the great things which we had promised, and their independent thoughts set out to enjoy the nightside here.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 10th, 1913.

The Trenton Electric Light Company has advised the city officials that the company will be prepared to furnish power immediately for the use of their employees, and the management will gladly place it at the service of the city when requisitions calls for its use.

Despite the unfavorable weather the steamer Brockville's excursion to Napanee was most enjoyable. The first event was the grand prize of a Brownie camera which was presented by the owners of the boat, created much interest. Mr. Walter Hinchcliffe kindly held the tickets in his hat and when the draw was made the camera proved to be in R. Cannell of Trenton. Capt. Christie was the first person pursued by the camera, but he made for the hills and escaped. The passengers all enjoyed the sail up the beautiful Napanee river and the one hour stay in Napanee.

30 Years Ago

AUGUST 10th, 1903.

A large number of people gathered at Victoria Park yesterday afternoon to witness the aquatic sports which were interesting and exciting throughout. The wind was somewhat light for the sailing races, but the baseball between the Park team and a picked team resulted in victory for the Park team, the score being 4 to 0. The following were the players: Park team:—H. Cordon, M. Weir, S. Burgess A. Connolly, H. Mallory, Picked team:—H. Thomas, J. Wilson, Thomas Dunn, J. Wilson, W. Smith. In the punt races the following entries were received: Yeo, sailed by Fred Hodgsenberg; Blue Puss, sailed by Ed. Kellaway; Lipton, sailed by Jos. Day; King of the Waters, sailed by W. Reeves. The results finished in the following order: (1) Lipton; (2) Blue Point; (3) King of the Waters; (4) Yeo. For the dinghy races there were three entries as follows: Jones' boat, sailed by Arthur Wallbridge and the Wallbridge boat, sailed by Fred Wallbridge; the Reid boat, sailed by Chas. Reid. The finish was as follows: (1) Reid's boat; (2) Jones' boat; (3) the Wallbridge boat. Three years ago two entries in the skiff race namely Hard Times, sailed by Arthur and the Mills' skiff, sailed by Frank Brenton. Carter turned the buoy first time round and dropped out; Brenton sailed over the course and won the challenge flag.

TENNIS PLAYERS VISIT BRIGHTON

Good Showing Made By Stirling Tennis Club

Stirling—Several members of the Stirling Lawn Tennis Club motored to Brighton on Wednesday afternoon where they were the guests of the Tennis Club in that community. The courts were in splendid condition and excellent tennis weather prevailed throughout the afternoon. The matches were keen and fast with the Stirling players having a slight edge on the play in the game with a total of four wins in the six matches played with one incompleted because of darkness. The Stirling Club has shown great improvement as the season passed along and their showing in this fixture was a much better one than any made in previous starts. Following is a summary of the games played:—

Grace Bevers of Brighton scored a win over Marion Bailey, Stirling ladies' singles by 7-5, 6-4.

Mrad doubles Mrs. Lovlond, and Nancy McGee defeated Mrs. Bevers and Mary Candiotte of Brighton, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3. M. Craig and Harry Lovlond were victorious over Mrs. Whyte and Bower Fries 6-3, 6-3.

In the ladies doubles which were incompleted M. Bailey and M. Lovlond led Gilly Roughton and Marie Shugrue 6-2.

Men's doubles, Allan Maddigbon and Harry Lovlond defeated Bower Fries and Harry Shuck 6-3, 6-4.

Allan Maddigbon of Stirling was defeated in the men's singles by Ken. Mcleod 6-0, 6-4.

Brighton Re-Unites at Oak Lake

On Wednesday afternoon the annual family re-union and picnic of the Brighton family took place at the north end of Oak Lake. Nearly one hundred members of the family registered at the unique celebration which marked the ninety-ninth year since the forefathers of those present at the gathering had first settled in the city of Belleville. Coming from Norfolk County in Ireland, the number of members is now known to be well over two hundred. Two hundred registered members were present on one, and these, many of them have wandered far from the district. Members are to be found from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific and from the Great Lakes to Hudson Bay, and China. There is also one member on that vast ship, His Majesty's Navy. Among those present from distant places were several from Manitoba, Mr. Henry Brighton of Manitoba and Mr. John Brighton of Portboro were among those who delivered short addresses during the afternoon and a very interesting letter was read from Mrs. (Dr.) Hayward (Ruth Brighton) who has departed since the last gathering to take up Mission work at Changteng, China. During the business portion of the meeting Mr. Bert Brighton of Stirling was elected chairman for the year 1938 and arrangements were completed to hold the Jubilee picnic in the same place next year, following the splendid dinner which was provided the remainder of the day was spent in competitive sports of various kinds, games, and visiting one with the other, with many of them remaining until after the supper hour.

Personals

Misses Myrtle and Alice Lake, Messrs. Robert Hedley, Harmer Lake and J. Conley spent Sunday at Presqu'ile Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Grant have returned to their home at Bayside after spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Hackman.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Jackson and family of Newmarket are spending a few days at the Summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Baker (Bevon Oaks). Mr. Jackson was principal of Stirling Public School some years ago and is well known in the district.

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Walt left on Thursday August 8th for a motor trip to the northern part of the province and expect to spend a week in the Temagami Lake district.

Mr. Alf Hayworth left on Wednesday for North Bay to be present in that town for the big celebration and Old Boys Reunion which takes place this week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Halpenny, Mary and John, returned to their home in Aylmer after spending the past few weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Belshaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred N. Collins Nora and Gordon of Toronto visited friends in Stirling Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Whitty, Dr. and Mrs. John Shea, Mrs. C. P. Linn, Mrs. Ivan Long, Mrs. Ralph Shea, Mrs. Geo. Lagrow and Mr. J. R. Morton motored to Kingston on Monday to enjoy look part in a mixed bowling tournament being sponsored by the Kingston Bowling Club.

Several members of the Stirling Bowling Club attended the Men's tournament held in Campbellford on Wednesday of last week. Those from Stirling who competed were:—Dr. J. Shea, W. Whitty, W. J. Whitty, R. Maddigbon, R. A. Patterson, Dr. Edmund A. Carlton, C. S. Bastedo and J. S. Morton. A rink from the Stirling Club by W. J. Whitty were successful in carrying off fifth prize in the contest which was won by a Kingston rink from Cobourg in second place.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Seward and daughter of Detroit Mich., spent Thursday at the home of Mrs. Simmons.

Mrs. H. Dionne of Oshawa was a Thursday visitor of Mrs. Sira Goode.

EASY WIN FOR GORDON STEEL 9 AT KINGSTON

Tweed—Civic Holiday was observed in Tweed on Monday, August 8th. Places of business were closed and the village presented a deserted appearance. The day was spent in a variety of ways by the townspeople in fishing and picnic parties and a number spent the day motoring. Gordon Steel schooled nine journeyed in Kingston to play a return game. They met Arrow Delivery, composers of Coplands and runners-up for the City Junior Championship, and had a fairly trouble winning by a score of 13 to 6. They led at one stage 11 to 6 and Leffman on the hillTop for Tweed ended up and the home team pushed over four runs in the last three frames. Leffman had a fine strike-out record having a home run. For Tweed, St. Mary's, winners of the City League, will play in Tweed probably early next week.

Dewees Smith, former Tweed boy, ace southpaw hurler for Collingwood Shipbuilders on Saturday let Merrit down with a hit and no runs in an intermediate baseball league game. Collingwood won by a score of 3 to 0. Smiley Smith, as the speed boy is familiarly known, helped himself to two hits during the game. Collingwood leads the league with fourteen wins and two losses.

Brother Andre of Montreal, founder of St. Joseph's Oratory of that city celebrated his ninetieth birthday on Friday, August 9th. He is known as the "miracle man of Montreal" to many thousands of pilgrims from Canada and the United States. It will be remembered that Brother Andre was the guest of Very Rev. Dean J. P. O'Riordan a few weeks ago.

Harry Sagre was taken to Kingston General Hospital on Wednesday afternoon for an operation for removal of a piece of steel from one of his eyes. Some months ago his left eye suffered when struck by a fragment of steel as Gordon Steel Works. The formation of the tetarract was the outcome of this injury. The operation is expected to remove a large percentage of the sight of this eye.

The annual picnic and chicken supper of St. Carthagh's Church was held on Wednesday, August 7, at Tweed Memorial Park. During the early part of the day the prospects sky seemed to promise showers, but fortunately the threatened rain did not come and the weather was all that could be desired. The ladies of St. Carthagh's church are famed for their skill in the culinary art and on this occasion excelled themselves in the preparation of dishes to tempt the fickest appetite. Food there was in abundance to satisfy the refined and delicate taste of an epicure—cakes, pies, pies—cakes and salads.

The crowd which numbered several hundred people was not quite as large as on some former occasions but large enough to assure the complete success of the undertaking. The committee in charge was composed of Very Rev. Dean J. P. O'Riordan, pastor, Messrs. Felix Hathotte, Ray Quinn, Stafford Cassidy and Felix Lefaive. They are to be complimented on the arrangement's and the success of the affair.

Among those present the following priests were observed: Monsignor Michilsen, Belleville, Father Collins, Belleville, Father Farrell, Belleville, Father Mealy, Deseronto; Father Carey, Read; Father Feeney Father Meagher, Madoc; Dean Hanley, Smith's Falls; Father Smith, Picton; Father Powell Brinerville; Father Sullivan, Chippewa; Very Rev. Dean J. P. O'Riordan, Father Walker, Tweed.

Large crowds gathered about the Bingo and Wheel of Fortune games and attendants were kept busy in the booth dishing out refreshments and soft drinks.

It had been the hope of the committee to present a number of cookies loaned but this could not be arranged. An interesting midget three round bout was staged by Gerville Reeves and Steve Courneyea, young sons of Ed. Courneyea of Tweed who showed more real hard and foot work for youngsters. They boxed warily for two rounds, but bore little each other in convincing fashion in a torrid third round. Billie Hathotte, third man in the ring declared the bout a draw.

A large crowd was in attendance at the dance which followed.

IT pays to buy a Master Chevrolet this year—more than ever! Because the 1939 Chevrolet gives more for the money than any other lowest-priced car. You begin to see this extra value the moment you look at the car. You notice right away that Chevrolet's smart Fisher Body and the safe new TURRET TOP solid steel roof construction—something you can't get on any other car unless you pay many dollars more than Chevrolet's low price.

Step inside the car and drive—and immediately you'll notice another big difference that's all in favor of Chevrolet. It's the famous KNEE-ACTION "floating ride"! You float over bumps, ruts and holes in the road—steering is light, sure and shockless—it's hard to believe you're not riding in one of the costliest cars.

True it is that just one half-hour drive in the Master Chevrolet spells most motorists for any other low-priced car. Because not one of the others gives you Turret Top Bodies by Fisher—Knee-Action—Blue Flame Engine—Fisher No-Draft Ventilation—or Shock-Proof Steering. Only in one car do you get them all combined—in the Master Chevrolet... the low-priced quality car that looks better, rides better and lasts longer than any other in its class.

HEALTH INSTITUTE NEWS

We are constantly being asked what kind of treatments do you give? so we hasten to explain—

Our system is as follows— The patient sits in an air tight cabinet with just the head and neck exposed, the heated Mineral Fumes envelope the body, causing a gentle perspiration, the accumulated body poisons (which are the cause of nearly all diseases) are removed by this perspiration through the pores. Following the cabinet treatment the patient is gently massaged with soothing Mineral Oils over the entire body, these oils enter the body through the cleansed pores and heal the inflamed nerves and tissues, and so effecting a like act that ten minutes after it is applied no trace of it can be found on the surface!

If your pores are able to do the work they were intended to do, nature will do the rest. Our system induces sleep and when you can get eight hours pain-free sleep, you are on the road to good health again.

We have accommodation for two or three resident patients who are guaranteed all the care of a home. Trained attendants and a Graduate Nurse in charge guarantees you privacy, comfort and spotless cleanliness. Phone 1182 or call at 231 William St., Belleville, for an appointment.

"Smart Girl"
"Java Head"

Joseph Hergesheimer's Powerful Saturday Evening Post Story With Anna May Wong

When two girls fall in love with the same man at the same time that should not only make news but plenty of excitement as well.

This is the theme of "Smart Girl," Paramount's high-powered, fast-moving, sophisticated romance-drama, that opens at the Capitol on Monday along with Jos. Hergesheimer's story "Java Head".

"Smart Girl" centers around the love conflict of two beautiful stars, and combines comedy and action in its modern treatment of a modern love triangle and also smart Gail Patrick are contrasted with the problem of earning a living following their father's loss of fortune and his death by suicide. They both fall for the first man who appears on the scene, Kent Taylor. However, Miss Patrick wins him and Miss Lupino, having no alternative goes to work and makes a success of hat designing for Joseph Cawthorn, millinery manufacturer.

Miss Patrick's expensive tastes force her husband from his law clerking job into the more lucrative business of stock selling for Sidney Blackmer, innocent of the fact that Blackmer is a stock swindler. Miss Lupino proves to be her brother-in-law's guardian angel and sets out in true smart girl fashion in putting things to right without letting the man she loves know that she is the hand behind the throne. Besides Ida Lupino and Gail Patrick are the sisters, Kent Taylor, Joseph Cawthorn and Sidney Blackmer, the cast includes such well known players as Ricky Torrillo, Greta Meyer and Theodore Von Eltz.

For added enjoyment the Capitol management offers the widely acclaimed Hergesheimer story, "Java Head" with Anna May Wong, as the second feature. Here is an oriel-ette-rut type of story that is refreshing and quaint. With settings in picturesque old Bristol and interpreted by a powerful cast.

"Java Head"

Written by Joseph Hergesheimer "Java Head", takes into the household of a merchant-captain's family, whose favorite son John Leiden, has sailed to China. The placid life of the family with its conservatism and Victorian manners are disturbed by the loss of their son at sea, only to have him appear in the home bringing with him a Chinese girl as his wife.

The leading role provides Anna May Wong with a fruitful opportunity to display her undoubted ability to display her artistry. Elizabeth Allan as her rival for the favor of the young merchant.

The mutual reactions of three principals in the plot form the basis of the intriguing story so deftly woven by Hergesheimer.

Other outstanding characterizations include, Edmund Gwenn, remembered for his work in "Good Companions," George Curzon and Ralph Forbes.

Saturday night will conclude the appearance of the two features, "Mark of the Vampire", and "Capt. Hurricane". On Monday and Tuesday of next week the Capitol will present to each lady patron a piece of DuBarry pattern dinnerware.

"Curly Top"

Shirley Temple Sings and Dances in Her Happiest Picture

The happiest picture of Shirley Temple's career, "Curly Top," comes to the Belle today, Monday and Tuesday, matinee daily.

In "Curly Top", a charming story of a little girl who captures the heart of a lonely bachelor and makes both their dreams come true, Shirley has two new songs to sing and several new and intricate dance routines for audience approval.

In this Fox Film comedy drama, John Boles is cast as a bachelor who adopts Shirley and her big sister, Rochelle Hudson. His generosity takes them from the drab and dreary atmosphere of an orphanage to the sunny surroundings of a palatial home in Southampton. Their the romance of Boles and Rochelle Hudson flourishes under the childish guidance of little Shirley who sings, dances and laughs her way into their hearts.

Shirley is really happy in this picture, for she has the opportunity of displaying her full talents when she sings "Animal Crackers in My Soup" and "When I Grow Up."

Shirley is not the only one to sing in this lyrical film. John Boles' contribution of many songs "It's all So New to Me" and "Curly Top," while Rochelle Hudson surprises by singing for the second time "The Simple Things in Life."

Ray Henderson, America's ace writer, wrote the melodies for all the song numbers for "Curly Top."

Select Short Treats

A hand-picked assortment of short treats has been prepared for exhibition on the same program including a Mickey Mouse Disney Silly Symphony in full beautiful technicolor entitled "Who Killed Cock Robin," said to be one of the best of the popular series of novelettes, The Latest World News and an uproarious all-star comedy "Southern Exposure."

"Curly Top" comes to Belleville with the personal guarantee of Manager Forhan, who announces that it hope to offer earlier Shirley Temple pictures, and in his opinion it is the best entertainment of the

When the young ship master brings home an Oriental bride, consternation arise in the staid and prim old English family. Anna May Wong and John Loder in "Java Head" starting Monday at the Capitol theatre.

Library Corner

The man who typifies the Prussian character of the last two decades has been analyzed by Emil Ludwig in his book "Hindenburg". In this work, the interpreter of Bismark, Goethe, Napoleon, sits in judgement first, on the things in which Hindenburg showed successful and second because he stood unsuccessful in the fight against Hitler and the National Social Democrats. The biographer tells of the tragedy of Hindenburg," tales of the old German giant, who after many adventures was appointed watchman on a dam. One day, in a moment of mental confusion, he opened the sluices to inundate the surrounding country; and there came a flood which destroyed all that had been dear to him, in whose waters he himself at last perished". The book abounds in dramatic scenes among them Hindenburg's first meeting with Hitler. The author points out that the poet Goethe was the only German whose philosophy Hindenburg could not tolerate. He impishly heads each chapter with a quotation from Goeth's works.

Christopher Morley has written informal sketches of his visit to Peru i this book "Hasta La Vista". It is in a holiday mood that he describes his visit to Peru, but it was made on the liner Santa Maria. In his travels he takes himself along as well as the reader — his humor, his sparkling wit, associative memory, his aptitude for appreciating small things. He mixes sightseeing with mellow thoughts of Stevenson's "Treasure Island" and Conrad's "Nostromo", and writes a letter to a Postcard from Peru" is Christopher Morley's "Discovery of South America."

If the reader prefers to delight in a sense of coolness in hot summer days, he may revel again with George Mitnch Sutton, the days or his adventures in the far north in "Arctic Days." He spends almost a year studying the fauna and rare flora on the Southampton Island which almost blocks the mouth of Hudson Bay. "Eternal Year" is not a technical report of his researches but an entertaining account of his experiences and of the people among whom he lived. He expresses admiration for the Eskimos "when you come to know them intimately you will see that an Eskimo not just an outsider looking on. You say to yourself "But I belong to a superior race" and then you realize that you only call yourself superior to keep up your courage...". R. L. Duffus of the New York Times writes "that Mr. Sutton hasn't had to collect lemmings and had been able to devote his entire time to collecting Eskimos".

The Carnegie Corporation of New York made it possible for Ely Jacques Kahn, well-known American architect to make a study of many skyscrapers to circle the globe and to collect data which have been published as well as administrative experience contains a wealth of practical information.

lot, and what is also more important, the supporting cast is much better than any of the previous Shirley Temple pictures. "Curly Top" is truly a picture that every member of the family will enjoy.

"Cat Dumping" A New Racket

NEW VICEROY

Hamilton, Aug. 10.—(CP)— Last week Inspector MacDonald of the S.P.C.A. announced a cat-dumping ring was operating between this city and Toronto, dogs being stolen here and sold in the latter centre. Today the Inspector revealed another underworld racket—cat dumping.

It seems owners of cats, wishing to get rid of them, drive to some other section of the town, throw the cats out and drive away. One person found five kittens in a newspaper left on his doorstep, the Inspector asserted.

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS in The County of Hastings; in The Province of Ontario

To Wit:

By Virtue of a Warrant issued by the Warden of the County of Hastings bearing date of the Twenty-third day of July, 1935, for sale of lands in arrears of taxes in the County of Hastings will be offered for sale by Public Auction in the City of Belleville at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon on Tuesday the Fifth day of November, 1935 unless the taxes and costs are sooner paid. Notice is hereby given that the list of lands for sale for arrears of taxes is being published in the Ontario Gazette on the Fifth day of August, the Seventh day of September and the Fifth day of October, 1935, and that the copies of the said list may be had at my office, 226 Church Street, Belleville.

Treasurer's Office this Sixth day of August, 1935.

James W. Haggerty, Treasurer.
a10-e-s-17w.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tenders for Public Building Trenton Falls, Ont.", will be received at this office until noon, (daylight saving), Thursday, August 22, 1935, for the erection and completion of a Public Building at Trenton Falls, Ont.

Plans and specifications can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of the Chief Architect, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, the Supervising Architect, Federal Building, Toronto, Ont., the Builders' Exchange, 1104 Dominion Street, Montreal, Que., the Caretaker, Post Office Building, Peterborough, Ont., and the Local Post Office, Pension Falls, Ont.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with the conditions contained therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the tender, or Bearer Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or of the Canadian National Railway Company and its constituent companies, unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Dominion of Canada for the above mentioned bonds and a certified cheque required to make up any odd amount.

NOTE—The Department, through the Chief Architect's office, will supply blue prints and specifications of the work on deposit of a sum of $20.00, in the form of a certified bank cheque payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works. The deposit will be refunded on return of the blue prints and specification within a month from the date of reception of tenders. If not returned within that period the deposit will be forfeited.

By order,
N. DESJARDINS,
Secretary.

FINANCIAL MARKETS
NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

NEW YORK CLOSE
New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Numerous new highs for the year or longer were registered in today's brief stock market session despite the usual week-end profit taking.

While gains generally ranged from fractions to a point or so, the trading volume was around the largest for a Saturday in a number of months. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,390,000 shares.

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE
Toronto, Aug. 10.—(CP)—Today's business in Toronto industrial mart was again featured the liquor stocks with Hiram Walker and Brazilian selling along.

Brazilian eased down to the year's low mark at 7 1-2 at which level the buying picked up. The close at 7 7-8 showed a gain of 7-8 on the net fraction. Advances of 1-8 to 1-4 were registered by Gold & International Nickel and C.P.R.

Imperial Oil had a recession of 1-8 against a like advance for McColl. Bank shares were slow with Canada down another point to 94. In the Pools Canada Packers had a gain of a like fraction.

Montreal Power added a full point and fractions went to Beauharnois and Power Corporation. Gains also firmed slightly. Implement stocks were slow and unchanged.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE
Toronto, Aug. 10 (CP)—The mining list was featured by some weakness from a price angle in the closing session of the week and the turnover was below the five-day pace. Exploration, Moneada, Hudson Bay and Sylvanite Gold, Preston East Dome and Reno. Pickle Crow advanced to 2.80 for a gain of 10 cents and Reno added 2 cents to 1.02.

Hollinger held at 13.75 for board lots and 13.80 for broken lots. Dome at 3.71½ had a loss of ¼, Cheaper gained 3 cents to 1.03 cents on the day. Dunlop McKenzie, Sheep Creek, Hovey and Afton. Central Patricia remained steady at 1.25.

Big Missouri gained two to three cents to 1.03 cents. Base metal again the centre of interest with the price holding around 85 to 86 for a fractional gain.

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Private Wires

SEEKS EXPLANATION FOR DROP IN MACASSA

A Hamilton reader asks the mining editor of Saturday Night for the reason for the recent drop in price from a high price of $3 per share last year to current levels and asks whether the option of a block of stock at $1.50 per share is responsible for the decline. The reply states:—

It is not likely that the decline in the price of Macassa shares had anything to do with the purchase of 50,000 shares of stock at $1 per share by Mr. Wm. Wright, the company's president; in fact I consider it most deserving action as the opportunity was first offered on behalf of the company.

It is generally understood that the Macassa picture, one could well refer to the report of the Directors which at all times has been most frank and complete. While the Macassa vein is narrow, the ore body of its longest vein sections in the 1,000 foot level, averages over 1,000 feet; the known ore is adjacent to the Kirkland Lake property and is some 500 feet westward from the Kirkland Lake gold property and is some 500 feet eastward from the Lake Shore ore-zone. As started in October, 1933, has produced 30,000 tons of ore, with a 47% ft level, the first to be developed, and the mine to date has gave a total length of some 500 ft. Reversing the usual practice, the development of ore has been stoped from the respective levels from above downwards, and with doubtless continue to be stoped to the 2,000 ft level. The ore is a free face, where it passes into the Kirkland Lake Gold Mining property. Shaft sinking below the 1,000 ft. has been deepened to the 2,000 ft horizon, where intermediate levels will be developed. Simultaneously with the sinking, a large, unproven section of the property west of the 1,000 ft level has been undertaken, first on the 700 ft level and latterly on the 2,475 ft level. Some encouragement for ore has been encountered, but on the whole the results were inconclusive.

Although present earnings of Bell Telephone are believed to be running slightly under the $8 dividend requirements, the current dividend, it is stated, will be paid. The recent action of the security indicates the nervousness on the part of holders with regard to the dividend.

Brazilian Traction is currently selling at about the record for the stock touched during the depression, this despite the fact that earnings have shown an improvement for 13 consecutive months and net working capital is up over $19,000,000 in the last four years.

Five of Seven Games Played In Major Loops Won by Players Hitting Ball over Fence

Detroit, Giants, Yankees And Pirates Win by This Route

by ANDY CLARKE
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's still a good way to win ball games this business of belting one out of the park.

There were seven games played in the ten major leagues yesterday, four in the National and three in the American, and five of them were won by the simple strategy of hitting the ball over the barriers.

Hank Greenberg hit his 31st circuit blow of the season, with Gehringer on base to give the truculent Detroit Tigers their margin of victory over Chicago White Sox, 4-3.

Schoolboy Rowe was on the hill for Mickey Cochrane's boys while Ted Lyons performed for the Sox. Rowe went the distance and each allowed eight hits but it was a fatal error on the part of Lyons to allow Greenberg to bash his homer.

One Homer Wins

Greenberg might be expected to do such a thing but there were few at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh who expected Rookie Bud Hafey, who is batting .163, to come out for a round trip. That is exactly what he did, over the scoreboard in left field in the Pirates' lair, that long smash to a 1-0 victory over Cincinnati.

Travis Jackson assumed the hero role in Philadelphia when he stepped to the plate in the ninth with Hank Leiber on base and two out and gave the league leading New York Giants a 3-2 decision over the Phillies. That was coupled with the defeat of Chicago Cubs by the Cardinals, increased the Giant's lead over Chicago to three games.

Tony Cuccinello provided the homer that eliminated a four run rally in Cincinnati and gave Brooklyn Dodgers a 4-3 win over the Boston Bravbs.

Ryan Man of Hour

Red Rolfe was the man of the hour as the Yankees shaded Philadelphia Athletics, 5-4. Don't the share of the laurels in the contest went to John (Shotgun) Ryan, the former Cuban shortstop made his debut as a Yankee by coming up and slapping a clean single to right field as the fans made the walking rival Buffalo Bill Ryan with a single which, with the help of errors, allowed Moriarty to score and then Rolfe banged out his circuit blow.

St. Louis Cardinals defeated Chicago 3-1 behind the six hit pitching of Paul Dean. Joe Medwick hit a homer in this game but it was made with none on and the score would have been the same had Dean pitched almost perfect ball in the last 9½ innings instead of the first 13th victory of the season as against nine defeats.

Cleveland defeated St. Louis Browns 3-3 as Brown rallied with two out in the eighth and ninth innings. Mel Harder, who was credited with the victory, allowed he was removed in the ninth after West and Heusser singled.

Mercantile Softball

Final play-off positions were mantile softball league in the last eventually won in the local Merchants league when it clinched last evening when the London Lunch nine assured themselves of first position with a 5 to 4 victory over the Dench Cigars while the Ontario Intelligencer aggregation sprung a surprise and downed the Simpsons 13-3 thereby giving the "printers" sole possession of second place in the Mercantile standing. The Simpson nine being in third place with two games yet to be played.

With a seven run splurge in the fourth the local "inkslingers" pushed the Simpsons off the second rung of the league ladder with their 12 to 2 lopsided win at the Twomans St. grounds. Harris, hurling for the victorious nine was in good form, blanking the Simpson nine in all innings except the fourth. when they scored their two small runs. Harris also gave five support in the field. Chambers walked three, two being the slugger Tom Rutton and struck out two.

These teams meet again on Monday evening and a win for Wooler will give them the right to represent Trenton in the O.A.S.A. intermediate play-downs. They are a hard hitting aggregation and meet Bert Gould, pitcher with Sagar, pitcher for the Buds will no doubt get the chance on Monday as his injured hand will be in shape. They have hit a bad stride at the wrong time. They finished the regular schedule on top and then their team spirit broke with out a loss.

SINISTER SHADOW

by JOHN GOODWIN

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

He pointed to two tiny pits in the turf, deepish and filled up with the linsey mud that the rain had washed down the slope.

"The only man-tracks I can find around here. Not the rider's. They're four feet in front of the horse's hoofs. Fifty's a most unusual spring deep, an' there was a lot of weight on the man who made 'em if I say he was a heavy man. Now I'm a guess he caught the horses by the bridle an' slopped him. He had to brace himself an' his feet must be hard; the horses were forced back on his haunches. D'you follow that?"

"Yes. Though I'll admit it wouldn't have occurred to me," said Crisp, peering at the foot-prints. "You're right, I should say. Out of my line —but you're that, behind observed. "The idea is that a man on foot, tackled Bannister, who was mounted. And then—"

"What happened after that is a mystery but there's the key to it." He jerked his thumb towards the broken railroad fence a few yards there. "Would a man country' dig his horse's head on a mere fall, that what? No. Then, for. But figure out a struggle here: If he was not staggering from the slope by a man with pith in his muscles, that's what would bale pen; he'd hit the wire, and bounce through on the spring of it like a bow. Not his edge where you see."

"Come an' look down."

They went to the fence and looked over. It stretched along one side of the slope, which continued heavily for a few yards on the farther side, dotted with a few trees and bushes, and a stunted mountain-ash sapling with its roots fastened precariously in the brink a little to the left. Thence there was a sheer drop of another twenty feet to the track to the track.

Doctor Crisp peered down at the spot below, where the body had lain, and shuddered.

"Good God," he said, "don't you think a body falling over there would drop short of the track, I mean, he would scarcely reach the metals—seems a bit too far."

"I think he would," said Howe, "Nothing to hang him. Bear enough to try it out."

He looked round him reflectively, and drawing the bridle up sharply of the fence tight, knotted it firmly to one of the stakes, then swung it to its former state.

Away back at the top of the slope was an old sack hanging on a crossfence of barbed wire, just there it makes the way easy for a foot-passenger without opening the gate or hooking himself on the barbs. He crossed the gate was a ploughed field, and in the centre a clump of mangold roots. Sergeant Howe assumed the sack, filled it with the heavy roots, and tied the neck.

"That's about the weight of a big man's body," he said, as he rolled it on the ground. "Not quite so clear-cut," he said, carrying it down to the site of the hoof-charts. "Doctor, this bag of cattle-fed has to do the duty for Bannister. Sometimes we'll be up to you. Call down and tell Wise to stand clear. Right? Away she goes."

With a heave of his powerful arms Howe sent the sack swinging down. It bumped once, hit the fence, bursting the top wire again and toppling right over as it struck the street below, bounced on the slope beyond the fence, and went rolling and clattering over the sheer cut of the cutting. As it hit the ground there was a sickening, smashing kind that somehow made Doctor Crisp's stomach quiver. Howe peered over.

The sack lay almost touching the metals, at right angles to the track. Just as the body had lain, and a little to the right of the same spot.

"All correct," said Howe, rubbing his big hands gently, either with satisfaction or to brush the dirt from them. That was exactly the way of it, Doctor. Sack weighs about the length of a man, his head or neck would be just over the metals. You'll notice by the way, that one of these little wisps of bramble on the turf is flattened down as if broken—by the passage of a man's body. My self didn't do that. I've done before; I gave it a clear track. Well, there's the job for a newspaper poster, is your murder—eh?"

Doctor Crisp nodded soberly.

"Time's been wasted, Sergeant. Howe sank in this little backwater of a place we've got to get on. Suspected —till now."

"There's another murder," said Howe. "But there's a bit more to it than that, Mr. Quirk. A bit more. There's something we're overlooked."

He returned to the mile-long, methodical survey of the ground and the approaches. It was a desolate, lonely place, overgrown with briars, and had not been worked for years. A few fields beside, and slag-heap an old machine-shed stood on the hillside, open at both ends. The flood of the preceding night had washed through it, covering the stone floor with a deposit of thin grey mud.

"You don't usually learn nothing here" said Crisp.

"It's surprisin' what you can learn if you've the habit of keepin' your eyes skinned. Things that are silent by nature, like stones an' sand an' dead bodies have a way of talkin', but it's a deaf an' dumb language the difficulty is to know just what it is they're tryin' to tell you.

"One thing's sure, Doctor, there was some pretty queer doings round here last night they're a bit puzzling, but, I think I've got them taped. I'll tell you sir, to keep all that to yourself for the present. I don't want it shouted through a megaphone until I'm ready."

"I shall be discretion itself, Sergeant," said Doctor Crisp. Howe, turning away, climbed down the gully on to the track, leaving Crisp to follow as he could.

"A sergeant is just a while ship when it comes to a big game like this," said Howe to himself as he moved back along the line to the spot where the body lay. "There'll be a whole band of sons hustling—inspector, chief constable, an' all. But if I know anything of old Fyth I'll be let on this job for a bit. And I bet I'll finish it."

Old Weed was still keeping watch. Just as Howe arrived F. C. Willet returned to report the ambulance on its way.

"Right, you go. That's you, Willet," said Howe, "Jon, you'll take charge here. Get body to Norchester mortuary. I suppose Dr. Crisp has got to be there by—though Selby ain't the bird I'm anxious about."

Willett shook his head, and drew the sergeant aside.

"There's a bit of news I picked up passing through the village," he said. "From what I've heard from Mr. Coote's house last night, and brought a gal with Dan Bell over to Sudbeing's hotel. Chalmers has released out the girl that's all there."

"Ah," said Mr. . . . "That so? I was wagerin' how long it'd be before we'd be wanted for. Because in this case; it would be mighty queer if there wasn't no warrant for what I do of the late Mr. Bannister Coote. But it's no matter. I told me that much. You stay with Jon, Willett, an' don't let your hair."

At ten o'clock Howe, helmet in hand was standing in the passage way at the King Charles. Sonia, who came out of the little back sitting-room. She was very pale, but her eyes were calm and clear. She was wearing a plain simple frock of dark blue, and she stopped dead at the sight of the big figure in uniform.

"Miss Neil?" said Howe.

She nodded.

"Sergeant Howe. I've got to have a few words with you, Miss Neil in a place where we can be private. I'm handing into a very ugly business; the death of Mr. Coote."

Sonia's eyes half closed; her breathing became a little quicker. Howe, watching her, noted the girl's amazing beauty.

Sonia considered the sergeant for a moment in silence. A large man, his size would have awarded even Brian. The police as a rule have their share of good looks, but she had never seen one before who looked like Jupiter in a blue helmet. Handsome hardly described him. There was a certain stability in the man's features that made her doubt the quality of his mind, until she met his eyes, keen and intelligent.

Without a word she opened the sitting-room door and led the way in.

The sergeant set a chair for Sonia, facing the light and took up a position by the window.

"First, Miss Neil," said Howe, still watching her, "I'd like you to tell me if Mr. Coote's death is news to you?"

Sonia's face turned white.

"Murder?" she said under her breath.

"Foul play. So you'll realise that I've got to get all the information that's going."

Shrugged.

"Or manslaughter. I don't think you quite get the point yet."

The change against whom?" she said slowly. "Have you no suspect?"

"If you don't mind, Miss," said the sergeant. "We shall get on quicker if you'll just answer one or two questions. Now, then, what was your connection with Mr. Coote?"

"One moment," said Sonia, pressing the bell. "I'll tell you anything you want to know, but I can't stand feeling rather faint and shaken." The landlord's daughter answered the bell. "Some coffee, Ann, and my coffee in here—if I don't have anything, sergeant? Yes, I will, you know I'm Coote's friend. Well you know anything, sergeant?"

Howe shook his head, and the door closed.

"Well, you know Mr. Coote of King's Elm, I think?"

"I've known him for over a year. But I only knew him well—quite well yesterday. I was at his house last night."

"And left it—to come here?" Yes."

"Did you come alone?"

"Mr. Brian Chalmers brought me here."

"Do you know where Mr. Chalmers is now?"

"He left for London—last night. He's coming back today."

"Is he?" said the sergeant. "Why did you and Mr. Chalmers quit King's Elm House to come here?"

"I suppose I'd better tell you everything. I went to the house as Mr. Coote's guest, at his invitation. Mr. Chalmers arrived soon after. He's Mr. Coote's cousin, as I suppose you know—and he wasn't expected. There was something of a quarrel between the two men; I was present. This was about the past nine. And very soon after that, I left the house.

Howe made a rapid entry in his notebook.

"This quarrel, at which you were present. What was it about?"

"If you don't mind, Sergeant," said Sonia, "I'd keep the cause of the quarrel, which is entirely private between myself for the present. Shan't we get on quicker if you have that till later and ask me about things that you really want to know?"

Howe looked at her, and nodded. "Very well, just as you like. I want you to realise though that this being a criminal case the facts will have to come out; but I may be able to make things easier for you."

"Easier—for me?" said Sonia. "Well?"

"You came here with Mr. Chalmers, who is Mr. Coote's cousin. You know him well; he is a friend of yours. I take it."

"I am going to marry Mr. Chalmers," said Sonia.

"One night in Rome, after a particularly successful performance an incident occurred destined to alter once more my adventurous career. For some time I had been aware that I was being closely watched; for what reason I did not know. As I entered my limousine a sealed and crested envelope was handed to me."

"Reading its contents and impelled by curiosity, though I was very weary, I had my chauffeur drive to a certain secluded villa. Evidently I was expected for in a luxurious room a man awaited me. I recognized him as Prince Alexis Olinska, whom I had met in Moscow. Recently, whenever I danced in the ballet, I had observed his piercing eyes following my every movement.

"Speaking in Russian, which my French maid did not understand, he unfolded his scheme. I listened, amazed by his brash-lating words. In the words following this midnight meeting, I came to know Prince Alexis well. Brilliant and charming, we had much in common, until I discovered his FINAL self.

"For underneath the prince's suave exterior (I later learned his title was assumed) hid an altogether unscrupulous person in whose heart flamed but one consuming purpose. He was the most valued secret agent of the Reds. For what purpose I was to win my needed aid. Then, before it happened, I knew that war, in its latest horror, was imminent. I decided upon a med, dangerous and thrilling game.

Altogether 783 Have Been Placed In Gainful Employments.

Toronto, Aug. 9 (CP)—Dull weather that retarded the harvest slowd down the farm placement program yesterday when 83 men from the unemployed ranks were signed up for farm jobs under the Ontario Government harvest help scheme.

Yesterday's figure raised the total to 783. It is stated by department officials with the men placed on farms directly through agricultural representatives approximately 200 have been found jobs since the first order made by Premier Hepburn towards purging the relief rolls.

Department reports showed the demand for experienced farm hands in the Brampton and Stratford districts exceeded the supply. Premier Hepburn again appealed to farmers through departmental channels to try out inexperienced men willing to work as the demand for old timers had exceeded the supply.

BELL CELEBRATES 59TH BIRTHDAY

Average of 50,000 Long Distance Calls a Day Made

Fifty-nine years ago today — on August 10th, 1876 — only one long distance telephone talk was held, and that only in one direction.

Assuming that today is an average day in telephone usage, approximately 50,000 long distance conversations will be held in Ontario and Quebec over lines of or connecting with the Bell Telephone Company.

The first successful transmission of the human voice in this way connected Brantford with Paris, Ont., over a line of the old Dominion Telegraph Company, several miles long and energized by battery power located in Toronto. In commemoration of this historic incident in telephony, the Blue Bell ensign in flying today atop the Bell Telephone premises here and throughout the two provinces.

Speakers at Brantford on that fateful day in '76 were clearly heard and their voices recognized through the Paris receiver by Alexander Graham Bell, who invented the telephone at Brantford in 1874, and by others present with him. They could not speak to Brantford over the one-receiver line, but contented themselves with telegraphing back the success of this important experiment.

Now, on the average day, approximately 50,000 long distance and just under 5,000,000 local telephone calls are completed in Ontario and Quebec. From Canada, telephone users are enabled to have telephone contact with some 30,000,000 other telephones in sixty countries and with passengers aboard at least twenty ships on the high seas.

STORAGE PLANT AT BOSTON BURNS

The Unofficial Damage is Estimated at $350,000

Boston, Aug. 10 (CP)—The Boston waterfront was threatened for a time as fire of undetermined origin broke out in the Quincy Grain Storage plant, a huge brick structure. Fire apparatus from all sections of the city brought the flames under control with the aid of fireboats. The first unofficial estimate of damage was $350,000.

Fireman Albert Mitchell suffered back injuries in a 30-foot fall from a ladder as he tried to reach the roof.

Rows of wharves line the front of the plant on either side with the East Boston ferry at the door. A lookout did much to prevent spread of the flames on the water side by pulling tugs like ferry slip and sending streams of water into the adjoining slands.

The building is located on Atlantic Avenue, not far from the wharves of Bethlehem Steel Co. Wharf, containing offices and apartments, is directly behind the plant but escaped the flames.

The plant is in the centre of the wholesale market district and traffic was tied up. Extra police details were summoned from all stations and several ambulances were on hand.

W. E. MacRAW
Chrysler Chief Engineer

Chief Engineer for Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited, is now released from all other duties and will devote his entire time to engineering matters affecting the operations of Chrysler Motors in Canada.

Commenting on this change, Mr. John D. Mansfield, President of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Ltd., stated, "Rapidly expanding Canadian operations demand that our Chief Engineer's entire energies be devoted to engineering problems peculiar to Canadian conditions.

One of the outstanding reasons for the popularity of Chrysler built cars has been the ability of our engineers to interpret the needs and the desires of the public. This is often referred to as "Sales Sense" a quality which all engineers will recognize as not common in their profession.

The enlarged opportunity now affected Mr. McCraw will enable him to use this quality (which he possesses in a marked degree) even more effectively in maintaining the Chrysler reputation for interpreting the needs of the motoring public."

Enter the Villain

By CHET GRANT

George Blake was seeing Mabel Porter home from a Young People's Dramatic club rehearsal of "The Old Red Mill." His wreck of a car—the Iron Horse—shuddered as its racing motor split the quiet winter evening with anguished roars. They were parked before Mabel's house.

"Well, personally," Georgie was saying, "I can't see this Mortimer Jenks with a telescope."

"You couldn't," Mabel answered with a tinge of scorn. "Mortimer is a finished actor."

"Finished is right," Georgie growled. "He's terrible." The Iron Horse roared at the night as Georgie pumped the throttle.

"Who's he, I'd like to know, to get the best part in the whole show?"

Mortimer is a true Thespian," Mabel retorted with dignity. "He's a born actor, and he attends an extensive dramatic school. But you should kick; you have one of the best parts."

"Sure," Georgie cried cynically, "I should kick. Do I get a chance to make love to you? Only twice and I get slapped both times. And by the way, when you start slapping, go easy. And remember this is a play and don't take these love scenes with this Mortimer so serious."

A light appeared in an upper window of Mabel's house, a signal which she quickly observed.

"Well, good-night, Georgie," she said with sweet womanly patience, "You mustn't be silly about all this."

"Silly!" Georgie yelped. "And you makin' love with a big stiff like—"

Mabel stamped her foot. "Georgie Blake," she shouted. "I'll make love when and where and with whom I like!"

"Mabel!"

A heavy masculine voice cleaved the night air. The moonlight gleamed on Mr. Porter's bald head in the upper window. "Mabel, send that idiot home and come in the house. It's after one o'clock."

"Yes, pater," Mabel called. There was a snort and the window slammed.

"Patter," Georgie crowed. "Oh, death! Dear, Mortimer Jenks! Hey, Mabel, are you crazy?"

"Well, at least, he's refined," Mabel screeched above the din.

"Refined, ha," Georgie rejoined, "and when I swat him he'll be granulated."

"Ha!" Mabel scorned, drawing herself up to her full height. "Comb and ermine wrap. The Iron Horse roared away from the street flapping its fenders. The neighbors turned thankfully in their beds and went to sleep.

The last week of rehearsals George held in cell. It was apparent to him that Mabel was going far out of her way to insure "The Old Red Mill" a success. It was hard enough watching his girl of long standing be kissed, making love with a stagy on the stage, but when she let the stagy see her kisses Savagely Georgie planned revenge.

On the fateful night the town hall auditorium was packed to the doors. Mabel was lovely in a new gown and Mortimer Jenks hovered about her until Georgie's red hair stood on end.

The performance went successfully toward a stirring third act. Mabel and Mortimer billed and cooed until Georgie was nearly beneath of his senses. Under the lash of his indignation he made his part so real the audience positively hated him and when Mortimer made his dramatic entrance to rescue Mabel from Georgie's clutches there was a shout of acclaim.

Silence settled on the house. Tense, the audience waited for the hero to settle the villain's hash. But although Georgie cringed before the triumphant and handsome Mortimer, he was gritting to himself, "I'll do it, by heck! I'll do it!"

Mortimer kissed Mabel and then advanced to Georgie. "Do you admit defeat?" he thundered while observing insolence.

Every head turned toward Georgie. It was his cue to mutter, "Curses, zerve!" make an attempt to escape and be overpowered by Mortimer. Instead, his voice soared to the farthest seat as exultant like that wasn't in the script.

"Come and get it, Lollypop!"

He shot a straight hard left to Mortimer's nose, the latter smiled with his right, but in his excitement and anxiety he missed by a foot. There was a howl from the audience. Mortimer Jenks was everywhere at once. Georgie did his best, but he was no match for all the fists he packed into him. A thousand and one rained across his vision and the certain cane down to thunderous applause.

Georgie changed over quickly and made an appearance on the stage. He was lame and sore in a hundred places. His jaw hurt like fury.

"Georgie, you were grand!"

The moon was behind a cloud and Mabel stood there looking almost like Sarah Bernhardt offering pills.

"Thanks," Georgie mumbled through bruised lips. "Come on and I'll see you home."

"No, dear, not now." Mabel spoke from the heights of her dramatic success. "Mortimer is seeing me home in his Stutz Bight."

"What!"

"Yes, Mortimer is the eastern pacific coast champion and the other would like to meet him."

"What did you say?" she asked dreamily.

"Nothing." Georgie groaned. "My jaw cracked!"

Kansas City, Aug. 13 (CP)—"The days are long, but there is child in the Zoo romance of Danny and Sally, Swope Park citizens learned.

Two weeks ago, when Danny ordered and young, was first introduced to Sally, it appeared to be down in the dumps. Sally, too, was unsatisfied.

But upon being introduced, Sally seems to have had interest.

Now, the pair are the center of attraction of the monkey colony at the Zoo, probably have more fun than any other residents of Chester Park.

Napa, Aug. 12 (CP) The body recently left the jail but Joseph Dominic Bonfanti completed the case here. He freed the three prisoners with the assistance of friends who smuggled a revolver to them. He fired the three prisoners with the stolen weapon, then surrendered to police and told them he had killed a man.

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 13 (CP)—Mrs. and Raymond Paige $100, but he put his orchestra on radio playing for the couple on the air-cool public.

Alsace, Pa., and brother, you have found $100 for shopping a brother with a coin, says his wife, Frederick Wunderlich of United States.

Paige explained he had been disturbed with the playing of John Philip Sousa's marches. He was on probation and handed a haybasket to prove he was a gentleman.

China Now Bans Vanity Fair Magazine

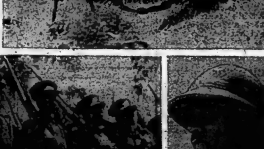
Shanghai, Aug. 12 (CP-Havas)—Chinese authorities finally banned the publication in China of the New York magazine Vanity Fair today in deference to Japanese sensibilities.

The Japanese Consul had objected to sale of the Japanese consular in a caricature of Emperor Hirohito that led to the Japanese protests in Washington.

Refusal of $7,500 Inheritance Reveals Mother's Hidden Secret

Austin, Minn., Aug. 13 (AP)—A closed she was only a half sister of mother's secret came to light in the refusal of one of her daughters to accept a $7,500 inheritance from a dead half sister's estate.



Notifying Probate Judge Henry Weber she would enjoin court action to force the inheritance upon her, Mrs. Ettie Catherine Dunning of Seattle, Wash., declared she had never seen a stillborn or an exception before an heir refused into service to defend Rhineland from the menace of attack from Italy. ## GENERAL NAGATA ASSASSINATED BY POLITICAL ENEMY

Able Militarist of Japanese Army Blamed For Upheaval

KILLED WITH SWORD

Tokyo Police Officer Wounded Trying to Protect Leader

Tokyo, Aug. 12.—(CP-Havas)—Gen. Tetsuzan Nagata, head of the Military Affairs Bureau of the War Ministry, was assassinated today by a political opponent in the army, Col. Hideo Mini, Tokyo Police Chief, was dangerously wounded trying to protect him from the assassin, Lieutenant Colonel Aizawa, who invaded the War Office and slashed Gen. Nagata repeatedly with his sword. The General died several hours later.

General Senjuro Hayashi, Minister of War, is said to have prepared his resignation over the affair. Nagata was one of his strongest supporters.

Able Militarist

Nagata, as regarded as one of Japan's ablest militarists, was made virtual administrative head of the army last July 16, when Hayashi's faction succeeded in ousting General Jinsaburo Masaki as Director General of military education and gaining control of war administration.

Aizawa called upon Nagata this morning in his rooms in the War Office, a heated argument took place, during, it was stated, in the lesser office drawing his sword. The War Office immediately improvised all details of the affair and the most obscure attempts were made to avoid commenting on it. Aizawa was promptly arrested. Meantime Lieutenant General Count Vice Minister of War and other high military officials were summoned to an emergency meeting to discuss the grave crisis thus arising from what is certain to be regarded as an outrage.

Despite the secrecy of the attaches of the War Office, the feeling is general in the Japanese capital that the discontent that spread among officers with the ouster of Masaki. The ouster was accompanied by a shakeup among other militarists, ministers and other high officers and Nagata, as administrative head, was the target of the dissatisfied.

It was revealed Colonel Mini was assigned to Nagata's confidential staff affairs, when Aizawa arrived there.

Aizawa, officer on the active list, is well known here.

He immediately attracted attention according to one who said he intervened and was hurt attempting to protect Nagata. A slave thrust through the chest killed the Director General, Mini said.

Process Tax Suits May Exceed 1,000

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—With fresh recruits daily rushing to the fight against AAA, government lawyers predicted today the processing taxes will face more than 1,000 attacks on courtroom fronts by mid-week.

Led by wheat millers, cotton ginners, silk manufacturers and processors of every "basic commodity" have joined the fray.

PRISONER SUICIDES ON POISON GAS 'EGGS'

Florence, Ariz., Aug. 12 (AP)—Poison gas "eggs" from the new Mexico State Prison chamber killed Frank O. Hutchinson, but penitentiary officials said today it is a suicide instead of an institution.

Hutchinson, serving a life term for slaying his wife 11 years ago, stole the "eggs" and walked two miles from the prison where his body was found.

Apparently he had dropped the poison into his tin cup, filled with water, and breathed the fumes.

Negroes, Italians Riot in New York

Jersey City, N.J., Aug. 12.—Five persons were injured and ten arrested Sunday in a bloody race riot between negroes and Italians here.

Bitterness over the impending Italo-Ethiopian conflict started the riot, police said.

Clubs, knives and a gun were used by the 100 or more rioters. Heads were crushed as the fighting mob and mob clashed in the street.

Twenty police rushed, forcing their way among the battlers, arresting leaders.

Those arrested were taken to Police Headquarters, while doctors at Jersey City medical center worked over the injured.

Police learned that two incidents which had up to now been unreported, fomenting the disturbance. An Italian shot his wife, they said, a hesten two nights ago as they stepped from an automobile at a street corner, near where today's fight began.

1000 REDS BESIEGE MILLS

Tokyo, Aug. 12 (CP-Havas)—The Japanese gunboats Kotaka and Atsuta were speeding today to Tsitsihar, Shantai Province, in North China, to rescue employees of the Japanese-owned steel mills there who are besieged by a force of 1,000 Communists.

Sea Turtle Drags Boat 100 Feet

Boston, Aug. 12 (AP)—An 800 pound sea turtle which fishermen said dragged the 21-foot Gloucester fishing boat Santa Maria 100 feet, was placed on display at the Boston fish pier today.

Captain Peter Mercurio said his crew lassoed the "leather-back" turtle, eight feet from head to tail, after it became entangled in their mackerel nets.

The crew tied the rope to the 70-ton fishing vessel and returned to their duties of landing mackerel. Captain Mercurio said he was surprised a few minutes later to see his boat had been dragged more than 100 feet by the turtle. A few well directed rifle shots killed the turtle.

COUNTY BOARDS FOR EDUCATION ARE ADVOCATED

Efficiency of County Units is Urged By J. Noseworthy

SCHOOL COST PROBLEM

County School Boards Advised For Secondary Education

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Enlargement of educational administration units to provide for county school boards to control both elementary and secondary education was suggested today to the special committee appointed by the Ontario Government to investigate school costs and methods.

J. Noseworthy, representing the Ontario Rural Mail Couriers' Federation, made the proposal. Mr. Noseworthy maintained County Boards instead of Township Boards and School Sections would be a far more efficient method of administration eliminating inequalities and disadvantages to both teachers and taxpayers.

He pointed out there are 5,000 school districts in the province and he urged if not for elementary, at least for secondary education, county units should be established.

Attitude of Farms

Mr. Noseworthy admitted it would be a long time before farmers of Ontario would consent to the idea of a united tax, he said, it would be a long time before any provincial government would force such on the province against the wishes of the farmers.

V. E. Greer, chief inspector of schools and a member of the committee, also pointed out county boards would eliminate inequalities in the payment of school costs.

E. J. Evans, Reeve of West Gwillimbury, appealed for re-appointment of school costs to lighten the load on the farmer and suggested school taxes might be based on actual earnings rather than on property assessments.

Bandits Disguised As Truck Drivers Hold Up Banker

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 12 (AP)—Two holdup men, disguised as drivers of ice cream trucks, today shagged a bank employee in the waiting room of Hood & Sons, Inc., ice cream plant, and escaped with at least $7,000.

First reports from the company placed the loss at $20,000. It was in a brief case carried by Anthony Rocco, employee of the State Street Trust Company of Boston, police said.

CANADIAN ISSUE MEETS FAVOR

2.5 Per Cent Bonds Are Placed at 97 7-8 Bid

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Investment banking circles reported an enthusiastic reception for the $15,000,000 of Dominion of Canada 2 1-2 percent bonds offered publicly by a syndicate here today.

At the offices of the first Boston Corp., which headed the offering group, it was said the issue had been completely placed. Others in the syndicate generally indicated they could have sold more than the amount originally placed.

The bonds were quoted in the "when issued" market at 97 7-8 bid. The offering price was 97 3-4 and accrued interest.

14 Miners Are Drowned By Underground Water

Grenoble, Italy, Aug. 13 (AP)—Fourteen miners were drowned today in the lignite mines in the mountain town of Ribiere when a subterranean torrent suddenly flooded the excavations.

STORMY WEATHER WINS

Plymouth, England, Aug. 13 (AP)—Phillip Lobguillier's yacht, Stormy Weather, with Roderick Stephens Jr. at skipper, today won the 160-mile fastest cup race from the Isle of Wight around the coast of Ireland to Plymouth.

With a handicap of 16 hours, three minutes, 18 seconds over the scratch boat, Kismet III, Stephens drove Stormy Weather across the finish line only one hour, 42 minutes, and 21 seconds behind Kismet to score a decisive triumph against 17 starters.

Mixed Race Marriages Banned in Germany

Berlin, Aug. 12 (CP-Havas)—A decree issued by Minister of Justice Franz Guertner today prohibited all civil and State officials from performing marriages of any couples not "of the same race."

The latest order was the most sweeping Nazi ruling of its kind since it made it impossible for any two persons of dissimilar racial strains to be married in the Reich.

Earlier decrees have referred only to marriages between "Aryans" and non-Aryans."

1,000,000 Men Il Duce's Objective

Rome, Aug. 12 (AP)—Orders distributed today included mobilization of Italian forces of 500,000 men for war maneuvres in Northern Italy, August 24, bringing the total Italian army to a strength approaching 1,500,000 men which Mussolini set as his objective for October.

The mobilization of August 24 has been announced as designed for maneuvres in the Brenner Pass area.

Mentally Unbalanced Man Found Swimming 150 Miles From Shore

Boston, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Walter Robillard, 22-year-old Bostonian, was under the care of doctors today after a long swim in the open sea 150 miles from shore.

It was by mere chance Robillard was found by the trawler Ripple yesterday a half hour after he jumped from the fishing boat Notre Dame on which he was a passenger.

Swimming strongly in a choppy sea, Robillard, clad in a white heavy roll-neck sweater, khaki trousers and brown shoes had to be dragged aboard a dory launched by the crew of the Ripple.

The unidentified magier of the Notre Dame told the Associated Press is a wireless message Robillard "went overboard unseen and the circumstances unknown." After fishing alongside the Ripple at 10 a.m., and he was not missed until a message was received from the Ripple at 5 p.m."

Coastguard headquarters, notified of the rescue by Captain Samuel Sorenson of the Ripple, sent a coast guard Amphibian plane to bring Robillard ashore.

Then Captain Sorenson told the Associated Press the circumstances.

"While fishing on George's banks," he advised, "we sighted the Notre Dame and I was amazed to see a man swimming in the water. We rescued him by forcibly hauling him aboard a lifeboat. He was then provided with food and him first aid, since he was fully conscious. Sleeping seemed to recover rapidly."

Robillard, aged five feet, ten inches tall, and weighing about 180 pounds, calmed down considerably but he was taken aboard the Ripple about 150 miles due east of Provincetown on the tip of Cape Cod.

Coast guard aviators, who flew from Chatham to Provincetown for Robillard mumbled incoherently about his ordeal.

He was taken to Chelsea Marine Hospital where Dr. John T. Hassett, hospital surgeon, said the only information Robillard would or could give was that he had jumped from the Notre Dame about a half hour before he was saved.

Later Robillard was transferred to the Boston psychopathic hospital.

"Danger of World War" Is Foretold by Emperor; Italy Feels Future Dark

Haile Selassie Affirms Faith in Britain And France

TRI-POWER MEETING

Labor Council Protests Supply of Meat to Italy

(By the Canadian Press)
Italian leaders gave a cold reception today to Emperor Haile Selassie's offer to cede a portion of Ethiopian territory to Italy in return for financial aid and an outlet to the sea.

While the Ethiopian Emperor told his chieftains, Ethiopia based its hopes for peace on the impartiality of the League of Nations, to consider the whole dispute next month, dispatches from Rome indicated there was faint hope there the Tri-power meeting late this week would be able to accomplish anything. It was also asserted a weakening of the Stresa united front of Britain, France and Italy was inevitable.

The South African Trades and Labor Council protested against a reported contract with the South African Government for the supply of 5,000 tons of meat to the Italian troops in East Africa.

Impartiality of League

Addis Ababa, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie foretold the "danger of another World War" in an address at the Palace today to the civil, military and religious authorities of Ethiopia.

He said the Empire places its hope for peace with Italy "in the impartiality of the League of Nations." Referring to the Great War, he added, "history is repeating itself in this crisis."

Intelligence to Cede

Ethiopia never desired to hurt Italy's interests and prestige, he reiterated, Yesterday he had declared Ethiopia was willing to cede a portion of Ethiopian province in the south if she could be assured financial help and an outlet to the sea in return.

Leaders were summoned to hear the address following a crown council meeting.

Discussing the Paris conversations between France, Italy and Great Britain beginning Saturday, Haile Selassie referred to them as "the meeting to which we have not been invited."

Although it is impossible to foretell the result of this meeting," he added, "the end of the rainy season is approaching. Despite all the means being employed to find a peaceful solution, if the conquest of Italy continues unceasingly to send her armies and materials to her two adjoining colonies."

Faith in Britain, France

Reaffirming his faith in Britain in the "Great and Powerful" Great Britain and France, the Emperor pledged his country's readiness to "collaborate loyally and frankly with all nations regardless of race or religion who collaborate loyally and loyally with Ethiopia."

Haile Selassie reiterated Ethiopia's determination to defend the ancient empire 'to the last drop of blood' and to the last cartridge."

Rome, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Faint hopes for reconciliation of the "Stresa front" prevailed in informed circles today as Italy's delegation prepared to depart tonight for Paris for conversations in Paris Thursday and Friday on the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian controversy.

BODIES SHIPPED TO UNITED STATES

Seven Lose Lives in Worst Accident in Quebec in Years

Montreal, Aug. 12 (CP)—Ormuzd Lorenzo Prince today returned a verdict of accidental death at the inquest into the deaths of seven persons killed in a collision between their automobile and a Canadian National Railways Diesel train here late Saturday.

Three were killed instantly, when their heavy car was struck Saturday at the crossing three miles south of Lapraire. Four more died a few minutes after they were removed from the wreckage without recovering consciousness. Only one lived after the accident to say "we are going to Montreal" then relapsed and died in the ambulance en route to St. John's Hospital.

Those Killed

The dead:

Charles Talbot, 61, Waterville, Que., the family car was spoke after the crash; his wife, Mrs. Charles Talbot, 56; Dr. Ovide Talbot, 32, and Hippolyte Talbot, 32, both nephews of the elder Talbots; Rev. Bruno Lamoureux, curate of Lapraire, 28; Rev. Gerard Lamoureux, 25, brother of Rev. Bruno Lamoureux, 28, sister of Mrs. Talbot, 27.

Brides of the four Talbots were shipped to Waterville, Que., for burial Wednesday. Funeral services for the religious brothers will be held in Montreal and for Mrs. Genesse at Magog.

Yielded Place in Car

Identification of the bodies was made yesterday at the morgue at Montreal by Cyril Talbot, son of Charles. He had yielded his place in the Talbot car, when Mrs. Genesse, with whom they had stayed overnight, wished to take the trip to Montreal.

The party was returning to Magog along the Montreal-St. John's highway, when the train crashed into the side of the car as it straddled the southbound side of the double track. Both were reported travelling at high speed at the time. The engine of the upper part of the car was tossed into the ditch and the lower half with its seven occupants was carried 300 yards down the right-of-way.

The train was derailed by the collision and traffic on the southbound track held up for more than two hours.

City and District News

MANY PLEASURE BOATS IN THE BAY

Proof, that more pleasure and commercial craft have entered the local port from United States points this season is furnished by the Bridge Office, Picton, where number of boats examined by the local customs officer following entry in port is considerably above that for the same period in preceding years.

ONLY ONE RUN FOR THE FIRE BRIGADE

A summons to a chimney fire in a McDonald Avenue home at 9.30 o'clock Saturday evening, was the only alarm answered by members of the local fire department over the week-end. Extra vigilance on the part of the firemen was maintained however, owing to the dry condition of the grass in vacant lots through the city and buildings thereon.

BAND CONCERT MUCH ENJOYED

Between three hundred and four hundred local citizens, who gathered in the cool surroundings of the local Agricultural Park on Sunday evening applauded the efforts of the Belleville Municipal Band who rendered another program of the summer series under the direction of Bandmaster Lieutenant Jobson. Stirring marches, overtures and vocal numbers were included in the musical treat, which was so thoroughly enjoyed. Outside the park scores of cars found parking space while occupants listened to the concert.

DEPARTMENT REPLACES SERVICE BUTTONS

Replacement of lost returned man's service buttons which were issued to all troops who saw active service overseas, when changed over the army, is now possible, for local ex-soldiers of the city and district who had the misfortune to lose their lapel buttons have received substitutes from the Department of Defence. The procedure to follow is to write the Department, at Ottawa and from there a form will be sent in which particulars are asked. New copies of the discharge button that have been lost may also be secured from the department.

PARTRIDGE TO BE PLENTIFUL

Partridges will be plentiful this season, according to reports of residents of northern part of the county, who declare their numbers noticeably increased this year. A favorable hatching summer and plentiful supply of food this season has contributed to the increase. The birds are reported tame and easily approached.

BANCROFT PUPIL WINS WARDEN'S MEDAL

Frank Morton of Bancroft Public School, received the highest mark at the entrance examinations, and is therefore the winner of the Warden's Medal for Bancroft this year. Frank's record is the outstanding one as he received an honor mark in every subject. His teacher was Mr. James Warren.

START WORK AT DOCK QUITE SOON

"Other than the telegram received Ottawa, advising me of the acceptance of my tender for the contract, I have had no official as yet regarding the fill at the government dock," stated Mr. Walter Patterson, president of the Patterson Construction Company of this city, today. "We'll be ready a pretty good bridge to hold up under that," pointed out the chief.

Mr. Dino, Leo, engineer of the Bickle Company, has returned to Mondovale, after having been for the past three days teaching six members of the local department the operation of the new machine.

CANNING GOODS SENT TO MONTREAL

The tail end of last season's canning in this district constituted the bulk of the load of canned goods of Belleville port this morning by the steamer Sarah Allan on her regular weekly run to Montreal. Over 1000 cases of canned goods, together with a large shipment of cheese made up the load.

With ports aglow with light, and the laughter and conversation of the voyagers rippling over the water the pleasure boat, Sarah Allan, passed up the bay, Toronto-bound shortly before the eight o'clock landing. The boat, which now makes regular week-end trips west and east, did not stop in the city.

GROUNDHOG TOO MUCH FOR CAT

Dan, husky barn cat owned by Frank Sills, on the Marshall Road, is no longer believed to be ambitious, alive and leary.

About this time last year the pugnacious feline, unaware of the results that might follow, tackled a full-grown skunk on the premises. Since then skunks have been given a wide berth and the freedom of the farm.

This week he is reating up and healing time, for every viewpoint doubting he has yet received. A short grazing log over this week-end removed most of the fur from the cat's face and inflicted deep cuts through the flesh to the bone.

FAIR BUILDINGS TO BE REPAIRED

Decayed sills and supports of the entrances to the various permanent buildings on the Exhibition Grounds are being removed, replaced and strengthened by a gang of city employees of the Parks Board who have been working there for the greater several days. A small concrete mixer is supplying material for new steps and platforms at each point of repair.

POLICE SEARCH FOR LONSDALE BOY

Provincial Police today were asked to search for a young man named John Sabo, of Lonsdale, 16-year-old Lonsdale youth who disappeared from his home early last week. According to the O.P.P. the youth is alleged to have stolen a Shannonville and headed westward last Friday. He is believed to have secured a motor vehicle in the city district. The lad is described as being five feet two inches in height and weighing about 135 pounds. He is of dark complexion and is wearing dark pinstripe and a white sweater when last seen. His parents, who reside in Lonsdale, are anxious to hear of their son's whereabouts and have communicated the services of the O.P.P. for that purpose.

FAIR CHAIRMEN ARE APPOINTED

Overflow of Cattle Exhibits to be Housed in Tents

With the naming of committees last week, officials of the local Fair Board are now completing arrangements for the final stages of Fair Week, which will commence in this city on August 27 and continue until midnight of August 30th.

Increase in appropriations for prize lists, more registrations than ever before received, and the fact that this year Belleville Fair has been lifted to Class "B" rating, makes possible the prediction that this year's annual event will be the largest yet held.

To accommodate the overflow of exhibits, particularly in livestock, large tents are being rented by members of the Board which will be erected just west of the present permanent buildings, and at other spots. The tents are being used in lieu of new buildings, the construction of which was at first suggested. Chairmen of the various committees are:—Finance H. E. Fairfield; Grounds and Buildings—R. J. Snell; Midway—Jack Clarke; Attractions—C. J. Symons; Music—L. R. Wallbridge; Building—R. J. Ketcheson; Advertising—C. J. # FAREWELL SERMON DELIVERED TWICE

Rev. J. S. McMullen Presented With Purse by Congregation

Farewell sermons at Centre Street Church and Dundas Street Mission were delivered on Sunday evening and on Sunday by Rev. J. S. McMullen, who is leaving with his household, moving to Toronto on Wednesday. Rev. Mr. McMullen has faithfully served these two congregations for the past nine years and had been invited to complete a ninth term, but continued ill health of Mrs. McMullen brought about the change plans. The pastor took as his text "Finally, brethren farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of Love and Peace shall be with you." and delivered the same sermon to each congregation. At the evening service at Dundas Street Mission, he was assisted by Bishop Bigger, Dr. Marsden Rev. Robert Hall and Rev. J. D. P. Knox and Rev. Mr. Hicks.

At the conclusion of the morning service at Centre Street, Mr. S. S. Collins, treasurer of the congregation read an appropriate address and presented Rev. Mr. McMullen a fountain pen and to Mrs. McMullen a purse of gold. spread.

The pastor on behalf of himself and wife thanked the congregation for the token of appreciation and also for their kindness in him during his pastorate.

STEVENS CALLED "PRETENDER" BY PREMIER HEPBURN

Comes Into Campaign to Better Social Condition of Ontario

FIGURES QUOTED

Provincial Revenue to Increase Over Ten Millions Claimed

Oakville, Ont., Aug. 12 (CP) — Improvement of social conditions for the citizens of Ontario is Premier Hepburn's main idea in entering the Dominion election campaign in favor of Liberal Leader Mackenzie King.

Election of Mr. King would make the improving a practical one, the Premier told a Liberal Rally here Saturday night in favor of Hughes Cleaver, Liberal candidate for Halton constituency in the Federal House.

"What a fine thing it will be, when nine Liberal Provincial Premiers can all around a table with Mackenzie King at the head to map out policies bound to improve conditions generally through the land," he remarked. "Right now we are hampered through no co-operation at Ottawa from Premier Bennett."

Considerable attention was paid to Hon. H. H. Stevens, leader of the Reconstruction Party. He described Mr. Stevens as a "political opportunist" and a "pressure-artist." Had five by-elections in Ontario been favorable to the Conservatives he told the crowd, "Harry Stevens would not have deserted the Tory party."

Antagonistic to Bennett

Premier Hepburn declared Hon. Duncan Marshall, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, had been instrumental on a recent trip to Great Britain with the antagonistic feeling there for Premier Bennett.

"They feel they've been done in on account of the Ottawa Trade Agreements. Mr. Bennett has seen fit to impose," he asserted.

The name of Mackenzie King had never been linked with "bumbug," he proceeded. Before he left office he prophesied would result in revised trade treaties with the United States with a consequent boom to Ontario agriculture in lumber interests. President F. D. Roosvelt admired Mr. King, he observed, a regard not held by Premier Bennett.

The challenge is up to you," he concluded "You'll be the sufferers if you don't register your protest at the war Bennett has inflicted the country's affairs."

Revenues to Increase

Provincial revenues at the end of the year will show an increase of between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 Premier Hepburn announced.

The added revenue, he said, to be secured by retrenchment in Government expenditures, increased amusement taxes and a determined effort to get more than heretofore its unconsidered due from a more bellicose Ottawa.

"You may be sure of one thing," he continued, "that is if Conservatives win next October by-elections all over the country Harry Stevens would not be associated with the Tory ship".

Every time a Conservative Government was in power depression followed, he declared. Premier Hepburn added. So much so "there's many a Tory today who hangs his head in shame for contributing to the defeat of Sir Wilfrid Laurier over the Reciprocity issue."

At that time the Conservative Cry was trade or no truck with the Yankees, he recalled. Now, the roles were reversed and President Roosevelt would have no truck at all with the Bennett Government, he declared.

One of his main reasons to enter the campaign at the Premier said was because he wanted to contribute toward the bettering of social conditions in Ontario.

"What a fine thing it will be when nine Liberal Provincial Premiers can all around a table with Mackenzie King at the head to map out policies bound to improve conditions generally throughout the land," he remarked. "Right now we are hampered through no co-operation at Ottawa from Premier Bennett."

Hecklier Checked

To a heckler, who interrupted him, Premier Hepburn retorted "you are probably one of those earning your pocket from the sweat of somebody else's brow."

"Yes, like Jimmy Simpson," the heckler replied, somebody said in referring to the Mayor of Toronto.

"Exactly," the Premier shot back, "like Jimmy Simpson."

Figures were then quoted by Premier Hepburn to show he said that Ontario's trade was adversely affected during the Bennett regime. He told the crowd that exports from 1926-30 he said the value of imports into this country was $4,234,178,276. Total exports were $4,272,830,814 and total trade $11,960,960,090. The average annual total trade he set at $2,372,192,188.

During the Bennett Government the figures from 1930-35 were quoted as follows: Imports into Canada, $2,857,878,701; total exports, $3,007,-194,403; total trade $5,865,026,156 an average annual total trade, $1,-190,985,038. "What," he asked, "was the blasting of world trade all over into the markets of the world."

Premier Hepburn asserted Canada's national debt, including guarantees, had increased $1,500,000,000 under Premier Bennett's tenure of office. Under Liberal Governments of King-Laurier-Gouin the interest charges were reduced by $350,000,000 he said.

CROLL HASTENS RETURN

Toronto, Aug. 12 (CP)—Hon. David A. Croll, Minister of Public Welfare, and Leader of Municipal Affairs, returns to Queen's Park before the end of the week. Cutting short his visit to Europe as a result of the reorganization of the Ontario Government during his absence, Mr. Croll sailed on the Empress of Britain Saturday and is expected here Friday.

MONEY IS OBJECT OF TWO BREAK-INS

Shell Gas And McCarthy Milling Company Offices Entered

Two successful break-ins in Belleville netted robbers little for their efforts over the week and when the offices of the Shell Gasoline Agency and the McCarthy Milling Co., on George St., were both entered and ransacked, but nothing of value was taken, money is believed to have been the object of the break-in, as the safes in both places of business were disturbed, also the empty cash drawers.

Although nearby residents today claimed to have heard disturbances in that vicinity early Sunday morning, the robberies were not reported to the police until late Sunday. Plainclothes Constable Fred Izard investigated and found that entrance had been made in both cases through rear windows. In the Shell Gasoline office papers and other articles were removed from drawers in a hubbub the robbers were searching for something definite, police believe to be money. Failing to open the office safe the robbers left the building and centred their activities at the McCarthy Milling Co., where the contents of an open safe were strewn about the floor. Again money was apparently the objective of the robbers as nothing was removed from either building.

A private house on the East Hill was also entered over the week and and clothing stolen, leading local police to the view firmly convinced that transients may have been the offenders. Late Sunday night, under the direction of Sergeant Arthur Mouth, local police scoured the city and brought many transient persons sleeping in parks and box cars to the police station for scrutiny. Several in all were caught in the police net, but nothing of value found on their persons. These transients were liberated from the police station early today and told to keep away from this city in the future. On Saturday night only one transient applied at the police station for a night's lodging. The investigation looking into the two robberies and break-ins is still in progress, however.

POLICE BLOTTER

Although local police busied themselves repeatedly preserving law and order over the week end, no serious crime was reported with the exceptions of two break-ins that netted the burglars nothing amongst much effort and their loot time. No major motor accidents were reported in the Belleville sector, despite the heavy motor traffic that was in progress, especially on Sunday.

In the month of November, 1933, Gerald Bulker, 23 Colborne St., reported the loss of his bicycle, that had been stolen from its parking place in the downtown area. On Saturday Mr. Baker and his brother were attending a circus in Trenton and saw the bicycle in that town. They immediately took possession of the "bike", bringing it to Belleville and reporting the matter to the local police authorities. A subsequent check-up of local and Trenton police disclosed, that the bicycle had been sold to a Trenton resident six days after it was stolen in Belleville and had been in Trenton ever since. The bicycle is today in possession of its rightful owner.

Carl Kiser, 13 Murney St. reported to the local police telephone pole along the bay bridge road early Sunday morning. His automobile collided with the pole, but with it off close to the boat. Mr. Kiser informed the authorities he was proceeding south at the time when the glaring headlights of another motor vehicle coming from the opposite direction, blinded him momentarily, causing him to swerve and strike the pole. Mr. Kiser was instructed to report the matter to the telephone company, Another motor accident was reported at the James and West Bridge St. intersection on Saturday night, that saw only slight fender and bumper damage, when two automobiles collided in a rear end accident.

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE REGENT

"Curly Top"

Shirley Steals New Hearts in Smart Film

"Curly Top", Shirley Temple's brightest and "cutest" new picture, had its first presentation before Belle Theatre audiences on Saturday. And in a hundred who had come to expect the utmost in cinema entertainment from this dimpled darling, the new picture brought new thrills in dancing, song, laughter and sheer fun.

Beyond all comparison "Curly Top" is Shirley Temple's greatest picture. It has five new songs, all with the magical mother touch of Ray Henderson a number of intriguing new Jack Donohue dance routines, including the sensational rope-skipping dance episode; entertaining supporting cast and a cracking romantic story about which all of the film's varied activities centre.

Against the colourful musical background which the producers have provided "Curly Top" tells the fascinating story of the curly-headed waif who brings happiness and romance to the millionaire step-father who befriends her.

Always in Mischief

From the opening scenes in the orphanage where Shirley and her pets a pony and a dog, who are perpetually getting into mischief, the picture quickly flashes to the Scott mansion home of John Boles, the millionaire who takes the little girl away from the stern domination of the orphanage.

Accompanying Shirley "as her older sister, lovely Rochelle Hudson. And while Shirley is stealing her way into the hearts of society's bluebloods — even chanming the frosty butler . . . Miss Hudson is winning the affection of John Boles.

Misunderstandings occur, and the romance between Boles and Miss Hudson almost meets an unhappy end. But Shirley, with characteristic charm and ingenuity, manages to bring the two people she loves most together in the end.

Songs For All

Shirley's two songs, "When I Grow Up" and "Animal Crackers in My Soup", are the highspots of the song program. But John Boles gives an equally excellent rendition of two more numbers, and Miss Hudson surprises with an unusual voice in the first number she has ever sung for the screen.

Irving Cummings' capable direction undoubtedly had much to do with the excellence of "Curly Top". In the supporting cast, Jane Darwell, Rafaela Ottiano, Esther Dale and Etienne Girardot turn in noteworthy performances.

3 Grand Hits Bits

Three Grand Short treats precede the exhibition of the feature attraction, including the Latest World News, Walt Disney's latest Silly Symphony "Who Killed Cock Robin?"

AT THE CAPITOL

"Smart Girl"

Bright, Sophisticated Film Packed With Action

Packed with action, liberally sprinkled with comedy, "Smart Girl" opened today at the Capitol along with another excellent feature, entitled "Java Head."

"Smart Girl," is a bright, sophisticated romance drama of the modern girl and her adventures in the business of love as well as in the business of making a living, proving at the same time that business and romance have a strange way of mixing.

Ida Lupino, blonde, well born, personable young thing and her sister, Gail Patrick, brunette, also well born and glamorous, find themselves faced with the problem of earning a living after their father's loss of his huge fortune and inevitable suicide. Kent Taylor, struggling but handsome young lawyer pops into their lives at this moment. Both girls, exact opposites though they be, promptly fall in love with him. The eternal triangle is born when he marries the brunette Miss Patrick who soon shows her true colors. In order to outwit Lampton home of John Boles, the millionaire who takes the little girl away from the stern domination of the orphanage.

Misunderstandings occur, and the romance between Boles and Miss Hudson almost meets an unhappy end. But Shirley, with characteristic charm and ingenuity, manages to bring the two people she loves most together in the end.

POLICE COURT

A number of minor cases were disposed of in today's local police court held before Magistrate E. T. Butler K.C., when two L.C.A. charges were laid over until the subsequent court, at the request of the accused persons.

Charged with perjury, arising out of the evidence he submitted in a previous court when facing a charge of non-support, Walter Ward, defaulting, appeared in the court today, but was not called to plead to the perjury charge, the matter being enlarged for trial at the request of Crown Attorney R. D. Donnan, K.C., who laid the perjury information.

Gerald Wycott of this city pleaded not guilty to a charge of operating a motor car with defective brakes. The charge arose out of a motor accident, which was committed at the corner of James and West Bridge street, late Saturday night, when the automobile, which Wycott was driving is alleged to have collided with the rear end of another motor vehicle driven by Bidney Maddland of Montreal. The only damage, that resulted was slightly fender and rear tire damages but upon testing the brakes of the Wycott car they were found defective Sergeant Booth testified in today's court. Only the evidence to be submitted by the Crown was heard today, the matter being enlarged for one week at the request of Charles A. Payne K.C., solicitor for the accused person.

During the cross examination of Sergeant Booth, Mr. Payne was quite anxious to learn how the Highway Traffic Act measure arrived at its figures pertaining to the distance a motor car should stop when the brakes were applied. Sergeant Booth assured the court he did not make the law, but was only employed to enforce it. Mr. Payne then examined the H.T.A. and immediately asked for the enlargement, which was granted.

BACK TO NOO' YAWK

John Blondy. "They Can't Beat Us" Ryan, comes back to New York this week, but instead of a Giant livery he wears the Yankee's brand, Traded to the Phillies last winter, Ryan got in wrong with his manager and was ordered to Baltimore. He refused to report to the minor league club and went home. Now Yankees, with shortstop Crosetti on the shelf have signed him up in an effort to bolster their slipping drive for the pennant. Bidney was sparkplug in the Giant drive for N. L. pennant honors two years ago.

HERE'S A TROTTER TREADING ON AIR

Harry McKay, veteran trotting horse driver, pots his Grand Circuit hopeful Wayne Lee through his paces at the state fair park track in Milwaukee. McKay said of a reporter: "That hoss will fly through competition like greased lightning." The cameraman, in this remarkable picture, records Wayne Lee flying through the air with all four hoofs off the ground. The horse, owned by Michael Schneider, worked the half-mile in 2.16 1-2.

BRITISH WOMEN TENNIS STARS IN QUEST OF WIGHTMAN CUP

The ladies of the British Wightman Cup tennis team who arrived at Forest Hills where the matches will be played, got into their tennis togs within a few hours after they landed, and took light workouts on the courts of the West Side Tennis club. Here are the players with their manager, LEFT TO RIGHT: Kay Stammers, Frieda James, Phyllis Mudford King; Malcolm Horn, manager; Dorothy Round; Nancy Lyle and Evelyn Dearman. They were optimistic about their chances of taking home the Wightman Cup for which the two countries battle annually between players, and thus giving England a clean sweep in international tennis play this year.

CHILDLESS COUPLES

One out of every three married couples in the United States, the Census Bureau now tells us, is childless. In 1930 the percentage was only about one in four childless; at 31.9, but is now slightly higher. Of the 23,400,00 couples in 1930, 7,400,000 had no children, 5,300,000 had one child, 4,500,000 had two and the rest three or more.

Not all popular beliefs withstand statistical scrutiny, but the common impression that couples today have fewer children than their parents had, who in turn had fewer children than their parents, happens to be correct. Popular impression, no doubt, sometimes exaggerates the decline, for families look smaller today if only because grandparents, uncles, aunts, and in-laws generally no longer live under the same roof to the extent that they once did. But the decline is very definitely there. The American birth rate in 1932 was 17.4 per 1,000, compared with 25.1 in 1915. This decline has occurred in the Western World generally, and in Europe, where reliable comparisons extend back ward even a longer period, it is even more striking. In England the birth rate today is half of what it was sixty years ago, and other countries have suffered comparative declines almost as great. The 1931 birth rate in 1926 was 17.8; in 1901, 28.5; in 1876, 36.3. In Germany it had declined from 40.9 in 1876 to 20.7 in 1926; in Italy from 38.9 to 27.8; in Norway it had risen 36.2 to 18.8; in Sweden from 30.8 to 16.9.

About what has caused this decline—deliberate restriction, later marriages, decreased fertility, or all three—there is a good deal of dispute, but if the population is divided into classes either on the basis of wealth or of education, it is found that the wealthier or more educated have fewer children than the poorer or less educated. In a study of 2,500 persons of all social classes, it was found that the average number of births per married woman of elementary school education was 3.49; of high school education 2.67, of college education 2.51, of graduate training 2.31.—New York Times.

GENEVA AND MONT BLANC

It is reported that Geneva would now welcome the project, long in the imagination of engineers, of a motor-road tunnel under Mont Blanc, for it would bring Geneva into the main road of motor traffic between Paris and the Mediterranean Italy. A correspondent of the London Observer estimates that it would cost about £2,400,000, that it could be built within five or six years, and would be self-liquidating enterprise, since under a moderate system of tariffs, it would pay for itself in twenty years.

The Mont Cenis, the Simplon and the Jura tunnels left Geneva to one side in their courses through the Western Alps. But Geneva's natural importance in the eyes of the nations today demands that she should be more accessible. She was once the "nerve centre of the Reformation" and would be the ardent wish of intelligionists to see her severe monuments. Yet it is contended that she has always been a "cay city," admirably lighted, with as its "electric current" that derived from the waters of the lake and the Rhone."

To Coleridge Mont Blanc was the "dread ambassador from earth to heaven." The Arve and the Arveiron raged ceaselessly at its base, but it had the charm in its steep course to stay the mortal foot. The city which it shut within its horizons of rare natural beauty and away from all except its own inhabitants and visitors who had leisure to travel by slower wheels than those of motors soon found itself after the World War an international official home for all the nations, incidentally attracting tourists from all countries, and especially American tourists "in proportion as America disdained the League."

The tunnel, if the project is carried through, will be driven at such height that the roadway at either end will be available at all seasons of the year for motor traffic, as the mountain roads are not. The time will come, if the League extends its benign sway, when all roads will lead to Geneva, where, within sight of the Great Hierarch, "Earth will speak with her thousand voices."—New York Times.

Power acquired by guilt has seldom been directed to any good end or useful purpose.—Tacitus.

It was a very dissatisfied tenant who approached the landlord of the new house.

"Look here," he said, "that house I've just taken from you is horribly draughty. I've spent pounds on heating arrangements, but wherever I sit my hair is blown all over my head. Can't you do something about it?"

The landlord shook his head.

"I'm afraid not," he replied. "I think it would be easier and cheaper for you to get your hair cut."

A MODERN DIRGE

Cold and stiff, they found him, with a peaceful look though dead;
A case of Super Taxit, the coroner's jury said.
His state and country tax had worried
him for years,
His personal and income tax then fretted him some more;
His motor tax and dog tax disturbed his mental ease,
Amusement tax, employment tax and sur-
tax pullman fees.
Tax on safe deposit box, tax on cheques
he wrote,
Borrowed cash, and then they taxed his promissory note.
A road tax and a school tax made him sad and blue,
He had to take a stimulant, and he found it was taxed too!
A clothing tax near stripped him, he paid
as shells and bait,
Plus taxes on cigars and beer, and everything he ate.
But now, alas, all overtaxed his soul has flown its lair,
Be it up or down he's satisfied, for he'll find no taxes there.

PARLIAMENTS OF MEN have been busy interfering with the natural course of events by restricting the production of liquid drink, an experiment has not been very satisfactory as might be expected when mere Man tries to interfere with the Master Gardener. Premier Lyons, of Australia, and Premier Taylor, in Canada told the Ottawa Canadian Club recently: I do not believe in the production of liquor for the foodstuffs. I believe that this world can consume a great deal more of the right food than it is getting, and that when God has given us a world like that which has produced it, we have no right to cut across the ends of Providence and rob people of that which is essential for the proper maintenance of their life."

"Amen," say the Editor and Publisher. "Because it does seem a mad thing, proof of a crazy world, that when millions of people want for bread and meat and vegetable and fruit, we should decide that the way to get them more of these things is to produce less of them".

All of which seems sound sense to us.

INDIANS USED TO FISH FOR FOOD —so did the early settlers. Then came the sportsmen and pothunters. But here's a new heresy hatched up by Gregory Clark and Lou Marsh, Toronto scribblers, and backed up by that good sport Harry Moore the Conservation Commissioner. Now they it is more blessed to catch a fish and to let it go than it is to catch one and have it stuffed, or stuff yourself and family with it. Here's some of the heresy, if such it be—sounds like good Christian sportsmanship to us. Sure in this age of rapid camera action, for a fisherman got a good snap of a fish what more could he ask—magnifying lenses barred. Save him from lugging a big fish home and making four people sick—every ensemble because the fish would not, like the loaves and fishes of Holy Writ feed five thousand. And so, let Greg Clark, son of the mighty Joe of the old Mail and Empire Night etc. crowd started in Pickering and never stopped until he landed in the Star tower as star editorial writer, etc. Greg says to Lou Marsh, who originated in Campbellford, by the way, and has gone far since, says he:

"Catching muskies and other game fish tests your moral fibre. There is no sport on earth half so fascinating and exciting, where there isn't a referee. There is no referee in fishing, except God. It's you and the fish, and God...no human referee to make you act the part of the sportsman and give a game battler a fair break. That's why I say use a rod and reel and light line and give a muskie a chance. Don't hook him on a hand line trolled behind a motor boat and horse him by main strength. Give him a break. Pit your strength and cunning and tackle against his strength and courage and cunning, and fight it out.....AND WHEN YOU HAVE HIM LICKED LET HIM GO. Don't gaff him and throw him into the boat, and whack him on the head with a monkey wrench.....and when you have whipped him and brought him to the side of the boat with his sides heaving and not an ounce of strength left in him, you unhook him and let him go. YOU'VE BEEN A SPORTSMAN THEN AND YOU ARE PROUD OF YOURSELF.

Mother was trying to arrange a marriage between her daughter and the wealthy young bachelor.

"Helen," she said to the daughter, "if Harold asks you tonight to be his wife, tell him to speak to me."

Helen nodded and then asked: "And if he doesn't ask me?"

"In that case," said the mother, "shall speak to him."

REVOLT IN THE DESERT
by T. E. LAWRENCE

I determined to order the Indians from Serahk back to Meshed and return myself. We started on one of those days when the sky looks up at the senses with the sun, while the intellect, tired after the long thinking of the night, was yet aloof. For an hour or two on such a morning the sights, sounds and colours of the world struck man individually and directly, and filtered through or made typical by thought; they seemed to exist sufficiently by themselves, and the flow of design and of carefulness in creation no longer irritated.

In the morning, near Wadi el Jinn we met the Indians, halted by a solitary tree. It was like old times like our gentle trot memorable ride to the bridge that year before, to be going again across country with the Hasan Shah, hearing the Vickers guns still clinking in the carriers, the old jingle of troopers going on their slipping loads, or saddles. They seemed just as unhandy with camels as at first; or was it that I did we cross the railway.

Then I left the Vickers, because I felt restless, and movement fast in the middle days cures my mind. So we pressed forward, and Wednesday night, riding for Odroh. When dawn broke I was dozing, despite cold of fire to our left: bright flashes and then a big explosion. I asked from Jerdun. We drew rein and heard the low boom of explosion: a cloud of flame appeared, then greater and divided into two. Perhaps the station was bombing. We rode quick, to ask Mastur.

Mastur's men had been deserted with only a jackal on the old camping ground. I decided to push ahead to Feisal. We trotted our fastest, as the sun grew higher in the heavens. The road was partial with locusts—though from a little distance down, looked beautiful, silvering the sill with the shimmer of their wings. April the twelfth, summer had come upon us unawares, my seventh consecutive summer in Arabia.

As we approached, we heard firing. Feisal's camp was on the general mound with covered Maan. Parties of troops rattled gently up the face of it below the road. Bridging, we had taken the Semna, so we were always the new position. On the flat, this side of it, we met a Bedouin, saying, "Ya, Maan leading it said. "Mashed Pasha," pointing to the hill. "Mafish," I ran up, crying, "El Mashed hitt?" but he was one of the best officers in the army, a man who could honest towards us, not, indeed, that admiration could ever overcome his refusal as gentle and uncompromising a patriot. The old man replied out of his litter in a voice I knew, saying, "Ya, Lawrens Bey. I am hurt: but Mashed Pasha is dead." I said, "Inshallah. We have taken Semna." I replied, "El Hamdu lillah." Then Mashed craned himself feverishly over the edge of the litter, hardly able to see me (for his head was bandaged and shoved above the knee), showing me his point of pain, for organizing the hillside defensively.

We turned as the Turks were beginning to throw half-hearted bombs at us. Mashed was commanding in Mashed's place. His blood coolly on the hill-top. Mastur, Maan sahib Pasha, Nuri Pasha, and acted a betraying game and joyialway. Nuri grew calmer, and Feisal bored.

I asked where Jaafar was. Nuri said that at midnight he was due to have attacked Jerdun. I told him of the night, Maan, and must have marched his success. While we were talking the Bedouin messengers arrived, reporting prisoners and machine-guns. Of the latter, however, three thousand rails destroyed. So depended on either would settle the northern line for weeks. Then they told me that the preceding dawn he had crushed Jaafar's Hejaz plan and wrecked it, with five bridges of the Hejaz railway, all for the south arm the was also settled.

Late in the afternoon Ali grew pleased. Both sides stopped their guns shelling. They said that Feisal had arrived by Thadiq. We crossed the Hills flooded stream by a temporary bridge where Mashed lay. Mahmud, the redbearded, defiant Kurd, thought that he would recover without amputation. Feisal was on the hillcrest, on the very edge, bleak against the sun, whose light threw a queer halo round his head. Feisal, too, had suffered his head with gold through the bandages. He was standing, as made my camel kneel. Feisal reached out his hands, crying, "Please God, welcome, Thadiq." The praise and victory be to God. I said, "Sir, I am glad to see you, that we might exchange the news. Nuri Pasha, from Dawnay more than I knew of the Jaafar failure before Amman; of the bad luck which had overtaken the Ageyl and Alenby had telephoned to Shea, who had told me, on the lightning. cations to cut the lose; a wise decision, which had saved Joyce was in hospital, but Alenby and Dawnay lay ready at Jerwa to go to Amman with all the cars.

Feisal asked about Semna and Jaafar, and I told him what I could, and then Nesib Bey Ali Ihsan Pasha, Nuri had come to him, and the two Turkish officers had come with the Turkish Commandant, he sent him a white flagged letter, inviting surrender. The Turks replied to this at once: they love it, but had orders to hold out to the last cartridge. Ali had given us a respite, in which they could fire off their reserves, and the Turks hesitated till Jemal Pasha was able to collect troops from Amman, re-occupy Jerdun, and pass a packconvoy of food and ammunition into the beleaguered town. The railway remained broken for weeks.

DAWNAY ATTACKS SHAMH

Forthwith, I took car to join Dawnay. I was uneasy at a regular fighting in the open country with that most involved and intricate weapon, the armoured car. Also Dawnay was no Arabist and neither Peake, his camel-expert, nor Marshall, his doctor, was good French. His troops were mixed, British, Egyptian and Indian. The last two were antipathetic. So I drove into his camp above Tell Shehab. I was greeted by Peake with, "Hullo, you've arrived at last. Dawnay's been waiting for you." He

An encouraging letter from one of our missionaries in Formosa, telling of the growth of the work there, was read by Miss J. Herity. Mrs. Geo. Foster called the roll which showed a good attendance of members and visitors.

The story of the beautiful life of a Chinese girl in one of our missions in B. C., was given by Mrs. I. Vandewater.

During the business part of the meeting the treasurer, Mrs. H. Emerson, gave a full report, Miss J. Herity offered her home for the quilting of the missionary quilt for the sale. The members were requested to have their names and offerings ready for the sale at the meeting in October.

Mrs. Hollinger then delighted all with a recitation learned many years ago, on the "Prairie." A poem, "The Builder" was very ably given by Mrs. Bailey.

Another reading along Missionary work was given by Mrs. Hollinger. The closing hymn, "A Better Day Is Coming" was accompanied at the organ by Miss Fredina Bailey, Mrs. J. Morton then closed the meeting with prayer. Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all. Collection $1.79; 8 membership fee 80c.

KITTENS ARE BORN

ALL JOINED TOGETHER

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 12.—Quintuplet blooms have been common in the district this year, but it remained for a cat, owned by Jack Stewart, Stamford, to have four kittens all joined together. The cats is alive and normal in every way except that they are joined together at the bodies. It is expected the four will live.

MEET A SHOCKING BATHING BEAUTY

Ontario and western Canada farmers wouldn't have so much trouble with hired help for harvest if they could hire a few girls like Thelma Robertson, recently adjudged most beautiful bathing beauty in Wichita, Kansas. She is here shown taking a hand in shocking wheat. Stiff and she enjoyed the experience.

BUT NO SWAN SONG FOR SALLY

A grace of suspended motion is sensed in this pose of Sally Rand in her newest dance creation, "Leda and the Swan", which is based on the famous myth of Leda and Zeus". Miss Rand flashed into national prominence with her daring fan dance at the Chicago World Fair. In 1934 she followed with another daring routine. "The Bubble Dance." She believes dances, should be changed yearly.

BALLOONISTS TAKE BOAT

Kingston, Aug. 12.—A party of Buffalo balloonists, headed by R. Wedberg, were at home Sunday after a flight which saw them land near here Saturday.

The aeronauts brought their balloon down at Salih, 18 miles west of here on the lakeshore road Saturday afternoon. They motored here later and immediately boarded the steamer Kingston for Rochester.

Arriving in Rochester Saturday night, they were due to reach Buffalo early Sunday. Owing to the fact they had to rush to reach the steamer before it departed, they were unable to commence on the flight.

The Heart of Hollywood

By THAYER WALDO

The arc lamps circled and the music played and twelve thousand people stamped and yelled. Half an hour still before the picture would begin; thirty minutes more of glare and blare and babble, then another Gershwin's Arabian theatre of dreams would be history. I stood on the fringe of the crowd, watching and listening with the rest.

Out in front of the forecourt there was suddenly a commotion. Into the hanging microphone the voice of the announcer near me cried:

"Here it is, ladies and gentlemen —the big moment everyone's been waiting for. Miss Sylvia Malvern, the lovely star of tonight's picture is just arriving. In a minute we'll have her here to say a few words to you."

Up the narrow cleared passage from the curb Sylvia made her glittering way. Jewels, furs, and her flashing smile created a picture of dazzling, if overdone, charm. As she passed a few feet from me I became aware of someone at my elbow, squirming and pushing forward. I glanced sideways with a scowl—and hardly stifled an exclamation of mirth at what I saw.

There beside me stood a short, squat man with a face was the most absurd concoction of features I have ever looked upon.

I'd just gotten the full startling impression when, to my further astonishment he grinned and waved at Sylvia Malvern. Moreover, she returned it with a gracious nod. Then she had passed on and I became aware that the fellow was regarding me, his bibeful smirk still active.

"Gosh!" he exclaimed in a gurgling voice. "Ain't she grand?"

"Sure is," I agreed dryly. "Do you know her?"

He bobbed assent and the pop eyes rolled happily.

"Oh, yeah—she's my best friend, really. Course it only met her couple o' weeks ago, but now it seems almost like we'd known each other always."

The perfect satisfaction in his tone decided me. I told him:

"That's exactly how I've wished for years I could meet her myself. How did you manage it?"

"Well, some I was just kinda lucky. But it was awful important to her that she find a fella that didn't give a hoot in hell whether she was a star or not. Sylvia—that is, I mean Miss Malvern, she?"

"Yes, you bet I was!" he replied with something like a wistful note. "I see, she was the first person to ever make me feel real happy. See, when I went to school, all the ol.. ex kids used to laugh and point at me and holler 'Funny-face!' So I got kinda in the habit of stayin' by my self. Sometimes I was pretty lonesome, too, and—but aw, shucks, that sounds like I was feelin' sorry for myself; I didn't mean it that-a-way.

"I went to movies a lot because I was dafft in the flicks and—and—well, I liked 'em. One day 'bout a year ago I first saw Sylvia—Miss Malvern. That is—and right off I was crazy about her. Her face was so pretty and sweet and—and kindlookin'. Guess I mosta gone back to see that picture five or six times and the same with all of hers after that."

After an instant's pause he went on more eagerly than ever;

"Then, long some time last winter I got the idea how swell it'd be if I could see her herself, and maybe even talk to her. So I put up and sold some land my folks had left me and came straight out here from Cedar Hollow-that's my home town, in Iowa.

"I didn't have much notion what to do, but I found Kenny Austin and hung around the gate. One day the big boss himself asked me what I wanted and I told him and he called somebody else. First thing I knowed they was takin' me right into the place. I waited in some office for a couple hours, and then they told me where to find Sylvia.

"Well, it all turned out like I hoped for. We was alone, on the stage where she was makin' some of the picture. I don't remember just what I said; maybe some of it was kinda foolish, on account of I was so nuts about her. But it don't matter now—all I care about is thinkin' how swell she was to me. I ain't got no more notion than a jackrabbit how she got me that. And I'll never mind no more what other people make fun of me, as long a fella needs is one real friend."

Suddenly he noticed many of the throng drifting toward the theatre entrance, and sprang up.

"Golly!" he said in chagrin, "I gotta go; I might miss some of it. Well, hope you meet her some time, too. G'by."

Before I could summon poise to move or speak, he was gone. I was still sitting there considering the tale and its strangely touching talker, when a crisp voice came to me from the gallery, a pale, pink, bouncer signing off. Quite idly I listened.

"And finally, ladies and gentlemen," he said, "it may please you to attend this truly great picture soon. I saw it in preview last night, and it has everything. A story, with songs, comedy—oh, what comedy! There's one skit I'm sure will be the season's biggest laugh. And they tell me its absolutely novel; a scene in which the chief actor didn't even know he was appearing! Miss Malvern's with him, and makes it a grand snoops. Honestly, it's a peach, and only one of the high spots in a real four-star show. Thank you good night."

FORE!

What about that mashie, that driver, that golf bag you've been thinking of buying? Do you need a new swim suit? Beach towels? A new racquet, tennis shoes, slacks?

Just make a list of the things that would raise your scores and make your summer sports more enjoyable. But, before you buy, let us say "Fore!" Don't drive your money down the fairway of trade until you are sure the course is clear, until you can see the flag at the next hole. Study the advertisements in this paper, and learn exactly where to get what you want at the prices you can afford to pay.

That is the professional, money-saving way to buy. Though buying is fun, you'll get better results if you make a business of it and shop in your newspaper before you go to the stores.

League of Nations As Terms Followed

Orillia, Aug 12.—I see no escape for the nations in carrying out their obligations under the Covenant of the League of Nations, if they do not, then international obligations are of no value."

This declaration was made by Hon. Newton W. Rowell, K.C., of Toronto, addressing the Canadian Institute on Economics and Politics and the Y.M.C.A. camp at Geneva Park, near here, Saturday night.

Answering a question as to whether Britain or any other imperialistic country would refuse to take the same stand as that taken by Italy in the Ethiopian dispute, under similar circumstances, Mr. Rowell termed this argument in support of Italy's attitude a very fallacious.

BRIDE AND GROOM ARE HONOURED

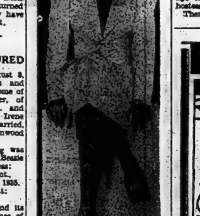
On Thursday evening, August 8, a large number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Miller, of Thurlow, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Scott (nee Irene Miller) who were recently married, with a chest of silver and Kenwood blanket.

At ten-thirty the gathering was called to order and Miss Beadle Way read the following address:

Corbyville, Ont.,
August 8th, 1935.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Scott:
Dear Wilfred and Irene:—

"A new household has found its place among the surried homes of earth," and tonight some of your friends have gathered to celebrate with you this happy occasion. Here in the home of Irene's childhood and girlhood pleasures and problems we extend to you both our hearties' congratulations and wish you much happiness and success in your future life and home. "May that home be one with the world of strife shut out and a world of love shut in."



Wilfred, though you are a stranger to some of us, your choice of a life partner assures us you have a full share of discretion.

Irene, we shall miss your bright and sunny smile and pleasing disposition from our neighbourhood but what we are losing is being gained by another community.

We ask you to accept these gifts as a mere expression of the love and esteem in which your are both held and may they ever serve to remind you of your former associations with the third and fourth concessions of Thurlow.

Sincerely,
Mildred Tweedy,
Beadie Way.

Wilfred and Irene both thanked

Taking with them a total of 127 marriage proposals, a decided "No" complex, and a hearty disdain for parasite blondes, the flaxen-haired Paxton sisters Frances (TOE) and Virginia have stormed into Hollywood for the start of their film career. Alike as two ball bearings —except that they part their hair differently—they were discovered by New Yorker by Darryl Zanuck who signed them to a long-term contract.

their friends for the lovely gifts and invited them all to visit them in their new home.

Lunch was then served and the remainder of the evening spent in dancing. Music was supplied by Mr. Harry Wagner of Belleville.

Advice to the Lovelorn
By Beatrice Fairfax

As far as other women's husbands are concerned, seems to be less of a "hands off" policy than it does in the case of wives.

Girls who take pride in a decent sense of sportsmanship respect each other's rights as to the married men. Quiet that they do not show the same integrity in the case of "single" men.

Many such letters come to this column regarding the cribbing of other women's husbands than about the same high-handed moving of fiances. Mrs. X's letter is fairly typical.

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"Why is it that my good-looking, fairly-well-to do husband seems to be fair game for every woman who crosses his path? This was not true when we were engaged. Then, girls seemed to respect the rights of an engaged girl more than they now do those of a married woman.

Husband-robbers naturally are older than friends and acquaintances of an engaged girl. In fact women become more disillusioned and have fewer ideals as the time lapse son? Or is it because the comic strips about the folly and vanity of married men bristle with truth and wisdom. And if you scratch a husband, you will find a sugar-daddy? At least that has been my experience.

"And friends — likewise enemies — who would hesitate to go with my husband for a week-end, but one day, do not hesitate to meet him downtown for lunch or to attend dance with him at some open air restaurant any evening.

"Sometimes I've thought of hiring a pigtin and doing a little flinging, lunching and dancing on my own account. But all those inactive years in society as a debutante and woman of 36, who is trying to bring up four children to be a creditable and useful citizens.

"Questioning."

"It's a sordid commentary on human nature, but some women, as they grow older, lose their ideals and sense of sportsmanship, as the modern term is, and grab at every thing — other women's husbands, profits of any sort, anything in the way of advantages. But please remember, dear lady, that if those husbands were not as simple as Mary's little lamb, they wouldn't follow vamps with the docility of a very young sheep.

My own feeling is that a woman of honor and delicacy carries loyalty pretty far. She not only does not want to take advantage of the "ready-for-adoption" attitude of a good many husbands but she does not care about having the charge of cribbing a girl friend's fiance laid at her door.

As for hiring a pigtin, it seems to me that a woman who sees things as clearly as my correspondent evidently does, is profoundly disgusted with her hired partner before the dance music has had fairly begun. A better plan would be to wait for the lucid interval which comes at times to the roving husband. And the lucid interval does come when he talks himself what price those easy conquests?

Correct Manners
By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

DINNER SERVICE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please tell me in what manner the plates are passed at a dinner when the host is carving? Should the first plate go to the hostess?

How are the plates passed when there is a guest of honor, and where does the guest sit? My seventeen-year-old daughter has been invited by a friend to his home for dinner, and she is afraid of making mistakes.

R.

When strawberries are served whole with sugar and the hulls removed, should they be eaten with a fork or spoon?

I.

When the host is serving a course in which the guests may have preferences — for example when there is a choice between light and dark meat — he inquires from the guest before he begins to serve each plate. Let us say that your daughter is to be guest of honor at this dinner. Correctly, too, the host will ask her her preference as to "cuts". She tells him and he prepares to carve. The course is it to be — saying perhaps, "I hope this is just as you wish it." or "This is for you, Miss Jones."

If there is no choice about the foods that are being served, we let us say, for instance, that a casserole is being served — then host still should ask the first plate for the woman guest of honor, saying, "Won't you keep this, Miss Helen," or, "This is for you, Mary." The next plate he would serve to the woman on his left and the following plate to the other women, in strict complimentary order, say of age or distinction. He serves the hostess the last of the women.

Then, if there is a man guest of honor, he is seated at the right of the hostess. So first after the hostess, the host serves the male guest of honor, then the man on the left of the hostess and the other men at table; himself last of course.

Serving is the true do not follow this graciously complimentary and hospitable way of serving, and the host takes the plates to the right and left, making no distinction between guests of honor and other guests, and no distinction between guests and men guests. But it will be apparent at once that such a host misses an important opportunity of being a "gallant host" a host who gives that one-more thought and takes that one-more minute to capture a, delightful courtesy.

When strawberries are served whole, with sugar or sugar and cream, the correct silver service is the hostess to place in the dessert spoon and the dessert fork. Then the guest who is accustomed to use the double service (spoon and fork) for dessert at this time, will use both to use. The guest who prefers to use the fork can do so; the guest who prefers to use the spoon, can do so. And everyone is happy? The hulls are not removed as so many people have: tipped the habit of eating strawberries when they are most deserts that the thoughtful and correct hostess provides bowls and this service gives one a free choice, too.

And indeed even in the most casual hotel and restaurant service nowadays you will notice that both the peoplecure are usually placed with most deserts. This makes for casual and convenient eating of such desserts as cut fruits, fruit compotes, stewed fruits, puddings pie s in mode, and so forth.

Weddings

BAKER—JOHNSTON

At the home of the bride at Brighton, Ontario, a very charming wedding took place at one o'clock on Monday afternoon, August 5th, when Mildred Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnston became the bride of John Leslie Baker of Brantford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Baker of Bonarlaw. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Barnes, pastor of Brighton United Church.

White and colored gladiolas, were used in profusion in the decoration of the living room where the marriage ceremony was performed. As the wedding march was played by Mrs. Norman Rivards, the bride entered the room with her father who gave her in marriage, wearing an ensemble suit of white sheer triple crepe with accessories to match and carried a bouquet of gladiolas, scabious and maiden hair fern. Misses Evelyn and Ruth Johnston, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids, while Miss Beulah Johnston acted as flower girl.

Mr. Marion Baker, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served by girl friends of the bride. Later Mr. and Mrs. Baker left amid showers of confetti for Brantford where they will reside. The bride wore for travelling a smarte ensemble of blue and navy with matching accessories.

WATERS—BRAGG

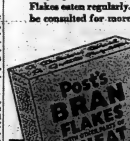
A quiet but interesting wedding took place in this city on Saturday afternoon, when Miss Hilda Mabel Bragg, daughter of W. J. Bragg, M.P.P. for West Durham became the bride of Captain Harry Waters of Highland Creek. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. S. Wight at his home, 182 William Street, The bride was accompanied by her father and sister, Miss Irene Bragg The happy couple left for Eastern Canada on a wedding trip and on their return will reside in Highland Creek. Rev. Mr. Wight, who officiated was formerly pastor on Tyrconna circuit, where the bride lived.

O'DONOHUE—O'GRADY

A charming wedding took place on Saturday morning, August 10th, in Blessed Sacrament Church, Toronto, when Marjorie Mary, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin O'Grady of Toronto, was married to Frank R. O'Donohue, B.A., of Sarnia, son of Mr. M. J. O'Donohue and the late Mrs. O'Donohue of Brantford. Rev. A. T. Lellis, cousin of the bride, celebrated the Nuptial Mass, the altar boys being Master Martin and Master Donald O'Grady, brothers of the bride. The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of pink and pink and white gladioli. Mrs. Unser played the wedding music, and during the Offertory Frank Ahl's "Ave Maria" was sung by Mr. William Bowman. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Frank J. O'Grady, looked lovely in a gown of white taffeta in bouffant style. A row of pearl-covered buttons extended from the neckline to the hem and from the shoulder to the cuff on the tightly fitting sleeves. Her hat was a small trioorn of white velvet ribbon and she carried a shower of fashioned nosegay of lily-of-the-valley. Miss Dorothy Holmes, niece of the bride, was her only attendant, frocked in pink mousseline de soie over princess lines, with small corded jacket of the same material. She wore a large picture hat of blue stitched taffeta trimmed with a band of pink, blue shoes and sandals, and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and sweet peas. Mr. Arnold Petitt of Toronto, was Groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Keith Middleton of St. Catharines and Mr. George Baker of Toronto. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Claude J. Halloran, who received in a gown of flowered chiffon with black felt hat and corsage of roses and lily-of-the-valley. She was assisted by Miss Agnes O'Donohue, sister of the groom, who wore a gown of blue, stiffened chiffon with foghorn hat. Immediately after the reception Mr. and Mrs. O'Donohue left on a motor trip to Muskoka, the bride wearing powder blue crepe dress with hasha coat to match and brown accessories. The happy couple will live in Sarnia, the groom being a member of the collegiate staff of that city.

Mr. O'Donohue was formerly Advertising Manager of The Daily Intelligencer.

PLAINFIELD W.I.



Twenty-one adults and seven children attended the meeting of the Women's Institute held on Wednesday afternoon, August 21st. The President Mrs. J. Golden conducted the business, singing the "Ode" and repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. Roll call being answered by Do's and Don'ts for the baby. Readings were given by the Misses Flower Committees and Cemetery Committees. Arrangements were made for the Parade Service the topic chosen being "Economy in Clothing." Mrs. Golden read a paper on "Sunshine and the Baby" and Mrs. Hawkins gave a reading entitled "Good Humored Baby." Mrs. Hamilton sang a solo "Do Not Thy Sorrow Tell." Competitions were given for "To Mothers" —quotation. He had a mother that he'd kiss — Virgilia Ball played a piano selection "Haymakers March." Two of the children took part in the program. Gerald Meeks sang "The Dying Cowboy," and Hilda Dunning sang "Now I lay me down to sleep." The meeting was then closed and lunch was served. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the hostess for her hospitality.

MORE DISCUSSION ON MARKET ACT

James S. Cook, Cheese Buyer Reads Article at Meeting

In the absence of Mr. W. E. Morrison, principal, Mr. Chas. Mills, first vice president of the Belleville Cheese Board conducted the routine trading of the board at their regular weekly meeting held Saturday.

Little interest featured the meeting. Mr. James S. Cook, buyer and inspector, read an article in the Wednesday, August 7, issue of the Daily Woodstock Sentinel-Review entitled Oak.

"Only three factories boarded cheese at Ingersoll board last week last night (Aug. 6), offering a total of 291 crates, all of which were sold at 7-16. The buyers, true to their custom, refused to raise or lower their bids 1-16 cent to take care of the toll of 5 cents per hundred pounds which the factories collect for the new Marketing Act stipulations. The act, it is said to cover the amount of the toll imposed. The cheese boards and other overhead costs necessitated by the new regulation". The article in quotations, is reprinted in full as follows in the above named paper.

"Other factories are taking action now," pointed out Mr. Cook as he read the article. "Some will take action when we did, they might have been twice as far behind.

Little change in the price of Cheese was registered on the regular Cheese Board meeting on Saturday. A total of 1,272 boxes were offered at 7-16 and All were disposed of.

Buyers present were: Cook, 575; Morton, 476; Hunter, 334; and Ostrom 252.

FINANCIAL MARKETS
NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 12.—(CP)— Prices slipped off in the last hour of trading on the Toronto industrial board today after giving a fair display of strength in the early afternoon. Liquor shares were the issue up to a half point at the close and Ford A, Nickel and the oils the part or all of their early gains. Volume was concentrated in the oil and liquor shares along with Brazilian and Nickel.

Distillery stocks encountered profit-taking on the industrial section today and prices dipped fractions to a point while the general tone remained firm to strong. Brazilian was featured by heavy trading on a price advance of 3-8 to 8 1-8 and C.P.R., Nickel, Smelters and the oils sold up. British American, Imperial and International Petroleum were up 1-4 to 1-4 this afternoon.

In the morning slump Walkers Common backed up to 30 but had a loss of only 1-4 to 29 7-8 by early afternoon. Distillers-Seagrams and Brewers and Distillers had minor gains showing. Prices ruled strong-er in Mining Corp., Canada Cement and Imperial Tobacco.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—In the face of a large amount of profit-taking, stocks maintained a steady to improved undertone today. The trading volume was one of the largest of the year to date and numerous issues reached new highs for 1935 or longer, although most advances were less than a point.

The rails and utilities made the best showing. Union Pacific and American Telephone got up around 3-points each. Gains of fractions to around a point were registered by Santa Fe, N.Y. Central, New Haven, Consolidated Gas, International Telephone, Radio, Commonwealth and Southern, Electric Power and Light, American and Foreign Power, General Electric, Westinghouse and American Radio. Only the steels and motors were a bit easier. The late trade was dull. Transfers totalled 2,500,000 shares.

TORONTO MINES
(Close)

Toronto, Aug. 12 (CP)—The Mining Market of the Toronto Exchange displayed a slightly more buoyancy today but recessions were of minor proportions. Bear Exploration and Eldorado were the active members of the silver group with the former showing one of the gain recessions of 2 to 5 cents were almost general among the medium priced issues. Carnegie was also in recent average.

Trading in the Mining Section was reduced to a dribble of sales with prices displaying mild weaknesses in nearly all issues. In gold silvers, Bear and Castle were soft, Coniaurum fell 1 and to 30 and the latter 2 cents to 86. Eldorado gained cents to 1.65.

Other issues was the only heavy issue in the Base Metals, losing 3-4 to 1.70, while slightly higher prices ruled for Fend Oreille, Base Metals Corporation and Hudson Bay.

In slow turnover the secondary gold issues took losses of 1 or 2 cents each. Central Patricia, Macassa, Sladacona and McKenzie Gow were off 3 to 4 cents each.

WALL STREET FINANCIAL

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Stock Market today displayed profit-taking aside today as the Rails and Utilities pushed forward under renewed demand. Numerous stocks touched the highest prices of the year and longer.

Shares of Union Pacific and American Telephone led up around 2 points each and others, fractions to a point or so higher, included New Haven, N.Y. Central, Santa Fe, Delaware & Hudson, Radio, American, Commonwealth and Southern, American & Foreign Power, General Electric and Light, Case, General Electric, Westinghouse, Anaconda, Coppers, Steels, Equipment, Chemicals & Paper and Goodyear.

Among scattered casualties United Fruit was off 3 points and Mesta Machine off nearly 2 points while U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors and Chrysler were about unchanged to easier.

In the Canadian section of the list, International Nickel improved a large fraction while Dome and Canadian Pacific held about even. On the curb, Hiram Walker got down a point and Lake Shore was a shade lower. Dominion Government 4s were a bit easier. Municipal funds were off 1-32 of a cent at 80 29-32 cents.

Board Room Gossip
As supplied to Bigger and Crawford by their branch manager.

Reno Dividend Payable to Shareholders of Record August 20.

The announcement was made last week of declaration of the regular 5-cent dividend by Reno Gold Mines, Ltd., of Reno, Nevada, were lacking and it was erroneously reported that the dividend would be made on October 31st. Details now to hand state that it will be paid on October 1st to shareholders of record August 31.

The company initiated dividends on January 1st last and since then has made two more 5-cent payments in addition to a 2-cent bonus on July 2nd. The third quarterly payment of 5-cents per share amounted to $34,782.18 and will bring the total paid out this year to $235,272.64. The company reports very satisfactory results being obtained in development work for levels at the mine in the Sheep Creek area.

The bull market in Wall Street continued unabated last week with prices up in a new 1935 high. Many of the gains were of very substantial proportions. As yet, the Canadian list has not taken its lead from the New York market and although prices are holding steadily here, the gains have been very normal. It is felt that with the U.S. Federal elections are out of the way, the Canadian markets will make up the lost ground.

Major Angus is still carrying the torch for the current market, talking informally at Montreal of much higher prices to come. He spoke this past week to an audience composed largely of people who are interested directly or indirectly in the railroads, declared base metal stocks have interesting possibilities. He is particularly bullish on the eastern industrial railroads.

Most of the recent buying on the local board has been for cash in the belief that higher prices are coming from the fact that Montreal brokers' loans are steadily declining and at the end of July were at the lowest level in approximately two years. Trading on margin is still at a low ebb of interest is small and it requires considerable effort on the part of the brokers to bring about a rise. As soon as some of the current uncertainties are out of the way, the technical and broker position of the market will facilitate an advance to higher quotations.

Brand New Pennant Dress For Detroit Tigers as Lead Over Yankees Now Six Games

Defeat Chicago While Yankees Drop a Twin Bill

GIANTS LOSE

Cubs Advance Beating The Cards, While Phillies Down Giants

(By Andy Clarke)

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Detroit Tigers have taken a pattern from the files of yesteryear and are cutting themselves a brand new pennant dress.

The year ago today the men of Mickey Cochrane had won eleven games in succession and were due to move out in the first place parade until :14 consecutive victories were marked down in their credit. At that time they were leading the Yankees by four games.

Today Detroit Tigers slipping along on a nine game winning streak, but the more salient factor is that they lead the Yankees by six games.

Detroit defeated Chicago White Sox 6-1 yesterday, holding the league's champ behind the four hit pitching of Elden Auker. Auker gave walks to four men but he bore down with good results, when men occupied the base paths. Tommy Bridges, the leading pitcher, twirled the ball himself, allowing but six hits but he issued passes to half a dozen men and three of them scored.

Yankees Lose Two

The Yankees saw the hits line up a game and a half through their fingers, when they dropped both ends of a doubleheader to Philadelphia Athletics, 8-4 and 5-4. Jimmie Foxx hit his 19th and 20th homers of the season and Pinky Higgins added another to all Chet Lemon's pitching burler, win his first game." Roger Cramer was the star of the second game, striking in two runs with a double and a single and making three brilliant catches, one a circus one in the ninth with the bases loaded. Cleveland Indians trounced four St. Louis Brown pitchers unkindly and won the opener of a doubleheader 10-7 but darkness settled over a slip and then battle in the afternoon and it was called after 7 innings with the score seven all. Hal Trosky and Hitcher Wynegarn of Cleveland and Ki Coleman of the Browns hit homers in the opener with one of the Indians and Cliff of the Browns hit circuit blows in the second.

Thirty-five thousand fans saw Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox divide a double bill, the Senators taking the first 6-2 and the Sox the second, 5-4.

National League

The rejuvenated Cubbies chopped another chip off the Giants lead in the National League by shutting them out 3-0. The Cubs made it two win in the six game series. Bucky Walters, the hitless wonder last year, held the leaders to six blows, while outfielder Frank Demaree hammered in the Phils' pair of runs.

Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cards battling tooth-and nail as they advance on the Giants, played a tight game with the Cubs emerging on the better end of a 3-2 score. The Pirates and the Reds split a doubleheader, Pittsburgh winning the first 5-4 and Cincinnati the second 5-4. Arky Vaughan hit a triple with two on to win the first game but his 17th homer of the season wasn't enough to turn the tide in the second.

Brooklyn Dodgers regained fifth place in the Senior League by pinning a double defeat on the struggling Braves 7-6 and 2-0.

GRAHAM McNAMEE HURT

Akron, O., Aug. 12.—Graham McNamee, NBC sports announcer, and Tom Manning, Cleveland radio announcer, were painfully injured late Sunday when Paul Brown, an Oklahoma City parachutist in the National Soap Box Derby, crashed into the crowd with his soap box racer when it went out of control on Talmage Hill. He regained consciousness en route to city hospital. Manning continued to broadcast despite an injury which may prove to be a broken nose cap.

NEW MARKS SET BY JR. GIRLS

Track Meet at Montreal is Hampered by Heavy Rain

By HAROLD McNAMARA
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Montreal, Aug. 12.—(CP)—A host of new Canadian women's track and field champions today fitted their newly-acquired crowns on their heads and settled back to lay plans for being named to the Dominion's Olympic team to travel to the Berlin Olympic next summer.

Canada's hopes in the Olympic games brightened somewhat here yesterday as close to 400 girls from as far east as Halifax and as far west as Winnipeg braved heavy downpours of rain in an effort to gain coveted titles.

A track made slow by rain that suddenly blew up just as the afternoon events started, causing a dash by competitors and the handful of spectators present to the covered section of the stands, kept all track records safe but two juniors semi-old marks into the discard in field events.

CHIEFS MOVING UP ON ROYALS

Now Only Two Points From Top Due to Double Victory

(By The Associated Press)

The steady advance of Syracuse, which started with the club in fifth place several weeks ago, today had carried the Chiefs into a virtual tie with Montreal Royals for leadership in the International league.

Winding up with second series in nine days with the Royals with a double victory yesterday, the Chiefs left Montreal with a record of six victories in eight encounters. The triumphs yesterday 8-7 and 5-0 left the two clubs separated by just two points. The champions now lead Royals with a percentage of .563 as the result of 79 victories and 56 setbacks while the Chiefs stand at .560 with 70 triumphs as compared to 56 defeats.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Bucky Walters, and George Watkins, Phillies: The former held Giants to six hits and later drove in Phillies' two runs.

Arky Vaughan, Pirates and Babe Herman, Reds: Vaughan's triple with two on decided first game. Herman's homer furnished Reds margin in second.

Charley Root, Cubs: Hurled seven-hit ball to snap Cards' eight-game winning streak.

Buddy Myer, Senators, and Wes Ferrell, Red Sox: Myer drove in two of Washington's four runs in opener while Ferrell kept Senators well scattered in nightcap for 19th victory.

Eden Auker, Tigers: Held White Sox to four hits to run tigers' winning streak to eight straight games.

Bill Knickerbocker, Indians and Tom Carey, Browns: Knickerbocker collected seven hits in two games and Carey connected for four in second.

Jimmie Foxx and Roger Cramer, Athletics: Foxx hit 19th and 20th home runs and latter contributed timely hits and great fielding plays as A's downed Yanks twice.

Walker Berger, Braves, and Frenchy Bordagaray, Dodgers: Berger's 25th homer, two doubles and triple drove in five runs while Bordagaray got five hits in first game.

BREWERS MISS AT PETERBORO

Oshawa's Chances For a Playoff Berth Are Lessened

Peterboro, Aug. 12.—Taking a 5-to-4 verdict over Oshawa here Saturday the Peterboro team increased its lead in the Central Ontario Baseball League and killed chances Oshawa had of finding into the play-offs.

The boosters brought home two runs in the sixth inning to get the edge on the Oshawa players. Spook Scrivo limited the visitors to six hits, four of them accounting for those runs in the fourth. He fanned eight. Moose Matthews was lingled early, but lightning fast relief pitching to leave a number stranded on the sacks. Both had good support.

YANKEE LEADS BRITISH YACHTS IN OPENING RACE OF RYDE REGATTA

In a scene of unrivalled beauty off Ryde, Isle of Wight, the above filled sails of three famous racing yachts are causing the contestants to cut foamy furrows in the sea. The Yankee, Gerald Lambert's American invader of British yachting waters is leading the race which opened the regatta season at Ryde. Second here is Westward, while Sopwith's Endeavour is third. Yankee showed her heels to the pack in this bit of sailing, but did not do so well throughout the regatta series. However, when King George, one of the most enthusiastic of yachtsmen himself, visited the American boat he complimented her owner on the style and beauty of the yacht. His Majesty attended Cowes Week off the Isle of Wight aboard his own yacht.

CURRENT SPORT

DAY BY DAY

Although it took the Peterboros the full limit, the Leemen knocked the Oshawa Dominions out of a potential play-off berth with a 5 to 4 victory on home team in the Lidluck City on Saturday. The play-off berths are awarded now with Peterboro, Kingston and Belleville being "in the money", but the O.B.A.L. battle still rages between this trio of clubs as they will now play a round robin series ing. For instance the Radios have a chance to finish in the second spot by downing Kingston, while the Ponies are still casting longing and covetous eyes on the league leadership, now held by the Leafs and from President Swanston's stamping grounds. Just when ther some of the many postponed games in the league will be played now is problematic, although it may be necessary to complete the entire schedule in order to determine which club finally heads the Central pack. Announcement in the relationship to the semi-final playoffs will be made soon and also the question of postponements, which likely be tarued by the league executive late this week.

In order to fill out the schedule and more particularly to qualify a number of players for the O.B.A.L. play-downs, the Belleville intermediates played an abbreviated double-header versus the Napanee Gibbards on Saturday, the Fanshawe lads scoring contests on the short end of both scores, dropping the first game 5 to 4 and the second 21 to 5. In the second the last two innings gave the Gibbards the winning edge then the winning runs as the locals were leading 4 to 3 in the first game. Carl Casey, ex-Belleville senior hurler started both contests on the hilltop, pitching three innings in each game. Casey has lost none of his old cunningness and control, as he held the Gibbards scoreless during his combined six innings of hurling efforts. Casey should prove an asset to Manager Fanshawe's batting corps, when included. Casey, Ernie Smith, and Phil Loft over the week-end. Left Tom Carey, Brownie Bateman content seven hits in two games and the latter contributed four in second.

Although Secretary Ernie Gibbard could pass out no authentic information in relationship as to when and where the Bay of Quinte League play-offs would commence, he did intimate that Belleville and Belleville could start negotiations in relationship to the series immediately. With so much baseball on hand locally this week, it is doubtful if the Pantagraphs would consider playing a home game versus Picton prior the interesting play-offs, although such a series could open in Picton on Thursday. Incidentally, Ernie Gibbard sustained a painful accident on Saturday when the result he will lose the thumb nail of his right hand. Ernie was attempting to bunt an inside curve ball when it broke into his thumb, crushing it against the bat. The Gibbard A.C. physician announced the nail would have to be removed.

During the second game on Saturday, Claude Grove used "Young Wally" Grove Jr. at second base and the lad demonstrated his dad made no mistake as little Wallace fielded in with an assist, a put out and a second on his pitch. Wally went down the third base line. His debut appearance at the bat saw "young Wally" fly out to centre. Just a chip off the old block and a credit to his father, who in his hey day was a ball player of parts. Incidentally two old town boys, who starred on the local diamond in Belleville a quarter of a century ago or more, were renewing old acquaintances in the city over the week-end, in the persons of "Sherry" Brown and "Shamrock" O'Neil. Old time baseball players still remember these two veteran players, who in their day were hard to beat at the old ball game.

President Charlie Meagher of the local senior ball club, informs us that the demand for tickets for Tuesday night's floodlight ball game by far surpasses anything he ever anticipated. "Why I've received long distance telephone calls from points as far away as 40 miles all wanting to know if they can procure seats in advance for the big night game," stated Charlie today. Doubtlessly the fans will be as interested in the erection of the House of David's portable floodlighting system as they might be in the unloading of a circus. Although no information has been received as to when the standards and lights will be put into place and tested, it is generally believed that the giant projectors will be erected after the game hour. Incidentally the bewhiskered ballsters are appearing in Kingston this evening versus Chapple, Johnson's colored Giants before they move into Belleville for their game on Tuesday night versus the Perth Stars. "Lefty Judd, who hurled the Guelph Maple leafs to a senior O.B.A.A. title three years ago and then turned professional with the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League, is the ace hurler of the Perth mound corps, "Speedy" Flynn not naming him a close second, the latter hailing from Philadelphia Athler, Judd or Flynn will pitch against the House of David nine, it was announced today.

Bot the local Senior and Mercantile Softball Leagues have completed their regular season schedules and are entered in upon their final play-offs. In the Senior loop the Young Canadas and the Salmon clash this eve, while four clubs—London Lunch, Ontario Intelligencer, Simpsons and Recreations will battle it out for the Junior loop bunting.

The Detroit Tigers gained substantial ground in the American League over the week-end while the New York Giants slipped slightly, but, with both the major league leaders playing a steady brand of ball they naturally hold the advantage of their standing, although St. Louis Cards and both of the Chicago clubs are very much in the running, they tell us.

Tennis lovers enjoyed a splendid week-end out at their Bay of Quinte courts, while both golf clubs saw an abundance of players yesterday. With the stiff off-land breeze a goodly number of local sailors cavorted about on the bay. Incidentally the weekly punt races may result in a few surprises on Wednesday, as we know of two craft owners who are out after "Duke" Smith's scalp and the Marmora pennant, that goes with the day's racing.

SAM RICHARDSON DOUBLE WINNER

Wins Broad And Hop, Step, and Jump at Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Aug. 12.—(CP—The curtain was down today on the Dominion track and field championships and Canada's youthful Athletic Kings peered ahead to the Olympic trials, next step in their quest for places on the Canadian team that journeys to Berlin next year.

No sensational dark horses appeared at the Dominion Championships, which finished here last Saturday but several promising new headliners were in the win column. Many Eastern Canada track and field aces maintained their winning form.

From the East came fleet-footed Sammy Richardson of Toronto, for the only record-smashing performance of the meet. The little colored champion won with ease for the Achilles club in the running broad jump, hurling 24 feet, 11 inches for a new Canadian record.

Then he took his second title in the hop, step and jump by clearing 48 feet, 4 inches. Another double winner was Eric Gilbert of the Beaches Club, Toronto, who won the one mile and three mile events.

Eastern Canada garnered further honors, when Dick Jansen of Thorold, Ont., high jumper who went to Australia with the Canadian school boy team, took the high jump event. The Achilles club of Toronto won the 440-yard relay and Hamilton took first in that. Gilbert's win over the pole vault with a jump of 12 feet, three inches, Completing the eastern winners was Tom Lord of Montreal, who led at the finish of the 880-yard run.

TWO MIGHTY SOUTHPAWS DOING A PITCHING COMEBACK

Robert "Lefty" Grove

"Wild Bill" Hallahan

There is a pair of pitching surprises contained in the major league baseball grab bag this term, and they are both comebacks. Likewise they are both southpaw comebacks. The names, Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove and "Wild Bill" Hallahan. The former was Connie Mack's great ace when the Philadelphia Athletics were rampaging along the world championship trail. He went to Boston Red Sox after his soupbone had begun to age. He slumped hopelessly; now he is coming back, still in the first division. Hallahan, much of his old deadly speed is there again, and he's working a wicked curve ball. Both pitchers are chalked up to him. five in a row. That's why the Red Sox are the right.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS

by McElheran & Watkin.

Someone remarked to me on Friday night that when he loses 7 always have the game in the bowling column but very seldom when he wins. It might be that he loses more than he wins, one forgets. But one trouble is that unless I am on the green and someone happens to mention a certain game it does not get in the papers in future and give me a ring after the games, that is what our column is for.

Joe Black and lady friend have entered the married couples doubles, this makes 13 couples we need another.

On Saturday afternoon C. Sulman beat F. Harper in a game of doubles, the score Sulman 30, Harper 14. C. Swan beat for Sulman and H. Thompson for Harper.

On Saturday evening C. Doran beat W. Harden in a game of triples the teams were W. Gordon, F. Harvey and C. Doran skip vs. C. R. McGuire, Gary Thompson and W. Harden skip, the score finished 18-8.

Wally Walsh our treasurer informed me that several have not paid their dues in full yet. Hurry up boys the snow will soon be here.

One of the most interesting games of Bridge I have played for Friday night between the following players, Bob Dewar, W. Belair, and C. Sulman skip, vs. H. Lennox, R. Mitchell and F. Harper skip. It was a close game all through and a great game to watch. The Harper rink finally won out 26-21.

On Friday night our old friend Wally Embury put in an appearance and said to see you Wally.

Fred Hindle and Mrs. Hindle were interested spectators on Friday evening and Fred sure looks a lot better, Steve's hoping to have them both with us in the near future.

We are sure miss Davy Davison our Vice President and trust that she will soon be able to put in an appearance again. Davy has had her own troubles this summer and the club's sympathy is right with him.

I would suggest that our players take a few minutes off and take a stroll around the fountain in the Fair grounds. It certainly is a wonderful sight and a great credit to the Parks Board and those taking care of them. I have never seen a nicer array of colors in any flower bed.

Auker Tigers 11-4.

Club members will be pleased to learn that Terry Scanlan's shoulder is much better and he hopes to be back with us this week. Terry broke his shoulder playing ball.

Arthur McGee has been unable to bowl for over a month until last Friday. Arthur found it pretty tough going, Harry's hoping you will soon be back, we miss you.

Have you paired up for Labor Day yet, do not leave it too late. I would suggest that the new players pair up it is worth it for the experience.

The winners in Friday night's fitzsy game were as follows: Dave Fisher, A. Symons, A. Wesley, J. Searles, Fred Houston and R. Holland.

On Monday night, Aug. 19th we are inviting mimico rinks from Stirling and Deseronto and along with our own we expect to have our rinks filled to capacity, this is going to be a real night. A lunch will be served after the games so make a point to keep this date open. Don't forget the date Monday night Aug. 19th at 7:45 o'clock sharp. All entries must be in by Saturday, Aug. 17th.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Houston have planned a motor trip to Georgian Bay making fourteen teams in all. The starting time rinks are Monday open night, Wednesday mixed tournament, Friday men's fitzsy.

CHAPTER XVI

Howe laid down his pencil. It seemed to him that she was the coolest hand he had ever encountered. The sergeant felt an admiration for Sonia which he did not allow to appear.

Sonia's self possession was only on the surface. The strain was almost unbearable. One thing was becoming plainer every moment. Brian's liberty, perhaps his life, depended on her.

"Steven Mr. Chalmers a long time, have you?"

"Dear it matter to you how long I've known him?"

"You came, both of you, to this inn. And Mr. Chalmers went out. He left for London. Can you tell me what called him to London, at that time of night?"

"I'm. He suspected Mr. Cooke of fraudulent dealing; in the affairs of the King's Rim Mines. I understood that he must be in London by morning without fail, and put the charge into the hands of Scotland Yard. But that's as far as I'll go, Sergeant. I'm not going to answer for Mr. Chalmers. He will be able, I tell you all about that himself."

"I hope he will," Howe grimly. "You and he arrived here at what time?"

"About half-past nine."

The sergeant leaned forward. "At what time, Miss Neil, did Mr. Chalmers leave here? Can you tell me that?"

Upon that question and its answer everything depended, and well did Sonia know it. Through her mind flashed a memory of all that had happened during that deadly hour around the old mine; the struggle, shown up by the lightning's glare, the black, falling body.

"You mean," she answered, "at what time Mr. Chalmers left me, for that is all I can answer to."

"That's it. When did he leave you?"

"Eleven o'clock."

Howe seemed surprised and more than a little taken aback. His fore-head wrinkled. Then his eyes narrowed.

"So late as that?" he said. "Sure?"

Sonia looked at him with wide eyes, evidently indignant.

"What do you mean by 'sure'? Of course I'm sure."

Before he could answer, the door opened and the red head of the landlord appeared, disembodied, in her hands a coffee tray. Sonia turned to the girl.

"Mary, can you remember when Mr. Chalmers left last night? You were here, I think."

Mary sat down the tray and put her knuckles on her hips, facing the sergeant.

"Sure. That an hour after closin', time. I heard the old clock go seven just before Mr. Chalmers got into his car an' drove off. It was rainin' fit to drown him."

"And I was here, Miss Neil," said Mary, I'm fixing times on what happened last night. You were here when Mr. Chalmers left last night? When?"

"Half after nine."

"Tell me what happened."

Mr. Chalmers arrived from the city for his lady, an' ordered supper to be sent in a room. I had it as soon as served, they came in and had it. They was here when the thunder-storm started and I flew around the house shuttin' the windows. Mr. Brian said good night to Miss Neil, an' he'd got to make for London."

Howe took the statement down in his note-book.

"I told him he couldn't drive through a storm like that," said Mary, "and anyway the road was up. He only laughed and said he'd take the east road through Derby. I saw him driving through the rain in a sheet o' rain — eleven o'clock or a bit later. I know, for I was got to bed then. Miss Neil didn't want to go neither; — but he said he was bound to."

That fixes the time pretty accurately, then," said Sergeant Howe. "You can swear to that, Mary?"

"Oh, Sir!" Mary's voice was hurt. "Eleven o'clock. You weren't in this room, then, between that time and ten?"

"No. I took the supper in, and left them to it."

"Do you remember where Mr. Chalmers' car was, when he left?"

He just stood. I helped my father get the luggage out of it; Miss Neil's things."

"That's it, Mary," said Howe. "Wouldn't keep you any longer. You've been helpful got it pat."

Sonia did not look at the girl as she went out; instead she stared out through the window into the sunlight; her pulses were beating fast. Howe was about to salve for Brian Chalmers. An enquiry while still.

If he declined it, he result she saw was inevitable. Brian's arrest and trial on charges of murder. What way was there out of that? What was the truth? She did not know. She was here, body and brain, for his sake only.

Sonia had to face the thing at once; the tension set her thoughts working with feverish clarity and clear. Up to now she had found it simple—almost.

Sergeant Howe was looking at her curiously. Sonia's air of quiet determination, imagined she could read the thoughts behind the man's fresh brown eyes. It seemed to her that he was framing another question.

"That was lucky, Miss Neil," he said quickly.

"Lucky?"

"I'm investigating a murder case, and I want to strike out anybody whose motives might lead me to suspect him of having a hand in Mr. Cooke's death—but whose movements can be accounted for—satisfactorily. That clears the ground."

"You mean," she exclaimed quickly, "that you've been questioning her about you suspected—"

"Come now, Miss Neil. Mr. Chalmers is the owner of the King's Rim estate and a big pile of money. I have it from you—and it was bound to come out anyway—that he had a quarrel with Mr. Cooke no longer ago than last night. How know Mr. Chalmers pretty well. You've told me so much that I'm goin' to tell you something which there's no denial about. Mr. Cooke's death occurred about ten o'clock last night, and probably not any later than ten thirty."

"But I've told you—!"

"You have," said the sergeant briefly. "Now we'll leave Mr. Chalmers for the time being. I'm after the man who will stand in the dock and answer for Bannister Cooke's death. There's facts in it that haven't come to light—plenty of 'em. Now, Miss Neil, is there anything you can tell me, of your own knowledge, which might clear it up?"

"There is," said Sonia. "I think I can give you quite a lot of help."

Ah! I thought you might. Wait a moment; first do you know anything of James Selby? His's butler at King's Rim estate. And the latest news is that he's missing."

"Missing!"

"Unless he's got back home since I went up the line to look for Mr. Cooke. I want to know what's become of him."

She shook her head.

"I don't know anything about Selby; I saw him at the house last night, he seemed to be a confidential servant of Mr. Cooke's. I can say I liked the little I did see of him."

"Didn't you, Miss?" said Howe, and his eyes twinkled. "Now, why?"

"I don't know," said Sonia, sipping a cup of coffee thoughtfully and staying it, "unless it's what they call feminine intuition. He seemed a pretty capable butler. Do you suspect him to have had anything to do with Mr. Cooke's death?"

"Never mind what I suspect. I don't say I'd select Selby as the man."

"Neither should I." said Sonia. "But I can tell you something of another man about whom you probably know nothing at all, for you haven't mentioned his name."

The sergeant turned over a leaf of his note-book.

"Go ahead, Miss. I want all the information that's going."

"When we got here last night we were shown into the front sitting-room, overlooking the courtyard. I must have been about twenty to ten. While I was talking to Mr. Chalmers, I saw a man going by the window. I recognized him —we both did. He was near the park gates when I arrived. That's all; I'd noticed him before, half a dozen times, for he was on the ship that brought me from New York. We had some trouble with him."

"What sort of trouble?"

"Well, he seemed to be watching Mr. Chalmers—or me, at all the time of the passage. Neither of us knew anything of him. And he turns up at King's Rim, the day after the ship was docked. That man wasn't for nothing."

Howe showed no surprise.

"What was he like? His dark fellow? Describe him."

Sonia gave him an accurate portrait.

"I've seen him too often not to be sure. His name on the ship's books was Sam Barber. Mr. Chalmers told me that. How dressed when I saw him last it had been raining; he was wearing a seaman's oil-skin and south-wester."

"Did the man speak?"

"Only once. He said Howe, 'Sam Barber, you call him?' Mr. Chalmers answered that was the name I gathered in the name of Stephen Brand. I check up on any stranger that stays at that place. Do you suppose he was you, or Mr. Chalmers, through that window?"

"I don't know. I suppose it's pretty certain he knew Mr. Cooke. And that's the man I think he was more interested in than in either of us. It's my idea, too, that Mr. Chalmers knew that man here."

"What makes you think that?"

"Nothing definite, but I think it would be perilous to let this point it was the with Mr. Cooke at the house last night. Selby came in and told him he was wanted on the telephone. Not much as that Mr. Cooke told him to answer it himself. Selby insisted that it was a private call and that he'd rather not. I can't make any mistake about that for I was in the room. Cooke went out with Selby...."

"Then Mr. Cooke left a little later—he seemed to me very much annoyed and upset. I think he had news he didn't like. It was pretty late, and I'm only the way to the main link. Wasn't it somewhere in that direction, that Mr. Cooke's body was found?"

"Why should the man be going there at such a time of night? I think Sergeant, that until Sam Barber is accounted for, trying to find the crime on any one else is more than guess-work. I'm not suggesting by suggesting I'm in the clear. But it's clear to me that the police must set to turn the light on Barber, and find out what his business was with Mr. Cooke. If he's innocent it should be easy for him to prove it."

The sergeant looked at her searchingly. He rose.

"Thank you," he said. "I was a bit puzzled. There was a third member in this party that I didn't place, an' it looks as if Sam Barber—or Brand, is the fellow I want. And before we get on with it I'll check up on him at the Dun Cow."

"I've an idea you won't find him there," said Sonia.

"Won't I?" said Howe. "It mightn't be long before I turn the light, as you call it, on this sailorman. Meantime, Miss Neil, I shall be obliged if you'll stay where you are. I shall want to see you when I come back."

"You'll find me here," said Sonia, pouring out another cup of coffee. The sergeant went out.

Little Benny's Note Book

After supper ma got the paper first and was looking at it, saying to pop, My lands Willyum here's an odd thing, and yet they say nature don't wonderful.

I never heard them say that, pop said, and ma said, Well what is that, people almost realize just how marvellous her marvels are, now here's an account of a hen that's just layed an egg with the initials F. L. clearly printed on it. Now that would be remarkable enough even without any additional aid and comfort, but the name of the farmer that owns the hen is Frank Lawkins, in other words F. L. are his initials. Now Willyum that must of been more than coincidence, ma said.

Maybe so, but I imagine it was less than premeditation pop said, and ma said, Huh Willyum, then why couldn't the hen or layed some other initials more funvin to the occasion, such as F. U. or F. B?

Be reverently could, pop said. There's always some simple earthbound explination to these so called miracles. For instance this farmer's wife of had some transfer papers, for whatever purpose, with Frank's monogram, with his initials on them, and she has happened to swallow one in a fit of abstraction or a moment of preverntly and the letters came off on her next egg, he said, and ma said, That's a very far fetched explination, it seems to me.

Then here's another, and by golliss I here I've got it in this time, pop said. What does F. L. stand for, when you think of poultry? Why, fresh layed, of course. Those initials referred to the egg itself, in other words they were the egg's own initials, he said, and ma said, But Willyum, in that case I mean if that's true, dont you see it would be the greatest marvel and miracle of all?

I know ma's dig and he got behind it.

Smart Ruse To Rob Attendant

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP)—While he showed one man how a dial phone worked, a second posed a gun in his ribs and robbed him of $28, Bernard Hill, operator of a gas station, informed police early today.

A man entered the station at two a.m. and asked to use the phone. He had trouble with the dial and asked Hill to help him. As Hill complied a second man entered quickly and pressed a pistol into his ribs. The pair cleared the till and fled.

GRAPE PRICES SET BY BOARD

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP)—Grape prices of $40 to $60 a ton announced yesterday by R. G. Gadsden, Chairman of Ontario Labor Control Board, are regarded as satisfactory, J. M. Challies, Secretary of the Growers' Committee said today. The prices of $40 for blue and $50 for white grapes are the same as last year. The growers were told at a conference the sales of native wines are down this year about 30 per cent compared to last year. Mr. Challies insisted, however, the present price will not apply to other seasons.

WORKMEN KILLED BUILDINGS RAZED IN DRIVING STORM

Lightning Brings Havoc to Western Ontario Monday

STRUCK PLOUGHING

Three Rescued in Tiny Craft Blown Off Shore by Gale

(By the Canadian Press)

An intense electrical storm carried by cyclonic winds raced over Ontario early Monday, claiming four deaths by lightning and property damage in the thousands of dollars.

William McKay, North Norwich township farmer lost his life when lightning demolished a barn he and three sons were sheltered under. The sons were unharmed.

With little warning of the toll it levied, lightning struck Lee's orchard out of the clouds and killed Albert Kreuger, 24, and Morris Monk, 15, on a farm two and a half miles north of Hanover. Practically at the same time another bolt struck a farm land in the adjacent township of Brant, killing a Hungarian immigrant death to one who was operating a mowing machine.

Krueger and Monk were on the same plowing machine when killed. One of the team of horses was pulverized and will probably have to be killed, the other was severely burned. Mrs. Monk, Morris's mother, heard the thunderclap of the lightning and ran out of the farmhouse, to find the immediate tragedy of the boys. Krueger was an adopted son of the Morris family.

Both horses pulling the machine Collard was riding were killed instantly. Collard, himself, was thrown and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Collard, Erindale Township, Bruce County.

Bad Near London

Having dealt its triple death-blow in the Northern District, the storm fanned by gale-like winds from Lake Huron swept eastward towards to wreck havoc in the London district and southwards to Lake St. Clair, causing a general electric light and telephone services. All three sub-stations which serve the London rural district were put out of Commission and a torrential downpour which accompanied it is said to caused small rivers to flow down the Main streets.

The House of Everett Mountain in the Belleville District was struck by a bolt and three persons within the house but not seriously. Crops were battered through Kent and Lambton area and half a mile east of Wyoming the barn of Lorne Smith was struck and burned to the ground. The crops and implements it contained.

Three Rescued

At St. Thomas one of the oldest buildings in the city was razed, threatened, when lightning struck Hydro wires leading into the Elgin Theatre. Sparks caused a small fire to one of the company's screens, but the fire department quickly reached the scene early enough to prevent the flames from spreading.

The three, who were rescued from their storm-tossed craft on Lake St. Clair off Stoney Point were Robert Omerode, 18, Blanche Desjarlais, 14, and Lucy Eady, Jean, 13, children of Detroit families summering in the district. The children were sitting in the boat too close to shore when their anchorage broke.

Their craft was swept out into the lake and for two hours it was touch and go. One of them died a handkerchief to an oar and this improvised distress signal was seen by cottagers who sped to the rescue.

The same storm-like wind then sped over to Ingersoll. Telephone communication was interrupted when trees snapped overhead lines and carried poles and wires across roadways. In all three far-flung places motor traffic was at a standstill.

Cow Cut in Two by Rescuers To Free Child Penned in Barn

Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 13 (CP) — William McKay, North Norwich Township farmer, lost his life when his barn, struck by lightning in last night's electrical storm, crashed down.

McKay and his three sons were burned in the debris.

Neighbors sawed and cut for hours to free the four.

Plain Speaking Only Medium To Prevent War Says Cecil

Britain Must Show World She is Not Bluff-ing

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press Foreign Staff
Copyright, 1935

By The Associated Press
London, Aug. 13—The British government faces a tragic period to think through its failure to make it clear to Italy Great Britain is not bluffing and is prepared to stand by the League of Nations covenant even if it means war, Lord Robert Cecil, Britain's leading peace advocate, said today.

"Only plain speaking can save us from a repetition of the fateful blunders of years ago," the former British under-secretary for foreign affairs told the Associated Press.

Earlier in the day Lord Cecil expressed his attitude at a special meeting of the executive committee of the League of Nations Union.

The committee adopted a resolution pointing out the danger of any British uncertainty and insisting collective action by the League members in "fundamentals" if war is to be prevented between Italy and Ethiopia.

The resolution also urged the British government communicate to members of the League of Nations Council before Sept. 4, its determination to fulfill its undertakings under the League covenant.

Plain Speaking

The tall pacifist champion of world peace cited the visit of Viscount Haldane, then British Lord Chancellor, to Berlin in 1912, as an example of the danger of not stating a nation's attitude fully and plainly.

The world war might have been avoided if England had stated in unmistakable language in 1912 that it would tolerate no invasion of France," said Lord Cecil. "Germany then would not have mi sdirected the British government's position and the tragedy that followed probably would have been averted."

"We must not run the risk of repeating the same terrible mistake. We must tell Italy in plain, decisive words we are not bluffing and that we are ready to carry out solemn obligations to the league covenant no matter how drastic an action may be required.

"Our path is clear and first England must exercise economic and diplomatic measures to prevent hostilities. If those fail, we must call on the League members to unite to halt force by force if need be."

Cecil Attacked

The Daily Express and the Daily Mail joined in an attack this morning upon Lord Cecil and the League of Nations Union. The Express called for war," the Daily Express headline. Stating the League Union's resolution "will be greeted with horror in hundreds of thousands of British homes" the Mail leads off an editorial with a statement by Lord Cecil's brother, the Bishop of Exeter.

"I am afraid war is pretty certain", the Bishop is quoted. "When the flame of war begins we cannot tell where it will end."

The Daily Mail asserts Lord Cecil's "so-called pacifist body" is contributing to the outbreak of war by "its wild demands."

MRS. GUY WALLACE NOT 'RESPONSIBLE'

This Evidence Tendered by Physician at Hearing

LINDSAY, Ont., Aug. 13.— (CP) — Testimony Mrs. Guy Wallace was not "responsible" for the deaths of three of her children to their father, Dr. Scougog Manor here July 30, was offered yesterday as the 36-year-old mother was committed to stand trial on a charge of murder by Magistrate O. A. Langley.

As the preliminary hearing ended Mr. Anderson, Crown Attorney, said it was possible Mrs. Wallace might be tried upon the charge to an institution before the time for her trial at the Fall Assizes arrived.

Dr. M. F. White, called to the scene on the night of the tragedy, and also jail physician voiced the opinion Mrs. Wallace was not responsible for her actions. She had never asked for her children and had not acted as a normal mother.

Gavin Wallace, 11, who, with his baby sister Mary, was the only one to escape from the river, told the court his mother shoved him and his sisters and brother into the stream. Gavin said his mother, after throwing something at him, had finally pulled him in. The baby girl was rescued. Catherine, nine, Agnes, seven, and William, four, perished.

GRADE CROSSINGS ARE UNDER PLANS FOR ELIMINATION

Cost Will be Financed From $1,000,000 Appropriation

SHARBOT LAKE BRIDGE

Nine Projects Are Only The Beginning of Similar Deals

Ottawa, Aug. 13 (CP)—Nine projects designed to eliminate that number of grade crossings in different parts of Canada have been agreed upon, Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Railways, announced here today. These works will be financed from the special $1,000,000 appropriation made just prior to prorogation of parliament.

Accompanying announcement of the proposals was an official statement which said:

"The foregoing program of level crossing eliminations is merely a commencement of many similar projects to be constructed from court to coast throughout Canada in the interests of public safety. Since the passage of the supplementary appropriation a great many applications for participation in the vote have been made to the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, deals with all such applications as provided by the Railway Act. The Board makes the investigations and recommendation to the Governor-in-Council, who determines the percentage of cost which may be charged out of the special $1,000,000 fund.

"The various works are being undertaken as part of the local measures of unemployment relief."

The projects announced are in Ontario, two in Saskatchewan, two in Nova Scotia and one each in Quebec and British Columbia.

A bridge crossing the Canadian Pacific Railway at Lot 13, concession 1, of the township of Oso, Hinchley subdivision, north of Sharbot Lake, Ont.,is one of the projects.

Laval Prepares to Play Role of Mediator Between Envoys

COAL BILL FIGURES

Emperor of Ethiopia is Hopeful of Peace Settlement

(By The Canadian Press)

With fresh word from Rome that Italy would be cold to any compromise suggestion in her dispute with Ethiopia Paris today became the focal point of diplomatic efforts to avert hostilities.

Premier Laval is prepared to take the role of mediator between British and Italian envoys in the three-power talks Britain, France and Italy will formally open Friday. Laval will hold private talks first with Anthony Eden, British Minister for League of Nations' affairs, who reaches Paris tonight, and Baron Pompeo Aloisi Italian delegate to the League of Nations Thursday. Paris despatches intimated a fresh approach would be made along the line of territorial concessions by Ethiopia to Italy in return for an outlet to the sea and financial aid for the Ethiopians. Such an offer advanced by Britain, by Secretary Hoare during a visit to Paris last week, was rejected by Italy but it was stated the offer remained open when despatches from the Ethiopian Foreign Office denials Haile Selassie was understood to be agreeable to such a solution.

Failure to Pay

London, Aug. 13 (CP-Havas)—Failure of Italy to pay the large cost orders placed since the Italo-Ethiopian conflict became critical has created a difficult situation in the Newcastle Mining area, it is reported.

Sums owed to about a dozen firms by Italy total about £500,000. Exporters refuse to give further credit and as a result many miners are unemployed.

London, Aug. 13 (AP)—An authority said today Anthony Eden, British Minister for the League of Nations, will urge an economic rather than political basis for the solution of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute when the three-power conference opens in Paris Friday among representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy.

"The British Government is representative of the hopeful French view that France would make some definite proposal along economic lines which would be acceptable to Italy," said an official.

An economic settlement, it was said, might involve various concessions in Ethiopia to Italy. Those might be railway, mining and trade rights and perhaps a definite share in Ethiopia's future import and export trade.

Emperor Hopeful

Addis Ababa, Aug. 13 (AP)—The loyal response of Emperor Haile Selassie's call to arms to the 12 colors today found 10,000 native warriors proceeding to the jobs abandoned by the men.

They took service as servants in the palaces, in the homes of foreign residents as their husbands and fathers prepared to march with the volunteers armies to the expected theatre of war. The chief destination was the Ogaden, the disputed Ethiopian frontier.

The Emperor still hopeful of a peaceful settlement of the dispute with Italy, nevertheless reiterated to his Council of Ministers the intention of his followers to spend their last drop of blood in defense of their land.

Paris, Aug. 13 (CP-Havas)—The newspaper Ami du Peuple today said Nicholas Politis Greek Minister have had assurances of the position of fifth and neutral member of the Italo-Ethiopian Arbitration Commission, which is considered Premier Laval of his acceptance, the report said.

TREKKERS NOT GIVEN INTERVIEW

Officials Confer as to Possibility of Disbanding Marchers

Ottawa, Aug. 13 (CP)—While city and provincial police authorities held a conference as to possible action in connection with the relief trekkers a delegation from the trek was in conference with Premier Prime Minister Bennett. The second delegation from the trek to the Prime Minister went to Bennett's residence early yesterday and were told Mr. Bennett could not see them.

Mayor Nolan, Magistrate Glenn and Chief of Police Dobbs and two officers of the Ontario Provincial Police met to discuss the trek situation. They decided to seek a common opinion from Crown Attorney J. A. Ritchie as to what action, if any, might be taken towards disbanding the marchers.

Four trekkers arrested Saturday night appeared in police court yesterday. They were remanded and released on bail of $10 each and two were freed when charges of vagrancy against them were dismissed. The two dismissed were William Meikin and Lawrence Fraser, both of Toronto. The two released on bail are Edmund Malcolm of Toronto and Percy Gearson of Guelph. They are charged with vagrancy and must appear in court again today.

CONSERVATIVES ORGANIZE IN CITY FOR FEDERAL VOTE

Complete Organization is Watchword Says Mr. G. A. Reid

WARD MEETING

Premier Bennett Among Those to Speak Here is Report

First step toward complete organization of the Conservative party in this city in preparation for the coming federal election was completed last evening at a joint meeting of the senior and junior men's Conservative clubs held in the Conservative clubrooms.

All available space in the clubroom was occupied by the large attendance of ward chairmen, members of the clubs and workers of the party. Despite the heat, keen interest was maintained in the brief addresses delivered by various officers of the local organization.

In opening the meeting, Mr. C. A. Payne, K.C., president of the Senior Men's Club, pointed out that it was a ridiculous idea to feel that the Conservative Party was not as strong as it ever was. "All we need is to get together complete our organization and then get out and work for our candidate," he assured. "With Mr. Reid at the helm now, assisting us in the work of organization, in less than two weeks time we expect to have the nucleus of the best organization we ever had."

"In each election every member of the party has a part to play. All that remains for us to do is to see that, there is no overlapping and that all our efforts are concentrated to the one end. Each one must dig in and help in any way that he or she can", cautioned the president. Mr. Payne then turned the chair over to ex-Mayor Geo. A. Reid, Conservative organizer for South Hastings.

Pleads for Unity

Mr. Reid in his opening remarks brought the cheering assurance to members that Mr. W. H. Thompson, M.P., and Conservative candidate for re-election in South Hastings, would soon be around again and would be out and among his workers within the space of a week or two, following his convalescence from his recent operation. Ex-Mayor Reid reiterated in his brief address the need for continued unity of party members and the necessity of getting out and working hard for the candidate of their choice.

"Until we get this riding completely organized, there will be no outside speakers brought in because we must concentrate our efforts to that end. But we have the promise that many important speakers of the Conservative party will be present in Belleville later on. We have the assurance that the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett himself will address electors of this riding and adjoining counties right in Belleville at a later date."

Chas. Cameron, Liberal candidate for South Hastings, Mayor Geo. Ellis and F. J. MacLaurin will not be in it" after the coming election, proposed Mr. Reid. "You now have a direct challenge to stand behind the best Premier you have ever had. I for one, will accept this challenge and will do all in my power to see that Mr. Thurnson is returned to office along with Mr. Bennett after the election is over. This is the testing time. When your own representative is down with illness now is the time to show that loyalty you have in the party and when the final ballot is counted it will be seen that we were all true to the colours".

Ward Meetings

Pointing out, that the aim of the meeting was to have a gathering of electors in every ward, Mr. Reid, with the assistance of members named next Friday night as meeting night for Bannett and Foster Ward; Monday night for Ketchum and Baldwin; Tuesday night for Bleecker and Coleman, and Friday night following for Murney. These dates will be advertised, he reminded, for the use of the voters that will probably be ready for the first meeting night. The chairman was advised following a query to that effect.

In a follow up address to the electors present Mr. Reid pointed out, he claimed were "wild and extravagant assertions being made at the present time by speakers of the opposition."

London Speech

"At London," continued the speaker, "on January 25, Dr. Falconer attacked the Hon. Mr. Bennett for insincerity. He said then regarding a platform advanced by Mr. Bennett: 'If it had been anyone else who advanced that platform I'd have given it my support, but I'm not sure of the man' (Mr. Bennett). He might as well have said Mr. Bennett was a Tory, and he wouldn't have anything to do ith anything proposed by him. Whether it was good or not".

Since July last year until May of this year the Dominion government had given the Ontario government some thirteen and one half millions for relief, yet the Liberals have the nerve to say that they would go on with relief work in the province, if the Dominion would do its share," declared Mr. Reid.

Premier Bennett Coming

Among the outside speakers who will visit Belleville during the campaign, will be the Hon. Mr. Bennett, himself, Dr. Manion and Denton Massey, Conservative organizer for Ontario, promised Mr. Reid.

Ex-Sheriff Geo. Stokes in a brief and friendly talk on politics and one of the remarks made by a local sitting member during his addresses through the district were "so insult to the Intelligence of the electors". "Let us get to work at once support our candidate in every way possible, and ensure by our actions being returned with the Bennett government," appealed Mr. Stokes.

NATIONAL GOV'T URGED AS NEED IN TODAY'S CRISIS

H. M. Purser Tells Rotary Union Government Only Solution

FINANCIAL PROBLEMS

Seven Major Issues Listed as Calling For Settlement

National Government for Canada as the solution of the pressing problems of the day was advocated before Belleville Rotary Club Monday by H. M. Purser, of Toronto, representing the League for National Government. Mr. Purser stated that the League was convinced that business men who viewed with alarm the rapid increase in public debt and the inefficiency of government in the face of financial problems which daily grew larger and more menacing. The idea of the League originated with Basil B. Campbell, an old time friend of Canadian poet, and was composed of small shopkeepers and business men, not as has been charged the Big Business of Great St. James Street.

Politics should be discarded for plain business common sense, said the speaker—neither political party could deal effectively with the railway and other problems menacing Canada, they were afraid to jackit them, as it would be possible to decide for any one party to deal resolutely and effectively with these problems.

Great Britain, the first of the nations to come out of the depression with a balanced budget and a good asset, faced two unemployment crisies in recent years, the first in 1924 and the second in 1931. Each crisis was met by a National Government, all political bias being discarded in the interest of the state. The crisis was met by a National Government, all political bias being discarded in the interest of the state. The situation is "one of the greatest and darkest clouds overhanging the Dominion—the financial threshold of the country is being drained away and that the outlook is hopeless.

Three Great National Blunders

"Two have great blunders in the making of Canada were, according to Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, Federal Minister of Railways, in which he made an address at the Toronto Canadian Club:

1—The building of the two transcontinental railways in addition to the C. P. R.

2—Taking over the G. T. and Canadian Northern Railway and letting them go into liquidation.

3—Permitting a great shewman to take charge of the C.N.R. who squandered $15,000,000 a year of our money in wasteful expenditure.

Dr. Manion also said, according to the speaker, "If there is to be rivalry in business, not only will your railways fail, but your country cannot survive."

A loss of over one million dollars a week was what railway operation under present conditions was costing Canada claimed the speaker.

Political parties were afraid to tell the people just how bad conditions are, said the speaker, but under National Government there is no secret diplomacy, all is above board for all to see.

Pressing National Problems

Beside the railway question, other pressing problems include:

Unemployment.
Social legislation.
National credit.
The B. N. A. Act.
Tariffs.
Cost of Government.

The amalgamation of the railways is not the objective of the League for National Government, according to Mr. Purser. The League believes that the movement of truly National representation— a government prepared to approach its deliberations upon business-like lines—a government free from partisan entanglements, will know best how to deal with the matter. Such a government will be in a position to give consideration to the views of those for and against this and that solution. The C.N.R. should be taken out of politics and relieved of the grip of the partizan politician who wishes to keep this great corporation under political control so that he may use it to pay political debts.

French And Judy Show

Playing party politics under present conditions resembles a Punch and Judy show being presented on the brink of disaster.

The wheat carry-over of 225 million bushels and the tying up of $200,000,000 of money thereby was cited by the speaker as one of the examples of political business management.

All in all a very black picture was painted by the speaker of Canada's present financial condition, pressing problems and future—the only remedy in sight being National Government. He asked his listeners to start thinking nationally, to the end that a campaign of education may enlighten the nation and give power and speed to a movement having for its object the ultimate displacement of political expediency with business efficiency in public business, the same as in private business.

Mr. Purser was introduced by J. A. McFee and Rotary appreciation was voiced by Hugh President Ed Bernstein and President J. B. Boyce.

FATHER DIVINE IS CALLED FAKER

Evangelist Who Calls Himself "God" Is Challenged

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Father Divine, negro evangelist whom Harlem calls "God", led a procession to Brooklyn Sunday in response to a challenge to prove his self-advertising spiritual powers.

But "Prophet" Elowa Castonde, unclassified negro preacher who issued the challenge wasn't in his tent, called his temple. So Father Divine's followers dance-stepped past, 4,000 strong.

They didn't know inside the tent, Pastor James Brooks was telling the interdenominational congregation:

"Father Divine is that bald-headed faker."

When afterwards Castonde who had challenged the Harlem cult leader to "come and kill me" if he was God, arrived. He alighted from a huge green automobile.

Thinking himself in a Salt Lake City, Utah, minister, he said Father Divine is making a burlesque of the negro race "while I am trying to uplift it."

SIR W. WATSON POET, IS DEAD

His Verse Ranked Him With Eminent Poets of His Time

Brighton, England, Aug. 13 (AP) —Sir William Watson, eminent English poet, died today in Ditchling, Sussex, after a fortnight's illness. He was 77.

Sir William Watson was born August 2, 1858, in Burley-in-Wharfedale, Yorkshire. His first work, "The Prince's Quest" appeared when he was 22. But he did not win recognition until 1890 when his "Wordsworth's Grave" appeared.

In his career of more than half a century his whole poetry that allowed him to take rank with the eminent poets of his time. He was stirred by public occasions and the poetry these inspired led many to term him "the Poet Laureate." But long before his death he ceased to expect such honors.

In 1893, a year after Lord Tennyson's death, he was placed on the Civil Pension list at £1,000 a year by the then Prime Minister, William Gladstone. His knighthood came in 1917. Sir William was married in 1902 to Maurice Pring. They had two daughters.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 13 (CP) — The condition of Miss Ann Saubert of Detroit, seriously injured in an auto accident near here Saturday, was reported unchanged at General Hospital. Miss Saubert received a fractured skull and other injuries and her condition is regarded as serious. She was injured, when the car in which she was proceeding with a lone left the road and struck a telegraph pole.

ASSAULT CHARGE FOLLOWS RIOT

Precipitated by Arguments on Mussolini's Attitude

Toronto Aug. 13 (CP)—Two men were booked today on charges of assaulting police officers following a fracas in a hall precipitated by arguments as to the wisdom of Mussolini's attitude on the Ethiopian question.

Held last night the meeting was called by local Italian war veterans to place before Canadians the Italian viewpoint in the Abyssinian embroglio. In a melee, which followed, demunciation of the Canadian League against war as Fascism, Patrol Sergeant Peter Bell and Constable Frank Mahoney were allegedly assaulted.

Charged with the offence are Tony Mandallo and Vincent Demaglis.

Chairs were hurled across the hall, windows were smashed and fists flew when N. Scandiffic characterized the Canadian League against war and Fascism as "a chain organization and a money-collecting medium." He was booed by a group of Italian members of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

He sailed into the group and when the chairman ordered the disturbers out of the hall there were many willing to help carry out the order.

The fight began in earnest but did not last long. In quelling the disturbance the two policemen were supposedly attacked. The meeting resumed within 10 minutes.

STRIKE COLLAPSE ALMOST COMPLETE

Seaman's Walkout At One Time Threatened to Tie-up Shipping

(By the Canadian Press

Collapse of a strike which threatened to tie up shipping on the Great Lakes through a walkout of more than 3,000 seamen appeared complete today.

At Cornwall, Port Arthur, Fort William and Toronto, focal points for the strike, all was quiet on the waterfronts and shipping proceeded as usual. Unsettled at Fort William and Port Arthur, however, was a proposed walkout by 1,200 stevedores wanting shorter hours and more pay. It appeared the differences would be amicably settled.

Five of the six ships tied up at Cornwall at the end of last week steamed away Saturday. Strikers were given back their jobs as oilers, firemen and deckhands when lack of organization caused the strike there to fizzle out.

Continued

In and out of Toronto services continued after eight intervention Saturday when crews of two vessels staged walkouts. Their action called a delay of more than four hours for the Canada Steamship Lines foreseeing such an event, having kept emergency crews in readiness.

Part of the crew of the Harmonic struck on Saturday also but before her scheduled departure from Port Arthur. An emergency crew was called on and the strikers' only satisfaction was to delay the sailing by about half an hour.

Hamilton, Midland and other ports in Ontario had no trouble in connection with the abortive strike.

GOVERNMENT MAY PURCHASE RESORT

Bon Echo District Will be Used as Reforestation Station

Toronto, Aug. 13—Early acquisition by the Hepburn Government of "Bon Echo", former popular Summer resort property in the Rideau Lakes district, was rumored yesterday at Queen's Park.

It is expected that details of the acquisition will be made public by Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Lands and Forests, as soon as he returns to the Parliament buildings from his present trip through Northern Ontario.

If proposed plans are carried out, Mr. Heenan will convert the hotel buildings and property into a great model reforestation station as one step in a new policy of reforestation upon which the Government is contemplating embarking. It is reported that Ottawa authorities are co-operating to some extent with Queen's Park in promoting the "Bon Echo" take-over.

LATER ELECTION

The general election seems to be retreating into the last part of September or the early part of October.

And so the sweltter of summer heat will be over before the swelter of orators stumping the Dominion begins.

Candidates will have a chance to take in all the fall fairs and see the whole family at these rural and district festivals. This will be an excellent opportunity to meet Mr. and Mrs. Voter and the rest of the family who are voters or will some day be voters. The fairs will take on the new attraction, lacking political speaking of course.

The later date gets beyond the harvest work and finds the citizenry ready to listen in comfort and to take a greater interest in the campaign than if it had taken place at an earlier and warmer date.

As all parties for the fray are now organized, the election will be the liveliest event of the year. There will be plenty of entertainment for the electorate.

SUMMERTIME FOR CHILDREN

Summertime especially seems made for physical development of the child and man has rightly seen to it that the child today has every opportunity for pleasing and development. New ideas have come into education, which is a preparation for life and a development of the child's instincts so that he or she will be able to offer the greatest service and at the same time find the most satisfactory position in life.

The discipline of play is one of the factors which counts so much today, and will reap huge harvests of health in mind and body in the days to come.

And the days have 'caught on', have been influenced by the spirit of freedom, of development, and of sincerity of the modern child. The child has learned from this child, who placed in the ideal position where he or she can best develop has shown the beauty and charm of natural development.

This summer we see this in particular for it is a season wherein the child finds everything lovely in this habitable globe in which he or she is learning to find the rightful place. Let full use be taken of such opportunity.

SUMMER ATTIRE

Those who frequent the summer resorts and the beaches have discovered one thing—although a new fad—words applied "shorts" and beach garb goes on at home in the village, the town and the city, where people dwell in the winter, spring and autumn, "shorts" are all conquering. It is decided that shorts are the fashion and so the people follow it. The leadership of fashion is of course the competition of this element, but even fashion seemingly mad and wilful at times, yet really follows the dictates of a movement. To many persons that movement in dress is in full swing.

The age is at the opposite pole of the weight and volume of the dresses worn by the Victorians. They took practically the reduction of clothing to a common sense basis is coming. Woman's dress is more natural today than it has been and it is definitely more suitable for clothes worn by the lord of creation, man himself. Some years ago the fashions took too great a swing, leaping immediately from the ankle-length when the knee-skirt which resembled very closely the kirtle worn by the women of many races in Europe in their native environment, which is not spoiled by the inroads of the dress of the Paris vogue. That dress if it had been made like the kirtle would have been a lovely dress but it could not abide because it was not native to the wearer and because the fashion was shoved forward too soon. So there is the swing to the longer skirt.

The modern dress when it does not run to extreme suits modern woman and girl well, one thinks of classical Grecian dresses to realize that these are among the loveliest in simplicity of line and fold.

The beach costume of men and women may seem far removed from the classic lines of the Greek but it is not so far step from the modern dress to the "shorts" and head garb.

Among other causes for the trend is the wholehearted delight in the outdoors with the stress which is placed upon holidaying.

That the garb is healthy and permits a maximum of tan, is evident.

Though the minimum of dress has been reached by the shorts, there is no saying that the style is like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unchanging. As long as the human mind in woman fires of one thing, there will be a constant change of dress style, though what the trend of shorts will be remains to be seen.

For the fashioners of modern bathing suits and shorts, and of other clothes it must be said for those designers that they merely use a rend they see before the public does and treat it artistically and lo! we have what we have in summer attire, beach costumes and so on.

SIDELIGHTS
THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, in a gossipy manner, under the caption of Sidelights has become a feature of the evening issue—and commands Grave and Gay. Supervised by The Intelligencer.

MORE FROM THE TENT DWELLER

Location still Rossmore, with sights, sounds and scenes similar those they evoke.

A pair of song sparrows have nested close to our back door, a few feet overhead. They are the most splendid serenades, perched very near by, morning and evening. They are as plain in appearance as our bold Bradley sparrow, but much more modest and refined. Their song is as beautiful as that of our finest canaries, but much shorter though for longer song periods at brief intervals. They will sing the same short sweet song scores of times within half an hour. The writer also knows that a pair of these birds have nested near the corner of Charles and Pine streets, and hence residents at that district must hear their cheery songs often. Similarly is the best work of life done by common, ordinary people!

THE SWALLOW

Almost every morning the first sight to greet our sleepy eyes is a proud kingbird with lovely coat of blue like a cadet, seated on the top of a high pole, which forms part of a wretched wire fence separating our lot from the next, Mississippi wilderness, the neighboring dozen of summer cottages. This pole is near the water's edge and affords a bird an all round survey within a fish in his mouth but it has been swallowed before the pair of eyes have discovered the fish been regained, for a kingfisher lives to eat and he is so busy on the job that he sees and hears nothing else. He is a bird of beauty with royal blue with touches of white; is his only redeeming feature because his voice is a harsh rattle and he is not even than that of a crow. Our proud, handsome kingfisher with a long, strong bill, fleet of wing but unmusical voice is the most skilful fisherman and his habits are of never-ending interest. His unmusical voice is to go on with just enough movement to hold him stationary about twenty feet above the water, because at this point, with our lot he is able to offer the greatest service and at the same time find the most satisfactory position in life.

THE KINGFISHER CRAFTSMAN

Although the kingfisher is sulky and solitary in disposition like the crane, yet we forget these great birds admirably work together when gathering skill. It is worthy of note that he has the shortest legs known to flying birds and the largest head for their body, either male or for perching. He digs a hole in a sandbank with his powerful, long beak just large enough for adult bird to enter. Here the eggs are hatched by the strong odour of fish, but again that powerful beak comes into play and he tunnels that in haste.

EYES, BUT THEY SEE NOT

Is it not strange that so many people go through life without seeing or understanding the great wonders and mysteries all around them?

From sunrise to sunset many baby sea-gulls here in the air over the water, and the parent birds are alive to their nimble food, small fish. It is interesting to note that the young sea-gull poises only at about half the height of the kingfisher, but, instead of twenty, because its light colour is less noticeable in the fish than the dark colour of the kingfisher feathered friends in our nest.

It had been very cloudy all day, and the utmost gloom prevailed around us. The writer in ancient patriarchal fashion was eating his evening meal beside a fire, and the latter was making good use of some far distant British Colonial chorus. He was thinking about that Empire Family upon which the sun never sets, and was wondering selfishly and greedily its various members were treating each other, like a quarrelsome family usually does.

Then the wonderful landscape scenery caught his fancy.

It was the depressed, meditative mood of nature, which modern artists so skilfully portray, and which always has a strong appeal because it will always in individual human experience. He recalled several well known pictures painted in this mood, which lends them thought of others full of bright sunshine, joy, hope and life.

INTRODUCCING MONA, THE MILKMAID

Just at this moment while his soul was in Art's seventh heaven, the writer heard a childish voice, not two feet away, but quite loudly, a child's voice exclaim:

"Here comes the milkman!"

"You should say, here comes a pretty milkmaid!" I replied as Mona, a neighbour's daughter of ten, approached our cottage bearing a pail of milk and two bottles of fresh milk. How children love to personate their seniors! Then while Mona ate some sweet cake, I told her the story of the milkmaid who after selling her cow placed the pail on her head to carry it home, but because she dreamed of a long train of thought that she forgot everything else. She would sell the milk and buy some eggs, these would be hatched out and from the chickens would fall grown she would sell them and buy a nice pale green gown (fabrics and colours were a pretty great gift dress on her milk tours) and then she would go to the fair and capture a sweetheart—but at this proud, hopeful moment she gave her head a toss and down came the milk to the ground.

AGE OF INNOCENCE

"I never take chances like that, I carry our milk," said sober Mona with much interest and understanding but without a smile. This great child would have captured the heart of old Bachelor Artist Reynolds, because she is the image of his famous picture "Age of Innocence."

"What have you been doing to-day, Mona?"

"Cleaning up the house, getting meals (there are nine in our family) and washing dishes; I am pretty tired to-night." Before I could frame another question because I felt there was a mystery to be solved, Mona spied some brown curranti muffins, which had recently arrived with love and kisses from Aunt Charles St.

"O! What lovely brown cakes! I never ate any like those, but they would be awfully nice for mother!"

"That is just what I want to know—about your mother."

"Well, she is just home, very weak from the hospital, our new baby sister is still at the hospital, too weak to leave yet. My mother has T.B.; one lung is badly spotted. I'm the only one, who can help at home."

"I am very sorry, and admire you very much for being such a brave little lass. Take these brown cakes and some bananas for your mother."

"Thanks very much," and for the first time that evening those lovely brown eyes were aglow like beacon lights, and a grateful smile framed a cherub's mouth.

THE CORN IS BURNING

"O! Goodness! The corn I put on the burning will be done; we are to have corn for supper tonight and must hurry home. Good-bye."

As Mona glanced those impetuous words, she scrambled through that treacherous fence safely, and was gone. That night the writer fell asleep, thinking of Mona, Aunt Charles and little Sonia like Mona, who are rarely known in song or story.

Best wishes to all.

REVOLT IN THE DESERT
by T. E. LAWRENCE

While we were at bridge B the should be merely secondary.

A minute later, with a howl, the cars concentrated their machine-guns on the parapet of "rock-post" a circle of thick stone walls (very visible from their long exit) in a small oval on a knoll too steep for wheels. Hazaa was ready, willing and excited, and the Turks so frightened by the splashing and splattering of the four machine-guns that the Arabs took them almost in their stride. That was speech the second.

Then it was interval for the others, but activity for Stormby, and for myself, now acting engineer. We ran down the line in our Rolls-Royces, carrying two tons of guncotton; bridges and rails reared up wherever they could be found. The crews of the cars covered us, and sometimes covered themselves, under their cars, when fragments came sailing musically through the air.

Stormby One twenty-pound flint clanged plumb on a turret-head and made a harmless dint. At intervals, during the operations, sorties of the happy bursts. It was fighting de luxe, and demolition de luxe: we enjoyed ourselves. After the perquisite lunch-hour we were off to see the fall of "south post." It fell to its minute, but not properly. Hazaa and his Amran irregulars had behaved with great sobriety in alternate rushes like Peake and the Egyptians. Instead they thought it was a steeplechase, and after the charge up the mound over breastwork and trenches. The wavery Turks ran down towards it from the north, moving his men by repeated exposure of himself to fire, for they were not fierce for honour. Brodie opened on it with his machine-gun, while the aeroplanes circled round in their cold-blooded way, and the Turks were good ten to the trenches. The armoured cars went forward snuffling and blowing, and with a file of Turks waving white things rose out of their main trench in a dejected fashion.

We crunked up our Rolls tenders. The Arabs leaped on to their camels:; Peake's now-bold men broke into a run, and the Turks stepped widdly upon the station. Our car won; and I gained the station bell, a dignified piece of Damascus brass-work. The next man took the picket punch and I got the chief office stamp, while the bewildered Turks stared at us, with a growing indignation that their importance

AUGUST 13TH, 1885.

Through the failure of the members of the Belleville and Oswego Yacht Clubs to send their boats to enter the regatta at Oswego yesterday, the contest in the first class was narrowed down to a match between the local yachts, the Atalanta and the Morna, but they had the craft and fresh water, the interest was quite great in the contest and it is as if there had been a large field. In the second class the Ella, Lily, Fairy and Surprise of Trenton appeared against the Belleville Amateur. During to lack of consistent wind the races could not be finished in the proper time limit. Another attempt will be made to sail the races today.

A number of river drivers entertained a large audience which was gathered on the foot bridge last evening by some sports on the river. They were as roflesome as school boys and ducked each other unmercifully.

could not afford a casualty, much less an attack, for months. The War Office promised him Indian divisions from Mesopotamia, and Indian drafts. With these he would rebuild his army on the Jordan model; perhaps, after the summer, he might be again in fighting trim, for the moment, however, both just bold on.

At tea-time Stormby mentioned the Imperial Camel Brigade in Sinai, regarding in the new arrangement he must establish it and fit men as mounted reinforcements. I asked, "What are you going to do with their camels?" He laughed, and said, "Ask Q."

Considering, I went across the dusty garden, broke in upon the Quartermaster-General, Sir Walter Campbell—very Scotch—and repeated my question. He answered firmly that they were sac-material in mess as mounted reinforcements. I asked, "What are you going to do with their camels?" He laughed, and said, "Ask Q."

Considering, I went across the dusty garden, broke in upon the Quartermaster-General, Sir Walter Campbell—very Scotch—and repeated my question. He answered firmly that they were sac-material as divisional transport for the second of the new Indian divisions. I explained that I wanted two thousand of them. His first reply was irrelevant: his second conveyed that I might go on wanting. I argued, but he grew obstinate. I became my side at all. Of course, it was of the nature of a "Q" to be costly.

I returned to Allenby and said about, before his party, that there were for disposal two thousand two hundred riding camels, and sixteen hundred pack camels. All were provisionally allotted to transport; but of course, riding camels were riding camels. The chief whistled, and looked wise; as though they, too, doubted whether riding camels could carry baggage. A technicality, even a sham one, might be helpful. Every British officer understood animals, as a point of honour. So I was not astonished when Sir Walter Campbell was asked to come with the Commander-in-Chief that night.

HEPBURN AGREES WITH MR. BENNETT
Believes Trekker Movement Due to Red Agita-

Toronto, Aug. 13 (CP)—Premier Hepburn scored the "red agitators" who, he said, organized the hunger marts to Ottawa and forecasted the strike of wood workers in Northern Ontario. He expressed "whole hearted agreement" with the attitude which Premier Bennett adopted toward the trekkers at Ottawa.

"I am in whole hearted agreement with everything Mr. Bennett said" to them," said Mr. Hepburn, "the trekkers can expect no sympathy from this government. Because these men were misled by red agitators into going on this trek some of them missed jobs on farms and northern roads. The same type of red agitation caused the strike among pulp wood workers and as a result of that strike the pulp wood operators were able to fulfil only 60 per cent of what their contracts called for. Furthermore they endangered the prospects for another year for the U.S. market of pulpwood want so re assured of continuity of supply."

Mr. Hepburn made it clear the government had no intention of supplying return transportation for the trekkers nor will they get food. "We made that clear when we took them home, when they were at Oshawa but not since. If they won't get another chance."

MARMORA GRAVE STONES NOTICED

One Records Death of Relative of Lake James Wolfe

Marmora, Aug. 13.—Two old and very interesting gravestones were discovered in the R.C. Cemetery last week. One bearing the inscription, "To the memory of Margaret Hughes, who departed this life on the 18th day of August 1838, aged 14 years. Requiesced in Peace—Amen." The stone was found to be that of a brother, P. Hughes and was first erected in the Old R. C. Cemetery on the west shore of Crowe River.

The second stone was recording the death of John Wolfe, who was a distant relative of General James Wolfe of Canadian History fame. The stone also a century old, noted that the late John Wolfe had lived to the age of 90.

Canadian Legion Meeting

A meeting of Marmora Branch No. 277 Canadian Legion was held in the Legion rooms. Memorial Building on Friday, July 26th with President Wilbert Mumby presiding. The initiation of a new member was given and general business conducted. The annual decoration service was set for Sunday August 18th.

House Cooling Sale

A very successful sale of home cooking was held last Thursday at The Marble Cliff Pavilion under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's Anglican Church. In the evening the Boys' Club of the same parish entertained at bridge. The attendance was smaller than previously, but very much good time was had by those present. The prizes were won by Mrs. Wm. Hall.

Lois James Douglas Nash

The funeral of James Douglas, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Nash, who died suddenly on Wednesday night, took place this afternoon on Forsythe street, on Friday afternoon to the Old Section of the Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

It was decided to invite all the local clergymen to take part in the cemetery. It was also decided to accept the invitation of the Marmora Agricultural Society to take part in the annual street dance.

5,000 ATTEND POPULAR RESORT

Each Sunday the number of visitors at Oak Lake, the new popular summer resort of the district has been rapidly on the increase, for the last few Sundays the attendance has been around 5,000 and on Sunday last that any increase was unexpected. But Sunday, July 28th, the attendance climaxed a very busy week for those in charge of the resort, Eagle Lake Park, and famous. There are very few picnic spots in Hastings County that can accommodate so many picnics through the summer months as Oak Lake, but Sunday last would prove that at Crescent Beach, private family picnics, Sunday School and fraternal organizations made a total attendance of nearly 5000 people which included the Ashley re-union, Salem Sunday School, Emmanuel Sunday School, Kingston Road United Church congregational picnic, Bedsworthville United Church, Mr. Geo. Gourley the Cook reunion and also the Reynolds family gathering and picnic, and many others. The unusually busy week was culminated on Sunday by the largest attendance ever witnessed at the Lake when in the evening a very fine all star band concert was given by the Stirling Citizens Band, under the direction of Mr. Maurice Bell, conductor. During this fine musical treat several splendid numbers were rendered in a capable manner including "Magnilio Overture", "Our Director March", "Bright Star Over-ture", "Shinck March." The concert was a delightful one and many folks came from a distance to hear it as felt highly repaid for their long journeys. Campers in the cottages along the shores of the lake were also treated to music and song during their camps as the music drifted out over the lake in the starlight air.

HOME AND SCHOOL CLUB HOLD PARTY

Picton, Aug. 13.—Hard times parties, and a large crowd willing to help along the work of the Home and School Club of Picton, was the success of their garden party, on the cool, spacious lawn of Mrs. Ira Wright's home on Thursday. The home cooking table with Mrs. Bru. Wright in charge, was the first attraction. The fish pond had a crowd of young people about it all afternoon. Mrs. Lee was in charge of Mrs. Geo. Cook and her helpers. Mrs. F. G. Cook had a concession stand for refreshments, a booth, which was also kept busy. Mrs. F. W. Webster was in charge of the arrangements for afternoon tea. Pouring at the beautifully appointed tea table were Past Presidents Mrs. E. H. McLean, Mrs. A. Ward, Mrs. R. A. Morden. A bevy of young girls assisted in the serving. The setting of the affair was lovely, and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Dixon motored to Montreal on Sunday to spend the week.

Dr. D. Lighthall and D. A. Pourney left on Monday for a two weeks' early Sunday morning. The doctor intends to put in some weighty rounds each, while Fournia secured a twenty days' leave.

A very pretty summer wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Clara's Corners on Saturday morning, August 10th at nine o'clock, when Jean, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Harold Thompson, was united in marriage to Mr. Franklyn Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Fraleigh of Bloomfield. The bride was charmingly attired in an ensemble of pale pink crepe with white accessories, and carried bride's bouquet of pink roses and forget-me-nots, with white silver lace. She was given away in the living room by her father, who gave her in marriage. Rev. David Wren officiated. After the ceremony the couple were unattended.

Miss Ruth Thompson played the wedding music. The house was prettily decorated with a profusion of summer flowers. Following the ceremony wedding breakfast was served to about 30 guests. Miss Killip cared of the bride, and Miss Thompson, sister of the groom, presided at the table. The bride's going away costume was a wedding trip to Youngstown, Ohio, and Niagara Falls, after which they will reside at Springfield. The bride received a lovely shower gift at Crofton, was much feted previous to her marriage. Those entertaining for her included Mrs. Dorothy Lewers, Miss Nora Kelly and Miss Mary Williams.

CHILD RECEIVES MINOR BRUISES

Darts From Behind Parked Car Into Side of Another

Tweed—Helen Courtney, ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Courtney, Tweed, escaped with minor bruises and cuts when she suddenly darted out from behind a car parked along the main street of Tweed on Saturday night and ran into the side of a motor car driven by Patrick Mirsw, son of Frank Mirsw, which was travelling at two small cuts on her lower lip and bruises on her body. She was immediately rushed and was taken into the office of Dr. W. M. Mather where prompt attention was given and the little girl was taken to her home. Provincial Const. C. Hogan investigated the accident. No charge will be laid against the driver of the car as he was not responsible, it was stated.

On Sunday afternoon Constable Hayes was called out on Highway No. 7 about ten miles east of Tweed to investigate a motor mishap. Mrs. Elizabeth Hodgson, aged 70, of 1000 Renfrew Ave., Ottawa was driving along the highway accompanied by her daughter, Edith, when without apparent reason—there was no other motor car in sight at the time—her car ran off the side of the road, crashed through the fence, high, smashed through the fence and poughed its way for 100 feet into a field where it was completely hidden from view. The occupants were uninjured beyond a severe shaking up, but the car was damaged considerably. Mrs. Hodgson could give no explanation of the mishap. Constable Hayes, who investigated, said that a charge of reckless driving may be laid.

On Friday before Magistrate Lloyd, Lavis Chappelle of Tweed charged with assaulting Harry Lee of that Tweed causing grievous bodily injury pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to three months hard labour at the County of Hastings Jail. Crown Attorney B.C. Donnan appeared for the Crown and I. D. Donovan on behalf of the defence. Several motorists charged with speeding and reckless driving pleaded guilty and were assessed the minimum fine with costs.

On Tuesday Miss Myrtle Darr's Sunday School Class had an enjoyable picnic along the Moira River above John Stoutz. Mrs. W. E. Hart and Mrs. W. McTaggart assisted. The children enjoyed a programme of games and races followed by a bountiful supper to which they did justice as only children can.

Miss Jeanne Robinson was taken to Belleville General Hospital on Thursday for an operation for removal of tonsils and adenoids. She is making favourable progress.

Miss Marion Nicholson A.T.C.M. played the organ at Tweed United Church on Sunday morning in the absence of Miss Lois Richardson, the organist. Mrs. Harry Orier sang a solo.

BRIDE-TO-BE RECIPIENT OF LOVELY GIFTS

West Huntingdon.—Miss Hilda Haggarty was hostess at a kitchen shower on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Eva Wilson, bride-to-be. The guest of honour was asked to enter the living room where thirty of her girl friends were present, and Miss Georgina Pitman played the wedding march. Mrs. Ambrose Wright and Miss Pitman then sang "I Love You Truly" after which Miss Evelyn McIntyre read the following address:

West Huntingdon, Ont., August 7, 1935.

Miss Eva Wilson:
Dear Eva,—

We are gathered here, Miss Eva, on the afternoon of August 8th, 1935 to present, to tender our best wishes and rejoicing with yourself.

For, no doubt, you're feeling happy As the evening day draws near, When you and your smiling William Before the altar will appear.

Perhaps you're somewhat lonesome, And a little worried, too, As your loving home you're leaving With another home in view.

Though you're leaving your parents, Though they'll not be far away, And your sister and your brother You'll remember for many a day.

We are glad your cheery presence Still amongst us we'll enjoy, With your smiling face and world, Your time and effort will employ; Through the years that are before us With their sorrows and their joys, We'll look back with pleasant memories

To the days when we were girls and boys.

You will meet new opportunities That will demand of you your best. You will face responsibilities. That will put you to the test; Never doubt, or fear, or falter, If you find the way grows hard, God has promised He will shepherd Him who trusts in Him and Him alone.

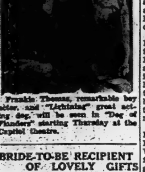
So, dear friend, we here are gathered

And these varied gifts we bring To convey to you our friendship.

We you receive in the loving spirit Please accept these gifts we offer In the spirit they were brought, May they fill your days with comfort

As they brighten up your thoughts.

So, now we say in closing, That for you we wish the best, May your days be filled with sunshine



Like the rose-tinted west:
May your William be a husband Who is always rated high,
And may you be a helpmate And the apple of his eye.

Signed,
On Your Girl Friends.

Eva was then presented with a large basket containing many useful kitchen utensils, each bearing a cheerful greeting for which she gratefully thanked her many friends. A delicious lunch was then served by the hostesses.

THOMPSON—CLARKE

A quiet wedding took place on Monday evening at 7 o'clock when Vera, eldest daughter of Mr. Harold Clarke, and Mrs. Mary Clarke, became the bride of Percy E. Thompson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson, Montreal, Quebec. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Smith of the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church at the home of the bride, 30 Bridge Street.

The bride was becomingly attired in a floor length gown of white and carried a bouquet of Bridal roses and sweet peas.

Mr. and Miss Shorey were the only attendants.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served to about fifty friends and relatives. The table was very attractive with white bells and the arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Leo Larue.

The bride received many beautiful gifts, among them being an electric percolator and silverware from employees of the Bell and the Canadian National Railway where the groom is employed.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Jackson, Miss Queenie Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Old Thompson, of Sherbrooke, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank English and Arthur, of Shannonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside in this city.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

(Copyright, 1935, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CORN-ON-THE-COB

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Now that the season of corn-on-the-cob is happily with us, what is the really correct way of eating this "grand" vegetable?

2. How are artichokes eaten?

Grace.

1. Right you are about this "grand" vegetable. The best form of serving corn-on-the-cob is to cook the ears broken. If this is not done, we break the ear in two, and insert the napkin to protect our hands. We season about two rows of kernels, and eat this seasoned portion before we season the next "space." We shouldn't attempt to hold the ears of corn in our hands as we are eating it. And we shouldn't bend over the ear, gratifyingly. We shouldn't cut the kernels from the cob at the table, and we shouldn't pick them off with the fork.

Many hostesses, of course, and most wisely, make corn-on-the-cob a separate course, an example of the increasingly popular one-thing-at-a-time table course. And with this course, as with the artichoke course, finger bowls are (most acceptably) served.

2. The leaves of artichokes are picked off one at a time with the fingers. The soft ends are dipped into the sauce, and eaten. The remainder of the leaf is placed, at the edge of the plate. Finally, we reach the "heart" of the artichoke, and eat it with the fork. This is the soft, prickly "choke" should be removed before the artichoke is brought to the table. But this is not done, we should carefully remove it.

FLOWER GIRL

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married in the fall, and would appreciate it, very much if you would answer two questions for me.

1. Where does the rose for the flower-girl flower girl?

2. What are her duties?

3. Where is her place when walking into the church?

I.

1. The bride's parents, or the bride herself, provide the flowers for the flower girl.

2. Under every consideration with the bride's plans as to the wedding.

3. The little flower girl has no

Give up Showy Wedding for Furniture and a Nest-Egg

(Copyright, 1935, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It's a pleasure to get a letter like the one which follows. Many young people who are engaged and want to be married in the fall, have a blessed gift of common sense. They realize that they can start off on quite a comfortably furnished home are more desirable assets than a big wedding with all the trimmings.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

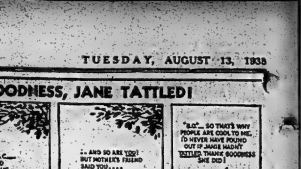
We have been engaged for three years, and it has been real good for us. We have learned to save and, so go to the movies only once a week and not waste our money on anything. The result is we have enough put by to furnish our home and have a little left over in the bank for emergencies.

The other night at supper I announced before my family that I intended to be married without any splurge, and my fiance, who was having supper with me, backed me up.

The family objected, and planned out an elaborate wedding for the spot. I was to have white dress and veil, and my sisters were there for three of them—and I was to be bridesmaids, and have their boy friends be ushers. And there was to be a big wedding reception, with elaborate refreshments.

"Our fees (Harry's and mine) grew longer the family planned the wedding which would cost most of our savings. My mother said I owed this to my sisters and that one lovely wedding in the family always meant another.

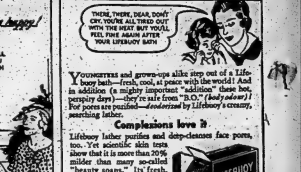
"Harry and I made our escape, and decided then and there to "murder" the idea (as it is a public nuisance and uses naturical terms). We decided to run away, or not to run away, but to present ourselves to the clergyman some afternoon and be married in our old clothes, and then have a week at the seashore instead of all the fuss and feathers proposed by the family.



"Do you think it would be a good thing to go ahead with the arrangements for this type of wedding, and then announce it breakfast time that morning: "Harry and I are married." We know we would be welcome to come, but there won't be any pomp and ceremony. Or would it be better to phone city and send them a telegram?

Bess.

Your idea of sidestepping an expensive and spectacular wedding which would eat up your nest-egg and furniture money, seems most sensible to me. What perfectly lovely fiancy and a wedding reception after the ceremony, and then to bank with which to meet future emergencies?



Better announce it to the family, as you have suggested, rather than run off and send them a wire telegram saying that the marriage has taken place.

A runaway marriage is never so desirable as when it is one of the above board, especially in your case, when the entire family knows the wedding arrangements are in accordance with your own desires. Just tell them you've decided to be married and make a wedding present to yourselves instead of your friends.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Smart Girl"

Action and Fun Abound in Film Now Showing

When two girls fall in love with the same man at the same time that should make not only news but excitement as well.

That is the theme of "Smart Girl" Harry Sherman's fast moving romance drama that is now shaping attention at the Capitol show with the feature "Java Head."

Revolving around the love conflict of two beautiful sisters, "Smart Girl" combines comedy and action in the highest treatment of the current love triangle. Two girls, blonde, smart, attractive Ida Lupino, and brunette, beautiful and also smart Phyllis Brooks are involved with the problem of earning a living following their father's loss of fortune. Ida Lupino becomes a model. They both fall for the first man who appears on the scene, Kent Taylor. Miss Patrick wins him and by having no alternative seeks a career in the business world.

Miss Patrick's expensive tastes soon has the young husband deeply involved in phoney stock selling in order to secure sufficient funds. Ida is willing to give up when Miss Lupino steps in and by a clever and smart business deal, succeeds in saving him from disgrace.

Joseph Cawthorn and Slim Tumlin furnish the bulk of the laughs and Miss Lupino and Gail Patrick wear some stunning wraps.

The second feature, "Java Head" is the widely-read novel of Joseph Hergesheimer, which was made into a 100% picture. It is a story of modern production that shows the futility of intermarriage between Anglo-Saxon and Asiatic. The English sea captain who returns from a trip to China, bringing to his Bristol home a Chinese girl for his bride, is the unfortunate victim of his family in the proper recognition of the bride-to-be.

NEW YORK - TORONTO - WINNIPEG

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 13 (CP)—A few of the secondary gold shares registered gains of a few cents each in substantial volume on the part of the general condition of the Toronto mining market today was crappy and definite weakness was apparent in spots. Most of the shares were off slightly in sympathy with a weaker bar silver market and of the base metals Sherritt-Gordon did all doing better.

Dagmar Exploration sold again in London, base metals shares weakened slightly with some of the gold- and -silvers in the mining section. Noranda eased a point to 77 and Sherritt-Gordon sold Gold stocks dipped in the morning session but the price tone improved in the early afternoon with Pickle Crow, McWatters, Dunnar and Siscoe all doing better.

D'Eorado and Chaibi displayed weakness with the former selling at low as 1.33 and Chaibi at 92. Part of the latter was reported in the early afternoon. Senior golds continued quiet but firm.

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, Aug. 13.—(CP)— Oils were inclined to ease back in the closing transactions on Toronto Industrial Market today. Liquors were also a bit off color while other industrials and leaders held firm or strong. Nickel closed narrowly higher at 37.50. C.P.R. closed up strong around 10 7- for a gain of about a half point and Ford A was firm at 32. The Board showed more gains than losses at the close.

Coffee-chip chlorinated issues usurped the interest on the industrial section, particularly International Petroleum, Brazilian Traction and Gulf Oil, each showing gains of 3-8 to 3-4. Trade was heavy in the oils and Brazilian.

Distillery stocks continued fairly active but at price recession of 1-8 to 1-4 and the Gold Metals International Nickel held a fraction gain this afternoon and Consolidated Smelters was down about a point.

Some buying appeared in the Construction group and the cement issues sold up, the common adding a half point and the preferred a couple of points.

NEW YORK CLOSE

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)— Strength of the utilities and scattered specialties kept the stock market on a fairly even keel today notwithstanding profit taking by brisk sessions of recent weeks and reversals in the forward movement of most of the leaders.

American Telephone held the list with a gain of more than 3 points. Electric Power and Light preferred advanced 2 and others, fractionally to around 2 higher, included Commercial Solvents, Columbian Carbon, Texas Gulf Sulphur and Union Carbide.

Power Corporation has moved up to a new high for some time. This company's fiscal year ended June 30 and while the consolidated earnings will show an improvement, it is understood unofficial estimates are that 45 cents a share will be reported on the common. Subsidiaries which show the operating company of large amounts of public utility stocks have generally has benefitted very appreciably by the current rise in the market and improvement in the trade is a reflection of this development.

Henry Ford will soon have his new Model A car for inspection and it would not be surprising if General Motors brought out a baby automobile to meet the competition for the baby Packard.

The condition that maker long form commitments in industrial expansion instructive for capital is day has increased the supply of money willing to finance the stock market. Here, it is reasoned is reflected, possibly, an opportunity to invest in business without becoming permanently committed. Though the Federal Reserve show no great amount of speculation on margin accounts, they also fail to show the amount of money that has found its way into stocks for speculation that would be employed directly in business if conditions sufficiently attractive.

From high-grade, dividend paying stocks down to the assayed buying demand has been forced, indicating that the hope for speculative profit is playing a large part in the market this year, according to trading. The line of least resistance for speculation has encouraged activities on the upside but the line of least resistance is seldom the most profitable to trade in for investment purchases. The latter call for a calmer appraisal of stock values.

POTATO PRICES

New Ontario potatoes were quoted yesterday in Toronto at 70 and 75 cents per bag to the retail trade. Prince Edward Island potatoes were 60 to 65 cents.

Board Room Gossip

As reported to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Service.

The Trader (Barron's)

Since the bottom of the big bear market in March to July 1932, the stock market has been subject to various reactions, in an upward trend, of more than twenty points—a fact of which the sober-minded are well aware. This contrasted with the prices prevailing at the peak of the first boom, July 18, 1933, the market showed relatively irregularity. While Chrysler is up from 38 1-8 to 42, General Motors from 34 to 45, Briggs Manufacturing from below 15 to 42, De Pont from 65 to 110, and Montgomery Ward from around 29 to above 36, on the other hand, Consolidated Solvent has dropped from 57 to around 19, Celanese from 40 to 20, Standard Brands from around 38 to 14, and Steel common—now one of the current leaders—from 61 1-4 to 38 1-4. The selectivity of speculation could hardly be more illustrated than by such comparisons, so that it is well to appreciate the paramount necessity with the present market of a excited speculative atmosphere, of buying only sterling and investment trends dispassionately instead of being merely stampeded by mob psychology.

This is not to say that the technical situation has as yet been seriously weakened. At the end of June, collateral borrowings of New York Stock Exchange members declined almost $40,000,000 to $789,000,000, the lowest since June, 1933, a time when excited speculation had also prevailed. Speculative borrowings at the end of June, 1935, were less than 2 per cent of the total listed on the stock exchange. While investors were absorbing stock, short interest during the month increased 73,000 shares. Obviously, a palpably unsound speculative structure is not yet in view.

The local utility stocks, under the leadership of Montreal Power, are making up for lost time in being in line with the recent prediction made by Financial Service that the rise in the utilities would reflect the strength of this group in Wall Street. Montreal Power list, as a whole, is acting well, although the majority of issues have not yet reached the high levels of their comparatively narrow trading range.
